Peggy Estep, Charles Gray Repeat Vows

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES L. GRAY

Southwood Church of Christ was the scene of the wedding of Miss Peggy Jean Estep, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Jackson Estep, 150 S. Warren-av, and Mr. Charles L. Gray, son of Mrs. Emma Gray, 48 E. Welch-av, and the late Mr. George Gray.

Rev. Ellis Werner read the double-ring, candlelight wedding service at 5:30 p.m., Jan. 12.

The bride chose a gown of mira mista taffeta, designed with a scooped neckline outlined with Alencon lace and seed pearls, molded bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt, with bell-shaped panel, was accented with an apron of Alencon lace and seed pearls, with a fan-pleated back forming a short train.

Her shoulder-length veil with lace trim was caught to a crown of pearls and sequins, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, bridal wreath and a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Harold Gray, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Coffman and Miss Rose Newsome.

They wore gowns of sapphire blue satin with bell-shaped skirts and scooped necklines with bodices of nylon over satin. Each wore white satin accessories and carried pink variegated carnations over eucalyptus foliage.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Patty Ann Estep and Miss Freddie Jean Herron, sister and cousin of the bride. They wore gowns of pink Alcenon lace and nylon over taffeta, with pink satin headbands, and carried bouquets identical to those carried by the bridesmaids.

Mr. Harold Gray served as best man for his brother, and ushers were Mr. Lloyd Gray, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Gordon Bartee.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

The new Mrs. Gray was graduated from South High School and is employed by Grange Mutual Casualty Co. Mr. Gray was also graduated from South High School and is serving with the U.S. Air Force as airman second class, stationed at Kinchelo AFB, Mich.

Mrs. Gray is living at 466 S. High-st until she joins her husband.

the country, and cited efforts being used to control it.

Locally, Sgt. Pat Montenaro of the juvenile bureau, has contacted Hilltop store owners, and asked them not to sell excessive amounts of airplane glue to youngsters.

And nationally, Sgt. Griffith mentioned the efforts of hobby associations to have the formula changed by manufacturers, eliminating the injurious element.

But individually, for each child, in each home, control of the practice must be the concern of parents. They should impress upon their children the appalling, potential danger of such "kicks."

GLADDEN OFFICERS, TRUSTEES INSTALLED

STEPHAN RETIRES FROM BOARD

Wilder Cites Gladden Growth In Year

High tribute to the work of Gladden Community House was paid Monday by outgoing president Herschel S. Stephan, a veteran of more than 20 years on the board. Stephan spoke briefly at Gladden's annual meeting.

"When the rock and mortar of this place fail, another center will rise in its place . . . thanks to the inspiration of Dr. Washington Gladden," Stephan said. The settlement house booster said he was especially proud to witness the installation of his son John K. Stephan to the board that night.

Thomas Walker presided over the meeting and Russell Leach made the introductions. Judge John M. Matthias conducted the installations and Thomas Applegate spoke on "The Need for Child Protective Services in Our Community." Mrs. Harold Andrese gave the invocation, and Rev. L. L. Young the benedition.

In his annual report Executive Director Al Wilder said the Gladden program expanded significantly in several directions during 1962, especially in family services. He mentioned the Christmas Care program, the popular Friday Night features, and a cooperative program with Planned Parenthood for families who wish to use it.

Wilder said many new teenagers are enjoying Gladden as a result of referral from other community institutions. Two teen groups, he said, were entirely referred as potential school drop outs.

The director cited some cutback, however, in the youth Friendship Club program and the fine and creative arts classes, because of a shortage of volunteer staff.

Monday evening nearly 40 volunteer workers, teen leaders and graduate students were lauded for their work at the center. Volunteer hours alone amounted to more than 7,000.

Wilder said the Gladden's affiliation with the work of the West Side Neighborhood Council and interest in an Urban Conservation Project was especially important, even though the latter has been shelved because of lack of Urban Renewal funds.

The director said Gladden in 1963 will hold another review of salaries and staff duties. He reported that the trustees also are appealing the three per cent increase in funds from the United Community Council. "This is not enough to meet our increase in operating costs or to give our staff any increase in pay," he said.

Youth—

837 Thomas-av, when he saw the plight of several West Side boys. He went to help them.

Todd told police he was being choked by three boys so he swung out in defense with his switch-blade knife. It struck Brown in the ribs and pierced his heart. Todd later threw the death weapon into Big Walnut Creek. It was recovered Monday night.

Police said Todd, who has a BIS record, was involved in a fight in a West Side home about two weeks ago. He was with a group of Eastmoor High students said to be invited to a party by a local girl. Some of the same group were present at the Saturday dance.

Todd Hearing Thursday

Todd pleaded "not guilty" Monday when charged with first-degree manslaughter charges. Free on $2000 bond, he is to appear in municipal court Thursday, Feb. 21.

Eight of the youths involved in the fighting were booked in municipal court and released on bond to appear for hearing today and also on Feb. 26. Another, who has a record as an incorrigible, was apprehended Monday night on the basis of reports that he tried to start a fight earlier Saturday evening.

Gladden Director Wilder said he will call a special meeting of his staff this week to review the center's policy on dances. He said four staff workers and a volunteer adult were on duty when the tragedy occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Wilder left for home only minutes before the trouble started. He and the police were called by a staff worker when the scuffle started.

"I believe we could have had twice as many chaperones at the dance and things would have been no different," Wilder said. "It was a sudden, unpredictable, almost spontaneous thing.

"We always ask for police surveillance after our events," he added, "but haven't considered it necessary to keep them in the center during the dances. But, it now appears we will have to make some changes."

The slain youth, Richard Brown, lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Hazel McClain, and brother David, 19, at 1607 Fulton-st. His mother, Mrs. Hazel McClain, was killed in a traffic accident in 1956. The boy is also survived by his father, George Brown, and a sister, Mrs. Norman Hayes.

Service was to be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Egan-Ryan Funeral Home. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, Enterprise, O.

Recent Wave Of Burglaries Brings Order

A recent wave of burglaries at schools in the South-Western City School District has resulted in an order that regardless of the type of safe or vault installed in a school, "no money will be left in school buildings overnight."

Each cafeteria supervisor and any other person having charge of funds are ordered to make deposits each day. Night events will continue to be held in schools but such funds will be deposited immediately.

Burglaries have occured at Franklin Heights High School, South Franklin School, West Franklin School and on two occasions at Pleasant View High School in recent months.

In most cases, money left in schools has been in very small amounts and damage done by those who have forced entry such as broken windows, doors, locks, and walls, have cost far more to repair than the small amount of money taken—if any.

The highest jumper of the animal kingdom is the klipspringer, or "African Chamois." Only about three feet long and weighing some 20 pounds, it can get a foothold on a rock only a few inches in diameter and has been known to scale heights of 25 feet in a single leap.

MISS SANDRA L. SPANGLER

Mrs. George J. Kleinschrodt, Jr., 1870 Valcon-av, and Mr. Paul E. Spangler, 2966 Westmoor-dr, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra L. Spangler, to Pa/4 Lawrence J. Baldy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Baldy, 225 Midland-av.

Miss Spangler was graduated from West High School and is associated with the Credit Bureau of Columbus, Inc.

Pa/4 Baldy was graduated from Corning High School and attended Otterbein College. He is now serving with the US Army in Germany.

HILLTOP-Y-SORORITY

Hilltop-Y-Sorority will meet Thursday, Feb. 14, at the home of Mrs. Joe Wharton in Lincoln Village for the annual Valentine party. Mrs. Joe Wharton is hostess.

Worthington Church Scene Of Wedding

Miss Edyth Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Kay of 265 E. Lincoln-av, and Mr. David Warren Hallam, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hallam, 187 N. Wayne-av, repeated their marriage vows at Worthington Presbyterian Church.

The new Mrs. Hallman is enrolled as a senior at Mt. Carmel Hospital School of Nursing, and Mr. Hallam is a distributor for the Seven-up Bottling Co.

The bridal gown of bouquet taffeta was styled with a crescent neckline, molded bodice highlighted by three-dimensional flowers, and bouffant skirt that continued into a brush train.

A queen's coronet of jewels held her veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Robert Hookey of Marion served as matron of honor for her sister, and sang, during the service, "The Lord's Prayer."

Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Kay, sister of the bride, and Miss Nanette Baugh of Royal Oak, Mich. Miss Karen Hallam, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl, and carried a basket of carnations.

Attendants wore gowns of emerald green taffeta. Each wore a headband with a circular green veil, and carried a nosegay of red and white candy-striped carnations.

Mr. Donald Hallam served as bestman for his twin brother, and guests were seated by Mr. Howard Lloyd, Mr. Charles Roush, Mr. Douglas Baus and Mr. John Kay, brother of the bride.

Hostesses for the reception, held in the Woodrow Room of the church, included Mrs. Thomas Gregory,

MRS. DAVID W. HALLAM

Miss Joetta Henderson, Mrs. Charles Roush and Miss Kody Krick, Miss Janette Baugh, cousin of the bride, had charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Olive Lines, grandmother of the bride, flew here for the ceremony from her home in Cheshire, Conn.

ERSATZ SHOES

I think "ersatz" is a German word adopted into our language and meaning "substituted for". Believe you me, there are a lot of substitutes for leather being used in shoes today. They are even making substitutes for the substitutes in some of the cheaper shoes.

All of which comes to mind because a customer came into the store Saturday and apologized to us for doubting the wearing qualities of our shoes. Seems he had been buying at the shopping centers to economize and on his rough-neck boys, the shoes didn't last a month.

Last October we fitted the boys in our least expensive shoes and they are still going good after four months, hence the apology. I remember the shoes we took off his boys . . . the usually paper counter, oil-cloth linings with no fitting qualities or shape. Our thrift-grade shoes have leather insoles and linings, good counters, and, most important, we fit them.

Peter Kehagias Participates In Jungle Exercise

Marine Corporal Peter G. Kehagias, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Kehagias of 2792 Vanderburg-av, is serving with the First Battalion of the Ninth Marine Regiment, which was part of the combined United States-Thailand forces engaged in Exercise Jungle Drum II during January.

The exercise, involving 13 ships of both navies and Marines from both countries, was the largest assault ever staged on the Asian mainland by forces of the South East Asia Treaty Organization.

Jungle Drum was staged to provide training for both countries in jungle fighting. Amphibious landing tactics, dispersal techniques and aerial amphibious assault were stressed throughout the exercise.

Two forces clashed in the mock exercise, near Sattahip, Thailand.

Stolen Truck Chase Nets Teenage Pair

A stolen truck, driven by two teenage boys, led police on a high-speed chase down S. High-st through the center of Columbus early Friday.

Patrolmen said the truck speed reached 85 m.p.h. as it raced through the Broad-st intersection.

The boys were arrested at 1:15 a.m. near Hartman Farms, south of Columbus, when the engine of their truck burned out. The chase began at W. First-av and Perry-st some 10 minutes earlier.

The boys missed death or injury at S. High-st and Frank-rd by inches, as a semi-truck entered the intersection from the west side, officers reported.

Delinquency charges have been filed in Juvenile Court against a W. Rich-st boy in connection with the incident.

A McDowell-st lad pleaded innocent Saturday in Municipal Court to an auto theft charge and was released on $5,000 bond. The case was continued until Thursday.

Outdoorsmen Meet In City This Weekend

Legislation, both in Ohio and nationally, will headline the annual meeting in Columbus this weekend of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio.

Mike Hudoba, Washington reporter for Sports Afield magazine, will be the banquet speaker Saturday night. He will discuss proposed outdoor legislation upcoming in the 88th Congress.

The state's writers of fishing, hunting, camping and related outdoor sports will attend a special Saturday afternoon session on the use of new audio-visual aids in relation to their fields.

The planners also recommended that the proposed 11 acres for a shopping center be cut to six acres.

"If this land is zoned or rezoned as requested it will throw the area out of balance by concentrating too much commercial and apartment development in one location," said Charles A. Taylor, associate planner for the commission.

Schaaf's application was analyzed by both Regional and Columbus Planning Commission staffs before a recommendation was made, said Taylor.

The 58-acre site was considered a matter of joint concern by the staffs since it is located just outside the city limits and there is a possibility of annexation in the near future, added the associate planner.

Schaaf won the commission to his side when he argued that he needs the acreage to properly lay out a "prestige" apartment development.

The planning staff and developer now have 30 days to "iron out" technicalities.

If acceptable to the planning commission at its March 1 meeting, Schaaf's proposal would be recommended to the zoning commission for approval.

Notices of a hearing date would once again be sent to area residents 20 days in advance.

Proposed plans for the 58 acres filed with the zoning board show a shopping center and two professional buildings to be built on 11 acres facing Demorest-rd.

The shopping center would be given a "local" commercial classification if approved, said Mrs. Hardy. "This means no large stores would be permitted in the center, only small businesses to handle local needs," she said.

Twin singles would act as a "buffer zone" between the shopping center and present residential areas going north toward Franklin Heights High School on Demorest-rd, according to the plans.

The plans also show twin singles along Clime-rd separating present home owners from the apartments which will be behind the shopping center and facing Clime-rd, said the zoning executive secretary.

The 58-acre proposed development would be sent to the Franklin County commissioners for final approval after action is taken by the Rural Zoning Commission.

Board Approves Zoning Charges

Franklin County's Zoning Board of Appeals approved two zoning changes at a public hearing Monday night.

The board granted the W. L. Johnson Co. 30 acres on a tract fronting the Harrisburg-Georgesville-rd adjacent to the Harrisburg corporation limits for a borrow (gravel) pit. This zoning change is subject to approval by the Ohio State Highway Department.

A rezoning application from Lyman Brownfield for permission to place model home displays at Harrisburg-pk and Zuber-rd was also granted for a three-year period.

Teen Death Deplorable

Some of Columbus' best known people gathered at Gladden Community House, Monday night just as they do once every year to hear annual reports . . . traditionally happy [illegible].

It could have been that way this year — except for last Saturday night. A 17-year-old boy died in the street that night in front of the settlement house. The boy was stabbed. This "West Side Story" took place not in gang-infested New York, but in Columbus, Ohio.

The homicide was a tragic ending to a Valentine dance. It seemed to be a spontaneous thing — some youths from the other side of town began mingling on the dance floor. Then came a challenge, a dispute and an order to leave. Suddenly "automobilized" youth appeared from everywhere. So did police. But before the crowd could be dispersed a swift knife slashed down a life.

The hard working personnel at Gladden House deserve the greatest sympathy and understanding in this crisis. Their determined efforts to "do something nice" for boys and girls growing up in a chore-free, too-often — Godless existence is commendable. They certainly didn't deserve the death-black headlines that swept across Page 1 of the Sunday paper.

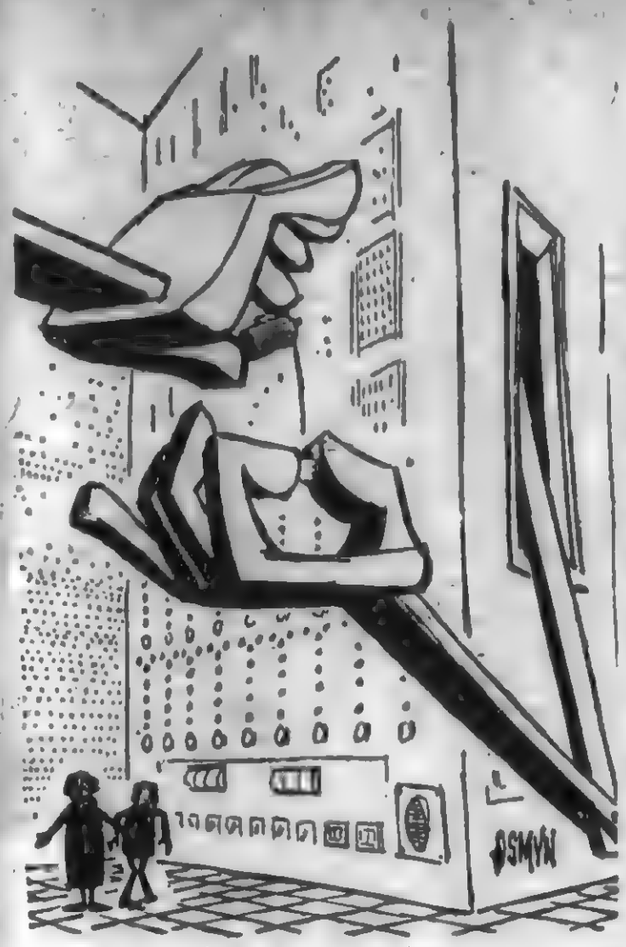
Our long and close association with Gladden's trained social workers has made us familiar with their careful, conscientious planning. They seldom publicize a teen dance loudly, hoping to keep trouble-seeking outsiders out. Chaperones are firm and effective. But Saturday night was too much. The heart and spirit of St. Valentine was punctured, bled and died.

We hope the tragedy will not discourage the gallant people of Gladden in their good works. And while we're hoping, let's insist that: parents must keep their youngsters from trouble-hunting migrations across town; organized youth gangs must never get a start in our area; and especially that Feb. 9's West Side story must never be repeated!

Public Won't Buy Criticism

A woman we know says she's always shopped her community merchants before she made any large purchases for her home or family. But she vows she's ready to reconsider the wisdom of this — and the reason may surprise some of our small business friends.

"It's not because the local businessman can't equal the downtown boys in value and price — they can. It's the occasional bad taste of their sales technique that's driving me away," she frowned.



It seems that twice recently she had to listen to her "frenzied neighborhood dealer" (the term is hers) devote most of his sales pitch to what is wrong with his competitor's product, instead of giving the plusses of his own merchandise. "I came out of one neighborhood store reeling with the faults of the competitor's brand, but without a single substantial reason why the product I'd just seen should be the one I buy," she said.

In another instance our distressed damsel relates," "I fidgited for 20 minutes while the local man figured how a downtown store was probably trying to cheat me on a custom home furnishings estimate. I'd much rather have heard more about why he thought his store could do a top-notch job for me."

No doubt comparison shopping is important to the small retailer. But he should expend his own energy, not the customer's, exploring it.

It's time to "accentuate the positive" in sales tactics. Bombarding the consumer with derogatory data about the competition won't eliminate anything — unless it's that customer's faith in the integrity of her neighborhood retailer.

"It Always Forgets the Sugar!"

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

VALENTINE

This is the time when hearts entwine,
When your love and mine I hope combine,
So I'll be yours if you'll be mine,
Remembering Saint Valentine.

Perhaps we should not destroy too many of our illusions, for the pleasant ones help us live more enjoyably. But here are some facts about St. Valentine's Day, according to the Encyclopedia Brittanica.

According to legend, probably based on historical facts, there were two saints named Valentine. One was a Roman priest who suffered martyrdom during the persecutions of the Emperor Claudius (A.D. 41-54). He was buried on the Flaminian Way.

The other was a bishop of Interamna (Terni), martyred also in Rome, and whose relics were also translated to Rome.

It is possible that these two stories spring from the same original account, referring to only one person.

St. Valentine's Day as a lovers' festival, the choice of a valentine, and the modern development of sending valentine cards — all this actually has nothing to do with any saints' lives. These customs rather seem to be connected with the pagan Roman festival of the Lupercalia, which took place about the middle of February, or with the early spring season in general.

The origin of St. Valentine's Day customs is less important than their observance. Expressions of love, serious or not, may help balance the scales against too much hatred.

It says here. . . .

Decisions Should Please God, Overrule Self

Genesis 13: 8-13: And Abraham said to Lot, "Let there be no strife between you and me,—if you take the left hand I will go to the right, or if you take the right hand then I will go to the left." Lot lifted up his eyes and saw that the Jordan valley was well watered everywhere like the garden of the Lord, — and Lot chose for himself all the Jordan valley.—

Decisions! They must be made every day, and life is the result of those decisions.

Today's problems grow out of yesterday's decisions. Lot's decision was one of greed for wealth, regardless of his family's exposure to idolatry, immorality, and all types of evil. Abram's decision on the other hand was the way of peace, allowing God to direct his pathway and life.

Rev. Lindemuth

Robert Louis Stevenson said, "Every man sooner or later sits down to a banquet of consequence." The wise man therefore tries to foresee the consequence of his actions. He looks beyond the present. Life is like a stick — you cannot pick up one end without picking up the other end as well. If a man is selfish in his thoughts and motives, a smog already dims his view of the real purpose of life and of the end result. He cannot see beyond himself and the earthly smog stifles his spiritual life.

Each of us has stood at one time or another on some high peak and with awe looked off into the distance and has seen things never seen before — from Mt. Pleasant, Clingman's Dome, Lookout Mountain, Harney Peak, Pike's Peak. It is the unselfish soul, the Christian who is able to climb to the top of a mount of transfiguration and there see beyond himself for the first time. He begins to see others, they mean something to him, it is a new dawn, a new day. He is even able to see tomorrow, the future, and a new generation. He sees his purpose in life in relation to others and to God.

The Christian must ask himself these questions, "Is the way I choose pleasing to God? Do I live for Jesus or for myself alone? The things I choose, the things I do, what effect do they have on my fellowman, my family, my community, and my country? What will my choice, my action mean to the coming generation?"

To refuse to open our eyes and see the end results is deadly. "Where there is no vision the people perish." Anyone who looks only at his own feet is sure to stumble. It is the projected and perfected vision that will reveal the end result. Yet even in this our day there are those in positions of power, prominence, and responsibility who have eyes and do not see — ears have they and do not hear the warning rumblings of the effects of their selfish bad choices.

May more and more of the leaders of our great country unselfishly look beyond at the end results upon society, and be led to make right decisions, "a choice pleasing to God."

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Speaking Of Grim Fiery Tales . . .

RELAX! RELAX!

Everywhere we turn, some self-styled expert in the art of staying loose is exhorting us to relax. Newspapers and magazines swamp us with advice on how to relax — usually written by some fellow who in a previous edition authored a piece such as "How to Entertain Ulcers at Dinner."

McPeek

Okay, so I want to relax. I read all the articles. I heed the advice with grateful tears. I slump about the house with the rigidity of a piece of spaghetti. I smile warmly when I read about DeGaulle ripping h . . . out of European unity. I roll gleefully on the floor when my spouse scorches the collar of my best shirt.

I chuckle when I read an article describing the theoretical devastation a 50-megaton hydrogen bomb would wreak on Cleveland. I roar delightedly when my boss shucks off last-minute extra work on me. I scoff humorously when I read about the continued build-up of Communist arms in Cuba. I grin idiotically when the kids punch pencil holes in the vinyl seats of the breakfast set. I give friendly waves to the highway cowboy who curses me for my stupidity in stopping for a stop sign.

It works. I have no more tension than a marshmallow lying in the sun. I'm calm, peaceful, relaxed, and totally lovable. My wife, my kids, my boss, one and all they adore me for my new-found passivity.

So what happens? Some jerk kid over in Japan props up a $20 homemade telescope in his backyard and discovers a new comet.

That does it! I'm a quaking mass of frazzled nerve ends, racked with fears. What great evil will beset us?

Since antiquity the discovery of a comet has portended death, plague, pestilence, famine, war.

Listen to the skeptics: "What's this nut wailing about?"

So what about Julius Caesar? A new comet zipped across the skies just as Julie's buddies and enemies put their plumed helmets together and plotted his demise.

Yeah, and not too many years later, what about Emperor Vespasian and the comet that heralded his death? Vespasian, a bullheaded Roman, maintained that the comet had some other significance since it had a "hairy tail" and he was bald, but how come he went ahead and kicked off . . . later?

And we don't have to go back to the Roman Empire to see some of the nasty things that happened on the tail of comets. America, especially New England, has had many unhappy cometary experiences.

In 1652 a comet appeared just at the moment the Rev. John Cotton, the "Patriarch of New England" and a founder of Congregationalism in America, fell ill, and it disappeared at his death.

Only 10 years later, the wicked inhabitants of Boston were warned by a new comet to quit horsing around and abstain from "voluptuousness and abuse of good creatures by licentiousness in drinking and fashions in apparel."

Well right off the good Bostonians stepped up their witch and book burning activities. Some years later they tired of burning witches (you see one burn, you've seen them all) and concentrated on burning books, possibly because there were fewer complaints from survivors than those voiced by relatives of witches . . . and possibly because there were few book readers in Boston then.

What with the advent of stricter fire safety laws, even book burning lost much of its appeal. But some diehards, reluctant to give up their fun, switched to banning books, which has continued as one of the city's favorite hobbies.

So there, skeptics. How can you be so blind as to mock the peril posed by this new comet?

Let's not forget that although the comet was first sighted by 19-year-old Kaoru Ikeya in Japan, it happened just as the 88th Congress was getting under way.

Black Panther? Naw, It's Just February

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Well, I've resisted it for as long as possible, but it apparently is time to comment on the furred monsters roaming these parts.

For several weeks a "black panther" has been reported from several locations in Pickaway, Madison and Union counties. Some strange tracks "big as a man's hand" were sighted on the snow at Hoover Reservoir.

What with the international situation the way it is, spring a good two months off and income tax time to boot, it just seems like too much to worry ourselves about imminent attack from a mysterious beast. Yet, our ancestors worried about such things, for good reason, and perhaps we have inherited a liking for a good story. In any event, it's that time of year — a couple of years or so ago it was a "bear" in western Franklin County. Oddly enough it was February when it was "seen" if my memory is accurate.

This is all great fun for me, for I was brought up on such stories over in Muskingum County. This is real "bear story country" and everyone joins into the game every few years. Posses are formed and airplanes search from the sky. A good bear hunt is better than the county fair, and no one's enthusiasm is ever dampened because a bear has never been shot, or even seen.

So I listen with interest about every detail of the black panther. What could be more exciting? Even non-sportsmen perk up their ears when you start talking about a black panther. If you can speak knowledgeably about black panthers, you are in demand today. But don't rest in your popularity, for soon it will be spring, fish will be hitting and golf courses will open. The black panther will disappear with the last of the snow, only to be reincarnated next February as a wolf, bear or something worse.

Fun is fun, but what are the facts? The only thing to expect in nature is the unexpected, so there could be a black panther. But, since such critters are not native to this part of the world, it would have had to escape from somewhere. These are very valuable animals, and no zoo, circus or traveling medicine show would "lose" one without reporting it. So as far as I'm concerned there is no black panther running loose in Central Ohio. The same goes for large, monstrous snakes. Yes, pythons and boa constrictors make good February stories too, and I'm not joking when I say that I've heard them.

What, then, makes the tracks in the snow? Several things. Men make some of them for jokes. A Delaware County man told me he knows two fellows who took a bear's paw they brought back from Canada, and made bear tracks in the mud along Whetstone Creek. Fortunately, it was not bear season — no one knows what would have happened had this occurred in February.

Mainly, what people see are dog tracks. There are some awfully big dogs around, and these seem to be the ones that run loose. Three-inch dog tracks are common. Now here is the important part, on a thawing day the margins of these tracks will melt before anything else. This enlarges the tracks, and when conditions are just right tracks can be doubled in size and still retain their character.

Marlin Perkins, of television's "Wild Kingdom" (N.B.C.—Sunday), explained the abominable snowman from Tibet in this manner. Rabbit tracks thaw and enlarge, the four footprints melting into a single outline roughly in the shape of a man's foot. Thus each set of four rabbit tracks become a single snowman's footprint. Each jump of the rabbit is a snowman's step.

This is the classic example of how reliable and honest men have seen something that was not there, for it has puzzled explorers and scientists for generations. The explanation is almost too simple to be accepted, and it probably won't be for it is always February in Tibet, they say.

Public Invited To Writer's Meeting

The public, and particularly sportsmen, are invited to attend sessions of the annual meeting of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio, Inc., at Olentangy Inn, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 15 and 16.

A banquet Saturday evening will feature guest speaker, Mike Hudoba, Washington editor of Sports Afield. Tickets should be purchased in advance. Also on the program will be Dean Jauchius, administrative assistant to Gov. James Rhodes; Dr. Charles A. Dambach, director, Natural Resources Institute, Ohio State University; Gordon Kuster, outdoor editor and photographer; Erwin A. Bauer, free-lance writer and photographer, and others.

Frosting On The Cake

"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — [illegible]

Snobs are always such interesting people. There are so many kinds that limited space makes it impossible to catalogue them.

There are three kinds that give civilized people a very definite pain in a very definite place. First of all, money snobs who would be nobodies if they did not have money. Secondly, intellectual snobs who have been to school all of their lives but have no practical experience with life and how to get along with other people.

Thirdly, and always most obnoxious are those who suffer so terribly from an over-conditioned inferiority complex. Their total lack of priceless "inner illumination" is so noticeable to the astute and truly cultured that the wise old Emersonian comment still weighs a ton — "what you are speaks so loudly, I can't hear a thing you say."

Truly civilized adults who have both means and breeding through family lines and who have "learned how to live the good life," are rarely snobs or bores. Such delightful individuals have a profound and sincere respect for the genuine proprieties of life.

Intellectual snobs who have nothing but a trunk full of diplomas and half the letters in the alphabet after their names are simply annoying to real doers.

I do not mean to belittle any genuine achievement in life by anyone. Roses still bloom and flourish in dung hills, but they were born with what it takes to get out of any unfriendly environment and get into the real sunshine of opportunity and everlasting self-improvement.

So, rich or poor, eighth grade or Ph.D., all astute observers of human behavior are those who can sort the slobs from the saints and exercise the God-given right to associate with kindred spirits and minds and souls.

Wise old Dr. Thorndyke said it best in what has now become known as Thorndyke's Law, namely, "no man begins to become somebody until he has learned how to respect people who are somebody by breeding, education and above all else, Christian humility or soul health."

EASTER SEALS HELP

PEGGY HILL, 4028 Briggs-rd, receives a lesson in posture training from physical therapist Jane Conyers Copeland, 1451 W. Eich-st. Mrs. Copeland sees more than 20 different handicapped children a week at the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children's Center at 585 S. Monroe-dv. The center is maintained by the sale of Easter Seals.

Area Men Win Rank

Chief Master Sergeant Otto Hubner, Jr., and Senior Master Sergeant Howard E. Anderson were recently promoted to their present rank by the 121st Tactical Fighter Wing of the Ohio Air National Guard. The unit is based at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Sgt. Hubner resides at 521 Blacklick-st, Groveport, with his wife, Betty, and four children. He is an industrial specialist with the U.S. Navy Bureau of Weapons Systems at North American Aviation.

Sgt. Anderson resides at 28 S. Huron-av with his wife, Mary, and two children. He represents the United States Property and Fiscal Officer in all supply functions within the State of Ohio in a full time capacity, and is assigned to the 121st TFW's material section.

Navy Basic Completed

During the nine-week course trainees were indoctrinated to navy life, trained in basic military skills and received tests and interviews to determine future training and assignments.

There are five different flavors.

TROOP 206

Troop 206 finished a very busy year and New Year rush with a party at the home of Mrs. Harry Conard, 1947 Vaughn-st. Mrs. Conard is committee chairman of Troop 206.

Games, ping pong and a gift exchange were enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Conard served sloppy joes, cookies, ice cream and punch.

Anyone wishing to help Troop 206 go on a trip to Washington may save Brookshire Foodliner slips. Call Mrs. Shank 279-3269.

Scout Honor Group Offers Special Service

For the month of February, the Hilltop branch of our Columbus Public Libraries has a display of Indian artifacts presented by Mi-Gi-Si, the honor society of Troop 172, commemorating the 53rd anniversity of scouting during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 12.

This group serves our community by performing authentic dances, giving lectures and demonstrations on the culture of our American Indians. This service is available free to non-profit organizations of the Hilltop. Contact David A. Wright, 279-9242.

CITY WRESTLING MEET ACTION- LOOK, MA - JUST LIKE ON TV

THERE WAS plenty of action for high school wrestling fans who attended the second annual City League wrestling meet at Walnut Ridge last weekend. East's Tigers won the title but as these three photos indicate — everybody got into the act. In the picture on the left, West's Paul Ratliff tries his hand at a bit of abbreviated "airplane" spin with Central's Mike Whitaker going airborne for the moment. Ratliff decisioned Whitaker in the 130-pound qualifying round, 7-0. The center picture might look like a throw back to the old wheelbarrow race but Central's Paul Frasure (top) has something else in mind as he attempts to flip Eastmoor's Carl Lowe over for a pin try. Lowe got out of this particular predicament but Frasure took the 145-pound decision, 6-2. On the right, West's Phil McFarland scrambles to escape the persistent grasp of Eastmoor's Wayne Ballentyne in the 112-pound division qualifier. McFarland managed to keep his shoulders off the mat but Ballentyne capped the decision, 8-6. Ratliff proceeded to the finals, losing out to East's Billy Evans while Frasure was decisioned by Linden's Jack Baker in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon. (Photos by Jack Wittenmeier).

READY CLOSES WITH WIN

East Ropes Cowboys; Pirates Walk Plank

By Bob Lynch and Kenny Ash

West provided league-leading East with some uneasy moments in the first half Friday evening but were overwhelmed in the second half as the Tigers roared to a 52-36 victory on the Tigers' court.

The Cowboys jumped out to a quick 6-3 lead, but East then pourned in nine points to take a 12-6 first period lead. The Cowboys, led by Jerry Carter, and helped by a strong defense and 13 East turnovers, closed the halftime gap to one point, 20-19.

HOWEVER, THE THIRD quarter proved to be the Cowboys' downfall as the Tigers began to hit from outside and outscore the visitors 15-5 that quarter. The Cowboys were never able to recover from that deficit, and lost five more points the final quarter to go down to their 16-point defeat.

Bob Calloway led the home squad and captured game scoring honors netting 13 points while Jerry Carter was the only Cowboy to hit the double figures, scoring 12.

East now stands atop the City League standings with an 8-0 record. The Cowboys play their final home contest of this season as they host Aquinas Friday.

TWO POINTS was the deciding factor Friday evening at Eastmoor as the Warriors squeezed by Central's Pirates, 48-46.

Eastmoor held an 11 point lead at intermission 30-19 over the Pirates. At the end of the third period the Warriors again had a 11 point lead but the score had ballooned to 40-31.

Central started to show some life in the fourth period as they moved within two points of their opponents 46-48. But this was as far as they could get as time ran out.

A total of 27 points put Tom Fullove at the top scorer's position for the Pirates. Fullove is also leading scorer in the City League with 161 points. Gibson Hayes added 10 more points to the Pirates' Cause.

Central's reserves had better luck, downing the Eastmoor JV's 47-33.

BISHOP READY closed out its '62-'63 season on a happy note by coming from behind in the final minute of play to upset Brookhaven, 46-43.

The Silver Knights, paced by Jim Muir's 17-point performance, trailed by three points but finished fast with six straight markers to pull the carpet out from under the Bearcats.

Ready's rally the evening before fell one point short as Conhocton Sacred Heart slipped past the Knights, 41-40. Sacred Heart led most of the way but Ready stayed close right up to the final buzzer. Muir's 10 points was high for the losers.

KEN NEVILLE'S Waterloo quintet pulled away from Holy Family Friday night to add up to a 71-53 decision. The Raiders cut the Waterloo margin to two points at intermission but were unable to match the winners' scoring in the second half.

SOUTH MANAGED to stay just one jump ahead of Aquinas all the way Friday as the Bulldogs put the bite on the Terriers, 41-39, in a City League encounter.

ALL AREA QUINTETS, with the exception of Ready, continue hardwood play this weekend as the season heads toward its climax. Friday play finds Aquinas (7-8) at West (8-6), Marion Franklin (2-13) at Central (9-3) and Holy Family (2-14) at Millersport.

Three more games are on the block for Saturday evening with Central journeying to Zanesville, Aquinas entertaining Dennison St. Marys and Holy Family heading for New Lexington St. Aloysius.

Why Not Coloring Book About Sports Figures?

Next time you're out on the Woolworth or Kresge circuit looking for that 59 cent horsehide to keep Junior on the major league trail — take a gander at the biggest thing to hit the market since hula hoops put Davy Crockett out of business.

The latest fad is the coloring book craze and apparently everybody is trying to get into the act. About the only kind of coloring book we haven't seen around town is one marked "Sports."

ALTHOUGH OUR patent is still pending in Washington, we have confidence that maybe we'll be spending the spring in Florida with the Mickey Mantles and the Stan Musials.

So for those who fancy coloring books (and lots of people do), here's a new one for you. Crayons ready? Begin to color:

Hillcrest Tops Council 31-28, In Y Cage Tilt

Hillcrest Baptist edged out the Junior Hi-Y "Council" 31-28, to highlight action Saturday in the Hilltop Y Junior cage league. Hillcrest led 18-10 at the half and barely held onto their lead through the second half when the "Council" outscored Hillcrest 18-13.

"Council" center Curt Vollmuth had four fouls the first half and fouled out of the game with two minutes and 29 seconds gone in the second half. He was held to just three points for the afternoon.

LEADING HILLCREST were John Sines and Mike George with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Top man for the "Council" was Bob Leach with 11 points. Bill Holt also tossed in nine points for the "Council."

Hillcrest has two tough games coming up and must win these to stay in first place. The "Council," in second place, has much the same situation with three tough games in the next three weeks.

IN OTHER GAMES of the day, Hilltop Church of God had little trouble in handing the Junior Hi-Y "Scrubs" a 50-10 defeat. Leading the Church of God were Dave Worrell and Bill Rexer with 15 and 12 markers respectively. Bob Colby added nine points for the winners. Top man for the "Scrubs" was Ron Bland with four points.

Glenwood Methodist outran Hoge Memorial for a 34-27 win. Leading Glenwood was Ken Evans with 11 points and John Grashel with 10. Top man for Hoge was Jim Anderson with 15 points. The score was tied at 25-25 with three minutes and 25 second left to play, but Glenwood pressed Hoge and outscored them 9-2 in the last few minutes.

WEST PARK Methodist ran over Burgess EUB for a 55-37 win. West Park had three men in double figures. Terry Breckenridge led all scorers with 24 points, Dick Brown tallied 15 and Tom Schoener added 11 to the total. Leading Burgess was Jack Husch, who scored 21 points.

The schedule shapes up into some fine games for Saturday Junior Hi-Y "Scrubs" vs. Burgess EUB (12:00); Glenwood Methodist vs. Hilltop Church of God (12:45); Hillcrest Baptist vs. Hoge Memorial (1:30); and Junior Hi-Y "Council" vs. West Park Methodist (2:15).

WRESTLING WRAPUP

East City Mat King: Falcons Down Cards

East came up with an encore performance Saturday afternoon at Walnut Ridge to top the field of City League wrestlers and nail down the Tigers second CL mat title in as many years.

WEST FINISHED in the runner-up spot with 58 markers while Linden copped third place honors with 41 points. Other scores were: Walnut Ridge, 40; Central, 38; Eastmoor, 22; Whetstone, 2 and North, 0.

East set up its Saturday victory by leading all qualifiers Friday afternoon with 10.

Five other matches completed area mat action during the week. Bishop Hartley split a pair, downing Ready, 38-8, before losing to Fremont St. Joseph Saturday, 29-13.

In other competition, Pleasant View downed University, 28-23, and Whitehall nosed out Bexley, 18-15.

Checking this week's light mat schedule, we find West traveling to Grandview tomorrow afternoon for a 4 p.m. match. Groveport entertains University this afternoon at 4:30 and Westerville hosts Grove City — also set for this afternoon at 4:30.

Here are the individual results:

Untouchables, Knights Win At Glenwood

The Untouchables sneaked by Commodores, 53-51, in the Senior Boys Basketball League in Glenwood Recreation Center play last week. The key offensive man in the Untouchables win was guard Bill Wells, with 26 points. Mike Sheel tossed in 22 for the losers.

In other games, the Knights came from behind to defeat the Prestons 50-45. The Knights, who were down going into the fourth quarter, suddenly found the range and scored 16 points while holding their opponents to five. Bobby Dawson and Gary Smith led the winners with 15 and 13 points, respectively. Jerry Ball hit 15 for the Prestons.

EDGE UNTOUCHABLES

THE CAVALIERS maintained first place by trouncing the Buckeyes, 49-31. The Cavaliers' attack was paced by Conrad and Shaffer who hit for 18 and 14 points. Dick Cash pushed in 12 for the losers.

THE ZEPHYRS held the high scoring Untouchables down and found themselves in the win column, 38-36.

INTERMEDIATE PLAY

THE SPARTANS defeated the Aces, 49-40, as Hugh Williams and Ken Wells paced the winners with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Nick Damopoulos, scored six points for the winners, but his fine defensive work was a large factor in the Spartans' win. Jim Anderson hit 13 for the losers.

THE SQUIRES continued their winning streak by stopping the Playboys 37-28. Henry Butcher did a fine rebounding job for the winners and also held scoring honors

Kent Is Elected To Board At Railroad Savings

Gerald D. Harris, president of the Railroad Savings and Loan Co., has announced the election of A. Robert Kent, prominent local realtor, to the firm's board of directors.

The election fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Donald W. Glenn, a long-time member of the board, and active contributor to many of its policies.

Kent is an active member of the Columbus Board of Realtors and the Columbus Homebuilder's Association, as well as many other organizations in the savings and loan field. He belongs to the Columbus Athletic Club and Brookside Country Club.

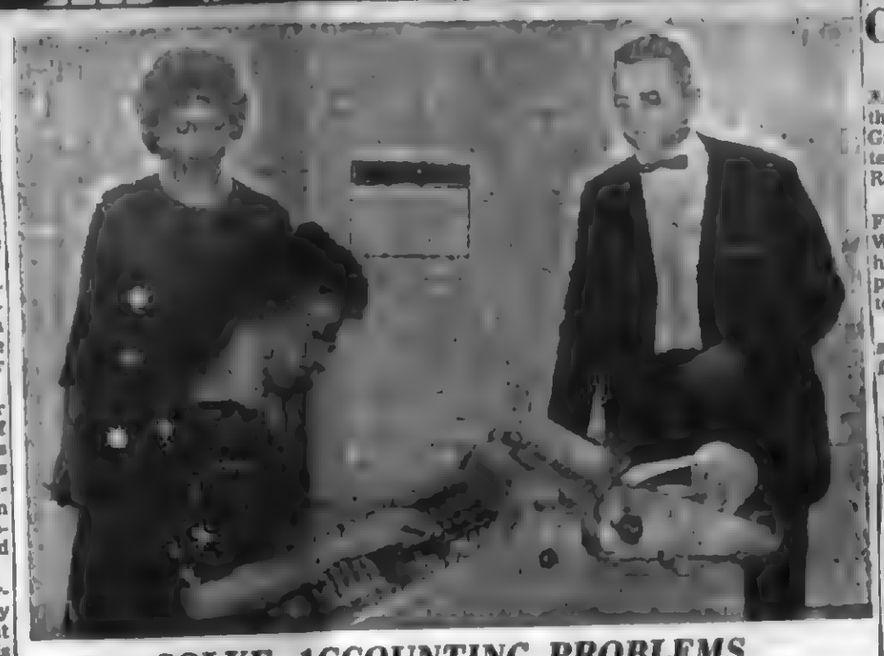
A graduate of Ohio University, Kent and his wife, Mary Jo, are co-owners of the Kent Real Estate Co. Mrs. Kent is also promotion director for the firm. The couple reside at 4130 Oxford-dr.

Donald E. Kuhn Participates In Jungle Exercise

Marine Lance Corporal Donald E. Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kuhn, 836 S. Roys-av, is serving with the First Battalion of the Ninth Marine Regiment, which was part of the combined United States-Thailand forces engaged in Exercise Jungle Drum II during January.

The exercise, involving 13 ships of both navies and Marines from both countries, was the largest assault ever staged on the Asian mainland by forces of the South East Asia Treaty Organization.

Jungle Drum was staged to provide training for both countries in jungle fighting. Amphibious landing tactics, dispersal techniques and aerial amphibious assault were stressed throughout the exercise.



Two forces clashed in the mock exercise, near Sattahip, Thailand.

Harry Kenton On Carrier

Harry D. Kenton, Jr., seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Kenton, Sr., 1618 Humphrey-av, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk, which spent New Year's Day in the Philippines.

The carrier was in Subic Bay, the American naval center of the South China Sea.

The Kitty Hawk is operating in the Far East as part of the Seventh Fleet.

Goodwill Sunday Set In Churches

Goodwill Sunday is scheduled for Feb. 17 in Franklin County Churches, to call attention to the needs and services of Goodwill Industries, 1331 Edgehill-rd.

Goodwill Industries is a non-profit charitable agency serving the handicapped of the community. Its program includes testing, training and job placement for handicapped clients.

Goodwill's major source of income is derived from the sale of used clothing, furniture, appliances and other household items, donated from homes and businesses, and processed by the handicapped workers.

Rev. George Moreye Evans, executive director, said "We are also seeking membership donations, and help in sponsoring and finding locations for 100 new collection booths."

Goodwill is 95 percent self-supporting, receives five percent from the United Appeal fund and from contributions from individuals and groups and has 360 handicapped employes in Columbus, Chillicothe, Marion and Newark.

Catholic Parents Receive Booklet

A colorful, illustrated booklet, "You and Your Child," is being distributed this week to all adult parishioners attending Sunday Mass in the Catholic churches of the area.

It is the sixth booklet in the adult education program for vocations sponsored by Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann, and directed by Msgr. Paul J. O'Dea, director of vocations.

The series covers every aspect of the vocations problem and is directed to parents whom, it is felt, have power to encourage or discourage vocations among Catholic young people to the priesthood or religious life.

Dad's steady influence is needed for . . .
LIFE'S OBSTACLES

We can easily see physical obstacles such as logs, boulders, and many other things that may be too difficult for our children to handle, but things that are not physical are not always so obvious. A young child needs help from his parents in spiritual matters too. The church can be an influence on children's lives, but when you, a parent, are taking part in church worship, you can be an even greater influence. Give your children, the leaders of the future, a hand now when they need it most. Take them to church regularly . . . and you too, will have a fuller and better life.

. . . D CHURCH SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

STUDENT-TRAINEE AT WORK

KENNETH D. SKAGGS, 1239 W. Broad-st, Central High School senior, is operating an IBM Collator at the Defense Supply Agency's Defense Construction Supply Center. Kenneth is one of 10 seniors from four high schools in the Greater Columbus-Franklin County area who are participating in the Federal Cooperative Office Education Program. These students go to school one-half time and work on a paid job one-half time. Object of the course is to graduate an office worker already adjusted to the business world, and to induce high school students to seek a career in government service.

with 10 points. Schreck hit 10 for the losers.

THE WHIZZERS, high scoring club, continued to monopolize its hold on first place by defeating the Imperials, 72-16. The Whizzers had four starters hitting in double figures—John Moreland tops with 14, Pete Krull 12, Mike Carney 12, and Dan Dent 12. Butch McDaniel hit six for the losers.

Bill Karn of the Knights, who won the pre-season senior boys basketball league at Glenwood, led the league in scoring with a 19.6 average.

Woody Shares Birthday Party For Heart Fund

"It couldn't have been better if I had planned it that way," laughed Woody Hayes.

The genial OSU football coach and chairman of the 1963 Heart Fund campaign in Franklin County was referring to the date of his birthday which falls on Valentine's Day, the day when the awareness of the heart reaches a crescendo, and also the time peak of Heart Month.

"Woody's Champagne Birthday Party for the Heart Fund" will be a highlight for Woody Hayes and his cause Thursday, Feb. 14, sponsored by the Jai-Lai Restaurant.

THE PUBLIC IS invited, and special invitations have been issued to Heart Fund volunteers and local dignitaries to join Woody at his table for the festivities.

The birthday dinner will include prime ribs, pink champagne, and birthday cake, and a percentage of the proceeds on each dinner, as well as on other Valentine Dinners served between 6 and 10 p.m. will be donated by the Jai-Lai to the Heart Fund.

Special musical arrangements to honor Woody, fellow birthday celebrants present, and the heart fund campaign will be featured by Green and Iles, piano and organ duo.

Kraut Supper Set At St. John's

A sauerkraut supper will be served at St. John Lutheran Church, W. Broad-st at Hague-av, Saturday, Feb. 16, 4:30 to 7 p.m., sponsored by Men's Brotherhood of the church.

In less than three years, 100 police officers in the U.S. were killed in the performance of duty. Several thousand were assaulted, many of them brutally.

Goof Offs Edge Clowns, 21-20

The Goof Off's squeezed by the Clowns, 21-20, in the last minute of play in the Intermediate Girls League at Glenwood Recreation Center last week. The Goof Off's Diane Rawlins scored a bucket in the last minute of play to lead her team to victory.

At the half, the score was 9-8 in favor of the Goof Off's. The end of the third quarter found the Clowns leading 16-13 but they could not hold off the fourth quarter rally of the Goof Off's. Linda Hoffert led all scorers with eight points. Karen Hatfield was high for the Clowns with six.

Ruth Castle and Cheryl Holt, of the Countdowns, are the league high scorers with a 10.3 average per game. Linda Hoffert of the Goof Off's follows with a 10-point average.

CENTRAL VALENTINE DANCE FRIDAY

WINS PRIZE AT BUCKEYE

DOROTHY WALSH, 124 S. Roys-av, was among the many folks who visited Buckeye Federal Savings during the first two days of its "Lucky 7th" birthday party. She transacted her business and paused to enjoy the refreshments. She then discovered she had earned one of the "Lucky Cakes" entitling her to a choice of three gifts. She chose a golden car key which was presented to her by Buckeye's Great Western office manager, Charles V. Sexton. Although the "Lucky Cakes" were limited to the first two days of the celebration, savers of $50 or more, and home finance applicants at Buckeye's Great Western will continue to receive free gifts during February.

Wide-Angle Athletic Slate For Gals In Falcon Nest

By GAIL BRADFORD

The various activities in which the girls must participate during the year include hockey, volleyball, basketball, track and field, archery, badminton, softball, gymnastics (vaulting horse, free exercise, balance beam and calisthenics) and tumbling.

GIRLS ARE graded on their attitude, aptitude and interest in the various programs. In association with this program, the Girls' Athletic Association is a very active club. Its members are girls who excel and are interested in athletics.

Extra-curricular teams have also been formed in various facets of the athletic program. The Falcon volleyball team is a member of a league composed of Pleasant View, Grove City, Grandview, Hilliard and West and is currently in first place.

The bowling team competes in the 12-member Franklin County School League and was rated fifth in 1962.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS also has a top-ranked track squad which placed second in the county last season. The season was highlighted by the national honor bestowed on sophomore Betty Toney for her performance in the Amateur Olympic program last summer.

The basketball team plays the new '62-'63 "roving player" game in its league. A cage clinic is also held at Bexley High and is taught by representatives of the Central Ohio Women's Basketball Board from OSU, Otterbein and University. This clinic and others are open to any girl interested for a small charge.

I believe that this is the largest ranch home in Whitehall. There are about 2,300 square feet of living space on one floor; one of the three bedrooms is 16x24 feet and the living room is 13x30 feet and carpeted with parquet floors plus a 14x18 library off one side of the living room. Huge kitchen has eating space and there is also a dining room. Two full baths. Outside there is a lot just a little under an acre with many tall trees. Very convenient location close to Town and Country and bus. Price is unbelievably low and far less than reproduction cost. Call me and I'll be glad to show it to you.

PLAN TO LIVE IN LUTHERAN CITY

Pack Organization

A new Cub Scout Pack will be organized Wednesday, Feb. 13 by the Holly Hills Civic Association. Meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

Banquet

Blue and Gold Banquet for Pack 56, Hoge Memorial Church, will be held Friday, Feb. 15, starting at 6:30 p.m.

About 200 persons are expected to attend the gathering which will feature a magician.

Executive Meeting

District executive meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 18, in the Westinghouse auditorium, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Banquet

Roundtable

The Scout leaders roundtable will be held at Westgate Methodist Church Wednesday, Feb. 20, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Banquet

TO BUILD GARAGE

Willie H. Rainey, 3691 Harding-dr, has received a building permit to erect a two-car frame garage and breezeway in Franklin Township. Valuation is $3000. John A. Pickens is the contractor.

Christmas season: When we're long on spending and short on money.

Management Club Members Prairie Players To Entertain

The Prairie Players will entertain the Westinghouse Management Club members and their wives on Tuesday, Feb. 19, at the club's meeting to be held in the plant auditorium starting at 7 p.m.

The program titled, "A Night on Broadway," will feature two separate one-act comedies, "The Other Half" and "Rise and Shine."

Unique feature of the evening's program will be the presence of the club member's wives.

After the show, which will be complimentary for all members and their wives, refreshments will be served and wives will have an opportunity to see the latest in appliances on display in the company's showroom.

The officers of the Management Club expect a full house for this exciting program. Club members have been requested to make reservations in advance.

TO ERECT HOME

James E. Neal, 3981 S. Broadway, Grove City, has received a building permit to erect a six-room, 1½ bath, frame dwelling on the north side of White-rd, Jackson Township. Valuation is $12,000.

Symphony Sets Youth Concert

Girls in the area will participate in a salute to Camp Fire Girls who will be honored at the third youth series concert presented by the Columbus Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, Feb. 16, at Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

The program features "The Story of Celeste" to be given at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Prior to the concert a flag ceremony will be held by Camp Fire Girls groups including the Spring Beauty Bluebird troop. Mrs. Helen Kilbourne of 390 Pasadena-av is the leader.

Girls in the group include: Deborah Armstrong, Susan Case, Cynthia Davis, Rae Jane Good, Tollie Ann Hunsucker, Jeryl Jenks, Reva Kilbourne, Cheri Logan, Teri Logan, Patricia Malone, Sharon Munch, Karen Rabuck, Diane Ryan and Ann Selander.

"The Story of Celeste" will be told in music with the celeste playing the role of the heroine and the cello, the hero. The Columbus Civic Ballet will illustrate the story in pantomime.

The program includes: "Orpheus in the Underworld," by Offenbach; finale from "The New World Symphony," by Dvorak; allegro from Concerto for Two Trumpets and Saxophone," by Vivaldi; "Concerto Grosso for Trombone, Tuba and Orchestra," by Dubensky; "Flute Cocktail," by Simeone, and "Plink, Plank, Plunk," Anderson.

'IT'S LIKE COMMITTING SUICIDE'

Beware Of Hike Fad, Warns County Health Commissioner

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Dr. Robert Evans, Franklin County health commissioner, spoke out this week against the current hiking fad — even going so far as to call it "asinine."

As near as can be determined, the "hiking hysteria" had its bright beginnings in Washington, DC., through some encouragement by President Kennedy.

It has spread across the country with the gusto of the "Twist" and is causing additional woes to feet not yet healed from doing that dance craze.

Greater Columbus residents have latched onto the fad and they're the ones who have Dr. Evans a little worried.

"These people should be aware of their own personal health," said the good doctor.

He's undoubtedly referring to the recent burst of interest in walking being done by folks unprepared to perform spectacular feats with their feet.

"Let's not make a mistake here," the doctor added. "Walking is good exercise but, let's not overdo it. We need more exercise but not this 'duration' type."

Dr. Evans feels there are probably people who could sit around their house and set fire to their fingertips, too, but this doesn't prove much except that they may take it.

The doctor actually has his doubts as to whether or not this "hiking hysteria" is really physical fitness or not. The feeling is strong that it can best be described as a publicity stunt.

He admits he enjoys a brisk walk occasionally, himself. "But not," he added hastily, "when I can get in an automobile."

Radio Station WTVN has been plugging a locally based oil company's offer to furnish the gasoline for a return trip by any 50-mile hikers — providing they do it in 20 hours or less and providing they register first.

They've already made good on their offer for Curtis Carter, 62 Hoffman-st, who hooded it to Zanesville last weekend in 18½ hours.

Two foot-blistered former Marines on the Hilltop took the 50-mile trip to Delaware and back and, when asked if they'd do it again, replied with a firm "No."

They are John W. Kelley, 32, of 3045 Palmetto-st, and George Motil, 27, of 2720 Sullivant-av. "Don't try it unless you're trained and know you're in good shape," they said.

J. Richard Lawwill, superintendent of Parks and Forestry, says he enjoys a walk "nearly every day" around Franklin Park. He goes about a quarter of a mile.

He reports that there's a track around Franklin that's a mile in length and says its open to anyone who might want to try 50 laps.

"I don't think I'd try it — even on a bicycle," he smiled, with vig-ah.

Local Projects Top Million, Mayor, Council Announce

A new $80,000 police substation in the vicinity of Columbian and Sullivant-avs ranks high on a list of public improvement projects earmarked for the western sections of Columbus in the city's 1963 construction program approved this week by City Council.

Altogether, residents of the West Side, Hilltop and nearby areas will benefit from nearly a dozen projects costing more than $1,000,000, according to figures announced this week by Mayor Ralston Westlake.

The new police substation will be so designed and built that it can be expanded in the future into a district station, the mayor said.

Two other police and fire protection projects are on the schedule for the West Side and Hilltop areas. The budget sets aside $300,000 for the construction of a new police academy and weapons training facility on the site of the present pistol range on McKinley-av, and $30,000 for acquisition of a site for a new fire station to replace the present structure at Broad and Mill-st. The present facility is now more than 50 years old and no longer adequate, Mayor Westlake said.

Underpass Work Included

Sewer construction projects have been allocated a total of $600,000. One of these will relieve flooding at the Central-av underpass at a cost of $100,000. Other projects include the Demorest-Kingsford-rd area sanitary relief branch ($100,000), and the west branch of the Upper Scioto Main Trunk to handle Hilliard's sewage treatment effluent at a cost of $400,000.

Also listed in the 1963 budget are enlargement of the Fisher-rd booster station to provide additional water supply to the West Side, $15,000; acquisition of land and development of use areas in Big Run (Clime-rd) Park, $43,000; and improvement of McKinley Playfield on McKinley-av, $5,000.

Biggest items listed in the overall program for this year were the $14 million south leg of the Innerbelt, the $20 million East Freeway from the Innerbelt to a point on the west bank of Alum Creek south of Livingston-av, and a $2 million allocation for the start of construction of the new $15 million Southerly Sewage Treatment Plant.

Also budgeted locally for 1963 is $675,000 for widening and cleaning of the Scioto River channel from Greenlawn-av to below the Sewage Treatment Plant as part of an overall flood protection [illegible].

The city's share of the cost of these projects will be financed by various types of bond issues and in no case will involve any increase in taxes, the mayor pointed out.

THREE INJURED IN GAS STATION EXPLOSION

THIS WAS THE aftermath of a blast which rocked Findt's Pure Oil Service Station, 2307 Sullivant-av, Sunday afternoon, injuring three people (none seriously) and causing an estimated $4,000 damage. The injured, released after treament at Mt. Carmel Hospital, were Firefighter Gil Price, 37, of Galloway; Mrs. Mina Harvey, 52, of 2414 Harrisburg-pk, Grove City, and Louis Kempf, 37, 1356 Eldon-av, Flames from a hot water heater apparently ignited the fumes touching off a small explosion which knocked out several windows and damaged two cars.

DEVELOPER SUBMITS REQUEST

Zoning Commission To Consider Delay At Hearing On Clime-Demorest Tract

Franklin County's Rural Zoning Commission will hold a hearing as scheduled on a request for rezoning of a 58-acre site on the northeast corner of Clime and Demorest-rds at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 25 in the Franklin Township Firehouse.

George W. Schaaf, Hilltop real estate developer, submitted a letter to the commission asking the hearing be delayed due to recent action taken by the Franklin Couny Regional Planning Commission.

The rural zoning commission is required to open the hearing since it has been legally advertised but then might take action on the delay request, according to Mrs. Thelma Hardy, executive secretary.

The zoning commission usually approves the postponement but could decide to continue the hearing. Area residents interested in the zoning change should send a representative to the hearing just in case the commission decided to proceed, added Mrs. Hardy.

Residents in the vicinity of the proposed zoning change were notified of Schaaf's request for a delay on Feb. 15. They had been notified of the hearing date on Feb. 4, said Mrs. Hardy.

If the hearing is postponed, it would be scheduled during March, according to the executive secretary.

Law requires that residents be notified of the new date at least 20 days before the meeting.

Earlier this month the commission held up final approval of Schaaf's proposal for the building of twin [illegible] apartments and a shopping center until Friday, Mar. 1. The commission asked the developer and regional planning staff to review plans for 34.5 acres of the tract, to be used for the building of deluxe apartments.

The planning commission balked at its staff recommendation when it asked the planning staff and Schaaf to review the proposal.

The staff was against turn-

DAVIS-TOWN FINALLY GETS SIGNAL

RESULTS ARE STILL sifting down from the 27 traffic improvement suggestions sent to City Hall by the West Side Neighborhood Council many months ago. This new traffic signal was erected at W. Town-st and Davis-av, near Mt. Carmel Hospital last week. Safety Director Albert G. Giles personally ordered the installation. Another new control has been hooked up at Glenwood-av and W. Broad-st. Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher said the old light at nearby Yale and W. Broad will be hooded for six months while the new traffic pattern is studied.

COMMITTEES NAMED

West Side Council Will Invite Mayor Candidates

The new executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council last Thursday, decided to invite the two mayoralty candidates, Sensenbrenner and Westlake, to speak at council's next two open meetings, Mar. 12 and May 14 at Gladden Community House.

The executive committee, headed by President Stanley Doran, will meet on first Tuesdays of the alternate months.

In response to the request of the Sunshine Center swimming pool committee for an opinion, the executive group voted favorably on the city proposal to build an outside pool in the park. The resolution was forwarded to council's recreation committee and will be put up to full council vote Mar. 12.

The traffic committee chairman acknowledged the installation of a long-sought traffic control at W. Town-st and Davis-av.

Executive committee members went on record as supporting the work of Gladden Community House and its staff in providing social group work services to the community.

Health — Mrs. Bonnie Durbin, James W. Timberlake, Gary C. Stoll, Mrs. Walter Cunningham, William Hughes, Mrs. Nora Shallenberg, Rev. Al Rose, Clarence Wiget, Mrs. Ralph McGarry, Mary Chambers.

13-YEAR-OLD DONALD MIESSE
... Has Reason To Smile

Don Plugs Heart Fund Drive And, He Should Know

If Donald were less matter-of-fact and more inclined to dramatics, he could keep his acquaintances spellbound with tales about the plastic patch he wears on his heart and the artificial artery implanted in his leg.

But on command performance, he will exhibit a chest-wide, east-west red-ridged scar, with a fading northbound branch extending up toward the base of the neck — evidences of two open heart surgery operations, in 1961 and 1958, and a closed heart operation in 1954.

After his second operation, Don grins, he made $14.50 by charging visitors to the hospital, and later his playmates, a dime a look — until his mother put a stop to it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Miesse, 424 S. Burgess-av, said they'd be happy to tell their story if it would help the current Heart Fund campaign.

"Our expenses," said the serious young father of five, "have been kind of overwhelming. We can't do as much as we'd like for the Heart Fund. But we want to tell everyone what surgical miracles Heart Fund dollars have performed through medical research.

"Don was a "blue baby," and he was a year old before he could sit up — and then in a sort of "sagging slouch." Doctors told us there was no hope, just to enjoy Donald one day at a time. One Christmas we even celebrated early, just in case.

"That was long before the heart pump and open heart surgery, and there was nothing anyone could do for him. We're so lucky he was able to survive until these wonderful advances in surgery were made. We're sold on the Heart Fund. We want to sell others."

The term "blue baby" is a generalization which refers to improper heart function and a resulting ashen-blue look, particularly about the lips and nails, due to lack of sufficient oxygen, according to Donald's doctor, Dr. Don Hosier.

Donald's first operation, when he was five, was to construct a shunt, or bypass for blood flow, around a pulmonary artery which was obstructed. It was performed as an emergency, following several successive heart attacks that day. During Don's operation; his mother recalls, the doctors said his skin tones gradually became pink for the very first time in his life.

The second operation, four years later, closed a hole between the two chambers of the heart with the use of a plastic patch, and the third, a year ago in December, corrected the aortic valve which was not closing properly and was allowing blood to flow back into the heart again.

Actually, Donald underwent a fourth unscheduled operation in 1961. When he was in the hospital for a heart catheterization (a needle is inserted in the heart as part of a diagnostic procedure), an artery in his leg suddenly broke. A plastic artery graft was implanted.

Within three days Donald had three strokes, causing temporary paralysis from the chest down, double vision, and a speech problem, but immediate medication dissolved the offending blood clot, and he was able to function normally when he was discharged from the hospital a short time later.

Two foot-blistered former Marines on the Hilltop took the 50-mile trip to Delaware and back and, when asked if they'd do it again, replied with a firm "No."

They are John W. Kelley, 32, of 3045 Palmetto-st, and George Motil, 27, of 2720 Sullivant-av. "Don't try it unless you're trained and know you're in good shape," they said.

J. Richard Lawvill, superintendent of Parks and Forestry, says he enjoys a walk "nearly every day" around Franklin Park. He goes about a quarter of a mile.

He reports that there's a track around Franklin that's a mile in length and says its open to anyone who might want to try 50 laps.

"I don't think I'd try it — even on a bicycle," he smiled, with vig-ah.

THREE INJURED IN GAS STATION EXPLOSION

THIS WAS THE aftermath of a blast which rocked Fladt's Pure Oil Service Station, 2307 Sullivant-av, Sunday afternoon, injuring three people (none seriously) and causing an estimated $4,000 damage. The injured, released after treatment at Mt. Carmel Hospital, were Firefighter Gil Price, 37, of Galloway; Mrs. Edna Harvey, 52, of 5616 Harrisburg-pk, Grove City, and Louis Kempf, 27, 1255 Elden-av, Flames from a hot water heater apparently ignited the fumes touching off a small explosion which knocked out several windows and damaged two cars.

Local Projects Top Million, Mayor, Council Announce

A new $80,000 police substation in the vicinity of Columbian and Sullivant-ave ranks high on a list of public improvement projects earmarked for the western sections of Columbus in the city's 1963 construction program approved this week by City Council.

Altogether, residents of the West Side, Hilltop and nearby areas will benefit from nearly a dozen projects costing more than $1,000,000, according to figures announced this week by Mayor Ralston Westlake.

The new police substation will be so designed and built that it can be expanded in the future into a district station, the mayor said.

Two other police and fire protection projects are on the schedule for the West Side and Hilltop areas. The budget sets aside $300,000 for the construction of a new police academy and weapons training facility on the site of the present pistol range on McKinley-av, and $30,000 for acquisition of a site for a new fire station to replace the present structure at Broad and Mill-st. The present facility is now more than 50 years old and no longer adequate, Mayor Westlake said.

Underpass Work Included

Sewer construction projects have been allocated a total of $600,000. One of these will relieve flooding at the Central-av underpass at a cost of $100,000. Other projects include the Demorest-Kingsford-rd area sanitary relief branch ($100,000), and the west branch of the Upper Scioto Main Trunk to handle Hilliard's sewage treatment effluent at a cost of $400,000.

Also listed in the 1963 budget are enlargement of the Fisher-rd booster station to provide additional water supply to the West Side, $15,000; acquisition of land and development of use areas in Big Run (Clime-rd) Park, $43,000; and improvement of McKinley Playfield on McKinley-av, $5,000.

Biggest items listed in the overall program for this year were the $14 million south leg of the innerbelt, the $20 million East Freeway from the Innerbelt to a point on the west bank of Alum Creek south of Livingston-av, and a $2 million allocation for the start of construction of the new $15 million Southerly Sewage Treatment Plant.

Also budgeted locally for 1963 is $675,000 for widening and cleaning of the Scioto River channel from Greenlawn-av to below the Sewage Treatment Plant as part of an overall flood protection program.

The city's share of the cost of these projects will be financed by various types of bond issues and in no case will involve any increase in taxes, the mayor pointed out.

DEVELOPER SUBMITS REQUEST

Zoning Commission To Consider Delay At Hearing On Clime-Demorest Tract

Franklin County's Rural Zoning Commission will hold a hearing as scheduled on a request for rezoning of a 58-acre site on the northeast corner of Clime and Demorest-rds at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 25 in the Franklin Township Firehouse.

George W. Schaaf, Hilltop real estate developer, submitted a letter to the commission asking the hearing be delayed due to recent action taken by the Franklin Couny Regional Planning Commission.

The rural zoning commission is required to open the hearing since it has been legally advertised but then might take action on the delay request, according to Mrs. Thelma Hardy, executive secretary.

The zoning commission usually approves the postponement but could decide to continue the hearing. Area residents interested in the zoning change should send a representative to the hearing just in case the commission decided to proceed, added Mrs. Hardy.

Residents in the vicinity of the proposed zoning change were notified of Schaaf's request for a delay on Feb. 15. They had been notified of the hearing date on Feb. 4, said Mrs. Hardy.

If the hearing is postponed, it would be scheduled during March, according to the executive secretary.

Law requires that residents be notified of the new date at least 20 days before the meeting.

Earlier this month the commission held up final approval of Schaaf's proposal for the building of twin singles, apartments and a shopping center until Friday, Mar. 1. The commission asked the developer and regional planning staff to review plans for 34.5 acres of the tract, to be used for the building of deluxe apartments.

The planning commission balked at its staff recommendation when it asked the planning staff and Schaaf to review the proposal.

The staff was against turn-

DAVIS-TOWN FINALLY GETS SIGNAL

RESULTS ARE STILL sifting down from the 27 traffic improvement suggestions sent to City Hall by the West Side Neighborhood Council many months ago. This new traffic signal was erected at W. Town-st and Davis-av, near Mt. Carmel Hospital last week. Safety Director Albert G. Giles personally ordered the installation. Another new control has been hooked up at Glenwood-av and W. Broad-st. Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher said the old light at nearby Yale and W. Broad will be hooded for six months while the new traffic pattern is studied.

COMMITTEES NAMED

West Side Council Will Invite Mayor Candidates

The new executive committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council last Thursday, decided to invite the two mayoralty candidates, Sensenbrenner and Westlake, to speak at council's next two open meetings, Mar. 12 and May 14 at Gladden Community House.

The executive committee, headed by President Stanley Doran, will meet on first Tuesdays of the alternate months.

In response to the request of the Sunshine Center swimming pool committee for an opinion, the executive group voted favorably on the city proposal to build an outside pool in the park. The resolution was forwarded to council's recreation committee and will be put up to full council vote Mar. 12.

The traffic committee chairman acknowledged the installation of a long-sought traffic control at W. Town-st and Davis-av.

Executive committee members went on record as supporting the work of Gladden Community House and its staff in providing social group work services to the community.

Health — Mrs. Bonnie Durbin, James W. Timberlake, Gary C. Stoll, Mrs. Walter Cunningham, William Hughes, Mrs. Nora Shallenberg, Rev. Al Rose, Clarence Wiget, Mrs. Ralph McGarry, Mary Chambers.

Traffic — Frank Schneider, Mrs. Fay Preston, Ralph E. McGarry, Virginia Lousey, Walter Cunningham, Robert

Alert Police Halt Buckeye Holdup Men

Patrolman Thomas W. Craft "likes being a policeman" but there are two men who wish he wan't one.

Because Craft likes his job, James E. Edwards and Jack Longwood, of Akron, are in jail for robbing the Buckeye Finance Co. office, 1245 W. Broad-st, of $5,767 Tuesday evening.

The Akron pair entered the finance office at 5:35 p.m., pretended to want a loan, and suddenly poked a .38 caliber revolver at the manager, William Burns.

Burns, who gave the robbers $5,767, was slugged in

13-YEAR-OLD DONALD MIESSE
. . . Has Reason To Smile

Don Plugs Heart Fund Drive And, He Should Know

If Donald were less matter-of-fact and more inclined to dramatics, he could keep his acquaintances spellbound with tales about the plastic patch he wears on his heart and the artificial artery implanted in his leg.

But on command performance, he will exhibit a chest-wide, east-west red-ridged scar, with a fading northbound branch extending up toward the base of the neck — evidences of two open heart surgery operations, in 1961 and 1958, and a closed heart operation in 1954.

After his second operation, Don grins, he made $14.50 by charging visitors to the hospital, and later his playmates, a dime a look — until his mother put a stop to it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Miesse, 424 S. Burgess-av, said they'd be happy to tell their story if it would help the current Heart Fund campaign.

"Our expenses," said the serious young father of five, "have been kind of overwhelming. We can't do as much as we'd like for the Heart Fund. But we want to tell everyone what surgical miracles Heart Fund dollars have performed through medical research.

"Don was a "blue baby," and he was a year old before he could sit up — and then in a sort of "sagging slouch." Doctors told us there was no hope, just to enjoy Donald one day at a time. One Christmas we even celebrated early, just in case.

"That was long before the heart pump and open heart surgery, and there was nothing anyone could do for him. We're so lucky he was able to survive until these wonderful advances in surgery were made. We're sold on the Heart Fund. We want to sell others."

The term "blue baby" is a generalization which refers to improper heart function and a resulting ashen-blue look, particularly about the lips and nails, due to lack of sufficient oxygen, according to Donald's doctor, Dr. Don Hosier.

Donald's first operation, when he was five, was to construct a shunt, or bypass for blood flow, around a pulmonary artery which was obstructed. It was performed as an emergency, following several successive heart attacks that day. During Don's operation, his mother recalls, the doctors said his skin tones gradually became pink for the very first time in his life.

The second operation, four years later, closed a hole between the two chambers of the heart with the use of a plastic patch, and the third, a year ago in December, corrected the aortic valve which was not closing properly and was allowing blood to flow back into the heart again.

Actually, Donald underwent a fourth unscheduled operation in 1961. When he was in the hospital for a heart catheterization (a needle is inserted in the heart as part of a diagnostic procedure), an artery in his leg suddenly broke. A plastic artery graft was implanted.

Within three days Donald had three strokes, causing temporary paralysis from the chest down, double vision, and a speech problem, but immediate medication dissolved the offending blood clot, and he was able to function normally when he was discharged from the hospital a short time later.

Mayor Says City Moving Ahead On Wilson-rd, Sullivant-av Plans

Georgian Heights Civic Association asked Mayor Westbrake for a progress report on the extension of Wilson-rd and improvement of Sullivant-av and got their answers in 1-2-3 order this week.

"(1) Franklin County Commissioners, at a meeting called by me late last summer, indicated by formal resolution their intention to participate in the project. This was necessary because approximately half of the proposed improvement lies in Franklin County outside city limits.

"(2) Preliminary engineering plans for the extension from W. Broad-st to Sullivant-av, a distance of 0.8 mile, have been completed and approved by the City Planning Commission. Detailed engineering plans are now being prepared by an outside engineering firm hired by the city to do the job and these plans are now about 25 per cent completed.

"(3) A special team of appraisers is now working on the various parcels of real estate that lie in the path of the city's portion of the extension. These appraisers expect to have their appraisals completed by the end of March. The city can then begin negotiations to acquire the necessary land.

"(4) A preliminary route plan for the further extension of Wilson-rd from Sullivant-av south to Alkire-rd has been approved by the City Planning Commission. When complete, this additional extension will provide residents of your area with a much-needed traffic outlet to the southern and southwestern sections of Franklin County.

"(5) The $600,000 estimated cost of the extension from W. Broad-st to Sullivant-av has been budgeted in the city's 1963 five-year capital improvements program and all but a small portion of it has been allocated for 1964, which means that the city is prepared, financially, to complete a major part of the project next year.

"Whether this can be done, however, depends in part at least on the county's ability to provide its share of the cost of this project. We do not as yet have any definite information on this contingency.

"Now for the improvement of Sullivant-av. Present plans call for the construction of a four-lane pavement for a distance of 1.1 miles on Sullivant-av from Derrer-rd to Georgesville-rd at an estimated cost of $350,000.

"This project also has been set up in the city's five-year capital improvements program, but because of the priorities that must be given to other important projects on the basis of traffic engineering studies, the Sullivant-av project is not scheduled to get under way for at least the next two or three years. This schedule, however, could be advanced should further studies show traffic conditions warrant it.

"City Eingeer Robert Werner reveals that when this project is completed, it probably will necessitate a grade separation project at the Georgesville-rd crossing of the New York Central Railroad."

WIN MUSIC GRANTS

Crime Crackdown Needed, But Won't Come

A Hartley Headliner Report

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A startling increase in major crimes in Columbus calls for a law enforcement crackdown—a crackdown that can't be made by the Columbus Police Department.

This was the sad but inevitable conclusion drawn this week by Police Chief George Scholer who went so far as to say that the increased crime rate has him "worried to death."

Actually, the progressive increase in some crimes has worried Scholer ever since his appointment to chief nine years ago. It doesn't take much imagination to picture the chief as a chess player who can, at present, merely move his men around the city rather than concentrate on any particular area.

"All I can do is analyze the various areas of the city and, if I find a high crime rate, shift more men into the area. This, however, leaves another section without adequate enforcement."

"In other words," he continued, "a major crackdown on crimes cannot be made with our current staff."

In comparison, murder has increased 60.9 per cent, rape 10 per cent and burglarly 6.3 per cent.

The alarming increase in murders doesn't really concern Scholer as much as burglarly and auto theft increases. The chief pointed out that "Columbus, over the years, has experienced a low homicide rate. An upsurge in one year doesn't concern me — this will drop. But, we can't overlook the fact that burglary has been going up continuously and auto thefts have increased 180 per cent in the last 10 years."

Why? What factors have caused an upsurge in crime? The men close to the problem have part of the answers.

For example, Lt. Wayne Morgan of the homicide and robbery squad points out the reason is "population explosion." He added: "It's simple enough . . . the more people in a city, the more homicides you'll experience."

Lt. James Woods of the burglarly and larceny squads feels the same way. "We've been managing territory for some time. Things previously handled by the county are being done by us, now." Besides population, Lt. Woods attributes part of the increase to his theory that Columbus is "a dumping ground for state parolees."

"Sure, population is a factor," said Scholer. "But let's not forget that the population has been increasing right along and yet we've never had an upsurge as great as we experienced last year."

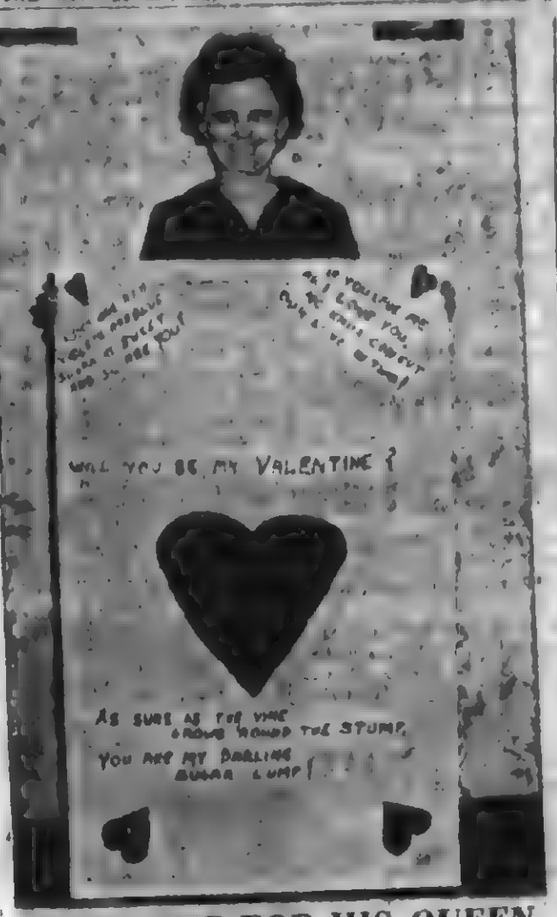
The chief said that, speaking proportionately, the crime rate has increased faster than the population rate in all crimes in the city during the last 10 years.

As far as the dumping ground theory, Scholer says it "may be true," but added he'd rather not "make a wild statement."

There are other factors, too.

For instance, Scholer sees juvenile delinquency as the biggest contributor. He pointed out that 75 to 85 per cent of the auto thefts in this city are committed by persons under 18 years of age.

Perhaps the darkest cloud in the gloomy crime picture is Scholer's statement that "from indications now, the upper trend in crime is going to continue in this city."



One of the big answers, of course, is manpower. City Council has given approval to 24 new policement but this still falls short of the national average.

"I've stressed this situation continuously to city fathers, the news media, radio and TV," said Scholer. "People say it's a 'sad situation' but that's the end of it. No one assists us in getting more money or more manpower. Maybe some day my plea will reach the right source."

Columbus is now second in population in the state. Comparing the Capitol City with Cincinnati, Scholer showed that the city has 300 more policemen than does [redacted].

"Regardless of statistics," Scholer said, "Columbus is the cleanest city I know of for its size and compared even with smaller cities. It's a healthy atmosphere to live in, despite what the statistics show."

Perhaps. But figures don't usually lie. And they do, in fact, frighten.

KING-SIZE FOR HIS QUEEN

VALENTINES COME in all sizes — if you don't believe it ask Mrs. William R. McBride, 894 Harmon-av. Mrs. McBride found a valentine which was 48 inches in length and 25 inches wide when she returned home from work on Feb. 14. Her husband, a retired Navy lieutenant commander and a bookkeeper for the Art Products Co., designed the valentine with different rhymes he had written to his wife while away at sea. The housewife is only a foot taller than the valentine.

William Criner, 89 S. Powell-av, who was in the office at the time, followed the robbers until he saw them drive away in their 1956 twotone Pontiac.

Craft heard the city-wide alert while on traffic duty in the Linden area, and went to the North Freeway at 17th-av to watch for the car.

He spotted the 1956 Pontiac but the men inside didn't fit the description. Being a good police officer he decided to check them out and stopped the automobile.

Craft ordered Edwards to to come back to the police cruiser but then grabbed the man for a shield when Longwood said, "Get in the car or I'll kill you."

A struggle followed between Craft and Edwards as Longwood tried to shoot him but did not for fear of hitting his accomplice.

Craft, unarmed as his gun was kicked under the Pontiac during the fracas, crouched behind his police car as Turner fired at the thugs. An off-duty policeman, Patrolman James Burns, also arrived and fired a shot.

Longwood surrendered to police and Edwards also gave up in the police cruiser where he had been struggling with Craft in an attempt to turn off the car radio.

Craft, who has had other such experiences before, after filing his report, commented, "I like being a policeman and hope to work at it 25 years."

Community Groups Can Help Furnish New Hilltop Center

An advisory council is being formed for the new Westgate Recreation Center, and one of its first opportunities for service will be the supplying of "needed extras."

That was the word from Melvin Dodge, a supervisor from the Columbus Recreation Department, at a meeting of the Hilltop Community Council last Thursday.

Dodge said he hopes the various community groups will take it upon themselves to secure such things as lounge furniture, draperies, planters and special play equipment desired at the center. This has been done by civic-minded groups when centers are built in other sections of the city, Dodge said.

Until the members of the advisory council are announced, groups may discuss the center's requirements with Dodge by calling him at CA. 1-2211.

Dodge said the center is on schedule and should be completed by May 1. A full program of playground activity will be held at Westgate this summer, he said. A special new attraction will be the "tot lot" — a fenced-in playground for pre-schoolers. It, too, will be ready by summer.

Book borrowers! Two publicity scrapbooks belonging to the Hilltop Community Council have been mislaid. If you have them, please return them to Mrs. Ginny Berger, 710 S. Westgateav, BR. 6-1468.

The recreation supervisor said Westgate Center will be especially useful because of its large gymnasium and auditorium, seating 480. Dedication ceremonies will be held in the fall.

Council heard a letter from the city engineer's office stating that the request for sidewalks in the park area is now under consideration.

Mrs. Charles L. Shaw, membership chairman, announced that any churches or organizations wishing to join the community council may do so by phone, or letter to her at 47 Whitethorne-av, phone 279-8131.

Program chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rucker, announced that the next council meeting will be held Thursday, Mar. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Hilltop YMCA. Details of the Hilltop Easter egg hunts will be presented then.

Donald figures he's been in the hospital an average week and a half for each of his 13 years. The worst period was prior to his first operation.

Then he landed in the hospital two or three times a year for blood transfusions, oxygen, and general observation. They treated him and sent him home, because they didn't know what else to do.

Don is somewhat of a stoic philosopher whose experiences have given him an early maturity and an appreciation of his life-and-death surgical risks. He wants to be a minister and attends the Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church twice on Sundays and once again Wednesdays.

Usually his parents and his three brothers — Kenny, 12; Paul, 10, and Bernie, six — and now their baby sister, Donna, six weeks old — are with him.

He's used to persistence. He went through kindergarten twice, that was after his first heart surgery operation. And one year he studied at home with a visiting teacher. Even so, [redacted] sixth grader at John Burroughs School, he is only two years behind most pupils his age.

It's a pretty safe risk to say that the ministry is another grade Donald Miesse will make.

As for the Miesses, they will continue to plug the Heart Fund drive. Mrs. Miesse is already a veteran Heart Sunday worker of fours years, and will anxiously await the results of this Sunday's annual campaign.

Columbia Heights Starts Lent With 24-Hour Prayer Vigil

On Ash Wednesday, Feb. 27, to observe the beginning of the Lenten season, the Columbia Heights Methodist Church, 91 Sturbridge-rd, Lincoln Village, will hold a 24-hour prayer vigil and communion.

All members and friends can come to the church any time from 12:01 a.m. until midnight on Ash Wednesday, for private prayer at the altar and to partake of communion.

Persons may remain in the church as long as they desire.

A booklet of prayers and prayer suggestions will be available to all who participate.

In addition to the beginning of Lent, the service marks the beginning of the period of personal spiritual enrichment, a part of the 225th anniversary of John Wesley's Aldersgate experience being observed by all Methodism.

Meat should be frozen quickly and stored at zero F. or lower. Recommended maximum storage time: Ground pork and sausage, one to three months; ground beef and ground lamb, three to four months; fresh pork, three to six months; lamb and veal six to nine months; beef, six to 12 months.

Scoutmaster Is Victim Of Snowstorm

Jackson A. Jordan, 45, of San Marino, Calif., whose aunt, Mrs. James M. Phillips, lives at 6011 W. Broad-st, was found dead Feb. 12, near the peak of Mt. San Jacinto, near Palm Springs, Calif.

Jordan, a scoutmaster, took four scouts, including his son, Jackson, Jr., to climb the 10,780-foot mountain Feb. 9.

The scouts said he had complained of being tired.

They were stranded by the snowstorm until Monday and were finally rescued by helicopter.

Jordan is also survived by wife, five children, mother, two sisters and a brother.

'Save Our Spouse' Is Charm School Topic

How can you get your husband to "take it easy"? Should he take it easy? Why does a heavy snowfall bring on a newspaper headline such as "49 year old executive has heart attack while shoveling snow?

These and many other questions are asked by anxious wives about their husbands. What are the components of a good fitness program for men?

All of these topics will be covered by Dr. H. B. Caplan, noted Columbus physician, in his talk titled S.O.S. "Save Our Spouse".

Dr. Caplan will initiate the Jewish Center's ninth annual Charm School on Thursday, Feb. 28, at 10:30 a.m.

The women's exercise class will be set back to 9:45 a.m. and will end at 10:45 a.m.

Dr. Caplan will allow ample time for questions and a discussion period.

All women are encouraged to attend.

The new date for the self-defense course for women will be announced shortly.

Horse Show Luncheon Set

Roland G. Sunker, executive director of the Kidney Disease Foundation of Central Ohio, has announced a benefit Spring Horse Show Luncheon to be held at the Olentangy Inn, Tuesday, Feb 26.

The civic leaders attending will be advised as to the part they might play in the project.

The first U. S. employment service was inaugurated Jan. 3, 1918, as a unit of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Television Is Reaching An All-Time High In Content

What's to be said about television today?

"Watch it," that's what.

Program caliber is reaching toward an all-time high and all factors seem to indicate that it doesn't show signs of stopping.

There's some very good reasons for this, too. Leading the list is the fact that the nation's top writers are finding television an interesting outlet.

Add to this the fact that some of the great producers and directors of our day are turning their talents to TV and it's easy to see why the industry is moving ahead faster than William Tecumseh Sherman — and, perhaps, with more pow...

Realism on Climb

Realism, of course, is becoming the key for most television drama. And, with this drive for realism comes another problem—namely, good taste.

Prostitution, alcoholism, narcotics, illegitimate pregnancy and abortions are just a few of the very real things in our world today. Sensitive subjects? Sure. But, they're being woven into dramatic offerings every week with great skill.

It is undoubtedly safe to assume that many eyebrows are being raised over presentations of these types. But much more good is being derived from them.

Let me cite an example:

Early in November, the National Broadcasting Company prepared an "Eleventh Hour" episode. It was the story of a 15-year-old girl in the emotional crisis of an illegitimate pregnancy and it posed, among other possible solutions, the question of abortion.

Accepted Well

Robert Sarnoff, president of NBC, reports that some stations across the country asked to view the show on closed circuit first. All but one decided to carry it—including Columbus' WLW-C, TV 4.

The very next morning, schools, churches and PTA groups telephoned NBC affiliates and asked for prints of the film to show to teenagers and parents.

In Davenport, Iowa, for instance—not very far, incidently, from the community that killed the show for airing there—a station received a letter from a Methodist minister seeking to borrow a print for high school classes and parent meetings.

Now, what does this all mean?

It means, basically, that realistic subjects are being handled expertly. Responsible and effective treatment are being used in dramas of this type with astounding results.

Well Distributed

No particular network has a monopoly on these fine works.

And, you can bet your sweet life that you'll see more. Right this minute top talents in this country are working on drama with themes of civil rights, intolerence, and juvenile delinquency and expectant mother's fear of childbirth.

Add to this list programs about adjustment of a young girl and her family to the knowledge that she is fatally ill or the problem of whether to get married while in college and you'll be coming close to what to expect from your 21-inch tube in the very near future.

More power—and much credit—to these men who are working under the gloom of such phrases as "vast wasteland."

Suburban Topic To Be Televised

"Suburban Viewpoint" will probe the pros and cons of the controversial West North Broadway extension, Thursday, Feb. 21, at 7:30 p.m. on WOSU-TV Channel 34.

At the close of the program, Congressman John M. Ashbrook, 17th District U. S. Representative, will express his views about suburban problems in general.

Area Women To Assist In Heart Sunday

REVIEWING PLANS for the Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, solicitation are, seated, Mrs. Draper, area chairman for west Columbus; Mrs. Harold K. Schellenger, and Heart Sunday chairman. Standing are, Mrs. Carl Borror and Mrs. Paul Martin, ward chairmen.

Mrs. Robert M. Draper, 104 S. Westmoor, will serve as area chairman of the Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, door-to-door solicitation in the west Columbus area.

Mrs. Harold K. Schellenger is Heart Sunday chairman for Franklin County and Mrs. Draper's co-chairman is Mrs. A. C. Rea, 1999 W. Broad-st.

Working under their supervision will be the following ward chairmen: Mrs. Dorothy Davis, 41 S. Yale-av, Ward 9; Mrs. June Phillips, 174 Nashoba, Ward 10; Mrs. Paul Martin, 642 Augusta, Ward 11; Mrs. Carl S. Borror, 2864 Ridge-av, Ward 21; Mrs. C. F. Nagley, 342 S. Westgate, Ward 32.

Mrs. Russell Alban, 2749 Elliot-av, Valleyview; Mrs. William D. MacDougal, 4666 Musket Way, N. Lincoln Village, and Mrs. John Hughes, 99 S. Murray Hill, S. Lincoln Village.

Heart Fund volunteers serve a twofold purpose, they leave at each home a leaflet containing information about the programs of the Heart Association, and also receive Heart Sunday contributions.

Heart Sunday, the climax of the month-long drive for funds to fight the number one health enemy—heart and blood vessel diseases, is sponsored by the Franklin County Heart Council.

Since the heart fund has been in existence, Mrs. Schellenger pointed out, progress made in combating the heart diseases has resulted in the saving of thousand of of lives.

Central Ohio Heart Association of which the local Heart Council is an integral part, has invested $1.3 million dollars in local research since 1950. Currently the association is supporting 19 research projects and seven fellowships at Columbus research institutions.

First County Courts Held In Franklinton Home

There was no courthouse or public building of any kind in Franklinton when the village was named seat of Franklin County government in 1803.

When the courts came to the settlement, judges presided in a room in the house of a settler, John Overdier, until the courthouse was built in 1807-08 at the northeast corner of Broad and Sandusky-st.

The square structure, with its octagonal cupola, continued to serve as courthouse until the county seat was moved to Columbus in 1824.

After that it was used as a schoolhouse and, in 1873, was torn down to make way for Franklinton Elementary. This building, in turn, was razed a few years ago.

County courts, after the seat of government was moved to the capital, were held first in the United States Courthouse

Judges of the Court of Common Pleas when sessions were moved from Franklinton were Gustavus Swan, president judge, and Edward Livingston, Samuel O Flanniken and Aron Buttles, associate judges.

A. L McDowell was clerk of courts, and Robert Brotherton was sherrif.

A low, one-story brick structure, built at the rear of the US Courthouse in 1828 or 1829, housed county offices.

Divided into four sections, each with an outside entrance, the building's north portion was occupied by the clerk of courts; next was the office of county recorder, then county treasurer and, in the south room, county auditor.

County offices remained in this building until 1840 when they were moved into the present courthouse at Mound and High-st. The building was razed in the spring of 1857 when the square was graded.

Two lots at the southeast corner of High and Mound-sts were deeded to the county in 1837, for the location of a courthouse, county offices and jail by Dr. and Mrs. M. B. Wright.

Soon after the building's construction, however, the site was found to be too small for its intended purposes and a third lot, adjoining the first two on the south, was purchased for $1,556.04. South boundary of the additional lot was then called Strawberry Alley.

The purchase extended the tract to about two and a half acres, an entire city block.

The basement of the main building was used as a jail, the first story above for the sherrif's residence, and the courthouse was located on the second floor.

Two small wings housed offices of the clerk, auditor and treasurer.

Official business increased as the county and city grew and larger facilities were soon needed, promoting the construction of second building in 1852 and 1853, a few feet south of the original courthouse and facing High-st. The two were connected by a passage on the upper floor.

US Court Comes To Columbus

Citizens of Columbus, in spite of determined opposition, succeeded in 1821 in having the United States Courts moved from Chillicothe to the capital.

The United States Court House was built on the Public Square in a line with the first state house and about 50 or 60 feet north of the state offices.

The plain, two-story brick structure was about 50 feet square, with a roof rising on all four sides to a circular dome.

A broad, winding stairway from the large entrance hall, led to the second floor. Two large rooms on either side of the center, first-floor hall housed offices of the clerk and marshal, and jury rooms.

The courtroom and a jury room were located on the second floor.

Although financed partially by an appropriation passed by the legislature, the greater part of the building funds was assumed by citizens who raised the money by subscription.

United States court continued to be held in Columbus until 1855, when the state was divided into two districts and the courts moved to Cincinnati.

The court house was torn down soon after.

When the court came to the capital Harvey D. Evans was clerk, and Dr. John Hamm of Zanesville was marshall.

William K. Bond of Chillicothe became clerk after Evans died in 1825, and Bond was succeeded in 1829 or 1830 by William Miner who continued in the post even after the court moved to Cincinnati.

Marshals who succeeded Dr. Hamm were William Doherty, Gen. John Patterson of Jefferson County, John Patterson of Adams, Demas Adams, John McElwin, D. B. Robertson of Fairfield County, G. W. Jones of Knox County, and H. H. Robinson of Cincinnati.

FORTS OF 1812

The Ohio Historical Society administers the sites of two War of 1812 forts for public appreciation: Fort Meigs, Perrysburg and Fort Amanda, Auglaize County.

CITY IN 1834

Columbus was incorporated as a borough in 1816 and, in 1834, became a city by special act of the Legislature. Population was then 3,500.

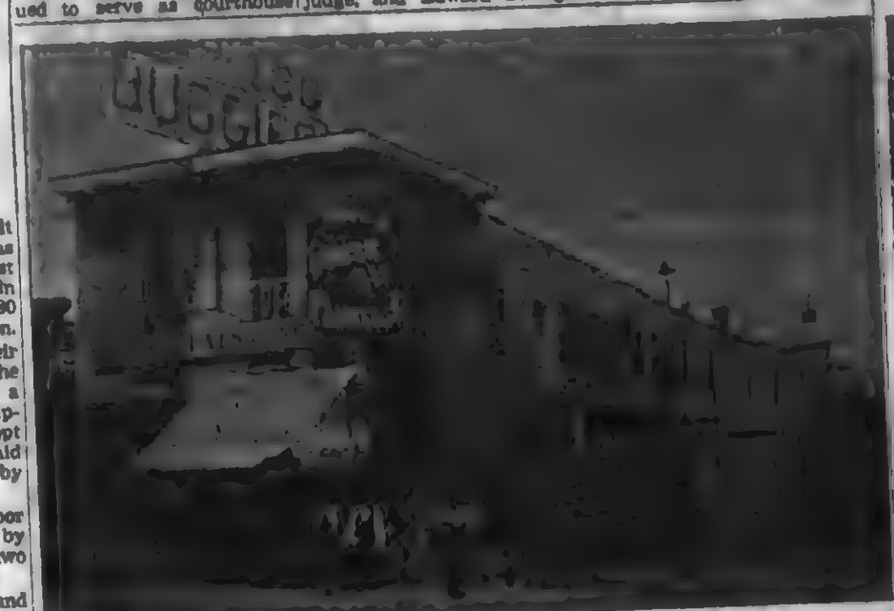
Log Prison First Jail In County

A little log structure, built by Lucas Sullivant in 1804 as a jailhouse, became the first official building of Franklin County. Sullivant received $80 for construction of the prison.

Built of 12-foot logs, their sides hewed to fit snugly, the prison had two floors and a roof of large shingles, or clapboards, split by hand and kept in place by heavy poles laid across them, rather than by nails.

The building had one door and two windows (eight by ten inches) secured by two bars of iron.

Four years later Lucas and Sally Sullivant deeded to Franklin County "lnlot 25," as the location of a new prison.



This structure, built of bricks, was to serve as a prison until 1824 when the seat of county government was transferred across the river to Columbus.

County prisoners were at first lodged in Columbus in a brick building on the south side of Gay-st, between High and Third-st.

When the new court house was completed in 1840, they were moved to cells in the basement of the building. Escapes from the insecure prison were frequent.

Construction on the present county jail, east of the court house and facing Mound-st, was started in 1864 and completed in May, 1866.

The front of the two-story building was built of brick and housed the sheriff's office and residence. The rear of the structure, with massive stone walls, contained the prison.

BUGGY-MAKING WAS ONCE MAJOR COLUMBUS INDUSTRY

Camp Chase Housed 7000 During Civil War Years

Columbus was half a century old when Camp Chase, bustling center of Civil War activity in this part of Ohio, was established.

The encampment, sprawling over 635 acres of land on what is now W. Broad-st, west of Hague-av, resembled a bustling town within months after it was constructed in the spring of 1861. The site was then four miles from Columbus.

Seven thousand men encamped there, and its 160 buildings included officers quarters, private quarters, mess halls, stables, hospitals, cooking and baking houses, a large parade ground and the prison.

The prison section, located on Sullivant-av at Hague-av, was enclosed by a 14-foot board fence topped with spaced platforms for use by sentinels, and all was enclosed by an outer fence that continued around the entire camp and parade ground.

Known first as Camp Jackson, the camp was temporarily established first in Goodale Park, and then torn down and moved during the spring of 1861 to its new site, where it retained its original name until June.

Col. A. E. King was first commander.

Salmon P. Chase, whose name the camp bore, was once a United States Senator and later elected governor of Ohio in 1855 and 1857. Following a term as secretary of the treasury in Lincoln's Cabinet, he was named chief justice of the US Supreme Court.

Camp Chase Cemetery, on Sullivant-av two blocks west of Hague-av, burial ground for 2260 Confederate soldiers and spies, is all that remains of the post.

First prisoner was received June 29, 1861, and on July 5, 23 prisoners from the 23rd Virginia Regiment, captured in the Kanawha Valley, were brought to Columbus.

At the time of the surrender at Appomattox, there were 9,300 prisoners at the camp.

At war's end Camp Chase, so teeming with action for five years, became silent and empty. In February, 1866, military records and documents were moved to Columbus and an un-armed guard stationed at the place to keep watch over the property.

On July 14 of the same year, the prison property was offered for sale by order of Gen. Richardson, the camp torn down and a portion of the lumber shipped to Dayton where it was used in the construction of the National Soldiers Home there.

Records are sparse—there are none to indicate exactly how many troops were encamped there during the war years or how many Confederates housed in the prison.

But stories told by the headstones are eloquent. Spies were identified simply as "citizens." All prisoners' graves are numbered and labeled.

Final pages of the camp's history, with the high death rate from widespread disease during the closing months of the war, are clearly written. Men died so quickly that some graves contain bodies of two men.

The heartbreak of family divided, the tragedy of all Civil Wars, everywhere, is told in one headstone, the story of two brothers, so divided in their opinions and loyalties that they enlisted on opposing sides.

The Confederate soldier was captured and sent to the prison at Camp Chase. And here he met his brother, a Union guard.

The Confederate became ill and died; the Union soldier in his official position as a guard was forced to bury his brother as an enemy.

Many Southerners made the sad trip to Columbus at war's end seeking the graves of loved ones. Some were successful here, others continued on.

Simple white headstones mark each grave, identifying the soldier and his military connection. A small American flag is placed at the head of the grave.

A monument in the center of the cemetery is a stone archway bearing the single word, "Americana." On the top of the arch is a statue of a Confederate soldier, and beneath it, a huge rock bear-enclosure."

CITY HALL IS BURNED

COLUMBUS' FIRST CITY HALL was this ornate structure, later destroyed by fire and replaced with the present structure.

Township Is Named For Marion

Marion Township, now a part of Columbus, was organized Feb. 24, 1873, and named after William Marion, pioneer from Boston, Mass., who settled in the area in 1807.

He married Sally Waite from Johnstown, N.Y., the same year, and died in 1837 at age 50.

The first settlement along Alum Creek was in 1799, and pioneers in the region were John White and his wife, Col. and Mrs. E. C. Livingston from New York, David Nelson and Col. Frankenburg, an officer of the Hanoverian army.

Agriculture Advanced By Weber.

Weber-rd in north Columbus perpetuates the name of an early settler who was a pioneer in agriculture in that area.

Frederick Weber purchased a five-acre tract with a log cabin, between what is now Weber-rd and Oakland Park-av, east of Indianola-av, in 1834.

The area was sparsely settled because of its wet, heavily-timbered condition.

However, the industrious Weber by means of crop rotation, drainage and proper plowing, found that potatoes, cabbage and other vegetables could be raised, in addition to wheat and corn. He also planted an orchard of apples and peaches.

During the fall and winter Weber and his sons were busy clearing more land. Hard-working and thrifty, Weber soon extended his land holdings to a productive farm of now 310 acres.

Ohio School For Deaf First State Institution

The establishment of the School for the Deaf, first state educational institution for the handicapped in Ohio, came about largely through the efforts of Dr. and Mrs. Hoge of the First Presbyterian Church on Spring-st and members of their congregation.

Their petition, signed by a large number of prominent citizens, was presented to the State Legislature in its 1826-'27 session. Recommended by Gov. Morrow, the act of incorporation was passed.

The school was opened Oct. 16, 1829 in a small rented building at the corner of Broad and High-st, with three pupils.

First superintendent and only instructor of the school when it opened was Horatio N. Hubbell, who studied at the American Asylum, Hartford, Conn., for a year and a half to become qualified for the post. Hubbell continued as superintendent of the school until 1851.

The preceding February, 1829, a 10-acre site about half a mile east of the State House on E. Town-st was purchased for $300.

Construction on the first building at the new location was started in 1832, and a three-story structure, 50 by 80 feet, designed to provide school, lodging, dining and sitting rooms for 60 to 80 pupils, was occupied in the fall of 1834.

A south wing four stories high was added, and occupied in October, 1846.

By 1848 100 pupils were attending the school, and nearly 380 had been educated there.

Applicants so far exceeded the school's facilities that in March, 1864, an act was passed for the construction of a new building with accommodations for 350 pupils and staff.

J. M. Blackburn, architect, submitted the approved plan and was appointed to execute it.

Among items included in the cornerstone, laid Oct. 31, 1864, were portraits of Pres. and Mrs. Lincoln, Gov. Brough and generals, currency, copies of State documents, the emancipation proclamation, newspapers, and a list of the officers, teachers and pupils.

The new building was occupied in September, 1868, but the formal opening was not held until Feb. 11, 1869.

Darby Creek Is Settled Early In 1810

A settlement sprang up along Darby Creek as early as 1810, 20 years before the township was to be formed.

James Boyd, John Hayden, John Patterson and W. Renler were among the earliest, with others arriving at intervals along the banks of Darby until 1826, when a number of Welsh families joined them.

A sawmill was built along the Darby in 1837 and later, while the Urbana and Western Railway was being built, a steam sawmill was constructed to provide railroad ties.

Joseph O'Harra was named first postmaster for the Darby postoffice in 1848, a post he would hold for 10 or 12 years.

Other pioneer families in the area were those of Jacob Rogers, James Langton, John D. Acton, Paul Alder, William Walker, Henry Francis, James Huggett, Chauncey Beach, N. E. Fares, George M. Clover and John Kilgore.

Ohio Escapes Disaster In '37 Financial Panic

Ohio was saved from the financial disaster that overwhelmed other states during the panic of 1837 to 1841 through the singlehanded efforts of a Columbus man, Alfred Kelley.

Kelley had come to the city in 1830 as acting canal commissioner, responsible for building the Ohio Canal System. Although this was his principal work he was also interested in railroads, turnpikes, taxation, banking, public credit and schools.

Ohio at that time, and many other states as well, was embarked on a gigantic program of building and expansion of roads and canals, all financed on borrowed money and to be repaid from expected revenue from toll roads and canals.

When the speculatory bubble burst in 1837, state after state was overwhelmed and, impoverished from overextending their credit, was forced to repudiate or disclaim their debts.

Some projects had to be abandoned, half-finished and unproductive, while others were found to be premature and impractical.

Kelley was in New York at the time, trying to borrow money by pledging or selling bonds in order to pay interest on the canal bonds he had helped to negotiate. Financiers, however, refused the bonds as pledges of security.

Ohio's treasury was empty and legislators were considering repudiating the state's debts.

It was then that Kelley offered his own notes, even though failure in their payment would have meant personal bankruptcy.

The money was advanced and Ohio's interest was paid. The state neither repudiated her debts nor ever again kept her creditors waiting.

Some of the states who had taken the action later paid her debts, but others still remain unpaid.

Kelley returned to Columbus and helped Ohio rebuild her finances.

BABY SHOES

Last Fall we ran a series of attention arresting ads on our Little Yankee Shoes. One of them showed a pair of baby shoes and said, "Mother, our very best baby shoe won't do a thing for your child." It meant that babies are born with good feet and all that shoes should do is not interfere with them so they can develop normally.

It probably should have said that our best shoe, fitted the way we fit it, wouldn't do anything TO your baby's feet. Because I've seen some little feet that were certainly abused by the shoes they had recently been fitted to. Two year olds with corns and the start of bunions,

In one case, grandmother insisted on buying shoes in another city and mailing them to the little grand-son. The shoes were cute with nice pointed toes like the grown-ups are wearing. But they didnt fit and the parents let the baby wear them until their doctor saw them and raised the roof.

From now on they are going to have the little fellow fitted by some one who knows more than grandmother. Every child deserves to be taken to a good store and have his feet fitted every time he gets shoes.

... WINS PRIZE AT BUCKEYE

DOROTHY WALSH, 124 S. Roye-av, was among the many folks who visited Buckeye Federal Savings during the first two days of its "Lucky 7th" birthday party. She transacted her business and paused to enjoy the refreshments. She then discovered she had earned one of the "Lucky Cakes" entitling her to a choice of three gifts. She chose a golden car key which was presented to her by Buckeye's Great Western office manager, Charles V. Sexton. Although the "Lucky Cakes" were limited to the first two days of the celebration, savers of $50 or more, and home finance applicants at Buckeye's Great Western will continue to receive free gifts during February.

Stolen Saddle, Blanket, Brings Jury Indictment

Donald Eugene Dearwester, 28, of 375 Wrexham-av, was indicted Feb. 11 by Franklin County Grand Jury on a charge of receiving and concealing a stolen saddle and saddle blanket.

The saddle and the Navajo blanket belonged to the Franklin County Sheriff's posse.

Highway patrolmen reported that Ralph Raymond Milner, 34, of 1258½ Oak-st, admitted taking the saddle and of having Dearwester keep it at his home for him.

Milner has been charged in connection with the theft.

Hilltoppers Involved In Home Blaze

Two Hilltoppers were involved in a blaze when a torch used to thaw water pipes ignited a frame house at 197 E. Fifth-av Saturday afternoon, firefighters reported. The building was destroyed.

The house was being remodel for a barber shop and rooming house, Edgar Baxton said. Baxton, 37, of 350 S. Wheatland-av, purchased the building Thursday, he said.

Willie Halsell, 52, of 98 S. Oakley-av, was working alone in the house Saturday. He was thawing pipes to get ready to install wallboard, he said.

Assistant Fire Chief Glenn Barr estimated damage at $4,000.

ON MOVIE BOARD

The good life is full of little deeds made meaningful by a few Godly decisons.

Mental Health Meeting Set

The two top officials of Ohio's mental health program will discuss plans and programs at a special meeting of the Franklin County Mental Health Association at noon Thursday, Feb. 21, at the YWCA.

Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections, and Dr. Lowell O. Dillon, newly appointed Commissioner of Mental Health will address the meeting.

New Teachers Join West High Faculty Family

Three teachers joined the West High School regular faculty for the second semester. Two are new to the Columbus School System, and one has been working as a substitute.

Mrs. Margaret Cress, who had acted as a replacement for Mrs. Frances Davis, has replaced Mrs. Cathryn Thomas as a teacher in 10th and 11th grade English.

Mrs. Cress, the mother of three, has taught in city schools for the past three years.

Two history teachers, both new to the teaching field, joined the West High staff.

David Schiff, a graduate of Capital University, is replacing Miss Cynthia Henderson, who is on sick leave for the rest of the year, and Jim Dally, graduate of Toledo University, is assuming the teaching duties of Charles Myers, who has left West to become a cadet principal.

Schiff hopes to coach basketball as soon as he is settled in his teaching duties.

Both a basketball and football player, Dally will coach the reserve football team, replacing Larry Gray, who has taken over Myers' duties as boys' attendance officer and varsity backfield coach.

Would-Be Robber Is Ousted From Cleaning Store

Jack Sevant, 75, ousted a would-be robber from his Home Art Cleaners, 647 W. Broad-st, Friday afternoon, according to police.

The robber, giving his name as Wallace Newman, 35, of Springfield, Mass., reportedly grabbed Sevant and asked for his (Sevant's) money.

They wrestled. Sevant broke loose and ran next door to the Peerless Candy and Tobacco Co. Inc., 649 W. Broad-st. Several of the firm's employes ran out and captured the man.

He was held in City Prison for investigation of armed robbery.

JDC Escapees Are Returned

Wayne County (Ind.) sheriff's deputies caught two 16-year-old escapees from the Ohio Juvenile Diagnostic Center after the youths fled from a stolen car on Rt. 40, west of Richmond, Friday evening.

The boys, identified by center authorities as Paul F. Sauer, 327½ Forest-st, and James M. Phifer of Columbia Station, walked away from the local institution last Thursday.

'Wild Cats' Cause Residents To Hunt For Frank Buck

By LEE STILLWELL

Residents on S. Sylvan-av, between Eakin-rd and Race-av, are looking for a Frank Buck in the Columbus area — they need a man with that "Bring 'Em Back Alive" spirit to track down "wild cats."

Although not "as big and bad" as wild jungle-type cats, domestic felines running loose in this West Side area are causing more than their share of problems for neighbors.

Home owners have voiced a large number of complaints in past weeks about the number of felines without homes prowling through the area.

Housewives have reported seeing from six to 26 cats trailing together through the neighborhood to an open field behind homes on the west side of the street.

The problem was brought to light in past weeks as tempers among neighbors reached the brink. Cold weather has forced cats from their homes into fields to ravage through garbage cans in search of food. If this were not enough, the furry felines, presently in mating season, spend nights "calling" to their mates. These love songs have been disrupting the sleep of numerous residents.

One home owner, Mrs. Rose Cotter, attempted to catch the cats by offering food and shelter in her basement. After befriending a female feline, numerous males have appeared to share food with their girl friend and to serenade [illegible]

Six cats decided to make Mrs. Cotter's basement their home during the cold spell and she trapped them in her cellar and notified the Columbus Humane Society.

The woman was informed there was a $1 service charge on pick-up of cats which also had to be in a container. She decided against turning them over to the society when informed that since the cats were "wild," they would probably be put to sleep. Humane officials said they would not attempt to catch the "wild" cats.

She was told she could call the Cat Welfare Association, Inc., which she did — and confronted them with her problem.

Mrs. Lester Martin, 4375 Aldrichord, welfare president for 1962, and Mrs. Kathleen Brunson, 921 Mariam-dr, have been working on the problem but have not found a solution.

Mrs. Martin gave her views on the situation in an interview. She said, "Cats have an instinct to run wild and if they are not properly taken care of will. Once they become this way it is almost impossible to catch them."

Once a stray cat mates and has kittens, the little felines grow up never having been domesticated by humans and become "wild." When they are like this, you can't even get close enough to touch them, she added.

"The only way to prevent the situation is to educate people about what to do for cats. We advocate the spaying of cats to control the population. Once males are neutered and females spayed, they seldom leave home and are desirable pets. The Cat Welfare Association was formed to handle the placement of homeless cats," she said.

"People should not let them reproduce like other animals because there are always more cats than homes for them," said the Cat Welfare president.

"The Cat Welfare Association, Inc., feels not enough is done for cats in the Columbus area," she said. "We handle placement of cats and will open a new cat shelter at 736 E. Wetmore-av, just off of Indianola-av, in a few weeks."

"We feel prejudice is shown toward dogs over cats at the Humane Society. Why is there a $1 service charge on cats and none for dogs? The society will not pick up stray cats but will catch loose dogs," she concluded.

Thomas C. Justice, general manager of the Columbus Humane Society explained their position: "Wild cats are almost impossible to catch," he said.

"We have a $1 service charge on cats and not dogs because we are attempting to encourage people to bring the cats to the shelter where they will be accepted free of charge. The call for cat pick-ups outnumber all others and the service charge does not cover all expenses. We hope to keep expenses down in this manner," said Justice.

"With a staff of 18 individuals, the society must inspect all animals housed in buildings in Franklin County. They inspected 1,225,226 animals during 1962," said the general manager.

"The Humane Society Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk, housed 25,279 animals during the past year and places as many pets as it can," added Justice.

Justice concluded by explaining their policy for picking up stray dogs and not cats, "Dogs are not hard to catch since they will come to you, while stray cats will not even let you near them."

With no solution to the problem in sight, Sylvan-av residents believe things may get worse—the female felines involved in mating season may have kittens which will increase the "wild cat" population — meow!

Whizzers Win Intermediate Cage Laurels

The Whizzers won the Intermediate Boys basketball championship at Glenwood Recreation Center last week. The victory was number five for coach Carney's Whizzers without a defeat.

The Whizzers defeated the Squires, 36-22. The Whizzers, playing without their big center, John Morlan, had little trouble containing the losers. Dan Dent and Darrel Rohrer were the top scorers for the winners with 10 and nine points, respectively. Ken Jackson hit six for the losers.

THE WHIZZERS will represent Glenwood in the city basketball tournament after playing an All Star game.

In other games, the Spartans defeated the Playboys, 58-36. The Spartans, who led all the way, had three players hitting in double figures: Ken Wells tops with 15, Hugh Williams, 14, and Dick Barlow, 12. Steve Pennell hit 14 for the losers.

Also, the Spartans, led by Phil Caldwell, stopped the Imperials, 37-31. Caldwell led in rebounding and was the high scorer with 15 points. Don Evans tallied 12 for the losers.

The Aces defeated the Playboys, 47-39. Jim Anderson and Mill McIntyre led the winners in scoring with 11 and 10 points respectively. Steve Penell of the Playboys led all scorers with 23 points.

LOCAL RESERVES HONORED DURING SPECIAL WEEK

MAYOR W. RALSTON WESTLAKE proclaimed Feb. 13 through 21 as "Reserve Forces Week" honoring the reserves, their employers, and their families for contributions to the defense of the United States. The celebration started with a kickoff banquet at Lockbourne Air Force Base Feb. 9 and included awards to those who have maintained the reserve forces in Columbus. Mayor Westlake is shown with the officers who have been responsible for the activities of Reserve Forces Week. From the left is Lt. Commander Evelyn M. Spurlock, public information officer, U.S. Naval Training Center; Lt. Commander James Larvè, president of the Naval Services Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association; Lt. Col. J. W. Woerner, president of the Columbus Ortoa Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association in Columbus; Commander H. W. Wertin, commanding officer of the U.S. Naval Training Center here; Mayor Westlake; Col. G. Cole, deputy commander of the XX Corps; and Lt. C-l A. E. Isaac, commanding officer of the Columbus Sub Sector, XX Army Corps.

Experts In Civil Defense To Appear At Seminar

A Civil Defense Seminar for Industry will feature some of the nation's foremost experts on civil defense in an all-day session Tuesday at the Defense Construction Supply Center Officers Club.

Principals in the seminar will be available for interviews Tuesday, a.m. between 9 and 9:30, Officers Club, Defense Construction Supply Center, E., Broad-st., and James-rd.

Sponsor of the seminar is the Military Affairs Committee of The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Columbus Industrial Association and the Columbus and Franklin County Civil Defense Office.

U. S. Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense Walter F. Lineberger, Jr., will present the "National Plan Outline and Goals of Civil Defense" to an audience of approximately 75 representatives of Columbus Area industries.

Virgil L. Couch, U. S. director of industrial participation in civil defense, will discuss "Civil Defense in Industry and How Some Companies Have Prepared for Survival."

A third speaker from Washington will be Charles Shafer of the Office of Civil Defense. His subject will be "Enemy Capabilities and Weapons Effects."

The seminar program will also include Dr. Alfred E. Diamond, Ohio Civil Defense Acting Deputy Director, and Russell E. Pennell, Director of Columbus and Franklin County Defense.

Purpose of the seminar according to Military Affairs Committee Chairman Raymond E. Mason, is to inform top executives of industry in the Columbus area of the need and means for preparedness in case of enemy attack.

Frisch's To Expand Local Operations

Frisch's Resaurants, Inc., is building its fourth and fifth stores in Columbus and plan further expansion here.

Jack C. Maier, executive vice president of Frisch's, announced the firm has under construction two stores — at 4775 E. Main-st and 3400 Olentangy-rd. Both are now under roof and should be open late next month, Maier said.

Even though the two new stores will give Frisch's five drive-in restaurants in Columbus, the firm is looking to the future when there will be additional sites available, the vice president added.

Franklin Heights Senior Girl Named Runner-Up In Contest

Senior Named Runner-Up

Twenty-six girls in the Columbus area competed and were judged on talent, personality and beauty.

The first interview was held at the Noni Beauty School and the second interview was held at Whetstone Recreation Center.

The competition was open to any interested girl and two girls, besides Sherry, competed from Franklin Heights. They were Eloise Wagers and Jennie Harbour.

All the girls received long stemmed roses and Sherry received articles of make-up and a bracelet.

Bill Smith, a popular and talented junior at F.H. has been selected as the Spotlight Student of the week. During his freshman year he played varsity football, was the wrestling manager and a member of Student Council.

As a sophomore he participated in the Western Optimist Oratory contest in which he placed second. Bill also had the leading role in the school's musical, "The King and I."

During the summer Bill taught kindergarten at the West Franklin summer school program. He also played reserve basketball and lettered in varsity football.

This year Bill is president of the junior class, president of Future Teachers of America, editor of the Tercel and Choir, a member of Senior a member of the [illegible] team Bill played varsity football and was elected to the football squad as next year's football captain.

For the last two years Bill has worked part-time at Richmond Brothers and also managed to keep a 3.0 average in his studies.

Ternstedt Union Votes For Strike Action . . . IF

A strike was authorized Friday by employes of Ternstedt Division, General Motors, but it appears that chances of a work stoppage are thin.

The contract between GMC and United Auto Workers Union calls for two waiting periods during which negotiations shall proceed. The first five-day waiting period would begin Tuesday, Feb. 28.

Union officials said they asked for strike authority because of objectionable working conditions on certain assembly lines. Another complaint is management allegedly informed skilled tradesmen they "are not to talk, laugh or smile during working hours."

A union spokesman said the vote to authorize a strike, if it is deemed necessary, was about nine to one.

Chicken Dinner Will Send Youth On Tour

A chicken dinner sponsored by the Franklin County Odd Fellows joint planning committee will be held Saturday, Mar. 2. Serving from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

Games and fun following dinner at IOOF Temple, 50 W. Fifth-av. This is a benefit to send a youth on the annual UN pilgrimage.

Halt Import Of Red-Built Goods Here--Nationally Too

The question of purchasing goods manufactured in Communist or Communist-bloc nations has spread to Central Ohio. The movement started several months ago in the East when consumers discovered they had unwittingly purchased an item manufactured behind the Iron Curtain.

Many of these distraught buyers, joined by anti-Communist groups, formed committees and "raided" the guilty stores by placing little printed cards on each item suspected of being a Communist import. This, in turn, led to boycotts and near riots at several respected business institutions in a large metropolitan area of the East.

Now the same situation is beginning in Central Ohio. Columbus City Council has asked that an ordinance be prepared making it the law of the city to compel all merchandisers displaying items from a Communist country to also display a large sign proclaiming the source of said merchandise.

One councilman even proposed a fine of $500 be tacked onto the ordinance to punish any violators.

It might in some instances, but the problem goes much deeper than the local level. It goes back to a Federal government that allows trade with nations who have avowed to bury us.

Whether the consumer purchases the goods from the individual merchant or not, may eventually have an effect on future purchases by the merchant. But in the meantime tons of Communist manufactured goods already have been purchased, with the blessing of the U.S. Government, and are on the shelves of department and variety stores across the nation.

If a successful boycott of questionable products is pulled off, the one affected will be the individual merchant and not the Communist manufacturers . . . they've already been paid for their product.

So it would seem the wise move for those objecting to these goods would be a letter to their representative in Congress. Enough pressure by interested voters and the wheels of government begin to turn.

Protest marches and boycotts need not take place if enough interested citizens will take the time to tell their congressmen how they feel on this subject. Thus, the wheels of American democracy will turn in an orderly fashion as they were intended.

We Can Have Spiritual Feast Or Famine

The season of Lent is approaching once again. The question often arises as to how we may better observe this penitential season in our every-day living.

There are those who believe fasting in its variety of self-denial forms is the best way to observe this season which also vividly points up the obedience of Christ to His Father's will. Luther has stated the evangelical position as regards fasting when he said, "Fasting and bodily preparation (to receive the sacrament of the Lord's Supper) are indeed a good external discipline; but he is truly worthy and well prepared who believes these words, 'Given and shed for you, for the remission of sins.'"

Rev. Mann

Lent is a time of preparing even as every day of every week should be a time of preparation to be ready to meet our Lord, as we meet Him in the sacrament and in the proclaimed Word. Since obedience, submission of Christ's will to the will of His Father was Christ's "food" (John 4:34), we as followers of His ought to reflect a similar hunger.

What kind of hunger do we reflect in our living example? Too often our lives reflect the take-all give-nothing attitude. In a very real sense with this attitude we are actually experiencing a spiritual famine. Our stomachs may be overloaded but — much like the sailor on a raft in the middle of the ocean surrounded by water, yet without sufficient water to assuage his burning thirst — we become "living" starving examples of people without God who is all around us but in whom we have not placed our trust.

What is your life like? Are the monotony of everyday living and the tensions of home life, world conditions, causing you to feel that something is missing from your daily diet? If this is so, Lent is a fine time for you to examine your present life and see if the food, the sustenance you are missing in your present diet can't be received through the sustenance of faith in Jesus Christ.

Your food and mine ought to be to do the will of our Father in Heaven. This is the only feast in which our hunger can be truly satisfied.

Rev. Milton C. Mann, pastor

A Steadily Retreating Foe . . .

The Heart Fund gift you make this month (Feb. 24 is Heart Sunday) is a gift for health.

Thousands of people who receive medical care now survive heart and blood disorders that were considered hopeless only 20 years ago. Knowledge uncovered through research has made this possible.

Still, heart disease is the nation's No. 1 killer. When people talk about "heart disease" they usually mean heart attack. Heart attack, however, is only one of the many different forms of heart and circulatory disease. The other major ones include stroke, rheumatic heart disease, inborn heart defects, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, heart failure, and even varicose veins.

Together these diseases cause in excess of 925,000 deaths a year in the United States, which is more than 54 per cent of the nation's death total from all causes. In Ohio, heart diseases accounted for 56 per cent of all deaths in the state in 1961.

Despite the many battles won thus far in the fight against these diseases, the war is far from over. There are still great gaps in our knowledge. Chief research targets now are the discovery of the now-unknown causes of atherosclerosis, high blood pressure and rheumatic fever.

In the past year, the Central Ohio Heart Association awarded $151,864 for research, bringing its total investment in local research since 1950 to over $1,800,000. Nationally, more than $75,000,000 Heart Fund dollars have been channeled into research since 1949, year of the first campaign.

When you give to the Heart Fund you are adding strength to the forces aligned to achieve the retreat of this enemy of mankind.

Must End Service

To The Editor:

The Sertoma Club of Columbus regrets to announce that effective Mar. 1, its Youth Employment Service (YES) office is being discontinued.

The necessity has arisen whereby both a new office location and a new secretary-manager would have to be obtained and these facts bring to light the long-known truth that our current operation is not what it should be to properly serve the youth on its rolls.

The Sertoma Club is proud of the fact that its Youth Employment Service office in the past three years has interviewed and counseled more than 5,600 teenagers and has found part-time jobs for more than 2,000 of them.

We take this opportunity to express our appreciation and gratitude to the school authorities, guidance counselors, news media, and the many businesses who have contributed to the successful operation of this project.

Boat Buyers Have Their Pick

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Why do firemen wear red suspenders? What's black and white and red all over? Why do people go boating?

While you must attend primary school to keep up on the latest answers to the first two questions, the third should be obvious to everyone who keeps an eye on the outdoors. People go boating because it's fun. (The new answers to the old riddles are: (1) It's in the uniform regulations, and (2) A chocolate sundae with catsup.)

What kind of boating fun do people have?

According to a research study by the Outboard Boating Club of America, boats are used for a wide variety of on-the-water recreational pursuits. Fishing leads the list, with some 70 per cent of new outboard motor purchasers saying they were going fishing.

There is a lot of overlapping, of course, for modern boats are suitable for a number of sports. Forty-six per cent said they would "go cruising." Water skiing attracted a response from 37 per cent, six per cent say hunting and seven per cent listed other activities.

The versatility of boating has probably been the main reason for its tremendous growth in recent years. At this time of year it's easy to conjure up an attractive summer day, with fishing in the morning, water skiing in the afternoon, a cruise in the evening while you prospect a shoreline for a good duck hunting location come fall. This leads to a lot of boat and motor sales, and is not entirely fantasy. Such a day comes true for many boaters every summer. But all boats are not suited for all purposes.

Fishing has been the number one reason for purchasing boating equipment for years, and fisherman demand led to the creation of the first sputtering outboard and its continued development year after year. Sport fishing experts estimate that at least 50 per cent of the nation's 35 million anglers use boats regularly.

This leads to the obvious question, what makes an ideal fishing boat? I can not tell you, for it depends on where you fish, what kind of fishing you do and how much you have to spend. The canoe is an ideal fishing craft for many, while others make Lake Erie their personal fishing pond with 18, 20-foot and larger cruisers. No boat is perfect for all purposes, and you should decide in advance your main use and key your buying to it.

Luckily, it is a buyers' market in the boat business today. Not that they are inexpensive, far from it, but there are more choices than ever. Looking at boats, will make car-buying seem easy. Not only is there great variety in sizes and styling, but you also have to decide about construction materials and power.

In my notion, these last two factors have kept the boat pot bubbling in recent years. A wooden boat of lapstrake construction was acknowledged for many years as the best there was. Fiberglass and aluminum were slow to compete, until manufacturers got the idea of moulding in lapstrakes and similar grooves. Along with this trend was a movement to deeper "V" hulls and away from the flatter, pounding type of craft. This has been a significant development.

At the same time power has undergone great changes. The outboards have been getting steadily larger and more powerful. And then came the inboard-outboard. For a couple of years only two types of inboard-outboards were available, but now the choice of units and horsepower is almost astonishing.

It is a lot easier to answer why people go boating, than it is how to have the most boating fun. It all depends on you.

CRISES

Apparently the President of the United States and other leaders believe we are living in a time more perilous than any others in our history. Perhaps they are right, considering the terrible weapons in the hands of our obvious enemies.

But there have been other times of great danger in this land when even the stoutest heart saw little hope in a gloomy picture.

One time was when George Washington and his few faithful troops suffered at Valley Forge, ill clad and ill fed, while the less patriotic, some rich, some poor, lived amicably beside British troops in Philadelphia, doing much to hurt the cause of freedom.

Civil War buffs need not be reminded of situations that existed a century ago. In the first big conflict at Bull Run the Federals were driven back in panic to D.C. Had the Confederates followed, we could well have lost the nation's capital.

Another gloomy time was the deep winter, 1862-1863. Lee's invasion of the North had been turned temporarily in a costly conflict at Sharpsburg. Grant had dealt the Confederates a grievous blow at Shiloh, but at great cost to himself and to his men in blood and supplies, Vicksburg and Gettysburg had not yet been won.

Many Northern newspapers favored the South editorially. Even the staunch McCormick, of Chicago, despaired of victory and would have settled for a divided nation.

Actually, because of Northern strength, the Southern cause was doomed, but it was to take much doing to seal it. National danger is not a stranger.

It says here. . . .

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

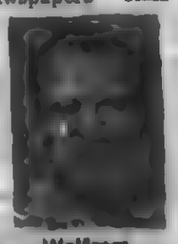
It is no great wonder or deep mystery today why millions of perfectly fine and decent citizens are going cuckoo. Since TV came along, the hucksters have seduced this country into acceptance of more plain bunkum than anyone ever saw or heard before in his whole lifetime.

We are living most of every 24 hours on a constant deluge of blah-blah. Blah about beer, blah about cigarettes, blah about hair goo, BO, carburetor dirt, dry skin, hands with the soft touch . . . add infinitum, ad nauseum.

The hucksters are giving headaches to so many that their business is actually booming just treating those who swallow all of this moronic drivel. If people would just get their own lives organized with real professional health care via their own private family doctor, they would not need to swill down so much worthless junk — some of which actually can be dangerous.

If people would learn how to eat, how to think and keep the kinks out of their muscles and joints, this idiotic patent medicine racket would not be able to buy millions of dollars worth of TV time, just to purvey so-called entertainment.

The whole thing comes down to an amazing fieldar's choice that all of us can make every day in this land. What a marvelous thing it would be if more people were soundly educated to the point that they had a constant watchman at the gate of their own mental health and stability.



But, so long as the adult-infants of physical maturity, continue to resist and even violently reject anything that really makes good sense, we will see the hucksters wax fatter and fatter and the country become goofier and goofier. Unless general education reaches this land m[illegible] soon [illegible] we will see this bunk engulf most of us into our own built-in destruction.

One Man's Opinion by Jerry Wolfrom

Youth Spouts Alarming Views

It is indeed a paradox that the recent stabbing on Columbus' West Side is being viewed by local citizens with mixed emotions. It therefore came as rather a shock to us to learn that some teenaged factions in the city are willing to condone the killing by labeling it justifiable.

A Hartley Newspapers' staff member this week had occasion to give a 17-year-old youth a ride as he was hitch hiking west in the 600 block of W. Broad-st.

Wolfrom

Immediately after getting into the car, the youth began talking about the Gladden House incident. The boy identified himself as an East Sider who had quit school but was unemployed. He also admitted being "in the vicinity" of the stabbing that Friday night.

Spouting a rather lengthy tirade of paraphrased misinformation, the youth said ("X"), the alleged killer, should get a medal for what he did "As far as we're concerned, he is a hero."

He further exclaimed that the odds were 20-1 against "X" whose car was smashed up. "We think the West Side bunch was pretty chicken to gang up on him like that." The boy refused to identify "we."

Our reporter asked him if he felt a 20-year-old father had a good reason for being at the Gladden House. "Certainly," was the reply. "He's a good guy — he was doing some of his buddies a favor. Anyway, it's a free country."

Apparently this vein of thought roused a certain amount of patriotism in the youth because he said if "X" were prosecuted, the country might as well sell out to the Russians.

"There ain't no justice here anymore," he stated flatly. "Everyone is against kids and when one of us defends ourselves, they throw the book at us."

As the youth got out of the car in the Hilltop area, his parting remarks were, "There's gonna be plenty of trouble between the East and West sides. We got a gang that won't hold still if they do anything to "X." We know about a West Side gang that is coming over to our side of town to get revenge. We're ready for them."

There are many who will shrug off the thinking of the unidentified boy as "kid's stuff." However, if there is any truth whatsoever in his hint of further gang warfare—if he might indeed be reflecting the thinking of a large part of our high school students, then a serious problem is facing all of us.

We, here in Columbus, have been rather fortunate that juvenile problems are few and far between. We can only hope that something will be done to prevent any kind of East-West revenge battle that might easily result in more spilled blood.

Hillcrest Baptist To Host Dr. R. Cummings Sunday

Dr. Richard Cummings, secretary of the public relations department, American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, will speak at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at Hillcrest Baptist Church.

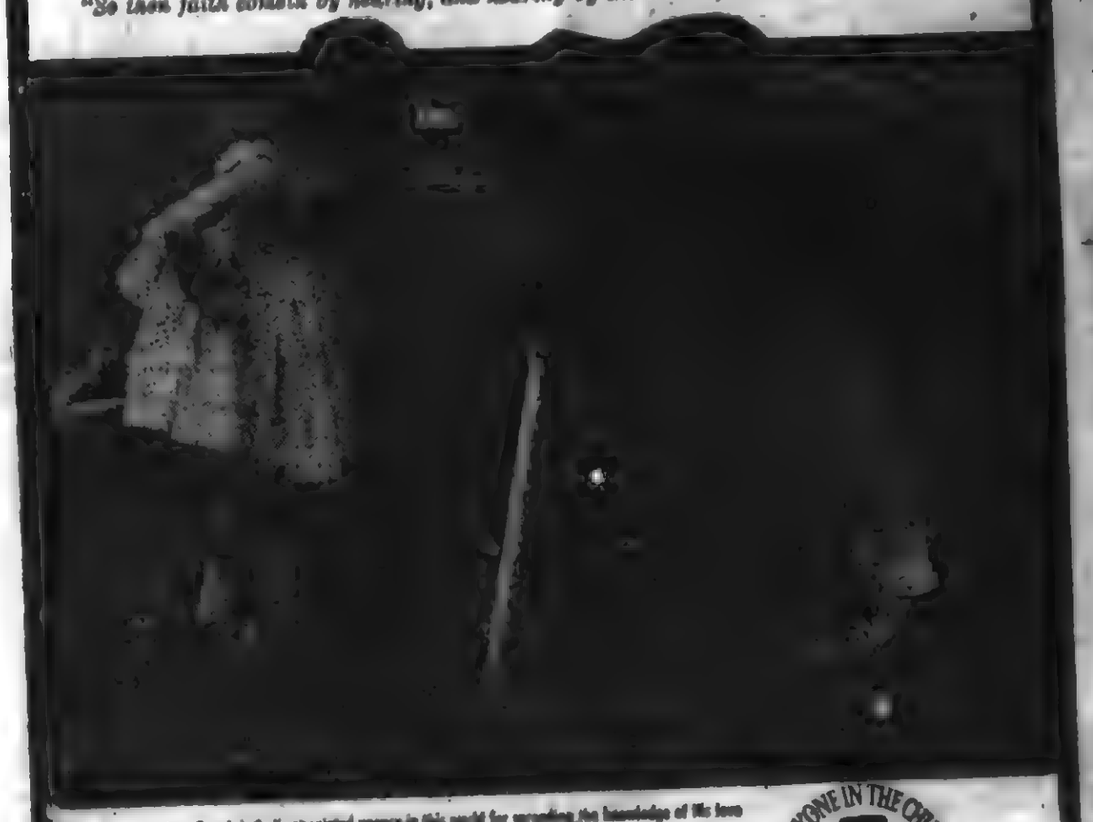
His topic will be, "A Missionary Challenge To Baptists."

Dr. Cummings

Dr. Cummings was born in Burma of missionary parents, and returned to Burma for two months in 1953. While associate secretary of the Foreign Mission Societies from 1950 to 1956 he also visited mission stations in Assam, Bengal-Orissa, South India, Thailand, Hong Kong and Japan.

During the next five years he directed home mission projects as executive secretary of the Detroit Association in Michigan, and is now responsible for the public relations activities of the Foreign Mission Societies.

Dr. Cummings' parents served as missionaries for 45 years in Burma, and his grandfather, W. H. Roberts, was founder of work among the Kachins in the Burma Road country.



Dr. and Mrs. Cummings have two daughters. The older, Carolyn, is the wife of Warren Crain, whose parents are missionaries to Burma. The younger is one of five students sent by Kalamazoo College, Mich., to study at Tourah Bay College, Sierre Leone, Africa.

Dr. Cummings received his Doctor of Divinity degree in 1957 from Kalamazoo College, and has served pastorates in Maine, Massachusetts and New York.

"I DON'T SEE ANYTHING"
THERE IS ONLY ONE WAY TO SEE THROUGH A CAMERA
Did you ever try to look through a camera from the front side? Yes, most of us have . . . out of curiosity . . . but we would not even consider trying to take a picture in such a manner. There are many though, who go through life never giving themselves a chance to really see God. In order to see God, one must look at him through faith. Attend church regularly, seek God where others can help direct you in your search for God.
"So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

TOURNEY PLAY OPENS

Irish Edge Cowboys; Central Burns Devils

By Bob Lynch and Kenny Ash

West dropped their final home contest of the season Friday night to a fired-up Aquinas squad, 51-50.

Although the Cowboys sported a large height advantage, they were unable to pile up a substantial lead over the Terriers as Pat Mentel and Tom Woodward fired in long-range fielders to keep the visitors in the game.

THE COWBOYS led throughout the first three quarters, but the fourth quarter saw their height advantage diminish via the foul route and Steve Barnard's early exit.

As the Cowboys saw their height decrease, the Terriers rapidly took advantage of the situation and pulled up to a 48-48 tie with about a minute and a half remaining. They then sank three free throws, the last with seven seconds remaining, to attain their winning margin.

Charlie Castle led the squad with 17 points, which was high-point total for the contest. The Cowboys complete their City League season at Eastmoor tomorrow evening, and enter tournament competition against Westerville Saturday at Upper Arlington's gym.

CENTRAL OVERPOWERED Marion Franklin, 66-54, in an unbalanced game which tilted in favor of the Pirates Friday evening, drawing Central one step closer to the CL's runnerup spot.

The Pirates jumped out to an early 12-0 lead. The Red Devils failed to get any closer than four points throughout the rest of the game.

At halftime Central's 12-point lead had been cut in half, 30-24, but by the end of the game the Pirates had again built up a sizeable lead.

BISHOP READY held to nine points in the first half, couldn't make it back Friday evening, dropping a 68-40 decision to New Lexington St. Aloysius in the Silver Knights cage finale.

Ready caught fire in the second half but St. Als had a 21-point cushion at halftime and it proved to be too great a margin to overcome.

WILLIAMSPORT hopped off to a 20-point first-stanza lead and never let up till the final buzzer, crushing Holy Family under a 101-42 landslide.

ELSEWHERE around the area, Aquinas entertained ideas of ending Denison St. Marys string of 17-straight wins Saturday night before stalling in the final period to lose 65-58.

The Terriers entered the fourth period with a six-point margin but the Irish could score only six more markers the rest of the evening while St. Marys piled up 20 points in a hot-scoring finale.

WITH READY and Holy Family finished with their respective '62-'63 campaigns, only the area's three City League entries have pre-tourney dates to complete.

Final CL competition tomorrow night finds West (8-7) at Eastmoor (7-7), Central (10-3) at North and Walnut Ridge (2-14) at Aquinas (8-9).

All area teams with the exception of Ready hop into tournament play Saturday evening.

In the AA competition at the Fairgrounds Coliseum, Central faces Northridge at 6 p.m. Over at the Arlington gymnasium, West battles Westerville in a 3 p.m. matinee game.

At Otterbein's field house in Westerville, Holy Family (2-15) battles West Jefferson (6-10) at 8 p.m. in the 'A' competition.

Hilltop Upsets Glenwood Five In Y Cage Loop

There was some exciting play in the Junior League Saturday as cage action moved into its last two weeks.

In the first game, the Junior Hi-Y "Scrubs" were forced to forfeit to Burgess EUB since the "Scrubs" could enlect only four players at game time.

The "Scrubs" played a good game, beating Burgess, 27-20. Dearing was top scorer for the "Scrubs" with 16 points. Leading Burgess was Drew Gibson with eight points.

THE BIGGEST upset of the season featured the afternoon's play as the Hilltop Church of God team downed Glenwood Methodist, 41-36. Leading the Church of God was Bill Rexer with 24 points. Top man for Glenwood was Bill McIntyre with eight points.

Hillcrest Baptist barely won out over Hoge Memorial, 36-35, in the most exciting game of the day. The game was tied 35-35 when Bob Colvin of Hillcrest was fouled in closing seconds of play. He missed the first shot but sank the second to give Hillcrest the victory.

Leading Hillcrest was John Sisco and Jimmy Wilson with 11 points. Mike George added 10 points to the winning cause. Leading Hoge was Jim Anderson with 13.

IN THE FINAL game, West Park knocked the "Council" out of contention with a 54-23 victory. West Park was led in scoring by Terry Breckenridge with 24 points. Top man for the "Council" was Curt Vollmuth with eight points.

Saturday's schedule: Junior Hi-Y "Scrubs" vs Glenwood Methodist at 12 noon; Hilltop Church of God vs Hoge Memorial at 12:45 p.m.; Hillcrest Baptist vs West Park Methodist at 1:30 p.m.; Junior Hi-Y "Council" vs EUB at 2:15 p.m.

Now The 50 Mile Hike Where Will It All End?

Up until last week, we had considered it fortunate to be living in a country with a sports-minded President as the nation's pace-setter.

After all, no matter what kind of politics you profess, you'll have to admit that after eight years on the golf course, water skiing was a refreshing change of pace. We even brushed up on our touch football when that jumped back into style.

WE GUESS WE should have seen the handwriting on the wall, though, when this whole physical fitness program came to the fore. After all, we mused, how could we expect the youngsters to get away from the TV set, if we didn't set some kind of example?

The situps and leg lifts weren't so bad and we considered ourselves as American as the next guy until a friend of ours began loudmouthing that the real patriots had stepped up the ladder to weightlifting.

So now, three nights a week, we lock ourselves in the basement and huff and puff until everything but the walls break out in a fatigued sweat.

OK — BUT what's all this jazz about a 50 mile hike? Until last week, 50 miles was no more or less than a round-trip ticket to the Circleville Pumpkin Show. But now, you aren't keeping up with the Jones' (or the Kennedys) unless you break out the keds and pick 'em up and 'em down on the asphalt.

Maybe we're just being cynical, but don't say you didn't hear it here first when you read about President Kennedy throwing the first pitch of the '63 season right through the Griffith Park scoreboard.

ON THE BRIGHTER side of the sports picture (and we do mean BRIGHTER), Chuck Finley, owner of the American League Athletics, has a brand new color scheme to help fill up the seats in the Kansas City ballyard this summer.

Finley, who apparently is going to get into the Hall of Fame one way or the other, went whole-hog in breaking the old AL axiom of white and grey uniforms by ordering green and gold play suits for his players.

We should have seen this one coming when Gabe Paul borrowed the old "cut 'em off at the shoulders" Cincinnati style of diamond togs for his Indians this upcoming season.

SUN GLASSES OUGHT to replace bicarbonate of soda as the top seller at the stadium but whether the A's can do better for the new green and gold than they have done for the 'ole white and blue remains to be seen.

Finley, who obviously is convinced that Bill Veeck's old format still has some mileage, had his fans in mind when he suggested some varied pastels for the base umpires —possibly remembering that black makes a pretty poor target—especially at night games.

REMEMBER DOC Cary Middlecoff, the dentist who decided hitting golf balls was more profitable than pulling teeth? We remember the doctor because he was our first golfing champion a few years back.

Nothing seems to come quicker or depart faster than fame on the field of sport. Dr. Cary, who rode the top for two short years, collected a little better than 36 bucks for his efforts in the late Phoenix Tournament — barely enough to cover his shoeshine bill.

THANK YOU DEPT. — This corner was very much pleased last week with the announcement that the West Franklin Lions Club will be carrying the ball next year at the Rural-Urban News All-Star Football Banquet by renewing the presentation of the Scholar-Athlete Award.

The award, which takes into account the winner's classroom and leadership abilities, as well as his prowess on the field, will be one of four presentations made by area service clubs in conjunction with the banquet.

The Lions will present two trophies — one going to the individual's school and the other to the honored scholar-athlete.

WRESTLING WRAPUP

Sectional Meet Set Friday At Whitehall

With regular season mat schedules completed, area high school squads are concentrating on gaining berths for the annual state meet, set for OSU on Mar. 8-9.

The first step toward that goal comes to the fore this weekend as 34 grappling squads gather at Whitehall for the sectional meet.

THE TWO SECTIONS have been divided as north and south with Broad-st employed as the boundary line. Four qualifiers from each section will advance to the district finals, Mar. 1-2 at Franklin Heights.

Initial matches have been slated for 7 p.m. Friday with completion of mat activity carded for 8 p.m. Saturday.

The area has four defending champions in the separate weight classifications — Pleasant View's John Holloway (112), Franklin Height's Aziz Dere (120), Whitehall's Alan Rosenblum (120) and Walnut Ridge's Don Pinkston (138).

Franklin Heights is the defending district wrestling champion.

HERE IS THE lineup of of teams (by division) which will compete this weekend:

NORTH — East, Grandview, University, Arlington, Linden, Mifflin, Blind School, Hilliard, Watterson, Worthington, Ridgedale, Newark, Westerville North, Granville, Elgin, Ridgedale, Newark, Westerville and Whetstone.

Here are the individual results:

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS-WHITEHALL
106 — Nelsel (W) dec. Hammack, 6-2; 112 — Davis (FH) dec. Pawley, 3-1; 120 — Rosenblum (W) dec. Dere, 6-0; 129 — Riggs (FH) dec. Catalina, 6-3; 136 — Green (FH) dec. Glenwood Sets Wrestling Class

A new wrestling class is being started at Glenwood Recreation Center. The class, which is open to all Hilltop boys, 8-18, is held at the center each Thursday from 6-7:15 p.m. Since weight classifications will be used, any boy regardless of size, is eligible.

The class is being taught in the collegiate or scholastic style of wrestling. The class is being taught by Mr. Keith Newton, a former City League champion from East High School. For further information, call Glenwood BR. 4-7416.

Cavalier Five Is 'Eliminated' At Glenwood

The Commodores defeated the Buckeyes, 68-45, in the Senior Boys Loop at Glenwood Recreation Center last week. The Commodores, who dominated the boards and scored easily from the field, ran their record to five wins and three losses.

Mike Sheel, scoring from the pivot, netted 21 points while team-mate Bill Baseman hit 18 from the outside. Dick Cash scored 19 in a losing cause.

IN OTHER GAMES, The Zephyrs downed the Buckeyes, 50-36. The Zephyrs, leading from the start, dominated the boards and had three starters hitting in double figures: Bill Marshall tops with 15, Lavelle Love 14, and Bill Johnson, 13. Gas Meyers had 12 for the losers.

The Satins stopped the Knights, 50-45, gaining a tie for first place in the process. The Knights, playing without the scoring power of forward Bill Karn, suffered their third defeat of the season. Phil Tucker hit 14 for the winners.

THE ELIMINATORS edged the league-leading Cavaliers, 41-39. Ray Lohn, fast breaking for the winners, hit for 17 points and the difference in the ball game. Ron Clark led the losers with 11.

M-F Jr. Cagers FetedAtBanquet

The Marion-Franklin Junior High basketball team, runnersup in the South City Junior High League this season, were honored Tuesday evening at the Berry Building.

A crowd of 110 attended the banquet, which was prepared by the Junior High faculty. Among those invited to the affair were the M-F varsity, reserve team, cheerleaders and their families.

HIGHLIGHT OF the evening was the presentation of the second-place trophy to coach Clyde Trumbull by Columbus City School Director of Health and Physical Education Dan Sheatsley.

Trumbull presented letter awards to his 34 players and six cheerleaders as part of the program. Local radio personality Spook Beckman served as toastmaster.

An estimated 84,000 lives were lost in an earthquake Dec. 28, 1908, which totally destroyed the city of Messina, Sicily.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Cherry Treats Now Bargain-Priced

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, grapefruit, rhubarb, canned red cherries.

Thinking of baking a cherry pie for your family on Washington's birthday? Cherry pie, of course, is only the beginning when it comes to cherry desserts and other "goodies" you can make using cherries.

Whatever your choice of cherry treats, this is the week to serve them at bargain prices. Because of the good cherry crop last summer, both canned and frozen red tart cherries, as well as cherry products, are abundant and will be highlighted in food markets for the national holiday.

Mrs. Franks

If you're looking for canned cherries, you'll find the one pound (No. 303) can is now the most popular consumer size for red tart cherries, the kind usually preferred for pies and other baking. They are packed in water, in light syrup or in heavy syrup. The intended use will determine the style pack to buy.

For a well-filled nine-inch pie, you'll need two No. 303 cans (four cups).

You'll find frozen cherries sold in either 16 ounce or 20 ounce and they are usually tart cherries, packed in sugar. Two 16 ounce cans (four cups) is about right for a nine-inch pie.

Cherry pie filling now out sells canned cherries, so the grocers say. This product comes in No. 2 cans only, contains red tart cherries and other ingredients for a cherry pie.

All you need to do is to empty the contents of the can into an unbaked pie crust and bake. If you like a well-filled pie, use a seven or eight-inch pan for one can. If making a good pie crust is your problem, nine-inch frozen pie crusts (two per package) are available from the frozen food chest in some stores.

Frozen cherry pies are outstanding values in many stores this week. Available in sizes ranging from an individual serving to a 24-ounce family size, these pies are ready to pop into the oven and bake — a joy to the busy homemaker or inexperienced baker.

However, if you choose to bake your own — and use frozen cherries — do you have trouble getting a filling that's neither "runny" nor "overthick?" Home economists at Cornell University have been test-baking frozen red cherry pies with various kinds and amounts of thickeners, and say, for:

CHERRY PIES THAT DON'T RUN.

- Use one quart frozen cherries for a well-filled eight or nine-inch pie. (Two 16-ounce cans).
- Mix 2½ tablespoons of minute tapioca with 1½ tablespoons of cornstarch.
- Sugar to taste. Remember, some sugar was added when the cherries were frozen — so don't add too much.

Thaw the cherries only until most of the free ice has disappeared. Drain off the juice and add it to the thickener and sugar mixed together. Heat rapidly until thickened. Put drained cherries into unbaked pie shell, pour the thickened juice over the cherries, and add latticed top crust.

Bake at 400 degrees for 35 minutes or until the top crust is light brown. Put the pie on the lowest shelf of the oven to get a brown undercrust.

Paint Store To Sponsor Art Exhibit

Warren E. Brooks, manager of Lowe Brothers Co., in the Great Southern Shopping Center, has invited Columbus area non-professional artists to display their work at the store.

The showing will run from Monday, Mar. 7 through 16. Each artist is asked to exhibit not more than two paintings.

First prize offered is a $28.50 art kit; second prize, a $14.25 art kit; and third prize, a $6 easel. Paintings will be judged by a panel of three area art instructors.

Brooks asks that entrants bring their work to the store as early as possible after Mar. 1.

And doctors in many lands, supported by your Church, reach for the stretched arm of the sick child ...and quickly the child receives a life saving serum or anti-biotic.

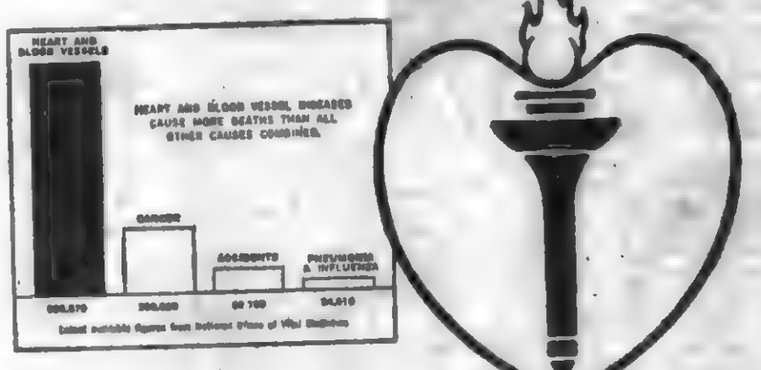
Welcome your Heart Fund volunteer.

The heart you save may be your own.



Your Heart Fund dollars will buy lives.

They will be used to fight heart and circulatory disease, the killer that will take the lives of more people this year—your friends and neighbors, possibly a member of your family—than all other causes of death combined.

Your Heart Fund dollars will buy hope.

Today, most heart victims recover. Three of four return to work. Yet, heart and blood vessel diseases will kill one of every two Americans alive today . . . unless research makes the "break-through" that will slow or stop the nation's No. 1 killer.

Your Heart Fund dollars are your best insurance.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Volunteers Of America Call Past Year Busiest Yet

Lt. Col. Harriet McDonald, executive officer of the Columbus Post of Volunteers of America, 377 W. Broad-st, has called the past 12 months the organization's busiest yet.

According to a recent service report issued by Lt. Col. McDonald, 56 chapel services and 53 men's Bible classes were held at VOA headquarters. Twenty-eight meetings were conducted in prisons, the executive said, with more than 11,000 persons attending the religious gatherings.

The headquarters staff served 4,108 transient and local homeless during the past year and provided lodging for 28,295.

The report also shows nearly 100,000 meals were served and 52,868 interviews were conducted at headquarters. More than 4,000 interviews were held in area homes.

Lt. Col. McDonald said 18,547,788 articles of clothing were distributed in the past year. She revealed 1,490,760 furniture and household items were distributed along with more than a half-million dishes and cooking utensils.

VOA is supported through donations to the United Appeal, county welfare and its regular salvage programs.

National commander-in-chief is Gen. J. F. McMahon, New York. William T. Altman, Cleveland, currently serves as area commander.

Liquor Permits Transfer Sought

Three liquor permits concerning the West area are in the process of being transferred, according to the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

The Ice House, 26 Brehl-av, seeks to transfer a beer and wine carry-out license to Rice's Carry-Out of the same address.

Paulina's Market, 1971 Doren-av, seeks to transfer a beer and wine carry-out license to Van's Market of the same address.

Helen M. Peak, 422 W. Rich-st, seeks to transfer a beer and wine permit for on the premises consumption and carry-out to the Trojan Bar of the same address.

Alley Curb Cut Authorized For Motel At Ater's

Plans to build a motel to the east and north of his drive-in restaurant were revealed by Charles Ater, 914 W. Broad-st, at a meeting of the City Traffic Commission last week.

Ater was granted permission to relocate a curb cut onto an alley which would serve as an access to the motel.

Schools, Center See No Violence

City and school authorities kept close check on teenage gatherings this past week to stem any "revenge" activity resulting from the fatal stabbing of a teenager at Gladden Community House, Feb. 14.

Although some spectators detected "crowd tension" at the West High basketball game last Friday, there were no reported incidents. Central High School and Gladden also reported no trouble during the week.

Schrader Case Returned By Jury

A man accused in the Dec. 2 shooting of Ronald Loring, 19, of 270 S. Yale-av, has been indicted on three counts by the Franklin County Grand Jury.

He is Joseph D. Schrader, 25, of 71 Euclid-av. He was arrested in Kropp-rd while shooting shotgun blasts at cars following the alleged shooting of Loring during a drinking spree.

TO BUILD HOUSES

Rosedale Homes, Inc., 2590 Sullivant-av, has received building permits to erect two dwellings. The first is a one-story frame and brick house, to be located at 1201 Bellflower-av, and valued at $16,000. The second is a one-story frame dwelling, to be located at 2889 Briggs-rd, and valued at $15,000.

Henry W. Berger, Jr.

Berger Named District Manager

Presidential Management Corp., White Plains, N.Y., has announced the appointment of Henry W. Berger, Jr., as district manager.

Berger will be in charge of Westgate Manor Apartments, 603 Wedgewood-dr and Washington Park Homes, Louisville. A native of New York City, Berger managed the Westgate operation before being transferred to Louisville in 1959.

The 10-year-old Westgate Manor has 868 apartments and Washington Park has 248. Presidential Corp. operates in 24 cities across the nation.

Berger expects to move his family to Columbus shortly.

Frisch's To Expand Local Operations

Frisch's Restaurants, Inc., is building its fourth and fifth stores in Columbus and plan further expansion here.

Jack C. Maier, executive vice president of Frisch's, announced the firm has under construction two stores — at 4775 E. Main-st and 3400 Olentangy-rd. Both are now under roof and should be open late next month, Maier said.

Even though the two new stores will give Frisch's five drive-in restaurants in Columbus, the firm is looking to the future when there will be additional sites available, the vice president added.

Otto J. Best Retiring Apr. 1 From Standard Oil Position

After almost 30 years' service with the Standard Oil Co., Otto J. Best, 169 N. Chase-av, will retire Apr. 1 following a one-month vacation.

During the last nine years Best has been supervisor of salary sales and station operations over installations in north and northwest Columbus, Marysville and Delaware.

He started work as a service station salesman in 1931. He advanced through the position of service manager, dealer salesman and consumer salesman to his most recent position.

Otto J. Best

Best was born 65 years ago at Lowell and attended schools there. He spent five years as a traveling salesman in Oklahoma and then returned to Ohio. After three years with another petroleum firm, he joined Standard Oil.

He and Mrs. Best (also a Lowell native) moved to their present address on the Hilltop in 1931. They have one son, Don Best, of 759 S. Hague-av.

Best is a member of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, West Gate Lodge of Masons, Scottish Rite and Shrine, is a past president of Hilltop Kiwanis Club and was long active in the Hilltop Business Association.

After retiring he hopes to increase his participation in community service, do some traveling and pursue several hobbies — music, reading, sports and gardening.

Solons Put Tonti Case On Agenda

Developer Ed Tonti, 3099 Sullivant-av, will take his request for the rezoning of 10 acres across from the Wee Bonnie Golf Course on Demorest-rd to the Franklin County Commissioners at 10 a.m. Monday, Feb. 25.

Approved by the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission after Tonti agreed to give the development a different apartment classification, the Franklin County Rural Zoning Commission disapproved the request. Tonti is asking the land be rezoned from residential to an apartment and twin single classification.

The case was sent before the commissioners last month but postponed for 30 days when one of the county solons was absent due to illness and Tonti was out of town, said Mrs. Thelma Hardy, executive secretary for the rural zoning commission.

Tonti wants the land rezoned to build an apartment village made up of twin singles, four family units and multiple dwellings, according to his application.

The apartment buildings would cost $25,000 or more apiece according to information on the application, said Mrs. Hardy.

The Franklin County Commissioners have the power to overrule zoning commission's disapproval.

Wants Land Zoned For Airstrip

"I have no plans for it — it will wait and see if it is rezoned first," said Ray Miller of 78 acres he owns on Trabue-rd, one-quarter mile west of Wilson-rd.

Miller, of 1610 Pemberton-dr, has asked the Rural Zoning Commission to rezone the property to local commercial, with the thought in mind of building an airstrip, and maybe a small shopping center.

According to the application he wants to use the frontage property for the shopping center and the rear portion for a 2600 foot landing strip.

He said he thought there was a need for another airport in the area, since, according to him, some planes were being forced out of other area ports — none of which were very close to downtown.

The Columbus Outerbelt will take part of Miller's property, but he said the only thing to prevent him from building an airport, if he gets the zoning he wants, is a tree that will have to be felled.

Miller said there were high tension wires near the field, "but you have that around all airports."

A definite hearing date has not been set, but it was estimated by Rural Zoning Commission Executive Secretary, Mrs. Thelma Hardy, that the hearing will be either Mar. 18 or 21.

Area Ohio State Students Get Bid To Honor Dinner

Six OSU students from the West Area have been honored for high academic achievement.

They have been invited to the sixth annual President's Scholarship Recognition Dinner to be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 28, in the Ohio Union, on the campus.

To be eligible for an invitation, each student must have achieved at least a 3.5 academic average (A is 4.0) for both the spring, 1962, and autumn, 1962, quarters.

All will receive medallions at the dinner.

Painting Books Now At Library

Painting for pleasure has become an increasingly popular hobby in recent years, and this stepped up interest has been reflected in the constant popularity of books on painting at the Hilltop Library, according to Mary E. Keyes, librarian.

Miss Keyes said the library offers a wide range of books on watercolor and oil painting, artist's materials and methods, pencil sketching, art theory and other related subjects.

The beginner can find excellent information, as well as inspiring ideas in such books as "The Amateur Painter's Handbook," "The Joy of Painting," "Pull Up An Easel," "Seeing With Pencil and Brush," "The Adventure Book of Art" and "Sketching and Painting Indoors."

Watercolor painting is perhaps the most popular type of painting for amateurs. Among the titles recommended for instruction in this medium are "Ways with Watercolor," "Watercolor a Challenge," "Adventurers in Watercolor Painting," "Course in Beginning Watercolor Painting" and "Watercolor Painting Step by Step."

Those interested in oil painting will find such recent practical manuals as "Oil Painting For Everyone," "Oil Painting Lessons," "Oil Painting Step by Step" and "Technique of Oil Painting."

For the more advanced artist, there are a number of books which treat specialized phases of painting. Some of these are "Portrait Painting: Step by Step," "The Art and Technique of Sumi-e," "Watercolor, Gouache and Casein Painting," "The Art of Japanese Brush Painting" and "Painting Surf and Sea."

ing over control of such a large area for the number of apartments Schaaf intends to build.

They also recommended that the proposed 11 acres for the shopping center be cut to six. Two professional buildings are included in the shopping center plans.

Schaaf won the commission to his side when he argued that he needs the acreage to properly lay out a "prestige" apartment development.

The center would be given a "local" commercial classification if approved. No large stores would be permitted in the center.

Twin singles would act as a "buffer zone" between the shopping center and present residential areas going north toward Franklin Heights High School on Demorest-rd, according to plans.

Plans also show twin singles along Clime-rd separating present home owners from the apartments which will be behind the shopping center and facing Clime-rd.

TO ALTER HOUSE

James Hamm, 228 Haldy-av, has received a building permit to alter a frame dwelling. Valuation is $1,800. F&R Lazarus and Company is the contractor.

TO MAKE ALTERATION

Mrs. Charles Vigor, 2945 Caroline-av, has received a building permit to make an alteration to a brick building at 1244 W. Broad-st. Valuation is $3,000. Joe Anthony is contractor.

Ten longest rivers in the world are: Nile, Amazon, Missouri-Mississippi, Ob, Yangtze Kiang, Amur, Congo, Lena, Yenisei and the Hwan-ho (Yellow).

Clark Thomas Wins Promotion

Airman Thomas, a fire protection specialist, is assigned to the 1360th Civil Engineering Squadron.

James W. Bailey Serving On USS Kitty Hawk

James W. Bailey, aviation structural mechanic second class, USN, son of Mrs. Harry Gehring, 2227 W. Broad-st, is serving with Attack Squadron 113, embarked in the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk.

The carrier currently is on redeployment to the Far East. As a unit of the Seventh Fleet, she is part of American seapower abroad—an instrument of national policy and goodwill.

CARPET CLEANED IN ANY LIVING ROOM, DINING ROOM and HALL
$29.95 Regardless of Room Size
LIVING ROOM and HALL
$19.95
REGARDLESS OF ROOM SIZE
Why worry about the results of do-it-yourself methods and why take a chance on ruining your expensive carpets, when, for such a small charge, John M. Downey's men will take all the worry and work off your shoulders. Unbelievable as it sounds they'll clean any living room and hall carpet for just $19.95 or any living room, dining room area and hall for just $29.95.
Carpet Cleaners Since 1897
GUARANTEE
Our Guarantee: We'll do the same quality work we've been doing for 3 generations. If you do not feel that your carpet has been cleaned as well as or better than it's ever been cleaned before, we will refund your money.

New Marine Reserve Head

Major Raymond J. Start, U.S. Marine Corps has relieved Major Philip J. Garm as the Inspector-Instructor of Marine Reserve Training in the Columbus area.

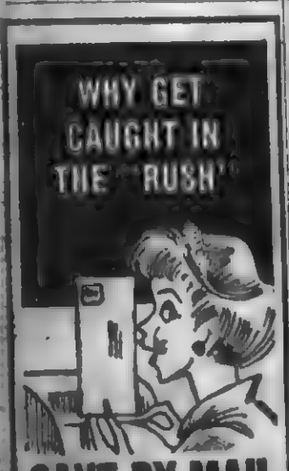
Major Start, who served overseas during World War II and the Korean Conflict, is a graduate of Wagner College, New York. He has just returned from duty with the Second Marine Division where he commanded a tactical unit afloat during the recent Cuban Crisis.

Major Start is married to the former Charlotte Ann Miller of Charleston, Ill. and they now reside with their two and one-half month old daughter, Ellen, at 4061 Dublin-rd.

Bugg, Walker Now Aides To Fire Marshal

Otto H. Bugg, 62, of 711 Harmon-av, and Harry D. Walker, 39, of 220 Carol-av, Grove City, were named assisan fire marshals Monday by Fred Rice, state fire marshall.

The two will be assigned to an area which includes Franklin, Marion, Morrow, Union, Delaware, Madison, Fayette and Pickaway Counties.



Bugg is a veteran of 25-years service with the City Fire Division and was supervisor of inspections in the fire marshal's office during the administration of former Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Walker has had four and a half years experience in enforcement work and formerly was with the state liquor department, Rice said.

Rome Heights Builder Adds 75 Homesites

What is described as a million-dollar expansion program is now under way in Rome Heights, according to the Tonti Organization, 3035 W. Broad-st.

The new addition will connect approximately 20 acres to the suburb, located between Lincoln Village-South and the village of New Rome in Prairie Township.

A spokesman for the builder said 75 new homes are being built in a variety of styles and materials and will be in the $15,000-to-$22,000 price range.

Construction began in early January and is expected to be completed by early April. All streets and curbing were built last fall. In many cases the older trees will be left standing.

TENTATIVE ALIGNMENT for the proposed plan to extend Wilson-rd south to Alkire-rd shows the new link may run behind the West Franklin Elementary School and the Franklin Heights High School stadium. The Westgate apartments on Wedgewood-dr would be on the west side of the proposed link, according to the tentative alignment. The area where the road could be built is presently used as a playground for West Franklin Elementary pupils. Although no children would be involved in crossing the link to reach school, the South-Western City School District would be opposed to the extension behind the schools, according to Paul C. Hayes, district superintendent. Hayes said the district was in favor of the artery but would oppose it as a safety and noise factor to students if it ran behind the schools.

Proposed Wilson Link Brings Cheers, Fears

School District Against

South-Western City School District officials are taking a critical look at the tentative alignment for the proposed link of the Wilson-rd extension south to Alkire-rd.

This alignment, still in the thinking stage, could bring the cross-town artery behind West Franklin Elementary School and Franklin Heights High School auditorium.

The new link is part of an overall plan proposed by the Columbus City Planning Commission staff to provide citizens with a new artery that may some day run from Alkire to Roberts-rds and then connect with another possible link to Lane-av, said Harold Buchanan, director of planning for the commission.

West Side drivers would be able to take the new route all the way to the Columbus Municipal Airport, added Buchanan.

South-Western officials, already involved in a fight with the Columbus Board of Education over land transfers, are not against the new link but would oppose the alignment if it does run behind the two schools, said Paul C. Hayes, district superintendent.

"We would be opposed to the link behind the schools due to the safety and noise factor to students. We do not want to stop progress but strive to carry out our school functions in the safest manner," Hayes said.

If the proposed artery runs behind the schools, West Franklin students would lose a playground and Franklin Heights High School a ball field, according to the superintendent.

"We would attempt to convince city officials not to take the link through the school property," concluded Hayes.

South-Western City School District's Board of Education is presently opposing a request from the Columbus Board of Education for the transfer of three plots of land for school purposes.

South-Western board members are against land transfers because they feel the school district must be "preserved." The board said they would attempt to prevent "the chipping away of their school district."

Final decisions on land transfers and rights-of-way in the school district are made by the Ohio Board of Education.

COLUMBUS CITY Planning Commission officials are studying alignments for a proposal to add an additional link to the Wilson-rd extension. Tentative alignment proposed by the planners for the Wilson-rd extension and new link are shown on the map above. Harold Buchanan, director of planning, said the new link is even more justified because of the possibility of extending Lane-av west to be connected with Roberts-rd.

Parks Officials In Favor

Tentative alignment for the proposed new link for the Wilson-rd extension has brought nothing but smiles to the faces of Columbus Parks and Forestry Department officials.

The new link could run along or into the eastern side of the proposed Big Run Park, near Clime and Demorest-rds, if city planners use a tentative alignment now being studied.

Bill Walton, assistant superintendent for the department, said, "If the link is constructed along the eastern side of Big Run Park, it would provide the park with a valuable access road.

"The cross - town artery would also make the park easier to reach for Columbus citizens desiring to use its facilities and would keep traffic from the park at an even flow," he added.

The city has purchased almost all of the 300 acres needed for the park and has frontage on Clime-rd and on Demorest-rd, west of South-Western toward Alkire-rd.

A survey to establish the boundary lines for the park should get underway in the near future, concluded the assistant parks superintendent.

While the actual boundary lines for Big Run Park may be established in the very near future, a finalized plan for the proposed new link to the Wilson-rd extension is still a long way off, according to Harold Buchanan, director of planning for the Columbus City Planning Commission.

Buchanan stated the proposed

ON DEMOREST-RD

Commissioners Veto Request; Developer Gets Postponement

Franklin County Commissioners turned down a request for the rezoning of 10 acres across from the Wee Bonnie Golf Course on Demorest-rd while the Franklin County Rural Zoning Commission delayed a hearing on the rezoning of a 58-acre site on the northeast corner of Clime and Demorest-rds in two different hearings Monday.

The Commissioners turned down a request from developer Ed Tonti, 3099 Sullivant-av, due to the present sewage and drainage situation in the area, said Mrs. Thelma Hardy, executive secretary for the rural zoning commission.

The land would have to be annexed into Columbus before a development could use the city sewer and water lines, added Mrs. Hardy.

Tonti wants the land rezoned to build an apartment village made up of twin singles, four-family units and multiple dwellings, according to the application. The apartment buildings would cost $25,000 or more apiece.

Tonti can resubmit his application after six months.

George W. Schaaf, Hilltop real estate developer, was granted a delay on his request for the rezoning of 58 acres at the northeast corner of Clime and Demorest-rds by the Rural Zoning Commission at a hearing at the Franklin Township Firehouse Monday evening.

The developer asked for the postponement while he and the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission review plans for his development.

The hearing has now been scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Mar. 21, in the Franklin Township Firehouse, 4100 Sullivant-av.

The Rural Zoning Commission also deferred action on a request from the Pure Oil Co. for a zoning of 10.8 acres at the intersection of Interstate 71 and Stringtown-rd for the building of a service station and restaurant (service area).

The request was deferred due to an inaccurate description on the application.

The case will be reheard at the Grove City Firehouse at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Mar. 21.

An application submitted by Lester McKee for the rezoning of land at he corner of Wilson-dr and Plainview-av for he building of a grocery store was also approved by the commission.

Diamond Anniversary

There are acres of diamonds at the Main Federal branches these days as they celebrate their 75th anniversary.

Tuesday noon they spread cheer among members of the news fraternity by passing out diamonds to each one present. But one of the diamonds is real and that is our problem to determine which one.

Anyway, just the mere fact of staying in business for 75 years is worthy of note, according to Prexy Harold Esper. And he is right! A doff of the topper to the Main Federal organization.

Watch next week's papers for an announcement of interest and maybe you will have diamonds too!

AT CONFERENCE

Students Seeking Stricter Smoking Sale Supervision

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

At an age when most youngsters are trying to scrape together 30 cents for a package of cigarettes, more than 500 Central Ohio students Friday were discussing ways to abolish "the habit."

Mostly non-smokers, they put their heads together to discuss smoking and shouted at the top of their nicotine-free lungs for stricter enforcement of the smoking laws.

The youths — seventh-through-senior-high-aged —were all part of a "Student Conference on Smoking" sponsored by the American Cancer Society at Central High School.

Law enforcement was the most frequently talked about topic during the 18 individual sessions; the students wondered why "anyone" could buy cigarettes.

The law is supposed to prohibit the sale of tobacco to minors, but the students felt that the law wasn't being enforced strictly enough by city officials.

"It used to be that a youngster needed a note from home to buy cigarettes," one pretty blonde exclaimed. "Now, anyone can buy them, and I've seen some pretty young kids make purchases."

The majority obviously felt that the smoking habit

Public Voting 'Go' For Swimming Pool

First replies to a current survey in the West Side show that people are heavily in favor of building a new swimming pool at Sunshine Park in 1964.

The City Recreation Commission has announced it intends to spend $200,000 of 1960 public-voted bonds on the new community pool but wants public assurance that the pool is desired here.

A sub-committee of the Sunshine Advisory Council reports the plan has already been endorsed by three churches, a business firm, a school principal, the West Side Kiwanis Club and a parent-teacher group. One church gave a breakdown of its board vote: 14 for, one against, and one undecided. George Weber, chairman of the pool committee, said he received one anonymous phone call protesting the pool.

Weber's committee sent questionnaires to every West Side civic, service, PTA, church and business group about two weeks ago.

Recreation Department Superintendent Nick Barack said the pool probably will be built in the northeast corner of the 12-acre park at 677 Sullivant-av. "But it has never been our policy to 'force' anything that is not wanted on a community," Barack said. "If West Siders don't want it, we'll build it somewhere else," he added.

Survey participants are asked to send their replies promptly to: George Weber, 780 W. Town-st, Columbus 22, Ohio.

SCHOOL CENSUS SET

Workers representing the South-Western City School District will be making a door-to-door census in the district starting Monday, Mar. 4.

Bean Dinner '63, To Have 'Old Look'

The Hilltop Bean Dinner of yesteryear when life was more leisurely and folks took time to visit, renew friendships and make new ones will live again at Westgate Park on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 16 and 17.

The annual festival, sponsored by Hilltop Business Association, will have a refreshingly new "old look" for 1963.

Mood, program features and entertainment will be patterned after those who made past bean dinners a high spot of the summer for Hilltoppers, an introduction to the community for newcomers, and a reunion for those who had moved away.

Committees, already laying plans for the affair, have turned back the clock, reaching into the nostalgic past for ideas and are dusting off old-favorite attractions and placing them in this year's program.

What made those bean dinners live on in YOUR memory? Let us know what YOU would like to see repeated.

KIWANIANS TO SELL LICENSE TAGS

'Friendship Walk' Thursday At Columbus State Hospital

Two hundred Camp Fire Girls, representing some 6,000 from greater Columbus, will take their "Friendship Walk," Thursday, Feb. 28, as they deliver thousands of parcels of good will to patients of the Columbus State Hospital.

The Camp Fire Girls' second annual community service drive for records, books, sewing materials, cosmetics, and yard goods will end with the delivery of these items to the hospital club room.

Camp Fire executive, Mrs. Sally Harrison, and project officer, Mrs. Connie Cattilar, will join TV personality, Hans, the Toymaker, and hospital acting superintendent, Dr. William Kaulmeyer, to greet and thank the youngsters.

NARCE Chapter Slates Meeting

Columbus Chapter No. 288, National Association of Civil Employes, will meet at 2 p.m. in the Old Federal Building, Third and State-sts, Saturday, Mar. 2.

Dr. Oren Heil will show slides he took in Switzerland, Rome and Paris.

Wheat Loan Maturity Date Extended One Day

Loans on 1962 crops of wheat will mature Apr. 1 this year, Carl W. Schacht, chairman, Franklin Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced. Since the normal maturity date of Mar. 31 occurs on Sunday this year, the date is automatically extended through the following day.

This means that growers who have wheat under loan may redeem their crop at any time through Apr. 1 by paying off the loan and incidental charges. Holders of purchase agreements should notify the ASCS county office during the 30-day period prior to Apr. 1 if they intend to deliver.

McKinley-av Dump Closed

The County Board of Health has ordered closed a dump on McKinley-av, near the New York Central underpass, because, according to officials, it is a fire hazard.

Some of the debris may be on State Hospital property also, said the official.

The dump is operated by William Cuckler, 1995 Fairmont-av.

St. David's Day Dinner Planned

The annual St. David's Day Banquet will be held this year on Friday, Mar. 1 at 6:30 p.m. at the Ohio Union, (South Terrace Room) at Ohio State University.

This dinner has been a traditional affair for the Welsh people of Columbus and Central Ohio. This year the St. David's Day committee has secured Rev. John R. Owen, minister of the Welsh Presbyterian Church in Detroit, Mich. as speaker.

Rev. Owen served as minister of the Welsh Church in Coventry, England from 1950 to 1956. Since 1956, he has served the Welsh Church in Detroit. He writes a Welsh column, "Letter from America," to the Welsh publication, "Y Cymro."

Norman Crabtree will sing several Welsh numbers and will direct a hymn sing following the dinner.

Liquor Permits Transfer Sought

Two liquor permits concerning the West Rural-Urban News area are in the process of being transferred, according to the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

Tri-C-Grill, 1816 Harrisburg-pk, seeks to transfer a night club license to Joseph H. Hans of the same address.

Senior-Faculty Game Slated Next Week At High School

Senior Faculty Game

Franklin Heights annual senior-faculty game will be held Friday, Mar. 8 at 7:30 p.m. The admission price is $1 and will include a dance following the game.

Proceeds from both events will be shared by various school clubs. Music for the dance will be furnished by the FH Dance Band.

Candidates Inducted

Fifteen new members of the National Honor Society were inducted Thursday, Feb. 21 in an assembly. Lee McMurrin, assistant superintendent of South-Western Schools, was the guest speaker.

Senior On Panel

Senior Ruth Hollingsworth was selected by the South-Western School District to represent F.H. on a county-wide panel on "Smoking and Lung Cancer."

This panel planned a rally held Friday, Feb. 22, which was sponsored by the American Cancer Society to alert students to the dangers of smoking and lung cancer.

The rally separated into workshops for discussion periods where movies were shown. Later, all workshops combined to honor the guest speaker, Dick Resbeck.

Spotlight Student

Jennie Harbour, a F.H. senior, has been chosen as spotlight student. Jennie who spent her freshman year at Hilltonia Junior High was active in different organizations there.

She served on student council, was a cheerleader, participated in the Hilltonia Junior High Variety Show and also in the operetta, "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves."

During the sophomore year she attended both West High and F.H. Here she was a member of Future Teachers, served as chaplain in Teens for Christ, participated in the F.H. Variety Show, and was a member of the girls glee club.

As a junior, Jennie was vice-president of her class, secretary for the Teens of Christ and world affairs secretary for YACKI Club.

She also had a lead in the Junior Class play, was a member of the senior choir and was a Cancer Ray volunteer.

This year Jennie served on the Sweetheart Court, was a contestant in America's Junior Miss contest, had a lead in the senior class play, is secretary of the senior class, serves as vice-president of the Dramatics Club and clerk for the Thespian Club, and is a new member of the National Honor Society.

We congratulate Jennie on her many services to both the school and community.

Life is a pudding full of plums, care is a canker that benumbs; Wherefore waste our elocution on impossible solution? Life's a pleasant institution. Let us take it as it comes.—Wm. S. Gilbert.

To Germany

ARMY PVT. Stephen G. Waidelich recently departed from Fort Riley, Kan., with other members of Combat Support Company of the 1st Infantry Division's 28th Infantry for a six-month tour of duty in Germany. Waidelich, a heavy weapons infantryman in the company, entered the Army in June 1962 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. The 19-year-old soldier is a 1961 graduate of West High School. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Waidelich, live at 240 S. Westmoor-av.

Heart Fund Still Accepts Contributions

Families who were either not at home or who were not visited by a volunteer on Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, still have an opportunity to join the 1963 fight against heart and blood vessel diseases, according to Heart Sunday chairman, Mrs. Harold K. Schellenger, 4554 Starret-rd.

Contributions may be mailed to the Heart Fund in the not-at-home envelopes or in plain envelopes addressed to Heart, 145 N. High-st, Columbus 15, she said.

"This is a cause in which we all have a personal stake," Mrs. Schellenger said, "for heart diseases can strike anywhere, any time. No adult, no child is immune. This number one killer claims the lives of more local residents — and those of neighbors across the country—than all other causes of death combined."

'Jamboree' Is Readied

The best in folk, Blue Grass, country and western music will be offered at the Arts and Crafts Building, Ohio State Fairgrounds, beginning Saturday, Mar. 2, and each Saturday thereafter.

Showtime is 8 p.m. for this "USA Town and Country Jamboree." Tickets will be on sale at the door, $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Youths under 12 will be admitted free.

Obedience Training For All-Breed Dogs

The German Shepherd Dog Club will take applications for All - Breed Obedience Training tonight, Wednesday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m., at 625 W. Town-st. For further information contact Joan Ford, [illegible], or John Torpats, 486-0047. The proceeds from this class will be donated to Pilot Dogs Inc.

Bruce Taylor Trains In West Germany

Army Sgt. Bruce M. Taylor, 21, son of Mrs. Muriel Wilson, 1028 Rumsey-rd, participated with other members of the 4th Armored Division's 54th Infantry in the unit's annual training test in Germany. The exercise ended Feb. 14.

The training was designed to test the combat readiness and effectiveness of U.S. forces operating under adverse winter conditions.

There has never been in recorded history a permanent peace. There have been pauses in the shooting — no organized fighting — but no permanent peace . . . James Wadeworth

Dr. Ross To Stage Party At New Home

Dr. Galen Starr Ross, president of Capitol College of Oratory and Music since 1944 and whose syndicated column ("Frosting On The Cake") started in the Hartley Newspapers early last fall, has moved his speech clinic and private "personalysis psychological clinic" to new quarters at 49 W. Fifth-av.

He will celebrate his 72nd birthday Friday, Mar. 1, 7:30 p.m. at his new studio with a combination housewarming and birthday party.

Bessie Andrus, principal of the Music Academy of Capitol College, will present a special musical trio program as a prelude to the guest speaker, Col. A. E. Cockrum, who will show slides on his seven years in Korea.

DR. GALEN ROSS

Reservations can be phoned to Stella Altiere, CA. 8-6689.

In addition to his professional career as a research scientist, Dr. Ross, for the last 45 years, has been a speaker, writer and personnel consultant.

Nothing Like A 50-Mile Hike — On Conveyor Belt

Don't look now, but the movie industry has latched onto President Kennedy's physical fitness program and if this latest muscle-building exploit can't be called a publicity stunt I'll turn in my dumbbells.

Bud Rosenthal, publicity man for Columbia Pictures in New York, informs that Winsted, Conn., is —in a roundabout way—making it easy for 50-mile hikers.

If the idea was tried in Columbus, merchants would scream at the top of their lungs—to say nothing about the bottoms of their feet.

Here's the plan.

On Mar. 13, cash will be outlawed in Winsted by a decree of the town fathers and the 10,000 inhabitants will have to do all business on credit.

The outlawing of cash for a day is in "honor" (Rosenthal writes) of the Danny Kaye, Columbia Pictures comedy "The Man From The Diners' Club" that will have its world premiere in Winsted on Mar. 13.

What about the physical fitness bit? Here's how that works:

Merchants and local officials in this small Yankee city will "turn in" any residents attempting to spend money on that day. A treadmill will be set up on the town hall green where violators will hike out their 50-mile walk sentences on an endless conveyor-type belt.

Whew!

Weak-kneed offenders and money spenders won't have to worry if they get caught using currency, Rosenthal assures. They will have the alternative of setting out their sentence confined in a pair of wooden stocks, those pillars of old New England justice with their holes for confining legs and arms of minor offenders.

"Anyone who attempts to pay cash for so much as a lima bean or even a limousine, may find himself sentenced to join the latest national fad and take a walk, like the Marines of Teddy Roosevelt's day," concludes promotion-minded Rosenthal.

Sounds more like an answer to Sunday sales law woes in Ohio, doesn't it?

At Mershon

Due to the recent death of poet Robert Frost, Mershon Auditorium announces that Lesley Frost, the poet's daughter, has been chosen as the alternate for her late father's original lecture appearance at 8 p.m. Apr. 19, in the Mershon Celebrity Series.

Miss Frost will speak on "The Poetry of Robert Frost." Her lecture relates his poetry to the life and thought of our time.

The talented lady is an experienced lecturer and distinguished writer of poetry and children's books in her own right.

The GIRL SCOUT DISTRICT DIARY

Mrs. James W. Whelan — Ohio Trefoil Council

Ashgrove Neighborhood

The second International Dinner given by Ashgrove Neighborhood was held at Glenwood Methodist Church Feb. 21 from 5 to 8 p.m. There were 308 in attendance and all 115 troops represented. Troops and leaders are as follows: 580, Mrs. E. W. Bishop; 355, Mrs. Malcolm McGlaughlin; 317, Mrs. Richard Morgan; 494, Mrs. Robert Stone; 1046, Mrs. Harvey Ream; 972, Mrs. William Fletcher; 44, Mrs. Joseph Gentry; 742, Mrs. Ralph Eddy; 949, Mrs. Carl Kerchmar; 941, Mrs. William Haines; 600, Mrs. Oliver Tallman; 19, Mrs. Fred Blake; 160, Mrs. Fred Klopfer; 756, Mrs. William Courtney; 821, Mrs. Joseph Hutchison.

Seven members of Troop 742 posted the colors and Troop 160 led the group in singing grace. An array of both foreign and American food was served buffet style.

Mrs. Kenneth Adams, Neighborhood chairman, introduced two guests, Miss Betty Hollenbaugh, district advisor, and Mrs. Betty Lewis, who was dressed in native Japanese costume. Mrs. Adams asked each troop to report their attendance and describe their table centerpieces portraying various countries, holidays, and phases of Scouting.

Intermediate Troop 517, with leaders Mrs. Richard Morgan and Mrs. Herbert Hallman, assisting, led group singing.

The purpose of this dinner was to honor Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States, and to encourage a bond of friendship with Scouts all over the world. In keeping with this Intermediate Troop 355 held a candle lighting ceremony in which each was called upon to present contributions to the Juliette Low International Friendship Fund. This money will be used this year to help Girl Scouts in Latin America.

Troop 949, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Bowers and leaders Mrs. Carl Kerchmar and Mrs. Dan Smith, entertained with several folk dances. The girls were dressed in folk costumes which they made themselves.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Malcolm McGlaughlin for planning the program.

Troop 44

Troop members celebrated their fourth birthday Feb. 9, in the fellowship hall of The Church of God on Whitethorne-av. In keeping with International Month, Mrs. Wilbert Martin described some of her experiences as a Girl Guide in England. The members wre then presented their Troop Crest Emblem, Second Class and Star year pins by the leaders, Mrs. Joseph Gentry, Mrs. Paul Taylor, and Mrs. William Graves. After a period of games, refreshments were served by the rtoop committee: Mrs. Norman Worrel, chairman, and Mrs. William Williams and Mrs. Wilbert Martin.

Glen Valley Neighborhood

Troops of the Glen Valley Neighborhood expressed thanks to everyone who took part in the annual cookie sale.

The Juliette Low International Friendship Dinner is to be held at West Broad Street Presbyterian Church Thursday, Feb. 28 at 6:30 p.m. All troop committees and parents and girls of troops 77, 296, 455, 884, and 1136 are invited to bring a foreign dish and a "Dime for Daisy."

Brownie Troop 1136

Troop members and their leader, Mrs. Southard appreciated the Feb. 12 visit of Troop 884, Patrol 1, to teach folk dancing. Participating were: Debbie Waldeck, Debbie Southard, Peggy Hixson, Susan Durham, Terri Searles, Linda Hodges, and their leader, Mrs. Durham.

The Brownies were: Marilyn Argabright, Carla Davis, Debbie Denny, Cathy Harris, Penny Hicks, Bonnie Lockwood, Carol Symour, Elizabeth Wolfe, Martha Reichael, and Ramonia Waldeck.

Girl Scout leaders are going back to school this spring, in the greatest training effort ever undertaken by their organization. All 1850 troop leaders in the six-county Ohio Trefoil Council will take part.

Girl Scout volunteers will learn about a program change that will become effective in September, 1963. Each leader will be introduced to the program design for all four age levels to establish better continuity from the 7-through-17 age range in Girl Scouting.

Leaders and assistant leaders who will attend sessions at Bethlehem Church on Harris at Vida-pl are: Mrs. J. Southward, Mrs. Duvlin, Mrs. Durham, and Mrs. James Hammock. Night classes are held at Our Saviour Lutheran Church on Demorest and Briggs-rd. Leaders are Mrs. V. Coleman, Mrs. R. Harmon, Mrs. Potts, Mrs. Belt and Mrs. Roberts.

Said Mrs. Tom Gregory: "We believe that Girl Scouting will be more fun than ever before, for leaders as well as girls. "I hope women who are interested in joining us will call me at CA. 4-1937 for information."

Area troops are looking forward to the annual Girl Scout Birthday parties scheduled for Saturday, Mar. 9. Parties are scheduled at 12:30, 2:30, and 4:30 p.m. More than 900 troops will receive invitations from the Lazarus Company. The parties, honoring the Girl Scouts' 51st anniversary and will be held at Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Curved Bar, 10-year pins, and Senior Aide Bar presentations will be made. Senior and Older Intermediate Girl Scouts will be ushers and color guards. All girls must wear complete uniform and plan to be at Veterans Memorial about 45 minutes before the assigned party. Rehearsal for the flag ceremony will be held March 8 after school.

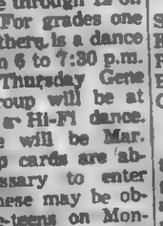
Tumbling And Trampoline

During the past week the trampoline and tumbling program has had several boys advance from the intermediate group into the advanced group. These boys were Larry Mitchell, Floyd Gandee and Walter George.

Arts And Crafts

Last Monday, because the weather was so nice, the art class went on a nature hike and with the various branches and leaves they brought back, crayon rubbings were made. Another project was making monoprints, which means printing directly from a design painted on the back of a metal tray while it is still wet. If you would like to know more about this, come in sometime this week and try it out.



Thursday, Feb. 28, 3:30-5:30, monoprints for preteens; 6:30-8:30, sewing for preteens.

Friday, Mar. 1, 3:30-5, painting for preteens.

Saturday, Mar. 2, 9:30-11, ceramics for preteens; 11-11:30, piano lessons for preteens.

Monday, Mar. 4, 3:30-5:30, paper craft for preteens; 7:30-9:30, ceramics for teens.

Tuesday, Mar. 5, 3:30-5:30, preteen folk dancing; 6:30-7:30, preteen sewing.

Furniture Refinishing, Songs Of The World Featured 'Tuesday At The Y,' March 5

"Furniture Refinishing, Antiquing, and Art Work" will be the subject of discussion at "Tuesday at the Y," the morning of Mar. 5, at Hilltop YWCA Center, 2879 Valleyview-dr.

Mrs. Ivan Christman, who has created furniture finishes as a hobby for many years, will share her know-how, and will illustrate her remarks with slides of pieces she has renovated.

Beginning Mar. 12, the Hilltop YWCA Center will offer a course in "Furniture Finishes;" including several sessions on refinishing taught by Mrs. R. Jerry Rogers, two sessions on stenciling and decorating taught by Mrs. Marvin Crosten, and several sessions on the application of gold and antiquing taught by Mrs. Christman.

The Mar. 5 lecture will provide an opportunity to those interested in becoming proficient in furniture finishing to have a preview of the course to be given a few weeks later.

The afternoon session will feature musical selections from many countries around the world. Mrs. Sanford Ackley, on her recent world tour, has made a collection of musical favorites of the countries she has visited, and will comment upon them.

Mrs. E. D. Guernsey, pianist, will play.

Luncheon, prepared by the gourmet and foreign cooking class, will be served at noon. Total cost of the day-long program, including lunch, is $1.

Supervised baby sitting, with crafts, will be available without additional charge. Mothers are requested to bring a sack lunch for their children. Milk will be furnished.

For reservations or information call CA. 4-9121.

Camp Chase Auxiliary Plans Dinner Meeting

Camp Chase 98, American Legion Auxiliary will hold a casserole dinner Friday, Mar. 1, 6:30 p.m. at the post home.

Turner-Berkheimer Rite Held At Holy Family

Vases of white gladioli, pompomns, and carnations decorated the altar of Holy Family Church, Jan. 19, for the wedding of Miss Judith Ann Turner, 796 Thomas-av, and Mr. John Edward Berkheimer Jr., 716 S. Harris-av, formerly of Palmyra, Pa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Charles Turner, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Berkheimer of Palmyra.

The bridal gown was fashioned of silk organza over taffeta, and the neckline and bouffant floor-length skirt with chapel train featured matching appliquaed motifs, with sleeves of leg-o-mutton styling.

She wore a veil of double illusion tulle, caught to a head hugging cap designed to form a large leaf with a ruche edge, and she carried a white prayerbook with a cascade of white feathered carnations centered with a lavender orchid.

Attendants wore gowns of electra blue velvet, styled with basque bodices, low crescent necklines and elbow length sleeves. Full gathered skirts were accented at the waist line with a tie belt of self material.

Serving as bestman was Mr. Thomas N. Turner, brother of the bride. Ushers were Mr. Donald Sharp, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Arian Berkheimer, brother of the bridegroom. David Berkheimer, also a brother of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

A dinner immediately followed the wedding ceremony at the Desert Inn, and a reception at Union Hall was held in the late afternoon.

The bride, a graduate of Holy Family High School, is employed at Hermitage Securities Inc. The bridegroom, a graduate of Palmyra High School, served four years in the United States Navy, and is employed by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

MRS. JOHN E. BERKHEIMER, JR.

World Prayer Day Services Are Slated In Area Churches

World Day of Prayer, observed by women the world over on the first Friday of Lent, now in its 77th year, will be marked in 26 churches in the Franklin County area on Mar. 1.

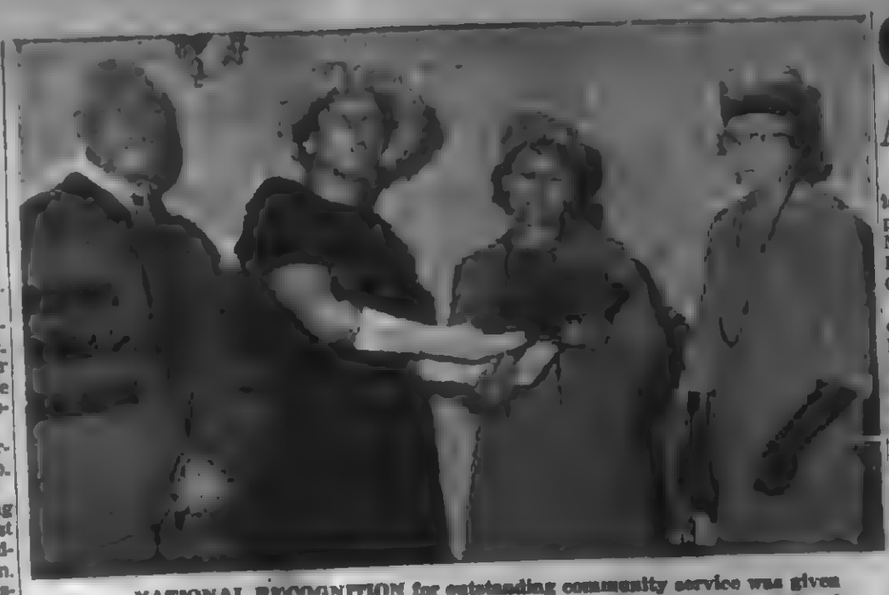
While women of the world are praying for peace, they also will be contributing gifts to both home and international missions, including 12 Christian colleges for women all across the world.

At the Lincoln Baptist Church in Lincoln Village, there will be a 7:30 p.m. meeting, with women of Westminister Presbyterian, Mrs. Florence Rose; Columbia Heights Methodist, Mrs. Jackie Tate, and Derbydale Nazarene cooperating.

Mrs. C. E. Ridenour is general chairman for the area, with Mrs. Thomas Daum as president of the host church society, and Mrs. Philip Moseley, spiritual life chairman.

At Westgate Methodist Church, the meeting is at 1:30 in the afternoon under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. Garrison.

Participating will be Hilltop Methodist, Sullivant Ave. nue Friends, Our Saviour Lutheran, Burgess Avenue EUB, and Brookshire Methodist churches.



Mrs. Elmer J. Hegenberger of the United Church Women will be the speaker.

Another Hilltop meeting will be at Hillcrest Baptist Church, with Mrs. V. Edwards as general chairman.

In Grove City, the Harrisburg Methodist Church plays host at 1:30 p.m. with Rev. Frank Allen White, minister, as afternoon speaker.

Participating will be the Green Hill Methodist, Grove City Methodist, Orient, Salem Heights Methodist, St. Luke Methodist, Grove City Presbyterian, Grove City Church of Christ Grove City Baptist Bible Baptist, Union Baptist, St. John's Lutheran, Harrisburg EUB and Pleasant Corners EUB churches.

All women in the area are invited to attend one of the services nearby.

Hilltop Woman Earns National Award

A Columbus woman was singled out by the National Negro Business and Professional Women's Club this year as recipient of its annual Sojourner Truth award.

Mrs. Wilbert Martin, of 443 S. Wheatland-av, was awarded the plaque for "her meritorious service, her deep concern for and participation in all activities advancing the status of women."

The plaque, named for Sojourner Truth, remembered for her efforts in advancing the cause of women, is awarded to one woman in the United States each year.

Nominated by the local chapter of the national women's organization, Mrs. Martin is the third Columbus woman to receive the award.

Mrs. Martin, born in Bristol, England, came to the Hilltop 15 years ago as a war bride.

She was nominated on the basis of her volunteer service to the community and school. She is a member of the Hilltop YMCA Committee, the Downtown YMCA Committee, United Church Women of Columbus and Franklin County and West High Band Parents, and has always been active in PTA and youth organizations.

Her husband is a clerk at Nitschke Bros., and the Martins have two children, David, 17, and Angela, 11.

Concert Set At Westgate

Men's Choir of United Theological Seminary, Dayton, will present a concert Monday, Mar. 4, 7 p.m. at Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church, 61 S. Powell-av.

Now on its annual tour, the choir is composed of 25 theological students, directed by Rev. Aaron M. Sheaffer, also assistant minister and director of music at Troy Presbyterian Church.

Public is invited to hear the choir.

Miss Mary Beetley

Hong Kong Missionary To Speak

An account of missionary work among the 3,000,000 refugees from Communist China in Hong Kong, will be given by Miss Mary Ellen Beetley at Hilltop Community Church, Wednesday, Feb. 27, 7:30 p.m.

She has recently returned from four years of missionary service in Hong Kong, and tells the story of the "rooftop" evangelistic and educational programs that are carried on daily from the flat roof-tops of four of the many refugee, seven-story apartments constructed by the Hong Kong city government.

The Oriental Missionary Society is now engaged in building a multi-purpose center in Hong Kong. The compound will include an auditorium seating 1,000, day school facilities for 1,000 refugee children, a seminary and Bible training program, and an up-to-date medical clinic.

Public is invited. Rev. L. Richard Rahrar is pastor.

Preparing for FLIGHT
The beautiful breezy skies turn our eyes upward as watch the flight of the kite and the soaring of the airplane. The pilot must prepare for his flight in order to remain aloft, to reach supersonic speeds, to soar to highest blue sky. In our lives, to prepare for the speed of our times, and to pave the way for soaring to the highest success in living, we need God's word as it is preached in His Church. Isaiah 41:31 reads, "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE
The Church is God's appointed agency for this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life can long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Day Camp To Begin Soon; Girls Serve Dinners, Teas

Camp Fire Notes

By NANCY TRUELOVE

Mrs. Joanne Clinger, Day Camp chairman, wants to remind all leaders, assistant leaders, sponsors and mothers that Day Camp training time is near. At the March meeting we will be recruiting Day Camp counselors.

Training dates are Apr. 20, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., outdoor session at Darby Creek Metropolitan Park; Apr. 30, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., indoor session at Westgate closed shelter house; May 7, 7 p.m. to 8:45 p.m., Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, and May 23, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., outdoor session at Darby Park.

If you can't make it to the March meeting, but wish to be a counselor, please contact Mrs. Joanne Clinger, BR. 4-0826. Let's all come out, join in the fun, and make this an enjoyable summer for Camp Fire Girls.

On Friday, Feb. 22, Virginia Swinford, Kimmy Rickel, Barbara Scribner, Susan Kathryn Bell served dinner to the other members of the Chi Ki Ya Camp Fire group and their guardian, Mrs. Jane Voelker, at the home of Mrs. Virginia Swinford. This was one of their requirements for firemakers rank.

On Feb. 21, the Kwa Ki Ya Camp Fire group prepared a full course dinner for their group, leaders and sponsor, Mrs. Robert Michaelis. This was one of the requirements for passing firemakers rank.

Another party, also a requirement, is scheduled for Mar. 2 at Westgate Shelter House. They have invited Camp Fire groups under the guardianship of Mrs. Donald Bender and Mrs. Eugene Feberer to wear jeans and come to a folk dance and games party. The girls and their mothers visited the main library downtown, where they toured the building and saw a health film. Guardians are Mrs. Dorothy Moore and Mrs. Barbara Northrup.

The Matanda Jr. Hi group has been taking cooking lessons at the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company. To demonstrate their ability, they held a tea on Feb. 26. The following were invited guests: Mrs. M. A. Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. John Canfield, Mrs. Donald Ehman, Mrs. B. E. Lane, Mrs. David Randall, Mrs. Roderick Ruffner, Mrs. Donald Stauch, Mrs. David Tingley and Mrs. Roy Vonlns.

Our new program aids training is starting early this year. Training will be held at Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church on the following dates: Feb. 26, 7 to 8:45 p.m.; Mar. 26, 7 to 8:45 p.m.; May 7, with adult counselors, 7 to 8:45 p.m.; and Apr. 20th, outdoors at Darby Creek Park, 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Come on, Horizon Club girls, and help us to give the younger girls a joyous camping experience this year.

Pat Currier, of the Da Kon Ya Jr. Hi group, did an excellent job as a last minute replacement on a television interview concerning the mental health drive. The following appeared in a television film showing Camp Fire Girls collecting and packing materials for the Columbus State Hospital: Beverly McVay, Donna McVay, Melody Drummond Susan Kreager, Beverly Barklow and Mary Truelove.

The Wa Ka Wee Ki and Busy Squaws Camp Fire groups recently took a tour of the White Castle plant. After the tour, the girls were served a light lunch in the plant cafeteria. Those who attended were Beverly Barklow, Christy Hill, Linda Fabyan, Jane Mayer, Mary Truelove, Bonita Fee, Renee Bonaventure, Kitty Stilwell, Susan Lowry, Michelle Fitzer, Candy Hauser and Sonya Tatman of the Wa Ka Wee Ki group.

Members of the Busy Squaws are Vicki Fannon, Deborah Whitten, Ann Martin, Peggy Lear, Peggy Miller, Kay Muerer, Darlene Jones, Janet Grosale and Carolyn Tipton. Guardians who accompanied the girls are Mrs. Connie Fee, Mrs. Ruth Hill, Mrs. Forest Whitten and Mrs. R. Fannon.

The Ka Ta Kin Da Shu Camp Fire group took a tour through the Ohio State Museum. Mrs. Margaret Renner, guardian, accompanied the following girls: Patty Berger, Vicky Butcher, Cheryl Dering, Doris Boysel, Peggy and Debbie Renner, Regina Myers, Christy Tripp and Jeanne Bratton.

WINNING SAFETY ESSAYS CHOSEN

STUDENTS TOUR WE PLANT

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The Junior Hi-Y Wild Night at the "Y" was a "sleepless" success. Fifty-two boys representing West, Westmoor, and Hilltonia attended the all night affair. Tournaments were held in ping-pong, shuffleboard and pool. Jeff McDorman won the shuffleboard tournament. Jeff is a Junior Hi-Y member at Westmoor.

Hilltonian Robin Burton took the pool tournament championship. Dan Walker of Westmoor was the ping-pong king of the evening. Movies were shown throughout the 10-hour marathon.

Refreshments went quickly for the necessary energy needed to meet the "stay awake all night" fad. Breakfast was welcomed by all at 6 a.m. Friday. The success of this new program venture may be entertained by another such night in the future.

The Senior Hi-Y basketball squad at West is looking to Thursday, Feb. 28, with anxiety. That will be the day of the annual Hi-Y vs faculty game. Game time is 4 p.m. at West High's gym.

Gra-Y basketball will be coming to a close next week. In the South section, the West Mound Tigers "A" team has the South "A" League clinched with a 5-0 record. In the South "B" League, Georgian Heights Rebels has a clinching 5-0 record.

In the North "A" League, the Vikings of Valleyview have a 5-0 record which will send them against the West Mound Tigers "A" team in mid-March for the "A" Gra-Y championship.

In the North "B" League, the Westgate Wildcats have a 4-0 record and the Highland Trotters stand in their way for a possible upset. If Westgate can beat the Trotters, then the Wildcats from Westgate will be matched against Georgian Heights for the "B" championship.

The annual Hilltop YMCA mint sale now in progress and scheduled to end this Saturday, Mar. 2, has been extended until Saturday, Mar. 9. A good supply of candy still is available at the "Y." Any youth member interested in participating and earning some of the outstanding prizes is encouraged to come to the "Y" as soon as possible to check out candy.

Proceeds from this sale go toward paying off the annual World Service goal of the Hilltop Branch. World Service is an important part of the YMCA program which assists associations throughout the world in furthering the standard of living in underdeveloped areas.

At the February meeting of the Hilltop "Y" Indian Guide Longhouse new officers for the coming year were elected. Heading up this year's Longhouse will be Big Chief Mel Senerius, Sub-Chief Ray Pendell, Tally Keeper George Reis and Wampum Bearer Frank Bowles. Serving as members of the advisory committee will be Herman Truelove, Russ Crawford, Jim Gabriel and Al Stephens and Bob Kerr, former chiefs.

Outgoing officers who were commended on the jobs they performed during the past year were Al Stephens, Mel Senerius, Harry Miller and George Hughes. A tentative date of Apr. 21 has been set up for the running of the annual Match Box Derby. The Indian Guide program is open to all boys, ages six to nine, and their fathers. Interested persons are encouraged to contact the Hilltop "Y" office for further information.

For the next two weeks the Gra-Y clubs will be helping with the World Service Mint Sale. In March the Tall Tale Contest will be held. All Gra-Y clubs will be represented by a club member for the contest. Also planned for March is a talent contest. Full details will follow later.

The Friday night dances are still proving to be quite popular among the young people. A dance is held each Friday night from 7:30 to 10:30 at the Hilltop "Y" for all boy and girl members who are junior and senior high school students.

Admiral Chester Nimitz declared Oct. 27, 1944, that the Japanese fleet had been so heavily damaged in the Philippines sea battle that it would be unable to again challenge American naval units.

'Hilltoppers' Played At Volunteers Of America

The group of young musicians that entertained at Volunteers of America last Thursday was "The Hilltoppers", not the "Dixielanders" as they were named in the photo in last week's issue.

The six boys are students at West High, Hilliard High and Westmoor Junior High.

As a small sports car approached an intersection where a policeman was directing traffic, it leaped into the air, came down and landed on its wheels, leaped into the air again and again landed on its wheels right beside the cop. He asked the driver: "What's wrong with that car?" "Oh, nothing's wrong with the car; I just have hiccoughs," said the driver.

Hi-Y Cagers Seek Revenge In Clash With Faculty Five

By BOB LYNCH

The students and faculty at West are preparing themselves for the sporting event of the year tomorrow as the Hi-Y basketball squad takes on the best of the faculty in the Annual Hi-Y vs. Faculty game.

The game, which takes place at 4 p.m. in the school gym, promises to be a real "barnburner," as the Hi-Y boys attempt to avenge last year's fluke faculty victory, 51-50.

HOWEVER, THE faculty is out to make things as tough as they can. Although prices of "part-time" teacher they will be without the services of Dick LeBeau, they do list several new additions to the usual crew.

This year, for instance, Gary Link, and Jim Daily will carry the hopes of the faculty, and they will be assisted by Larry Gray, John Butler, Tom Starkey, Gene Fekete, Gary Sixt, Dwight Black, and "playing coach" Lafe Dodds. There is a definite possibility that this meager squad may be increased with later additions.

Carrying the colors for the Hi-Y will be: Jim Widener, Tom Hell, Rick Finke, Tim Weisert, Jeff Leighninger, Larry Cline, Bruce Findlay, Bill Lust, Bob Sise, Mike Hobbs, Steve Takos, Rod Chrisman, Mike Uldricks, Joe Anderson, and Dan Dent.

The Hi-Y will be aided by four Hi-Y cheerleaders this year, who will be sporting the letters of "Hi-Y." They will conduct a sixth period pep rally and hopefully cheer their team on to victory with their well-prepared cheers. Sporting the "H" will be Joel Eichenberger; the "I" will be Bill Johannes; "-" is Bob Lynch; and "Y" is Lee Lawrence.

It promises to be an occasion to rival that of any previous sporting event in West's athletic history, so if you're interested in attending, the tickets can be purchased from any Hi-Y member or at the door for only 25 cents.

GLENWOOD WRAPUP

Whizzers Top All-Stars; Volleyball Loops Formed

In a post season All-Star Game at Glenwood Recreation Center last week, the Whizzers defeated the All Stars 65-44. The Whizzers were trailing, 31-30, at half time, but after intermission it was all Whizzers.

The fast breaks and the outside shooting of Dan Dent was just too much for the All-Stars. Dent was high scorer with 17 points while Kenny Wells hit 15 for the All-Stars.

With the ending of the basketball season, the exciting sport of volleyball begins. Boys and Girls Volleyball Leagues are being formed in all age divisions at Glenwood Recreation Center (Junior 8-12, Intermediate 13-15, and Senior 16-18).

Age classifications are effective September 1, 1962. Also, a mixed Volleyball League (boys and girls) is being formed.

The Buckeyes Boys Club from the Center went bowling for their monthly activity. The Buckeyes bowled at Linwoin Village Lanes.

The boys were taught the essentials or requirements that every beginning bowler should know. These were: how to keep score, the correct steps in the approach, the delivery and the follow through.

Clinic For Soap Box Derby Set

The first Soap Box Derby Clinic will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, Mar. 2 at the Sunshine Recreation Center, 677 Sullivant-av.

All boys interested in entering this year's competition are invited to attend. Spokesmen for the 1963 racing classic said boys 11 through 15 are eligible.

Included in the clinic's program will be the showing of a movie, "The Long, Happy Race," highlighting the 1963 event.

Bobby Held, last year's local champion, will discuss his experiences in Akron and make recommendations for building a racer. He will also show his racing car.

Boys attending the clinic will have the opportunity to examine one of the winning cars from last year's Akron championship race.

Schedule of future clinics and other information pertaining to the Columbus derby will be given to those in attendance.

All Chevrolet dealers have the necessary material to register boys now for this year's race on July 13. Entrants should be accompanied by their parents or guardians.

Eagles Will Have 'Feed'

The "5 Club" Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, will serve a roast beef dinner, (with trimmings), Sunday, Mar. 5, from 5 to 8 p.m. following the 2 p.m. monthly "5 Club" meeting.

The dinner is open to all Eagles and their families. Donation is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children under 12.

Entertainment and dancing will be offered during the fellowship period from 7 to 10 p.m.

Ask Welfare Aides Meet With Board

The Franklin County Child Welfare Board will hold a "get-together" for representatives of area civic groups interested in helping the child welfare program.

Don Dodsworth, Director of Group Services and head of Franklin Village, said the meeting will be held Tuesday, Mar. 19, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the "Lecture Room" of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. building, 215 N. Front-st.

Accommodations can be made for about 75 people, according to Dodsworth, so it is requested that each organization limit its representatives to two.

Reservations can be made by calling BR. 6-3541, extension 252.

On Feb. 9, Troop 250 held its Winter Court of Honor and 1963 charter presentation at the meeting hall of its sponsor, St. Agnes Catholic Church, 2350 W. Mound-st. After the Green Bar Scouts had presented the colors and led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, everyone enjoyed a potluck supper of hamburgers, baked beans, potato salad, coffee and Kool-aid.

After the supper, Neighborhood Commissioner Harold (Davey Crockett) Arnold presented the [illegible] to the troop by way of the pastor, Father Schmidt, who gave it to the troop IR., "Bud" Greider. Mr. Arnold also presented each committeeman with his 1963 registration card. Committee Chairman Dick Saner assisted.

The following advancements were awarded by Tom McLaughlin, chairman of the Board of Review, and Advancement [illegible]

Merit Badges were earned by Larry Greider, Terry Martin, Dick Mooney, Bob Mooney, Rick Saner, Bill McLoughlin, John Wuichner, James Swartz, John Swartz and Mike Elflein.

For entertainment the troop had movies of several of its hikes and campouts shown by Harold Trump and Jack Swartz. These movies brought many memories and several laughs to all the boys. After the entertainment the Court of honor was closed with the Pledge of Allegiance and the Scout law by all present.

The next morning, Feb. 10, was Father and Son Scout Communion at 8:30 Mass, after which Troop 250 and the Cub Pack enjoyed a breakfast at the school cafeteria.

The Girl Scouts of St. Agnes served.

Troop 250 had its window display at Cussins & Fearn Store in the Central Point Shopping Center for Boy Scout Week. Several displays of scout skills were exhibited.

On Feb. 15, 16 and 17, Troop 250 camped at Jeffrey Scout Lodge for a weekend of training and experience in [illegible]craft.

On Saturday, Mar. 2, the University of Scouting for all adult leaders is to take place at Lindburgh School. The starting time will be 1 p.m.

This activity will cover the basic and advanced training for scoutmasters, troop committeemen, den mothers, cubmasters and cub committeemen.

The District Executive Committee meeting will be held at Westinghouse Mar. 4 starting at 7:30.

Park Board Gets Federal Aid

The Columbus Metropolitan Park Board announced last week it has received $135,000 in Federal grants for purchasing park land to expand Blendon Woods, Spring Hollow, Darby Creek, Blacklick Woods, High Banks and Chestnut Ridge parks.

The grant was approved by the Urban Renewal Administration for purchase of 36 parcels of land.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Multiple Choices Offered For March Menus

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Grapefruit, winter pears, apples.

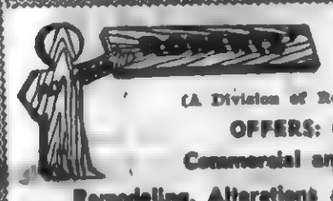
March — the windy month — is also the month when family appetites are likely to be as capricious as the weather. In addition, Lenten season imposes some restrictions on your menus. But here's some encouraging news on what's ahead at food markets.

Mrs. Franks

Market men say that beef and pork supplies are plentiful, that egg production is up and that shipments of fresh produce from warmer climates are increasing. Seafoods also will come into the spotlight for Lenten menus.

The plentiful supply of eggs in March ties in nicely with the Lenten season. It offers you an economical protein that can be made into hearty, appetizing dishes. Larger supplies and slightly lower prices sum up the meat prospects. Marketings of fed cattle are expected to be four to six per cent above a year ago during March. At the same time, pork supplies will be increasing as heavy marketing of 1962 fall crop pigs gets under way. To round out the picture, broiler supplies should also be somewhat larger than last year during this period.

Weather still plays a crucial role in the produce market, but at this writing, fresh vegetables from Florida and the West are increasing and quality improving. You'll find more beans, lettuce, green onions, radishes and summer squash. Also plenty of new cabbage and broccoli. Florida will start shipping us sweet corn by the middle of the month and more fresh asparagus will come from California.



And, what could be tastier in brisk, windy March than a boiled dinner? To go in it, potatoes, onions and carrots have no competition as leading bargain vegetables.

Valencia oranges — the favorite oranges for juice — come to market in March, but expect prices to be higher this year than last. Grapefruit, winter pears, bananas, avocados and apples continue in good supply. Look for CA (controlled atmosphere storage) printed on the bag to identify the apples with the longer storage life. Michigan hothouse rhubarb is at peak production this month and will be featured more often as prices low enough to make that first fresh rhubarb pie.

A three-course dinner — a complete frozen meal including soup and dessert — will be added in March to the present list of frozen dinners. You'll find three dinners — roast turkey, salisbury steak and fried chicken. Each dinner has a different soup. For a dessert, the chicked dinner has apple brown betty, with the salisbury steak there is apple-apricot crisp; spicy apple crisp tops off the turkey dinner.

Is Test System Wise?

The question of psychological testing of school children currently rests in a state of remission; unresolved, after having generated more heat than light during initial clashes of opposing forces.

We offer our thoughts during this comparatively "cool" period in the hope that they will be absorbed by those seeking a reasonable resolution of the problem, rather than to be consumed by the fire of controversy.

The local controversy centers on the test prepared by Science Research Associates, and administered to eighth grade students in Whitehall; the general question of psychological testing of school children is the subject of no less than three bills introduced in Congress, and aimed at curbing present practices.

We discuss the Whitehall controversy, with our views applying to the general question of youth inventory testing.

All side issues to the contrary, the Whitehall question is: Should parental consent be obtained prior to testing, and after parents have been apprised of the test content?

It is most unfortunate that the prime issue — merit of testing and methods — is clouded by irrelevant questions. It is just as foolish of test method opponents to "wonder out loud" if the whole business is "Communist inspired," as it is for proponents to equate their opposition with "book-burners," "right wing," or "left wing" groups.

We can appreciate that boards of education cannot properly function without authority sufficient to determine policies, rules and regulations governing the education process for children entrusted to their care.

We can also see the danger of expediency that tends to deny a voice to the parent, who must assume the ultimate responsibility for the child, simply because he is not a member of the education fraternity.

Granted; that guidance programs in our school system constitute a necessary and worthwhile adjunct to total education. But, because we are old-fashioned enough to place great reliance on common sense, we submit that the following questions should be given prime consideration:

Why mass test? If students are performing adequately in school, is it then wise to "kick the lid off" repressed emotions?

Is parental consent eliminated as a test prerequisite because parents might object? If so, would these same parents be any more likely to cooperate after hearing negative results of a test they would not have approved in the first place?

Can corrective measures be undertaken and successfully achieved without the cooperation of parents?

We are reminded that Mark Twain once said that the trouble with people is not their ignorance, but their knowing so many things that "ain't so." Perhaps therein lies the answer to our problem.

Day Of Prayer Serves Need

Friday, Mar. 1, will mark the 77th observance of the World Day of Prayer, sponsored by United Church Women. Churches in 22,000 communities throughout the United States will be joined in prayer with church groups in 145 foreign countries.

The observance will include services in 26 churches in Franklin County, and will represent more than 20 Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

The theme of World Day of Prayer includes prayers for peace and the spread of Christian faith, and offerings for home and international missions and support of 13 Christian colleges for women throughout the world.

While significant as one day when many unite for a common spiritual good, the World Day of Prayer is a needed reminder that the Brotherhood of Man is a day-to-day, continuing process by which we attain the peace of mind that the world cannot give.

Teen Drivers Should Pay Own Auto Bills

To The Editor:

In all fairness to those Hilliard High students who may be paying in loss of car liberties for a deadly mistake of one of their fellow students, I have sought hard for reasons behind youthful speeding that may not be the fault of teenagers themselves.

I came up with two important problems that go farther than safety demonstrations, lectures, etc., which are fine as long as students are kept on a steady diet.

In the past ten years since my husband and I were graduated from Hilliard High School, there has been a decline in part-time job opportunities, and it is going to become worse. There was a time when a student could work to finance his car, gas, tires and insurance. One of my classmates was known to purchase gas 50 cents at a time, but he paid his own way.

Along with this job opportunity squeeze goes the cost-of-living squeeze, and it hurts students just as much as adults. Even the most industrious student cannot earn enough to make it worthwhile to keep his own car.

Speeding and disrespect for the property and lives of others often result when youths drive cars that are not their own. Only when a boy earns and pays for his own transportation costs will he begin to slow down and quit abusing a car. No amount of lecturing can replace the process of earning and paying that characterizes the life of responsible adults.

Granted, we need student education on safe driving. Behind that, parents can encourage the job-earning-paying process of driving, even if they can afford to do otherwise.

Parents who want to give the best economically and socially can better pay for clothes or hobbies, rather than provide devices with which youth can destroy themselves.

Cuts In Social Agencies 'Economy Of Grave'

To The Editor:

Long indifference and neglect broken by short blasts of get-tough punishment will not dent the problem of juvenile delinquency and violence.

The open tragic death of Richard Brown on a West Side street momentarily makes it impossible to ignore the sea of troubles in which hundreds of teenagers swim every day and night in Columbus.

The rest of the time we look away from the troubled waters. We don't want to pay for basic community services to maintain families and protect children. Witness the erosion of Child Welfare Board funds. We want to cut welfare, economize on education and bypass the staggering problems of youth unemployment.

The cry is economy. We want to save money and in the process we spend lives.

The death of Richard Brown is a senseless death. There have been other "near" deaths — deaths deflected in settlement houses, in homes and on the street — deaths, which were avoided because trained workers helped solve the turbulent problems of youth growing up in the violent world adults have patterned.

But many agencies in Columbus are short staffed and underbudgeted. Services to youth and families have been crippled. This kind of economy is the economy of the grave. It will fill coffins and jails. It will not solve the problem.

This problem can only be attacked by careful and continual concern for the health, education and welfare of growing citizens. It requires a commitment from the community beyond that of retributive punishment. It requires a commitment to plan for youth services.

Pleads For Restraint

To The Editor:

Since reading your article (Youth Spouts Alarming Views, Feb. 21) I cannot help but answer. A student of 17 should be in school, not roaming the streets with nothing to do but get in trouble.

I think that was a terrible thing that happened Feb. 9 (at Gladden House.) The Tenth Commandment, given by our Lord, was broken.

Please, let us all stay in our own end of town and try to do some good for others. We don't want "revenge." I only hope all teenagers will let the law take care of things like this and will keep out of trouble.

A friend to all high school students,
M. K.

CapitalExecutionFoe

The subject of the right of society to take a life was cause for much controversy during the past administration. However, as is always the case, matters of this nature fall in the realm of political footballs. All too often an issue is opposed just because the other party suggested it.

I know of no other issue this administration and legislative body better could consummate in its tenure of office than the abolishment of capital punishment.

Our Bible tells us, "Thou shalt not kill." There are no added words such as "except if a sin against society is committed."

The strong argument which once confronted the proponents of abolishing the taking of lives — that is to say that it gives criminals more freedom of committing crimes — has not proved worthy in any of the states which abolished capital punishment.

It would appear that once a mind was so confused as to actually commit a serious crime the thought of being put out of one's miseries would probably be more incentive for doing the crime. Knowing full well that you might spend years and years at the mercy of a prison administration has curtailed more crimes than not.

The present administration in years hence could look back as being members of one of the bold and courageous bodies of men if they would only take the initiative to once and for all abolish this outmoded social admonishment.

"Now I Know How the Cubans Feel When Castro Starts Talking!"

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Philosophy Is Put To Test

It's an interesting fact that man often is at his worst in a crowd — or by himself.

At least I thought it was interesting until I mentioned this to my wife, Virginia, who for the most part silently serves as my humble sounding board.

McPeek

I made the remark after I had read an article on the recently published "Crowds and Power," a sociological study by Elias Canetti, Bulgarian - born novelist.

Canetti centered his work on the effects produced or brought out in man when he becomes part of a crowd.

"Men join crowds to escape the restrictions of life," Canetti wrote. "Stepping out of everything which binds, encloses and burdens him is the real reason for the elation he feels in a crowd. When he returns to his house . . . he finds again, boundaries, burdens and strings."

Canetti's remarks caused me to realize that man also loses many of his qualities that are noble when he withdraws to himself and becomes totally divorced from his fellowman. I'm thinking of recluses and hermits — also egomaniacs who hold an office or position of supreme power.

Pleased with this information, I was anxious, as is my wont when I come across new ideas, to bounce them off my wife's ears to gain an outside reaction.

"You can whistle that tune again, Buster," she retorted when I threw my jumbled thoughts at her. "If ever I saw a supposedly respectable husband and father transformed into a slob by a crowd, it was you at the party last New Year's eve. If ever anyone became unbound, unenclosed and unburdened by a crowd, you were the one."

Suddenly aware that my humble sounding board was out of tune at the moment, I attempted to beat a hasty retreat.

Leaping before me, she spread-eagled herself in the doorway. "Now that you bring up the ugly subject," she snarled, "let's get it straight — come next New Year's Eve. If you again . . ."

I feinted to the right, darted under her left arm and dashed upstairs. Consequently, I missed the rest of her words except for something about "you'd be better off if you stick to Kool-Aid."

"And you're right about that withdrawing stuff, too," — she squawked up the stairway as I zipped into my room and pushed a chest against the door. "It shows that such a man is a coward, afraid to face life and wife."

Frightened, but determined to get in the last word, I bellowed through the keyhole:

"Nags and crones can bust my eardrums, but not if I stay up here." Then I sat down and cried.

If there's a moral in this story, please send it to my wife.

* * *

In a recent news story about a young boy who killed the other members in his family, the youth's teachers and schoolmates were at a loss to explain how he became a murderer.

"He was always in trouble, beating smaller children, torturing animals and assaulting his teachers," said one. "He certainly was not a model student like most teenage killers."

Goals Lead Us To Life's Satisfactions

Where are you headed? Do you know? Is your goal one that you have chosen, or is it one that others have imposed upon you? Are you one of those who have no life goals at all?

These are good questions to consider as the new year begins. For many years, I have been interested in the stress and strain of modern life. My investigations have convinced me that they are caused less by the number and speed of our activities than by the lack of satisfaction in them.

Folkman

Satisfactions are derived from the accomplishment of goals. This is called success. If one has no goals, he does not know when he has succeeded. Consequently, he cannot enjoy the feelings of success that make life worth living. Somehow or other, we can never escape the feeling of failure that follows any inadequacy in one or another of life's situations.

It is essentially unhappiness or lack of satisfaction in life that wears us down. An hour's play in an active sport is less tiring than an hour spent in calisthenics. The hour of play may require as much or more physical exertion, but its satisfactions diminish its fatigue.

One is doomed to failure feelings and robbed of success feelings if he lives without goals. Such a life is a meaningless exercise or exertion. To be meaningful, life must be directed toward goals of value and worth.

The highest goals and the most enduring are those set before us by religion. To be a better person tomorrow than I was yesterday, a better father, a better friend, a better citizen, a better worker, are the goals that can be reached almost every day; they can make living more successful almost every day than it was the day before.

Almost every day, practically every human being has an opportunity to be helpful to another. Almost every day, every human being has a chance to make the world just a little bit better for his having lived in it that day. Almost every day, every human being can live as the child of God, the Universal Father in heaven, and the brother of all mankind.

With such life goals, one need not succumb to the stress and strain of life. With such goals, one discovers that God is his helper. He finds sources of strength he never knew he had.

This is the beginning of a new year. This is a good time to think these things over. What are you doing with your life?

Frosting On The Cake

Who ever expected to see the day when top-rated members of the President's cabinet would have to go on national radio and TV hookups and beg the American people to "believe the President" and stop talking about this insane Cuban fiasco?

For three days I heard more talk by all kinds of people about that astounding performance than on any other topic. These are heated expressions of disgust by individuals who rarely take the time or trouble to get "all hotted up" about anything related to national politics

The whole Cuban affair has been a mess from the day of the Bay of Pigs debacle. It has gone from bad to worse, faster than any scandal I can remember since the oil scandal in the Harding administration. Those of us who would settle right now for another Teddy Roosevelt are indulging in wishful thinking even to hope for such real Americanism.

Paraphrasing George Gobel: "they just don't make them kind" anymore.

We do have men available who would straighten out that whole insane mess in 48 hours. Old General MacArthur for one.

If this so-called psychological poker game goes on, there can be but one result. Some mad man down there will completely blow his stack.

President Kennedy is smart enough to know the truth, but he has allowed the double-talk and dilly-dallying to go way beyond the line of no return.

The one thing that will bring this whole disgraceful mess to a head for this country, is to clean out now the State Dept. and the Supreme Court and get some men in power who have both guts and honest love for our way of life.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

ACHIEVEMENT

You think you've got troubles? So do we all. But others have had them, too. Let's just see what some have done about them.

An eight-year-old Kansas farm boy was so badly burned that the doctor said he would never walk again. But the boy had other ideas. After years of effort, he broke the indoor mile record in Madison Square Garden. His name was Glenn Cunningham.

Sir Walter Scott was lame. Lord Byron had a club foot. Franklin D. Roosevelt was a polio cripple, as was Johnny Weissmuller, the original Tarzan movie actor. He broke more swimming records than any other.

Cartoonist H. T. Webster lost the use of his right hand, but drew "Casper Milquetoast" and "When a Feller Needs a Friend" with his left.

Floyd Gibbons suffered many fractures and lost an eye on a torpedoed ship. But he became a famous war correspondent and radio personality.

Ludwig von Beethoven composed most of his great symphonies after he became deaf. Others who lost all or most of their hearing were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Arthur Capper, Joseph C. Grew, Dr. Karl A. Menninger, Hiram Bingham, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Rupert Hughes, Stanley Baldwin, and Thomas A. Edison.

Samuel Untermyer, famous trial lawyer, had asthma. Woodrow Wilson and Pope Pius XII had murderous headaches. Martin Luther had gout. Charles Darwin suffered life-long pain. Arturo Toscanini was an arthritis victim. Robert Louis Stevenson had tuberculosis.

It says here . . . . . .
Don't give up the ship too soon.
It may not sink after all.

IN TOURNAMENT PLAY

West, Central Win; Family 5 Eliminated

By BOB LYNCH and [illegible]

West ended its City League season on a successful note Thursday evening by defeating host Eastmoor, 64-50, before opening tournament competition at Upper Arlington by walloping Westerville, 78-53, Saturday afternoon.

The Cowboys opened their final City League contest by trailing the host Warriors, 15-13, at the end of the first period of play.

BUT PACED BY sharp-shooting Charlie Castle, the Cowboys overcame the deficit and rocked up a seven-point halftime lead, increasing the margin to 17 as the final period got under way.

Two days later, West had even less trouble defeating a much smaller Westerville squad, who had managed a 4-14 season.

BOD McDANIEL and Castle led the Cowboys in a hustling fast-break attack which overwhelmed the Wildcats. Charging up and down the court, the two guards displayed excellent ball handling and aided by Steve Barnard's rebounding, the fast break sizzled for the first time this season.

Castle led all scoring in the Eastmoor contest with 18 tallies, while McDaniel totaled 12. In the Saturday event, McDaniel highlighted Cowboy scoring with 17, as Castle (14) and Barnard (13) rounded out double-figure scorers for West.

CENTRAL HELD Northridge scoreless for the first five minutes and went on to a 68-51 win Saturday in AA tournament play at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The City League's top scorer, Central's Tom Fullove, helped to push the Pirates through to victory by contributing 30 points to the score. Northridge came within two points with 1:20 to go in the third period, but Central staged a fast-breaking clincher to finish on top.

The Central Pirates edged by North's Polar Bears, 61-60, on the North court the evening before to close out Central's CL season.

North hopped off to an early lead but Central snapped back to post a 15-12 margin at the first period break. Dave Roberts, Central forward, pushed through 11 of Central's 15 first-period points.

THE PIRATES stayed out in front the rest of the game, but saw their lead shaved to one thin point in the final minutes of play.

Roberts was high point man with 21 points, while Tom Fullove, with 12 points, wrapped up the individual scoring title in the city, with 191 points.

HOLY FAMILY was eliminated from the A competition at Westerville Saturday, dropping a 67-28 verdict to West Jefferson.

The Raiders trailed by only seven at they entered the second period but the Rough Riders pulled away to take a 15-point halftime lead.

AQUINAS WRAPPED up its regular season play Friday with a 64-53 win over Walnut Ridge. The winning Tarriers never let the Scotties any closer than 10 points after piling up their first period edge.

Pat Meade's 19 points keyed the Irish offense. The win evened Aquinas' City League final mark at 5-5 — good enough for a three-way fifth-place tie with West and Whetstone.

AQUINAS, CENTRAL and West fill tournament berths this weekend as the AA competition moves into its second week. West (10-7) leads all Friday evening play at the Fairgrounds Coliseum, facing Lakewood (14-4) at 5 p.m.

Central (12-4) wraps up the evening's schedule that following night, playing Teays Valley (21-5) at 8. Aquinas (9-9) is slated to play Mid-Eight champ Gahanna (17-1) at Arlington Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

HOG-TYING A COWBOY — Central's Mike Whitaker makes like a football lineman as he attempts to ride Cowboy Clayton Clark to the mat in the 123-pound match Friday evening. Clark recovered from this dilemma but suffered a tight 2-0 decision loss to Whitaker.

MAT SCRAMBLE — Franklin Height's 138-pound entry Dan Green (foreground) finds his hands full with West's Dave Walters as the Cowboy grappler attempts to drive the Falcon down to the mat. Walters came close to pinning Green in the final seconds of the match but the Falcon held on for a 7-5 decision.

SPORTS EDITOR

Sport Wags Looking For New Vocabulary

While copyreading our basketball wrapup accounts of area high school games the other afternoon, we noticed that we had fallen into a basic habit that hounds every sports writer sooner or later — the choice of words in reporting a sports event.

Even before the late Grantland Rice ever set his talented fingers to the typewriter, sportswriters had earned a rather unsavory reputation in their manipulation of the English language.

WAY BACK WHEN we can imagine a newspaper's sports department stuck back of some files out of the way grammatically-polished set who probably thought of the sports reporter as a necessary evil.

High school journalists were most likely steered away from the free-wheeling sports editor who had invented a "jargon" all his own that defied all the conventions of correct and accepted English.

It just wasn't safe to expose the aspiring journalist to that guy in the corner who produced words the likes of which might turn Noah Webster over in his grave.

WELL, THERE have changed (fortunately) and the sportswriter of today has gained equal liberties and sometimes even is included on newspaper tours so long as he doesn't open his mouth.

However, the use of the language medium remains the same and doesn't appear to be moving toward any form of fine-polished finesse.

The difficulty lies in the games themselves. Take football for example. A halfback scores a touchdown. He either "sweeps around end," or "bursts over tackle" and sprints, streaks, gallops, driven or charges to the goal line, end zone, paydirt, TD-land, final stripe or a six-pointer.

A QUARTERBACK just doesn't throw a pass, he "takes to the airways," "arches an aerial," "goes to the overland route" or "pitches a strike."

Basketball isn't much better. A player never scores a basket. He "drops in, meshes, burns the nets, rings up, or pours in" a bucket, fielder, two-pointer or goal.

And how about baseball's home run? It isn't just hit. A batter "slugs, cracks, belts, bops, smacks, clubs or clouts" a homer, four-bagger or circuit wallop.

THE NOVICE MUST be thoroughly confused when sports writers interchange the lingo,d escribing how Bart Starr threw a 'house run ball' to Ron Kramer for a Green Bay touchdown."

Variety is more than the spice of life, it's the spice of sportswriting. But the day soon comes when the same old words keep popping up over and over and over again.

Maybe we need a whole new brand of words. What about it? Anybody out there got any new words or ways of describing a sports contest?

NEW WORDS SEEM to pop up on the market every day. Why not "new" sports words? We guess what we're asking is a concerted effort to bring the nation's sportswriters out from behind the files and into the light of respectability.

Got any words? Send them to Sports Editor, Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Who knows? You might revolutionize the whole field of sportswriting.

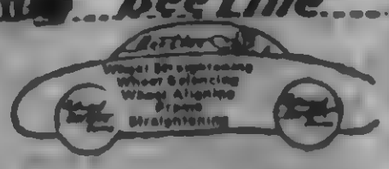
EVER WONDER what caused that "pressurized" feeling in the chest that causes an "athlete" who thinks he can have his cigarette and smoke it too to feel that he just can't breathe?

Dr. Charles Meckstroth of the Thoracic Surgery Dept. at OSU explained the cause to us at the Student Conference On Smoking Friday at Central High School.



Contrary to popular belief, the difficulty isn't inhaling at all. Due to cigarette tars, the tiny air cells that compose the branches of the lungs are narrowed and can't fill up with a normal amount of air.

However, the biggest difficulty occurs in exhalation when the passages narrow even more refusing to allow the air to escape properly. In a nutshell, the smoking athlete cannot exchange air normally, resulting in the feeling that he can't breathe when engaged in strenuous exercise.

Albert Einstein predicted that one of the proofs of his theory of relativity would be an apparent shift in the position of stars whose light rays passed through the sun's rays field of gravity. Photographs during a 1952 eclipse of the sun tend to bear him out.

Hillcrest Quintet Maintains Lead In Y Jr. Cage Loop

Glenwood Methodist had little trouble beating the Jr. Hi-Y "Scrubs," 30-21. Leading Glenwood was Milton Nehr with 12 points. Bill McIntyre also had eight points, followed by Sam Patmon with eight.

Hoge Memorial, tied with the Hilltop Church of God, 16-16, at the half, completely ran away with the game after the intermission break. The final score was Hoge 46, Hilltop Church of God 28. Leading Hoge was Jim Anderson, who played a fine game, hitting the nets for 22 points, (17 of these in the second half). Dan Cooke tossed in 11 for Hoge. Leading the Church of God was Bill Rexer with 13.

HILLCREST BAPTIST had little trouble in maintaining their league lead, beatin: West Park Methodist, 34-25. Top scorer for Hillcrest was Mike George with 14 points. Leading West Park was Terry Breckenridge with 14 points.

In the most exciting game of the afternoon, Burgess EUB battled the Jr. Hi-Y "Council" to a 38-37 double-overtime victory. The score was tied 28-28 at the end of the regulation game. Rick Ewing of the "Council" had a hot hand in the first overtime, hitting on two jump shots to keep the score tied 32-32.

In the second overtime, Jack Husch of Burgess hit four points and Roger Nelson added two for the total of 38. Rick Ewing and Bill Holt of the "Council" added two each. Curt Vollmuth made a foul for 37 points. The "Council" had the last shot but missed as the buzzer sounded ending the game.

SATURDAY IS the last week of play for the Junior League.

The schedule: 12:00—Hillcrest Baptist vs Jr. Hi-Y "Scrubs;" 12:46 — Hilltop Church of God vs West Park Methodist; 1:30 — Jr. Hi-Y "Council" vs Glenwood Methodist; 2:15 — Hoge Memorial vs Burgess EUB.

WRESTLING WRAPUP

F-H Paces Qualifiers In District Mat Final

Defending district wrestling champion Franklin Heights moved into position for a repeat performance this weekend on the home mats by leading the qualifying field with nine entries as the semi-final finals Saturday at Whitehall trimmed the field to 58.

The Falcons could find some stern competition, however, when the district finals get underway Friday as Worthington will send eight participants to the mat and East, Pleasant View and Hilliard each will contribute seven other grapplers to the field.

OTHER QUALIFYING schools were: Whitehall and Arlington, six each; West, five; Bexley, Grandview, Watterson, University, four each; Walnut Ridge and Circleville, three each; Groveport, Central and Linden, two each and Grove City, Eastmoor, Hartley, North and Westerville, one each.

F-H's John Holloway (112), Franklin Heights' Alex Dore (120), Walnut Ridge's Don Pinkston (138) and Whitehall's Alan Rosenbaum (120) —the area's four defending champs — all qualified for the finals with twin wins over the weekend.

The district preliminaries are set for Friday at 7 p.m. at Franklin Heights with consolation matches slated for 1 p.m. Saturday. Finals will get underway Saturday evening at 8.

Goof Off Five Wins Gals' Title At Glenwood

The Goof Offs defeated the Countdowns 36-34 in an overtime for the Intermediate Girls' championship at Glenwood Recreation Center last week. The Countdowns held a halftime lead of 19 to 11.

Cheryl Holt scored 14 points in the first half for the Countdowns but was benched in the third quarter because of foul trouble. She came back in the fourth quarter to score nine points but fouled out before the end of the period.

RUTH CASTLE, high scorer for the Countdowns, was held to two points by the excellent guarding of Karen Larkan, captain of the Goof Offs.

Linda Martin and Linda Hoffert scored 12 points apiece for the Goof Offs. Linda Martin's last basket was the margin of victory in the game.

Cheryl Holt ended the basketball season with the highest average points per game with 14.5 and the highest total number of points scored in one game (23 points)). Ruth Castle ended with a nine-point per game average.

The Goof Offs will go on to represent Glenwood Recreation Center in the Columbus Recreation Department's Inter-Center Basketball Tournament at Whetstone Recreation Center.

BUSINESS REVIEW

MOTOR TECHNICIAN

DAVE ESTEP, 540 Campbell-av, an employee of Chapman Motor Rebuilders, 295 E. Gay-st, is shown moving a rebuilt engine into position for installation in the auto shown on the right. The company specializes in factory rebuilt motors and transmissions and gives a written guarantee with each job. Manager Sanford Joseph said terms with no down payment can be arranged. Chapman, with a staff of well-trained mechanics, has been located in Columbus for eight years.

Lazarus President Predicts A Good Year For Business

"The forecast on which we have based our business plans for spring through late fall is very encouraging." These were the words of Charles Y. Lazarus, president of the F. and R. Lazarus Company, during a press meeting in the Southern Hotel, Feb. 20.

Discussing the company's first branch store, Lazarus West, the department store executive stated he is glad to report the convenience store, established for customers in the vicinity of Lincoln Village and the Hilltop, has done very well since its August opening. He added that the new facility has caused little or no drain-off from the downtown Lazarus store.

Other stores of this same type will be constructed in the near future, according to Lazarus. "We will be accepting bids for the Northland store (Karl and Morse-rd region) about Apr. 1," he told the press gathering, and added that the new facility should be ready for an August 1964 opening.

Almost a year ago the firm revealed its intentions of building a third branch in the Southeast section of the county.

The president of one of Columbus' most successful businesses told the group that Lazarus West had taught his organization a great deal as a pilot operation.

"We have been constantly experimenting by adding price lines and different levels of goods, so there has been considerable change in the stores' goods and services during the first six months of operations. This period of education is valuable because we have such an aggressive branch store program planned for the next several years," he said.

Expanding on the theme of an encouraging business year prospect, Lazarus explained that researchers found that Central Ohio has a little better employment picture than the rest of the nation as a whole in approaching full employment. This, he said, was a key factor in the retail business.

He added that a conservative forecast for 1963 retail business shows at least a three per cent gain over the high levels reached in 1962 in the Central Ohio area.

EXPAND FACILITIES

Larry L. Eberhart, president of Consolidated Kinetics Corp., has announced the move of the firm from its former location at 1085 Dublin-rd to new offices and manufacturing facilities at 401 Dublin-av. The company manufactures products for vibration isolation, shock protection and noise control.

RECORD YEAR

An all time high of $83,070,000 in sales volume in 1962 was reported to stockholders of the Landmark Farm Bureau Cooperative during the 29th annual meeting in Columbus. Six hundred people attended the meeting in the Youth Center of the Ohio Exposition Center grounds on Tuesday.

AT CONFERENCE

Warren J. Miller, 866 N. Murvay Hill-rd, is in Atlantic City, N. J., participating in a business conference aimed at improving service to motorists.

Mr. Miller is one of 500 Sun Oil Company sales representatives from 22 states who are meeting to study ways of helping them serve the motoring public more effectively.

Plan Opening Of Radio-TV School

The opening of a school for radio and television talent has been announced by Bill and Jack Ellis, who have a combined total of 35 years in the broadcasting field, according to a recent statement.

All facets of speech, speech therapy, commercial interpretation and appearance will be covered in the program, along with actual studio lab work and job placement after the course has been completed.

The Ellises said their teaching method has already been pre-tested and was successful in training three women with no prior broadcasting experience. All three became regular commercial talent on two Columbus television stations.

First classes in the school are scheduled for the near future. No previous broadcasting experience is required.

Dec. 29, 1941, bomb-ravaged London suffered from its greatest catastrophe since the great fire of 1666.

Twirlers To Compete March 9

More than 1,000 boys and girls from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana are expected to attend the second annual baton twirling contest Saturday, Mar. 9 at West High School.

Sponsored by the parents of children who perform with Margie's Mattadores, the contest is sanctioned by the National Baton Twirling Association.

James McKenna, 322 S. Roys-av, in charge of the event, said $300 worth of trophies and medals will be awarded.

A number of baton twirling corps from the Midwest will compete in unit competition.

TAKES HEALTH BOARD OFFICE

CHARLES H. CAMPBELL, center, of 91 S. Westmoor-av, receives the oath of office for a four year term on the Columbus Board of Health during ceremonies held Feb. 14 in the City Health Building. The oath is being administered by, left, Judge Bruce Jenkins of the Columbus Municipal Court. At right is Joseph S. Goodwin, 2900 Sullivant-av, the man whom Campbell succeeds. Goodwin served for eight years and asked not to be returned because of demand from his pharmacy business. Campbell is the executive secretary of the Hilltop Business Association.

Health Careers, Bowling Interest Groups Organized

Two new organizations have recently been formed at Central High School—the Health Careers Club and the girls' bowling teams.

Health Careers Club is under the sponsorship of Miss Marilyn Roberts, school nurse, and its purpose is to bring together students who are interested in going into health or medical careers.

Serving as officers are Sandra Delsandro, president; Roxanna Blankenship, vice-president; Beverly Evans, secretary; Cathy Shroyer, treasurer, and Dick Gilliam, sergeant-at-arms.

Girls' bowling teams—12 teams in all — meet every Wednesday evening after school at the 3-C Lanes. Miss Sue Ellis, physical education teacher, is the advisor.

Society Reports TB Findings

Twenty-four cases of suspected tuberculosis were reported from Christmas Seal chest X-rays offered in 20 industries during January, according to a Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County report.

The X-ray surveys are part of the overall industrial and special location programs offered by the society each year from January through May. Free X-rays are available for any firm employing more than 40 persons.

X-rays also showed the following other suggested findings:

Four tumors, 33 cardiac conditions, four cases of emphysema and 56 other chest abnormalities.

Line Snaps; Homes Without Electric Service

The line fell on Sylvan-av, just north of Sullivant-av at 8:38 p.m., blacking out homes in an area bounded by Westgate-av on the east, Josephine-av on the west, Clime-rd on the south and Sullivant-av on the north.

Students Seeking—

was starting at a too early age. They concerned themselves, however, with smoking as a whole and gasped a bit when told of its dangers by health officials.

During a preliminary warm-up session in the auditorium, Dr. George Morrice, Jr., of the Central Ohio Heart Association, and Dr. Charles Meckstroth of the thoracic surgery department of Ohio State, briefed the youths on some scientific data concerning smoking.

Dr. Morrice termed smoking a "demonstration of self-destruction," while Dr. Meckstroth added that "one million school children in the United States today will die of lung cancer before they're 70 years old."

One of the main points under fire was that of cigarette advertising. Reports showed that agencies spend $140 million a year "to get you kids to smoke," Dr. Meckstroth commented. "They're not after your money," he continued, "but, your life."

Some of the comments during the sessions went like this:

• One boy pointed out that he sees his parents, older brothers and sisters smoke and figures it's all right for him to indulge.

• A young gal suggested they do away with cigarette machines that are easily accessible to the "school crowd."

• Young people groups (DeMolay, church gatherings, etc.) shouldn't permit smoking at meetings, one lad volunteered.

• Parents shouldn't "lay down the law" on smoking or drinking, said one girl who confessed she believed in "reverse psychology."

• Smoking forums should be conducted at schools so that all students are aware of the dangers, said one discussion leader who pointed out that it's always the "goody-goodies" who frequent special functions such as this one.

• The far-reaching effects of smoking, such as forest fires, was pointed out by another discussion leader.

Most interesting perhaps, of the discussions were carried on by seventh graders — youngsters who maintained that they wished they had been told about smoking dangers earlier.

Faculty advisors of the affair were Mrs. Jean Porter of Groveport Schools, Mrs. Lillian Bernhagen of the Worthington district and M. D. Sheatsley of the Columbus Public Schools.

Policemen Praised For Thug Haul

Hilltop auxiliary policeman, William Criner, 69, S. Powell-av, was one of four men given award certificates by Mayor Ralston Westlake this week for capturing two Akron gunmen who admitted robbing two West area savings and loan firms.

Criner and three regular policemen, snared Jack Longgood and James Edwards in a rough-and-tumble action on the North Freeway Feb. 19. The capture occurred only minutes after the Buckeye Finance Co., 1245 W. Broad-st, was robbed of $5,727.

Edwards and Longgood later admitted to police that they also held up employes of the Thrift Finance Co., 2403 W. Broad-st, on Feb. 4 and escaped with $476.

Both pleaded guilty to robbery charges Monday and were sentenced by Judge Robert Leach to 10 to 25 years in the penitentiary.

High Accident Locations Listed

The Columbus Police Department selective enforcement bulletin for the first 15 days of February cites two high auto accident locations in the Hilltop Record area.

Columbus Police Chief George Scholer listed the Sandusky-Spring Interchange as a particularly dangerous area and called special attention to the peak traffic hours from 3 to 7 p.m. The chief desired stricter enforcement of left of center violations and speed traffic laws.

Chief Scholer also noted a section of Sullivant-av from Wayne to Binns as a high accident location and called for a more concentrated enforcement of failure to yield right-of-way from private drive violators and speed laws. He listed the hours of 4 to 9 p.m. as peak traffic hours needing special attention.

One fatal traffic accident occurred in the Hilltop area, according to Chief [illegible]. The driver of a car was killed when he failed to yield to a stop sign at the intersection of Mound and Chestershire. This was the 12th fatal traffic accident of the year in Columbus.

Parks—

ed link is still in the idea stages and will have to be given further study by his staff before anything definite is [illegible].

The planning staff is presently concentrating its study on the tentative alignment from Sullivant-av to Briggs-rd, said the planning director.

Tentative alignment shows that Kingsford-rd, "a paper street," between Sullivant-av and Briggs, will be used for the proposed artery. Kingsford is already platted with a right-of-way of 50 or 60 feet but has not been developed yet, according to Buchanan.

"The road would probably have to be replatted to allow a right-of-way of 80 feet if used for the artery," he said.

"We will have to acquire all new right-of-way from Briggs-rd south if the new link is to be built," he added.

Once the city staff has thoroughly studied the plan, it will be taken to the Regional Planning Commission staff and Columbus Parks and Forestry Department for further study and consultation.

A preliminary report on the new link would have to be submitted before final decisions would be made on the plan, concluded Buchanan.

New Larger State Parks Proposed In Goals Of Rhodes Administration

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROD COCHRAN

Dean Jauchius, administrative assistant to Gov. Rhodes, announced some details of the administration's natural resources and outdoorf recreation program at the annual meeting of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio. He also said that a director for the Department of Natural Resources had not been found, and that Director Herbert B. Eagon, whose term expires in April, will not be reappointed.

Gov. Rhodes has an ambitious program in mind that will be good news for all outdoors-minded people. Heading the list is land acquisition—for future lake sites and outdoor recreation development. Up to $98 million may be spent on the program, which is more money than the Department of Natural Resources has spent in the 13 years of its existence. An increased liquor tax and federal matching funds are expected to provide the money.

Here are the other highlights: Large parks will be developed, six and a quarter miles of Lake Erie beaches will be acquired; a large inn will be built at Hueston Woods State Park; camping capacity will be doubled to accommodate one and a half million persons a year; youth camps will be established; a conservancy district revolving fund will be set up to help districts get started which would then repay the money; and a new headquarters building will be constructed at 1500 Dublin-rd.

Jauchius promised that enabling legislation to begin this program will be introduced into the General Assembly soon, probably within days. It certainly deserves the help and support of all outdoors lovers in the state.

The program of the OWO concentrated on the future and on what is to come. Dr. Charles A. Dambach, director of the Natural Resources Institute, Ohio State University, described a day not many years off when we will become more European-like. Our cities will empty out on weekends as crowded and harassed people head for the outdoors in even greater numbers. Our parks will become the most prized real estate we have, and outdoor recreation will almost alone break the monotony of people and more people.

Mike Hudoba, Washington editor for Sports Afield, was the banquet speaker, and told of the importance of the conservation movement. "The seeds of communism find root where natural resources have been used and disused," said Hudoba, "The greatest experiment in human freedom—by the people and for the people—will be decided by how we handle our natural riches, our resources." His message was a warning for the future.

A little more in the immediate future, several fishing tackle manufacturers revealed what would be coming up this spring in the way of fish foolers. Dick Kotis, president of the Arborgast Company, said lure makers have been accused of making baits for fishermen and not fish. Disputing this, he said that their new bait, the "Wheedler," has less sales appeal than most any bait ever made. "But show this little artificial snake to a bass, and it's a different matter," bragged Kotis. It is designed to fish over algae and weed-chocked water, and may be a new breakthrough in getting to those hard-to-reach bass.

Dick Jennings, jovial representative from Cortland Line Company, introduced Cortland's 333 "half and half" fly line. It is a double taper line—one half sinks and the other half floats. By reversing this line on your reel you can interchange wet and dry flies. You need not carry two lines with you anymore. Cortland has also improved its coating of spinning lines to keep the sun's rays from making them wiry and stiff.

A brand new open-face spinning reel was shown. Called the 'Holiday,' it will begin showing up in stores in about two weeks. It is very simple and represents a new departure in spinning reel design.

COLUMBUS—THE FIRST 150 YEARS . . .

Library's Development Parallels City's Growth

Lockbourne Is Now 123 Years Old

Col. James Kilbourne, as agent for Joel Buttles, Demas Adams and others, laid out Lockbourne in 1831.

The settlement soon grew into a village of 70 families with a church, school, stores and warehouses, two or three doctors, taverns, and saw and grist mills.

Although incorporated by an act of legislature in 1839, residents didn't take advantage of the incorporation's provisions.

Nathan G. Smith was first postmaster when the post office was established in 1837.

He was succeeded the next year by Zebulon Marcy and, in 1839, by John H. Stage, who continued in the post for ten years.

Others were, C. M. Porter, Dr. A. N. Boales, Dr. J. R. Marshall, John A. Barbera and from 1856 to 1858, J. H. Haire.

Population of Lockbourne and Shadesville in 1840 was 1,258, and this increased only a little more than 200 by 1908. Residents then totaled 1,493.

BOROUGH MAYORS

During the time Columbus was a borough, from 1816 to 1834, its mayors were, Jarvis Pike, 1816; John Kerr, 1818; Eli C. King, 1820; John Laughry, 1823; W. T. Martin, 1824; James Robinson, 1827; William Long, 1828, P. and H. Olmstead, 1833.

FIRST SAWMILL

The first sawmill was built on the Scioto in 1813, a short distance below the site of the present penitentiary, by John Shields and Richard Courtney.

By GALVY GORDON

But it has grown into the nerve and processing center of the largest library system in central Ohio and its history is deeply interwoven with the progress of Columbus.

The Columbus Public Library, too, is immortalized in literature. Humorist Jim Thurber recounted in his autobiography that he was named for the first chief librarian of the Columbus Public Library and how he used to "hang out" at the institution in his youth.

But we're getting way ahead of our story. It was 90 years ago that City Council first established by ordinance the "Public Library and Reading Room of Columbus, Ohio," the direct forerunner of today's Columbus Public Library System.

We have to go back even further in the early days of the city, though to trace the birth of the public library concept.

Perhaps the earliest approach to a public library is recorded in the May 17, 1821 issue of the Columbus Gazette (successor to The Western Intelligencer and forerunner of The Ohio State Journal:

"The apprentices of Columbus have formed themselves into a society for the purpose of establishing a library solely for the benefit of apprentices. They have formed a constitution, elected their officers and have collected what books their scant libraries afforded, which are but few."

While this was a library for a special segment of the public and its eventual fate is only to be speculated upon, its establishment did demonstrate an awareness for the necessity of books for self-education.

From the middle of the 1830's on, there was a succession of organizations and groups that endeavored to finance libraries from private contributions and the proceeds of various ventures, such as lecture courses.

Most noteworthy of these was the Columbus Reading Room and Institute established in 1835. By the end of the decade the Institute was out of business, apparently because of a lack of support for the lectures.

Another not-quite successful attempt was the Franklin Lyceum, organized in December, 1846 and lasting some six years on the bounty of its lectures.

The Columbus Atheneum founded in January, 1853 was backed by prominent citizens and supported initially by private contributions in the hope that lecture courses would provide funds for perpetual maintenance of its library and Reading Room.

For several months housed in the Franklin County Court House at 358 S. High-st, the Atheneum was moved in May, 1853, from the Court House to The Ohio State Journal building at High and Pearl-sts.

It, too, folded from lack of attendance at its lectures and despite such editorial blessings as were bestowed on it in the columns of the Journal. One article read, in part:

"The reading room is well supplied with newspapers and magazines; easy chairs and plenty of reading make this an attractive point for visitors. Columbus needs and must have something of this kind. The wants of our young men demand it. We should offer them something better, more manly place of resort than the saloon and the gambling hall."

It is interesting to note that one of the few Atheneum lectures that could be considered a whopping success was the one entitled "Philosophy of a Humbug" and given by P. T. Barnum, showman and circus promoter, during the winter of 1853-4.

The Atheneum did not survive the decade, but in less than seven years, it had accumulated some 1200 books and had rendered great service to the community.

In 1867, the Ohio General Assembly took cognizance of the state-wide interest in public-supported libraries and passed an act empowering boards of education to levy a tax of one-tenth of a mill for the establishment of school libraries open to all families of the respective school districts.

A year later, the legislature authorized city councils to levy a tax of one-half mill on the dollar for free public libraries and reading rooms.

Columbus City Council on Jan. 15, 1872, passed an ordinance calling for the establishment in the City Hall building (present site of Loew's Ohio Theater on State-st) of "The Public Library and Reading Room of Columbus, Ohio."

Rev. James L. Grover, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and scholar of both the Scriptures and Shakespeare, was named first city librarian. And it was for this gentleman, a one-time circuit-riding pastor, that Jim Thurber was named.

The Public Library and Reading Room opened its doors for business in early March, 1873. Books from the old Atheneum launched the book collection.

For years, the Board of Education and the Public Library shared the same quarters at City Hall.

In early 1890, however, a new state law, designed to separate school libraries from municipal libraries, went into effect and the Board of Education removed its books.

A Public School Library was opened in the new Board of Education Building on E. Town-st in 1891. It was a general circulating library and was the pre-eminent library of Columbus for the next two decades, largely because of its liberal base of financial support.

In fact, chances are excellent that many golden agers who recall borrowing books in their youth and young adulthood, never visited the public library at all, but patronized the School Library.

A severe thunderstorm in 1911 wrecked the Board of Education Building and, when new headquarters were established, the general circulating department of the School Library was not resumed.

Despite one large room added on to the Public Library and Reading Room at City Hall, the library was too cramped to provide adequate service even before the turn of the century.

At about this time, the Library Board of Trustees entered into correspondence with Scottish-born philanthropist Andrew Carnegie in the hopes that he would provide funds for a new public library building.

Carnegie, it will be recalled, supplied the major construction funds for nearly 2000 American public libraries.

But by this time, Carnegie was no longer interested in helping establish large central libraries. He politely declined overtures from Columbus and said that he would be delighted to help build branches "if and when."

John J. Pugh, city librarian from 1896 until the time of his death in 1946, asked permission of the Library trustees to make a personal appeal to the great steelman.

He visited the immigrant in his New York apartment and was politely received. But the answer was still no—until Pugh reworded the request into the language he had learned in his youth as a member of the Columbus Welsh settlement.

Apparently the dialect was quite similar to that spoken by Andrew Carnegie as a boy, for it touched a sentimental chord.

Carnegie eventually was to give $200,000 or about two-thirds of the cost of the present day Main Columbus Public Library at 96 S. Grant-av, which was formally opened on Apr. 4, 1907.

The site itself is of historical interest, the old mansion on the grounds having served as the governor's residence for seven post-Civil War governors.

Gov. Rutherford B. Hayes, a president of the United States, lived for two of his three terms as Ohio governor in the mansion on the library grounds.

The Main Library in Columbus was and is among the most beautiful buildings in Ohio. The finest marble and granite were used in its construction and more than 100 pieces of marble sculpture adorn its facade.

Even before construction began in early 1903, the Library Board of Trustees had agreed to make "Columbus Public Library" the official name of the new building.

For about five years after the burning of City Hall on Jan. 12, 1921, the Columbus Public Library served as headquarters for the city government, its departments and City Council, pending construction of the present day City Hall on the Scioto River front in the Civic Center.

The first four neighborhood library branches were opened in October, 1928 in vacant storeroom leased in Clintonville, on the Hilltop, in Linden and on Parsons-av.

Today, the Columbus Public Library system includes 13 neighborhood branches, five of them in buildings constructed and owned by the system.

Since the mid-thirties, all public libraries in Ohio which open their doors to all residents within the county have derived their financial support from the Ohio intangibles tax on stocks and bonds collected within their respective counties.

In 1950, the Columbus Public Library purchased and put into operation its first bookmobile. Today, the five bookmobiles account for about one-fourth of all books loaned to patrons.

About two and one-half million books are expected to be borrowed by about 170,000 registered patrons.

Circulating phonograph records and 16-mm sound films were added to the services of the library at about the same time, as was service to patients in hospitals and rest homes.

It is interesting to note that the Public Library and Reading Room of Columbus opened its doors in 1873 with 1600 volumes. Today's book collection approaches 650,000 volumes and nearly a third of these are housed in the Main Library.

Winchester Was Center For Trade

Canal Winchester was a bustling center of canal business in 1858 and before, and was the center especially of grain and produce trade.

Laid out in 1826 by John Colemen and Rueban Dove, both Fairfield County citizens, the town was located on six sections of land originally in Fairfield County. It became a part of Franklin County when the tract was annexed to the eastern end of Madison Township in 1851.

Canal Winchester and Groveport each boasted about 400 citizens in 1856 and, two years later, the towns had increased to nearly 500.

Later pioneers who followed the original settlers were the families of Ebenezer Richards, W. D. Hendren, Elijah Austin, James McLisle, Nicholas Goeches, William Godman, J. Gander, John Swisher, William Patterson, Alexander Cameron, W. W. Kile, James Pearcy, John Cox, William Mason, Joshua Ganville, M. Seymour, M. K. Earhart and John Helpman.

Peter T. Krag, first postmaster of the town, served from 1853 to 1863.

County's First Churchman Also Shaped State Schools

The influence of Franklinton's pioneer churchman, Dr. James Hoge, was destined to spread far beyond the little settlement he first joined in 1803.

He was to become instrumental in shaping the educational and charitable policy of the entire state and would head as moderator, the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

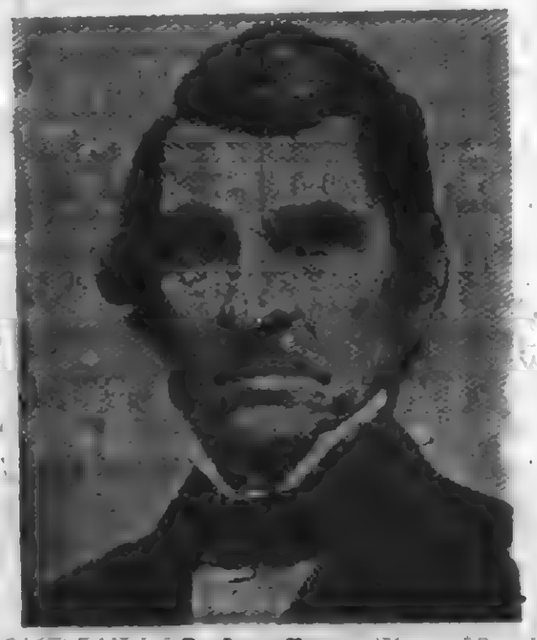
James Hoge's first journey to Ohio was in 1803 to do a piece of surveying of rather large land holdings the Hoge family had acquired in what is now Franklin and Pickaway Counties. He returned home the next year, fired with enthusiasm for the land and its opportunities.

Ordained a minister in the Presbyterian Church in the spring of 1805, he was, at his own request, commissioned a missionary "to the State of Ohio and parts adjacent thereto," on Apr. 17.

He reached Franklinton the following November, and established the Presbyterian Church, first in Franklin County.

Descended from a long line of Presbyterian ministers in Scotland and, before that, of the Hogue family, distinguished Protestants of Normandy, France, James Hoge was the eldest son of Moses Hoge, Virginia preacher and president of Hampton-Sidney College.

His mother was a member of the Paige family that numbered 200 ministers, ministers' wives and missionaries.



James was born at Moorefield, Va. (now West Virginia) July 4, 1784. He was taught at home by his father, spent one year in an academy and later studied in Baltimore under Dr. Priestly.

On his way to Ohio in 1803 he stopped overnight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wood in Wheeling, Va. (later West Virginia) and there met their daughter, Jane.

In 1810 he returned to make her his bride.

Both James and Jane Hoge became leaders in the development of educational and charitable institutions in the city and in the state.

Dr. Hoge was instrumental in legislation that resulted in free public schools in Columbus, and in the establishment of the State's Deaf School and Blind School.

Dr. James Hoge

Mrs. Hoge was one of the organizers and first president of the Columbus Female Benevolent Society, first women's group organized after the cholera plagus of 1833 to aid the widows, orphans and the poor.

Columbus' first Church School was organized in the basement of Dr. Hoge's Trinity In Unity Church when it was built in 1818, and taught by Sarah Reid.

Miami University conferred the title of Doctor of Divinity on Rev. Hoge in 1824. For several years he was a trustee of the University as well as of Ohio University at Athens.

He and President William McGuffey, author of McGuffey Readers, were close friends.

Dr. Hoge and two other men were chiefly responsible for the enactment by State Legislature in 1826 that provided for the establishment of the first public schools in Ohio.

Almost single-handedly, he brought about the founding of the State School for The Deaf. Dr. Hoge and two others sold for $300 the ten-acre site of the institution on Town-st, where the school was located for many years.

Dr. Hoge was also influential in founding the School for the Blind in 1837.

During the General Assembly held in Philadelphia in 1832, Dr. Hoge was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

For many years, his daily morning prayers held in his church were attended by many state officers and prominent people.

Jane died in her home located where the Athletic Club now stands, in 1861, one year after she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniverrary.

Dr. Hoge preached his last sermon as pastor of the First Church on June 30, 1857, after 50 years as its minister.

He died two years later, Sept 22, 1863 at 79.

Both were buried in Greenlawn Cemetery.

SWAMPS BREED DISEASE

Cholera Most Dreaded As Killer Of Pioneers In Early Columbus

Epidemics of fever and disease fostered by swamps and stagnant pools, tuberculosis, child birth fatalities, and the murderous smallpox and cholera raged in such proportion in early Columbus that its settlers' life expectancy was little more than 40 years, even as late as 1850.

Cholera, its cause and cure so mysterious in those times, was most dreaded of all.

The disease made its first appearance in northern Ohio in 1830, and despite quarantine efforts of officials in the village of Cleveland, swept steadily southward.

Its first appearance in Franklin County in July two years later inspired Methodist ministers to petition Gov. Duncan McArthur to proclaim a day of fasting and humiliation, asking for Divine intervention.

Frightened citizens even petitioned the governor to drain canals, preventing the arrival of immigrants who might be carrying the disease.

During the summer of 1833 it struck in full force, first on the canal in Madison Township and, on July 14, in Columbus.

Epidemic Claims 100

It is estimated that one-third of Columbus' population of 3000 fled from the region, and of those remaining, 100 died of cholera. Other diseases and fevers during that summer, so similar to cholera that it was difficult to distinguish between the two, claimed another two hundred lives.

It reappeared in 1849, taking a toll of 279 lives, including 116 convicts in the state penitentiary. The following year cholera claimed another 225 lives.

Columbus during epidemic was a city of the sick and dying.

Business was temporarily suspended, streets virtually deserted except for physicians who rushed from one patient to another, and the courageous few who remained behind to nurse the sick and bury the dead.

Cholera appeared again in Columbus in a less virulent form in 1852 and, for the last time, in 1854.

Cornerstones For Future

The frightful epidemics were not entirely without future benefit.

For out of their terror and grief came the will of the people to overcome causes of disease, accept scientific medicine and effect sanitation and health laws.

And, in the spring of 1849, citizens witnessed the cornerstone ceremony of a building at Third and State-sts, the recently-chartered Starling Medical College.

Dr. Gard Hero Of Cholera Epidemic

The heroism of Columbus' pioneer physicians was exemplified in Dr. B. F. Gard, whose life was sacrificed to the cholera he worked so hard to combat.

He moved to Columbus on the eve of the cholera epidemic of 1849, from the state's rural areas, where he had practiced for more than 30 years.

Although a few doctors fled from the area and others refused to treat the mysterious disease, Dr. Gard was among the physicians who volunteered to use all their medical skill to help the afflicted.

He treated residents of Columbus and Franklinton, and also was one of seven physicians appointed to aid Dr. Lathrop, penitentiary physician, in assisting the convicts.

Dr. Gard died of cholera July 11, 1849 and was the second to be buried in the new Green Lawn Cemetery.

Rev. Noble Also Ministers Here

Rev. Seth Noble, also a Presbyterian minister, arrived at the forks of the rivers soon after Dr. Hoge, and preached in the settlement.

A refugee from Nova Scotia, he located on a tract of the Refugee land and built a log cabin. He died there in 1807.

TOWN AND HGH CORNER AT THE TURN OF THE CENTURY

UNITED STATES HOTEL, famed as a stagecoach stop, was built on the northwest corner of High and Town-sts in 1894. Construction was of hard brick, buttressed with heavy, rough-hewn walnut beams. The building was razed in 1909 to make way for the new Lazarus store.

Residents Near Cat Solution

Residents of S. Sylvan-av, between Eakin-rd and Race-av, and the Cat Welfare Association, Inc., think they may be near a solution to the "wild cat" problem.

Home owners, who have been bothered by domestic felines without homes prowling through the area in search of food, are now hopeful of finding an answer to the problem.

Recently publicity has resulted in a rash of phone calls to the Cat Welfare Association offering assistance and solutions to the problem, said Mrs. Kathleen Brunson, 921 Mariam-dr, area representative for the group.

"People are volunteering to join the hunt for the felines during the evening and Thomas C. Justice, general manager of the Columbus Humane Society, has offered to remove the $1 service charge for cats caught and placed in a container in this situation," said Mrs. Brunson.

Cat Welfare volunteers have captured three of the cats so far with the assistance of Mrs. Rose Cotter, a home owner on S. Sylvan-av.

"We are putting drugs into food and catching the cats as they become sleepy," she said.

Mrs. Brunson stated her husband managed to capture a wild cat in the basement of one home while wearing heavy gloves.

"You could tell that they have never been touched by humans before by the way they resisted being handled," said the woman.

The Cat Welfare Association, comprised of volunteers, hopes to rid the neighborhood of the felines with the help of residents during the next few weeks.

Anyone desiring to join the association or aid in the capture of the stray cats in this West Side area should call Mrs. Brunson at BR. 9-7232 or Mrs. Lester Martin, 4375 Aldrich-rd, at AM. 2-2261.

Board Of Education Awards Contracts For New Schools

South-Western City School District Board of Education awarded the Kent Brothers of Columbus a $728,110 general contract for the construction of three new elementary schools Monday evening, according to Paul Noblitt, supervisor of community relations.

Identical buildings, from one standard plan, will be built in South Lincoln Village at Stiles and Lombard-rds, in Franklin Township east of Brown-rd, north of the Marsdale Addition, and in Monterey Addition of Grove City.

Fast Electric Co. of Columbus was awarded the electric contract on the schools at $83,174. D. F. Hood will do the plumbing for $88,248.

The school board also awarded a $108,322 heating and plumbing contract to Dotter, Inc., of Columbus, for the Pleasant View School addition.

Board members also decided to build an additional shop room in the Pleasant View addition and awarded Miller Edwards Co. a $20,300 contract to do the job.

Elementary school north of the Marsdale Addition will be completed by November and expect the other two elementary schools to be ready for the opening of school in the fall, said Noblitt.

The elementary buildings will be faced with brick—probably buff-colored — with panels above and below the windows of enameled steel. Each building will contain 14 classrooms, a materials center, principal's office and a combination lunchroom and multi-purpose room.

Contractors will build the Pleasant View addition as a second floor on the present structure. Builders made the present foundation for a two-story structure but only constructed one floor.

The addition, expected to cost an estimated $500,000, will include 10 classrooms, a 1,000-seat auditorium and a music room.

Crum To Speak To Kiwanis Club

Jimmy Crum, sports director with TV 4 will be guest speaker at the Thursday, Feb. 28, meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. Crum is planning a general discussion of sports and will stress the Ohio State basketball picture at the noon meeting in Monaco's Restaurant. The veteran sportscaster presently delivers the play-by-play of the Ohio State basketball games and is seen week-nights on his sports reports.

Rich-st Man Hit By Pistol Shot

Harry Grubb Jr., 18, 1987 W. Rich-st, was described in "fairly good condition" Wednesday morning in Grant Hospital where he is being treated for pistol wounds received during an argument in a South High-st bar Sunday evening.

Grubb told police he had a brush earlier with two men who made derogatory remarks about his girl friend. Both reportedly entered the doorway of Bob's Bar, 267 S. High-st and fired shots into Grubb's arm, leg and stomach.

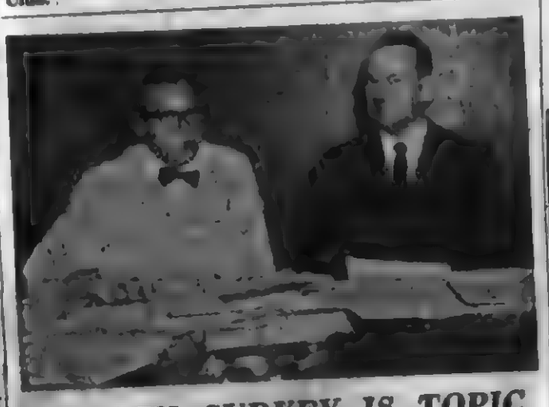
Police held the two men for investigation, after capturing one of them following a foot chase.

Hilltop Girl Hurt In Auto Accident

Lillian Jessberger, 17, 200 N. Burgess-av, was described in "good" condition Wednesday morning in St. Anthony Hospital where she is recovering from pelvic wounds suffered in an auto accident.

She and two other teenage girls, Maureen Hasbrook and Ann Laufersweiler, were passengers in a car which went out of control Saturday night and crashed into a fence on Sunbury-rd.

$70,000 Pledged By Lutherans



Ninety of the 125 Lutheran Churches of all synods are now actively campaignng for funds for furnishings of the Lutheran Senior City, under construction east of St. Mary of the Springs with access from state route 62.

With eight churches having completed their fund campaign, and seven partially completed, a total of $70,000 has been pledged. Goal for furnishings is $200,000.

HAPPY HIKING, JUDGE!

STILL PLANNING to make the "long one," Judge Bruce Jenkins of the Columbus Municipal Court happily accepts some "travelers aids" from Hilltop Kiwanis Public Relations Director Don Best, on the left. Judge Jenkins and a Columbus policeman have decided to join the 50-mile hiking crowd by striking out for the far horizon. The judge planned to hit the trail last Sunday and received, among other things, good wishes for a safe trip from the Hilltop Kiwanis members. The other things included a coat, muff, crutches, foot ointment, walking stick and gloves, all intended to provide comfort during the perilous journey. However, unforeseen circumstances prevented the scheduled trip and the judge has been forced to make new hiking plans for this Sunday. And so, with all things equal, Sunday will dawn bright and early on Judge Jenkins as he prepares to sally forth on his 50-mile hike armed with equipment furnished by his friends at the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

HEALTH SURVEY IS TOPIC

DR. ROBERT ATWELL, left, medical director of the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital at Ohio State Medical Center, will describe his recent work in Malaya to Hilltop Y's Men, Monday evening, Mar. 4, at the "Y." Dr. Atwell will show slides and discuss the findings of a U.S. Health Department survey on nutrition conducted in the Far Eastern country. He is seen here discussing his outline with Chris Glaros, Y's Men treasurer.

Boosters, Kiwanis Ready Pancakes, Minstrel Mar. 9

Saturday, Mar. 9 promises to be a "full" fun day for West Jefferson residents.

The W. J. Kiwanis Club is now selling tickets for its "Pancake Day" and the Band Boosters Minstrel Show is also slated to be staged the same evening. (First performance is Friday evening at 8.)

The Kiwanians will be serving pancakes and their famous, homemade sausage from noon to 8 p.m. in the high school dining room.

The Minstrel Show will be performed in the high school auditorium, starting at 8 p.m.

Dealers Confer, Visit Parts Depot

Thirty dealers attended the International Harvester Parts Depot Conference in Columbus, Feb. 26 and 27. Mayor W. Ralston Westlake delivered a short invocation and welcoming address during a luncheon at Nationwide Inn, Feb. 26.

"Better Parts Service for Customers" was the theme of the conference, arranged by S. S. Segafoose, district manager, and John F. Bradley, district parts supervisor, both of the I-H Pittsburg Farm Equipment district office.

Rabbits Reported Killed By Dogs On Midland-av

Dogs have killed about 40 tame rabbits in the area of Midland-av within the past week, acording to Miles Crisp, 868 Midland-av.

Crisp reported that the dogs killed all 26 of his rabbits, which were valued at $100, last Saturday night.

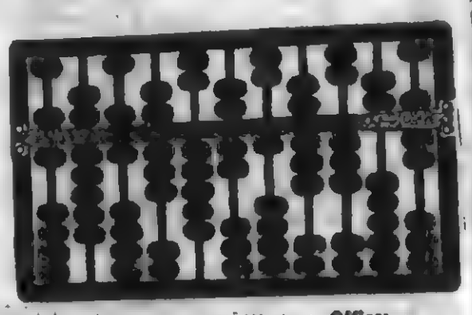
Though there is an indemnity on most farm animals killed by dogs in the county, tame rabbits are not covered.

The case was investigated by the Columbus Humane Society.

Committee Plans Square Dancing For Darbydale

Round and square dancing will be held every Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight beginning this Saturday at the Darbydale Elementary School.

Funds from the dances, sponsored by the executive committee in charge of the school playground, will be used to buy playground equipment.



Tickets will be $1 a couple, 75 cents for stags, and 35 cents for children under age 12.

Bill Miller will be the caller. The dances, which will be open to the public, will be held for eight weeks.

We Hope It Doesn't Happen Again

Imagine what it would be like today if the word went out that the banks had closed and that you could no longer draw out your money!

Thirty years ago this week, on Mar. 6, 1933, we experienced this situation. In my particular case it didn't mean too much as far as my money in the bank was concerned because it was merely a token.

I had just started in the newspaper business in Greenfield, O., in October of 1932. I was already experiencing the hardships and the hard knocks of business. The tragedies that came with the depression took their toll but likewise they provided their strengthening influences. I would never want to go through another one, but I'm sure my later course has been tempered by such experience.

The late John D. Rockefeller, Sr., ran out of dimes and had to give his caddy a dollar. In some cities taxi drivers were accepting postage stamps. In our then very weak weekly newspaper we were accepting eggs, vegetables, chickens and, yes even a dog, in payment of subscriptions.

Many people claim it couldn't happen again. I hope not. Yet, a careful analysis will show that in many ways we are treading on thinner ice today than at that time.

The bank holiday, incidentally, provided some humor as well as pathos.

Many steps have been taken to forecast economic trouble. We must consider the fact that the U.S. owes more gold that it owns! It is one thing to forecast. It is another to do something about what we find before it is too late!

* * *

We read about a Wisconsin weekly advising its readers that due to the cold weather, "the editorial won't hatch, the ink won't run, and the static electricity is holding the sheets together so they won't go through the folder. Here's what we could print. You will get the rest when the weather warms up." And with the high water Monday we had visions of floating your paper to you this week!

The Ohio State Monthly Magazine will appear today with opposing slates of candidates for alumni organization offices. Two tickets will outline their political objectives. Shades of the Rose Bowl-Fullen fracas are already projected. It is hoped we can use our heads and remember that Ohio State is an institution of learning and that those educated there will prove worthy of the title of being educated by refraining from rebuilding a ruckus.

Valleyview Boy Saves Youngster

Valleyview has a 13 year-old hero.

He is Teddy Griggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Griggs, 470 Murray-av, who Sunday afternoon pulled a young boy from flooded Dry Run, near Dibblee-av.

Parents relayed this story to the newspapers: Teddy and his brother Benny, 11, went with Chris Susi and Johnny Armentrout to the basketball court near Valleyview village hall. A short distance away they suddenly saw four-year-old Todd Prynn floundering in the creek. He apparently had slipped off a log while playing at the water's edge with his brother Eric, 8.

Griggs

Young Griggs, a seventh grader at Westmoor Jr. High, leaped into the icy creek, fully clothed, and guided, the boy to safety. The Armentrout boy helped pull them out. "The current was very swift, and I couldn't touch bottom," Teddy related later.

Todd is the son of the Barry Prynn at 2684 Elliott-av. His father is a lifeguard at the Hilltop pool.

'IT TASTES TERRIBLE'

Resident Wages Water Battle

Water, water, everywhere
On the ground and in the air
But, and to say, I must confess
I drink it more—enjoy it less

That isn't exactly the way he said it, but Delmas Jividen, 2495 Sullivant-av, let it be known that he is not a booster of Columbus water for drinking purposes.

"It tastes terrible," Jividen says. "The mayor lives right here on the Hilltop. He should know about it."

But Mayor W. Ralston Westlake, who subscribes to the same water service as his consultant, says he has noticed nothing about which to complain.

Jividen has been making his complaints known to Columbus water division personnel since last summer. He advocated a general clean-up campaign along the Scioto River, and a banning of "big" boats in Griggs Reservoir.

"We've got a dirty situation up the river where we get our drinking water," Jividen said. He called for moving of the Columbus Zoo as a means of removing a major source of contaminating the water supply.

Columbus Water Superintendent Frank Wright said that recent complaints of water taste and odor have been received from west Columbus. He said that treating the water with activated carbon seems to have cleared up the situation.

Wright attributed the taste and odor problems to a combination of the presence of detergent emanating from Hilliard sewage dumping, and a higher-than-normal organic content. Use of additional chlorine to combat these conditions, Wright said, is also a contributing factor.

Despite treatment, and a report from the water division that complaint calls have ceased, Jividen says he "can't tell any difference" in his drinking water.

"Several of my friends have claimed that they just quit drinking the water," Jividen said. "I can drink it. If you get thirsty enough, you have to."

City Okays Apartments; Overrules Planning Board

Construction of a $1 million apartment project on Wilson-rd, south of Grace-st, will be completed late this year, as the result of approval Monday by Columbus City Council for a change in zoning.

Council overruled recommendations of the City Planning Commission and staff in granting the change on petition of Attorney Robert R. Freda, 35 Wilson-rd.

Bernard R. Ruben Realty and Management, Inc., is developer for the propect, calling for construction of three 42-unit apartment buildings. Developer Ruben said the units would be one-bedroom "deluxe" apartments.

In recommending to council that the zoning petition be denied, planning commission members said they felt the project would not constitute the best land use for the area.

The commission stated that surrounding area is zoned for manufacturing, and is best suited for that purpose.

Councilman William P. Hoermle, a member of council's zoning committee, said the committee recommended approval as a means of "upgrading zoning."

Hoermle said he visited the site for the apartment buildings, and that he felt it would not attract industry.

"It is right between two trailer parks," he said. "I do not think industry could locate, because it is a long, narrow strip."

In other action, council passed an ordinance accepting

West Side Council To Hear 'Jack'

M. E. "Jack" Sensenbrenner, former mayor, who is again running for office, will be guest speaker at the Tuesday, Mar. 12 open meeting of West Side Neighborhood Council at Gladden Community House. The public is invited.

Sensenbrenner has been invited to give his views on civic matters important to the near West Side. The meeting will start at 7:45 p.m. and will be followed by a question and answer period.

Stanley Doran, council president, pointed out that this is the first of two meetings involving majority candidates for city office. He said citizens will have the opportunity to hear Ralston Westlake, incumbent mayor, in a talk at Gladden in May.

Next Tuesday, various council committees will review their current projects.

Flood Threatens, Then Loses Grip In West Areas

A winter that refuses to give up without a struggle tried to knock out West Franklin County early this week, but for the most part failed.

A heavy snow fall on frozen ground, followed by a thaw and then heavy rain, brought about flooding that was only too reminiscent of conditions which spawned the destructive Jan. 1959 flood.

Several families in the Darbydale area were hit hardest by flooding Darby Creek. They are now moving back as the waters recede. Their belongings had been stored at Darbydale School.

Road repair crews are out in force in both the city and township areas trying to fill in a number of washouts.

The flooding reached its worst late Tuesday afternoon, blocking traffic on many of the commuter arteries of the lower West Side. Smaller streams began to recede about midnight Tuesday. Among them was Dry Run, the infamous stream which ruptured and flooded out hundreds of West Side families in 1959. It now boasts a strong new levee.

Because of the threatened county roads South-Western City Schools were dismissed one hour early; Scioto-Darby, 30 minutes early. Starling Junior High, in a traditional wet spot, was evacuated.

Residents in Valleyview Heights renewed their complaints of the sizeable open ditches that bring county water through the new Co-

Pastor Of Chicago Avenue Heads Columbus Ministers

Rev. Albert Rose

Rev. Albert L. Rose, pastor of Chicago Avenue Christian Church for the past four years, has been named president of the Columbus Ministerial Association.

Another West Columbus minister, Rev. R. Ruthven Neff of Hilltop Church of God, is new secretary-treasurer of the group. Rev. Samuel Beaty, minister of St. Luke's Methodist Church, was elected vice-president.

As president, Rev. Rose will represent the association on the Board of Directors, Council of Churches.

Before coming to Columbus, Rev. Rose was minister of the Westside Christian Church in Portsmouth, Va., and before that, at the Central Christian Church in Newport, Ky.

As chairman pro-tem of West Side Neighborhood Council when the group was being formed, Rev. Rose assisted in the organization of the council, and has been actively interested in its projects. He is also a member of West Side Kiwanis Club.

Rev. Rose has served as a member of the Virginia State Board of Christian Churches, member of the Committee on Recommendations, International Convention of Christian Churches, president Greater Cincinnati Disciple Ministers and president of Columbus Disciples Ministers.

He and his wife are parents of a son and daughter, six-year-old Mark, and Rebecca Lynn, three.

He received a BA degree with a major in religion from Lynchburg (Va.) College, did two years of graduate work at Vanderbilt University, and received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky.

Valleyview Okays Storm Sewers On Warren Avenue

Valleyview Council approved advertising and acceptance of bids for installation of 400 feet of storm sewer to be installed on the east side of Warren-av.

Council thought the move necessary to prevent flooding in the area.

Also approved was a $500-per-year contract with Franklin Township for fire protection and adoption of a coding method for the village's ordinances.

IN MEMORY OF JANE LEIGHNINGER . . .

Crew Aids Cancer Research, Education

In memory of their friend, the late Jane Leighninger, 19 of her former West High School classmates have formed a Cancer Crew — a group dedicated to promoting cancer research and education.

Jane, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Leighninger, 289 Powhatan-av, died last summer of cancer after a long battle with the disease.

First project of the Crew will be sponsoring the showing of three informative films on cancer at the Hilltop YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr, west of Hague-av, Friday, Mar. 29, 7:30 p.m.

Hilltopper Dr. Jack Miles, president of the Franklin County Unit, American Cancer Society, will speak and answer questions following the films.

The educational films are of interest to men and women. Public is invited. No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be received.

All proceeds of this and other projects of the Crew will be contributed to cancer research in Jane Leighninger's name.

Cancer Crews differ from Rays by confining their efforts to education and to promoting research. Cancer Rays devote more of their time to service.

Members of the Hilltop Crew, 15th to be formed in Columbus, are the youngest cancer group in the city. All but one were Jane's classmates at West High. The 20th member of the Crew, Mrs. Thomas Hall, is the only exception.

Associate members, living out of town, are Jean James, Mrs. Leo Boston (Anne Evans), Mrs. Thomas Hall (Sandy Walker) and Mrs. Robert Griffith (Pat Probst).

IT'S BATTER UP, SUNDAY!

PANCAKES, stacks and stacks of 'em, will be turned out along with sizzling sausage this coming Sunday, Mar. 10, when the West Side Kiwanis Club holds its sixth annual public pancake feast at Gladden Community House, Hawkes and Town-st from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Kiwanian George Weber, (right), proprietor of Weber's Snack Bar, will help pour batter for an expected 1000 customers Sunday. They're promised all they can eat for 75 cents (adults), 50 cents (children under 12). Proceeds will help dozens of West Side boys like Rickie Duff, 9, of 570 W. State-st play "batter up" this spring. The club buys baseball gear and other things for youth groups such as these organized at Boys Club by Kiwanian Ralph Oberlitner, (left).

TRAMPOLINE, TUMBLING

On Wednesday evening, Feb. 27, the participation of teen girls in the trampoline and tumbling program was quite a bit above average. Several of the girls showed an above average ability to learn although they had never been on a trampoline before. It is hoped the participation will continue to increase in the ture.

DRIVING TIPS FROM LAST YEAR'S WINNER

BOBBY HELD, 862 Campbell-av, winner of the 1967 Columbus Soap Box Derby, points out the key features that enabled him to drive to victory in last year's classic. More than 100 boys and parents attended the kick-off meeting Saturday to pick up ideas and tips for building the winning racer in this year's race, Saturday, July 13. Sunshine Recreation Center, 677 Sullivant-av, was host for the kick-off meet. The first how-to-do-it clinic, for boys who have previous derby experience, will be held Saturday, Mar. 9, at Sunshine. Ken Heimboe, the 1947 Soap Box Derby champion, will instruct the youthful entrants in the coming race. Clinics for boys entering their first race will be held in April. The derby is open to all Columbus area boys.

Girl Scout News

The monthly neighborhood meeting was held Tuesday, Feb. 19. There were 33 ladies representing 14 troops present. The hostesses for the afternoon were the leaders and committee from Troop 569. A film about committee members was shown.

The date for the neighborhood outing at Ken-Jockety has been postponed from Mar. 10 to Apr. 28. Program will remain the same.

On Feb. 25 a program with the theme of "International Friendship" was held in the gym of Hilltonia Junior High School. There were 430 girls and their leaders present representing 16 troops. It was a program commemorating scouting around the world.

Each troop made favors that had something to do with the country they were to represent in a four minute skit. The country and the troop representing each are as follows:

Japan, Troop 965; Sweden, Troop 35; Mexico, Troop 575; Scotland, Troop 203; England, Troop 1114; Holland, Troop 179; Canada, Troop 240. Switzerland, Troop 548; Brazil, Troop 282; Denmark, Troop 206; India, Troop 215; Italy, Troop 569; France, Troop 51; Egypt, Troop 645; Germany, Troop 477; Australia, Troop 451.

The ... for the day were Girl Scout Troop 451.

The Dimes for Daisy Juliette Low Fund container was made by Troop 203. The closing was by Senior Troop 548. Art work was done by Theresa McClaine of Troop 575.

A sample of the favors made by the troops may be seen in Penney of Central Point's window in a display during Girl Scout Week, Mar. 10 through 16.

Hazelwood neighborhood Father and Daughter outing has been postponed from Mar. 16 to Apr. 28. Program will remain as scheduled.

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The Hilltop YMCA Mint Sale will officially come to a close Saturday morning at 9:30. All boys and girls eligible to receive an award for their part in this campaign will take part in an award presentation ceremony at 11:30.

Those salesmen wishing to check out additional mints may do so until Friday afternoon. Salesmen are requested to check in their candy or money as soon as they have completed their sales in order to eliminate as much last minute confusion as possible.

The Hilltop "Y" Indian Guide Match Box Derby has been set for Apr. 21. A new approach will be attempted this year with the establishment of a "Novice Class" for those Little Braves not having exceptional mechanical skills in making these cars. Standardized wheels will be available for those entering this new division.

The "open class" will be for those Big and Little Braves wishing to match their mechanical skills against those of others. A 10-foot extension is being added to the newly-developed ramp used for the first time last year. All friends of the "Y" are encouraged to set aside the date of Apr. 21 for this very exciting race that will be again staged at the Central YMCA.

The annual Basketball Festival will be held Tuesday, Mar. 12. This program offers Hilltop residents an opportunity to see the total Hilltop "Y" basketball program in action. The North Gra-Y "A" All-Stars will be matched against the South "A" All-Stars. The "B" All-Stars from the North will battle it out with the All-Stars of the South "B" League.

The third game of the evening will be a sampling of the Saturday Junior League basketeers. The fourth game of the evening will see a sample of the Tuesday evening intermediate play. The fifth game of the evening will be Intermediate All-Stars vs. the coaches of the Junior and Intermediate League teams plus members of the "Y" staff and physical education committee.

A guest, who will not be announced until the evening of Mar. 12, will be a celebrity from the OSU basketball team. All people of the Hilltop and surrounding areas are encouraged to attend this night of basketball.

$874,670 FEDERAL SHARE

Seek Regional Planning Aid

Co-ordinated planning on a county-wide basis will become a reality if federal participation is approved through the Housing and Home Financing Agency.

Application for a federal grant of $874,670 will be filed this week by the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission, according to Harmon T. Merwin, commission director.

Chief objective of the planning program will be recommendation of standards for such areas as industrial, commercial and residential zoning, water sewer facilities and service, flood control, and transportation.

Standards will also be recommended for development and use of recreational facilities, utilization of open space, agricultural space and conservation areas, and community appearance and science values.

Local participation in planning costs, amounting to approximately $437,330, will be in the form of work credits, with participating agencies furnishing man-hours and materials in lieu of funds.

A third phase of the "Comprehensive Regional Plan," transportation, will be dealt with in a separate application for federal assistance. Transportation planning will be undertaken in co-operation with the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

The application for participation in the project by the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency will be accompanied by supporting resolutions passed by Columbus City Council and the Franklin County Commissioners. The resolutions cite the urgent need for county-wide planning, and express confidence that area planners have formulated a workable beginning for continuing, co-ordinated regional planning.

A prospectus, prepared by staffs of the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission and the Columbus City Planning Commission, will accompany the application for federal aid.

The planning program was prepared under direction of the Interim Co-ordinating Committee, representing 11 area planning agencies. Participating agencies, in addition to the Columbus City and Franklin County planning commissions, include:

The County Mayors' Association, Downtown Area Committee, Franklin County Commissioners, Columbus City Council, Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, Development Committee for Greater Columbus, Ohio Department of Highways, Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency.

Application for federal assistance to complete transportation plans must await approval of the land use and facilities phases of the total program, according to J. W. Wilson, deputy director of planning and programming for the Ohio Department of Highways.

If approved by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the federal agency will provide three-fourths of the total estimated cost of $474,000. Local participation will be mainly in the form of work credits, similar to those set up for the land use and facilities sections of the total program.

Finishes Course

Army Pfc. Donald L. Hensley, son of Mrs. Jeanette Blatt, 548 W. State-st, recently completed a five-week airplane maintenance course at the Aviation School, Ft. Rucker, Ala.

During the course Hensley received instruction in the maintenance of single engine observation and utility aircraft.

He entered the army in September, 1962, and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

Old Bills Are Causing Woes For Fair Board

The Franklin County Agricultural Society needs $9,000 to pay back bills, and county commissioners can't give it to them.

Fair officials told commissioners Thursday that they have $12,300 in unpaid bills. However, commissioners have appropriated only $3300 for 1963.

The debts accumulated several years ago when the society was unable to pay its bills.

Fair Secretary Carl Chaddell said the 1963 fair will open Aug. 12. Fair officials have added another day to the event this year so that a Saturday is included in the fair week.

Not All Hikers Observe Rules

Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club says that many hikers are trying to test their physical stamina possibly at the risk of losing their lives by failing to comply with the basic safety rule of facing oncoming traffic.

In addition to the safety factors involved, the AAA official reminds that pedestrians walking along streets or highways not having walks must comply wtih a section of Ohio law that reads:

"... pedestrians may walk along or upon such street or highway, and, when practicable, they shall face the approaching traffic and shall exercise due care to avoid approaching traffic."

"While penalties are provided for failing to comply," notes the AAA official, "the incentive to obey must still be to return home healthy ... and alive."

Hilltopper In Collision

Mrs. Thelma Figiestahler's car sat in an otherwise vacant storeroom at Fourth and Spring-sts last week following a two-car collision in the intersection.

Police said Mrs. Figiestahler, 53, 365 S. Terrace-av, was attempting a left turn from the wrong lane when her auto hit another northbound car driven by Robert Clark, 30, 158 W. Park-av.

Mrs. Figiestahler's car careened through a plate glass window into the storeroom at 199-201 N. Fourth-st, police said.

NEARLY A LEGEND, BUT SCARED TO DEATH

Who Is This Man 'Spook' Beckman?

By JOHN AUBLE JR.
Hartley Amusement Editor

Behind the big, bold, brash "Pitch a Hissy" and "Rusty Dusty" terminology — made nearly a legend by a Columbus radio personality — stands a man whose fear of the public has, at times, reached phobia proportions.

Sound strange? It is. But, then again, personable Fred "Spook" Beckman hasn't had the most usual life in the world — not by a long shot.

He chatted at length about this "publicphobia" over a cup of Sunday morning coffee in the basement "hideout" of his attractive East Columbus home.

"It's a funny thing, but I'm always nervous in public. Somehow I don't feel that I live up to their expectations of what I should be," he said shyly.

Just to demonstrate how far his fear has gone, Spook actually, by self-admission, "chickened-out" of numerous MC jobs and even turned down a part in a Playhouse-on-the-Green production last summer ("No Time for Sergeants").

In the private, quiet confines of the WTVN radio studios, however, the Beckman voice rings loud and clear in a Now-Hear-This tone ("the kind of a sound you'd expect from a 6-foot, 215-pound ex-Marine named "Spook," he says). This is heard him and beckoned. Beckjust the opposite from the man bought it. He was there way he feels and lives in his own heart and mind.

"I try not to talk at people," he said, spouting some of his own philosophy with the sincerity of a man dedicated to having the public like him. "I talk with people and that's the way it has to be in this business."

For Spook Beckman, the entertainment world is now big business. But, it wasn't always this way.

Born to a small family in Peoria, Ill., Spook was not quite three when his father died and young Beckman was shipped to Roosevelt Military Academy. He spent three years in the Marines (17 to 21 years of age) and headed for Florida.

It was in the Marines that Fred was changed to Spook. "I'd stand guard duty at night," he remembered. "Once I took off my helmet and some buddies saw the moon shine on my blonde hair. They said I looked like a 'spook' and the name stuck."

He fill his announcing teeth on a WSPB microphone in Sarasota, Fla., at the age of 21 while working 18-hour days at three jobs that included everything from waiting on tables to night-watching for a retail trailer sales firm and sleeping right in the showroom.

WDOD Chattanooga, Tenn., with transplanted Columbus personalities Bud Palmer and Joe Hill. Hill, now a Columbus sportscaster, got an opening for Spook on WLW-C TV, where, starting in 1951, he was destined to stay for 3½-years and eventually marry his present wife, singer Marilyn Daye.

Along with winsome Marilyn, Spook wrote a show and sold it to WTVN-TV. That, too, lasted some three years.

It was a bright and sunny summer day in 1957 when Spook's high-pitched, circus-barker rasp first hit the radio waves here as he filled a morning show spot and decided to devote his talents to this medium. Things went smoothly until 1961, when he took his walk from WTVN over a disagreement about the change to a rock 'n' roll format.

On Oct. 23 of 1962 he returned to WTVN, where he's now meeting bigger success than he's ever known. Still, the Beckman uncertainty has him frightened.

"This business is like a tightrope," he said somberly. "You walk a fine line.

"Paul Murphy (program director) is helping me gain confidence in myself," he claims with admiration. "He's giving me the benefit of direction. What little style I have is becoming more solid. Maybe I'll hit my stride when I'm 40. Gee, I hope so."

Anyone who works as hard at it as he does has just got to.

Stella Passed 'Screen' Test By Hartley Editorial Staff

Put me in a street car and call me desire if Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hasn't got a big star on their hands in a young lady named Stella Stevens.

She, perhaps, passed the greatest test of stardom ever last week when the publicity photos arrived to promote her latest film venture, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

It took exactly one hour and 37½ minutes before the Hartley Newspapers male editorial staff members halted their wolf-whistling that has proved to be a sure sign of success.

Just to make my point, the same staff whooped it up for an hour and 39 minutes over publicity photos of Connie Francis, a little longer with Sophia Loren, and reached an alltime high with Zsa Zsa Gabor—just so you can compare.

Now, of course, we must consider that MGM still cameras may have outdone themselves in making the comely miss prettier than she actually is. However, scans by the more scientific members of the staff failed to reveal any touch up work so we have to assume that photographic improvements must be discounted.

The real test of this gal's future came when our Business Editor Ron Barlow, who's usually all business, started thumbing through the publicity releases in search for further information on this miss.

All he found, however, and we pass it on to you, is the fact that Stella (who's reportedly 38-24-36, in the usual order) had to work hard for the "Eddie's Father" picture in that she had to go to bowling school.

In a "courtship" sequence, the shapely Miss S. teaches rocketing comic Jerry Van Dyke to bowl like an expert. And, since Stella is not exactly a ten-pin champ, she had some learning to do.

For two solid weeks every

STELLA STEVENS

day—from nine to three—the actress worked out with bowling champions Don Jones and Dick Sorig at the Paradise Bowling Alley in the Westchester area of Los Angeles.

The movie also stars Glen Ford, Shirley Jones, Dina Merrill, Roberta Sherwood and Ronny Howard. This column, however, shouldn't be construed as a plug for the flick because, frankly, we haven't been able to preview it yet.

What's In The Bag For Women Past 60? $ $

Are you versatile?

Are you careful about your appearance?

Are you willing to change from a procedure to which you are accustomed?

If a woman past 60 can answer "Yes" to these questions and possesses almost any kind of skill there is nothing to stop her from finding a job.

This fact came out in talking with several employment counselors about the opportunities for part-time of temporary employment for the older woman.

"What do I do now?" many mature women ask themselves after they have raised their families and find time heavy on their hands.

Some face the same question when they reach the age of retirement set by their particular company and their income is either stopped or reduced.

Still others desire to add to their husband's social security or pension after he retires.

The dismay which so many feel in not knowing where to turn is usually needless if they are "young in spirit" and willing to adapt.

It is only the woman who cannot or will not learn new ways or new fields and who has "let herself go" that will find the business world has no place for her.

The possibilities are amazing and some far from the hum-drum. Robert Simmons, owner-director of Personnel Associates mentioned cookie tasting. Ralph Gabele, area director of the Ohio State Employment service spoke of telephone sales. The demand for knitting and needle point instructors and women who have a knack for trimming hats was brought out by Miss Marie Liggett of Columbus Vocational.

Any office skill—that of the filing clerk, the receptionist, the typist, the legal secretary, the person who can post accounts or even courteously answer the telephone is constantly in demand, Mrs. Velma Schulz of Ballou Service Inc., pointed out.

Simmons who offers to his clients a service known as the Kelley Girls explained how many firms use temporary help to relieve the "peak load." By this method of meeting the need for more help at especially busy periods, the employer is relieved of the necessity of having a regular staff without enough work to keep them busy during the average week.

In the trade the women who fill such jobs are known as the "the girls," and certainly the term is used loosely.

Simmons cited the 84-year-old girl who takes reservations at night in Detroit for an airline, though the oldest he has on his placement list in Columbus is a lass of 72.

One of Mrs. Schulz' girls who is 59 has just started to business college to add to her skills by taking shorthand.

Every director who was questioned mentioned the importance of appearance. Simmons emphasized how excessive make-up is frowned upon. Mrs. Schulz stated that it is extremely important that an employe report to work with hose on summer and winter, and well-pressed and neat, though not necessarily expensive clothes. A smile is the most important item of apparel, according to Miss Liggett's viewpoint.

The older person looking for part-time employment competes with the student for the available opportunities, Gabele acknowledged, but often the experience and the enthusiasm of the older worker will win the job.

Another reason many employers give the green light to the more mature office worker was pin-pointed by Mrs. Schultz.

"They don't hop up and down so much and take as many 'breaks' as the young do," she explained.

Also, she mentioned that too many young employes operate only "as machines" and apparently are incapable of making the simplest decision for themselves.

Gabele mentioned a very recent field that has come into being with the opening of the self-service, coin operated laundries and dry cleaners. Quite often the supervision of such establishments is given to a retired person, he said.

Again and again it was brought out that the person who is "set in her ways" has two strikes against her before she starts.

The woman must be willing to perform her job the way her boss wants it done, which may not be the way to which she is accustomed.

Mrs. Schulz stated that a major objection to the older typists is that many do not readily conform to the "block-left" form used in most offices today. Only 40 percent of employes know how to properly use a telephone, she lamented. "What's yer name and whatcha want to talk to Mr. X about" is no more acceptable than the reply she was given the other day of "He ain't here."

Simmons, too, stressed the value of "flexibility." It is the woman who is still interested in learning that will be called upon, he said.

Miss Liggett feels that when a woman has difficulty finding work in her customary field that she has only to utilize her other skills acquired throughout her life.

"Possibly a woman who was once a machine operator or school teacher can make wonderful pies and become a pastry cook," she suggested.

Exploring other new vocations she brought out that a woman who has never worked in her life may possess good handwriting which would earn her a job in ledger work, or that a pleasant manner can qualify a woman to work as a cashier.

Here are but a few of the occupations suitable for the older woman that were mentioned that the average person might not think of: manning booths and registration of those attending conventions; food demonstrators in supermarkets, telephone and home interviewing for public opinion research outfits, recreational and study course instructors in community church homes and proof reading for printing firms.

No "girl" past 50 doesn't have to start baby-sitting unless she wants to if she really desires to work.

The desire to work was the final point emphasized.

Some will apply for work according to Simmons, with tales of desperate need. However, when they are actually called upon, "their hair is always up or their laundry down," he laughed.

For the woman who has everything except something to keep her busy, the state employment director reminded that volunteer workers in hospitals and the United Community Council offices are always needed.

The answer to the vocational problems for the mature woman is simple as ABC — appearance, buoyancy and change.

Whether you want to earn money for the rent, a new refrigerator or two weeks at a resort, get a good permanent, send your best suit to the cleaners and start out. The odds are with you.

The outdoor session of the scoutmasters' advanced training is to be offered in conjunction with the junior leader training course.

Three Youths Rescue Boy From Scioto

Quick thinking by three youths is credited with saving the life of a fourth youngster who fell into the icy currents of the Scioto River, north of Mound-st, Saturday afternoon.

The trio was walking near the bank of the Scioto when they heard the cries for help of 14-year-old Mark Swaro, 807 S. Roys-av, who had ventured too far out on the ice. The frozen sheet of water had become thin due to warm temperatures and all that could be seen of young Swaro was his head protruding through a large opening about 25 feet from shore.

The three boys, 11-year-old Allen McGinnis, 1284 S. Fourth-st; 13-year-old Larry McGinnis, 1275 Southfield-dr, and 13-year-old Ronald Scheurell, 3008 Baker Hill-rd, ran to the bank opposite the trapped youngster.

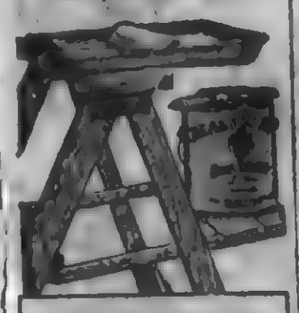
Armed with a fallen tree branch, the boys formed a chain by holding each other's hand and extended the branch to the floundering boy.

Swaro was able to grasp the branch and held on as the young rescuers pulled him to safety.

By this time fire squadmen had arrived on the scene, wrapped the nearly frozen boy in blankets, and then rushed him to Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he was treated for exposure.

Seven Injured In Two Auto Wrecks

A six-car accident on an ice-bound stretch of Frank-rd, west of the South Freeway, Saturday night sent five Columbus area residents to the hospital with multiple injuries. A second accident caused by ice accounted for two more injuries.



Injured in the Frank-rd mishap were 35-year-old Mrs. Sally Cassidy of 1654 E. Blake-av, 29-year-old Rosemary Kirk of 1227 Hart-rd, 19-year-old Larry Henson of 3111 W. Broad-st, 20-year-old Mike Sommer of 6084 Alkire-rd and 16-year-old Ann McGonigle of 6374 Alkire-rd.

All were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment.

Franklin County Sheriff's Office reports indicated the multiple crash started when two cars collided and the four other autos piled up behind them when they were unable to stop on the icy street and struck the halted vehicles.

RAIN FLOODS COUNTY AREA

Nice Weather For . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If familiarity does breed contempt as the poets say, then Franklin County residents should be downright sick and tired of water.

It came in buckets full this week and even lines like "It's good for the farmers" failed to bring the usual smiles to residents busy sump pumping basements.

In the midst of emergency declaring and resident evacuating, area folks did manage to look at the bright side. Some offered suggestions as to what to do with all the water now that it's here. They suggested:

• Building a diving board on the Lincoln-LeVeque Tower and turning the county into a king-sized swim pool.

• Keeping it contained to the streets, thereby making Columbus take on a Venice, Italy appearance that would do wonders for the tourist trade.

• Using it as a publicity stunt by finding a religious fanatic (preferably named Noah) to build an ark.

The strangest thing about floods, however, is the reaction by city officials. They usually fall into a particular category during high-water time and you can make a game out of deciding how your favorite city official handles the situation.

For instance, there's always the "Panic-Button Pusher." Right away, at the first sign of a heavy dew, he's ready to start sandbagging and doesn't miss a press, radio or TV appearance opportunity to cite the seriousness of the situation.

Then, there's the official who—during previous floods—has vowed to "take steps" to prevent flooding in Columbus. Naturally, he doesn't want to look bad when another flood hits, so he covers up by reciting figures to the press regarding dam stability, current flow and safety preventives.

There's the noncommittal type, too. Newsmen, eager to get a story, will urge this type official to say things are dangerous. He'll usually refer to previous floods and show how there's not much cause for alarm, if . . .

But, above all, a flood threat serves a good purpose. It shows community spirit in action, rallying to help friends and neighbors and strangers stave off possible disasters.

Hilltop Methodist Nursery Has Program For Ages 2-10

Citizens of the Hilltop area, as well as communities all over Columbus, are proud of the Educational Program presented to children from all the ages of 2-10 years of age at the Hilltop-Methodist Nursery School.

Mrs. Ida Alexander, Proprietor and Supervisor, has more than 17 years of experience in child care and complies rigidly with the Sanitation and Health Laws of the City of Columbus.

Mrs. Alexander's success has been contributed to her well-planned program which is based on the philosophy that each child must be treated as an individual, so a plan is composed for each chid.

Mrs. Alexander, along with her assistant, Miss Martha Pack, a recent student of Franklin University has given the Nursery School a reputation as a safe place for children to play for the past two years.

The Nursery School is also proud of its recent instructor, Miss Barbara Reynolds. Miss Reynolds was a student of Central State College and Pasadena City College.

Fees entitle the child to a light breakfast as well as a well planned lunch, plus an afternoon snack. The Nursery School is open from 7-5:30 daily. Parents interested in leaving their children while working or shopping, please contact Mrs. Ida Alexander, 2266 Union Ave., BR. 6-1759 or the Hilltop Methodist Church, BR. 9-8086. —Adv.

Woman Is Hurt In Three-Car Traffic Mishap

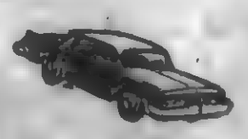
Mrs. Agnes Capretta, 57, of 3520 Race-st, was in Mt. Carmel Hospital Friday with head, hip and possible internal injuries she suffered in a three-car accident Thursday afternoon.

Lonnie Lee Pigg, 55, of 369 Nelson-rd, and Thomas G. Bonner, 20, of 2283 Argyle-dr, was released after treatment at Mt. Carmel for minor injuries from the crash.

Police said Mrs. Capretta was a passenger in Bonner's westbound car which rammed a car waiting to make a turn into a used car lot on Mound-st near Princeton-av.

The impact forced the waiting car to turn into the eastbound lane where it was struck head-on by the third car, police said.

Bonner was cited with failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.



West Sider Dies In Fire

A 46-year-old West Side man burned to death Thursday in the living room of his third floor apartment. Fireman believed a cigarette started the blaze.

Firemen said Louis Goings, 174 S. Souder-av, had been sitting on a couch when the fire broke out. He was burned beyond recognition.

The blaze was confined to the third floor.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Have You Studied The Changing Food Shelf?

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, apples, bananas, rhubarb.

Vegetables — Potatoes, yams, carrots, lettuce, celery, cabbage.

For every food item found on today's grocery shelf, 300 to 400 other products are ready for market to compete for the same valuable space. What determines the food item that will be given a chance?

Mrs. Franks

Recently a merchandising manager of a large food chain gave an interesting report of how items are selected. He says that buyers for the chain meet once a week to determine policy, features, and discuss problems. At these meetings, salesmen meet with the buyers to present new items for their consideration. On the average, between 20 and 40 items are presented each week. That's 1,000 to 2,000 items annually. Of these, less than 20 per cent find places on the shelves—at least for a trial period.

How does the buyer committee decide if the item merits shelf space? The following factors are important considerations:

• The market potential of the product — Is it something consumers really need?

• The reputation of the company — Is this company well known for the quality of its products?

• Advertising — Who will do how much of it, the manufacturer or the retailer? What media will be used — television, radio, or newspaper? Will coupons be given or will samples be available? Will the store receive a case allowance if they handle the item?

• The number of duplications already carried on — Can shelf space be given to the item if it's already on the shelf but made by another manufacturer?

• The type of packaging — Will the item stack well? Does it look attractive? Can the homemaker read the label when she comes to market without her glasses?

All items are kept on the shelves on the basis of cases moved. Sixty days after the item has been in the store, it is reviewed. Recognizing that it is new in relation to the other items, the season of the year, and the frequency of use of the item, the number of cases moved is still the determining factor.

There's still the decision as to what to remove from the shelves to make room for the new item. Again, case movement is the determining factor. In other words, you, the consumer, determine what appears on your food store's shelves. It's as simple as casting a ballot, and is the same principle as when you go to the voting place each election day.

Several hundred new food products may be offered the public each year. Some sell, others don't. When someone buys a product, they cast a vote for it. Failure to buy means a no vote. Products that get enough yes votes to contribute to the retailer's profit remain on the shelves, those that don't disappear.

The items in the store change and so do the customers. The homemaker's desires for convenience, quick preparation, quality, and variety in the food she buys are constantly changing.

Cheese-Custard Fine Main Dish For Lent

To vary main dish meat-economy and to ease food-budget worries, plan to serve Cheese Strata, as a convenience and an economy dish to serve often during Lent and throughout the year. Day-old bread combined with a tasty cheese custard produces a flavorful main dish that will please everyone.

The nutritional goodness of custard made of milk and egg is enhanced with the addition of cheese. As a concentrated source of milk's high quality protein, vitamins and minerals, cheese is an ideal food for nutritious, flavorful meatless meals.

It is wise planning to include plenty of wholesome dairy products in all meals for their convenience, economy, flavor and nutritional contribution.

For a complete and satisfying meal, plan to serve Cheese Strata, buttered green beans, a crisp salad, hard rolls and butter, chocolate ice cream and milk.

CHEESE STRATA

12 slices day-old bread
4 eggs, beaten slightly
2½ cups milk
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon onion salt, optional
Dash of pepper
1 pound process or natural American cheese, sliced ⅛-inch thick

Trim crusts from bread slices and cut each slice in half. Arrange one-half of the bread slices in bottom of a buttered two-quart shallow baking dish (11¾x7-½x1¾ inches). Combine and mix eggs, milk and seasonings. Cover bread slices with milk mixture. Top bread with cheese slices, reserving four slices for top garnish. Cover cheese with remaining bread. Pour remaining milk mixture over bread.

Set baking dish in pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, until done, about one hour. Five minutes before end of baking time, top casserole with remaining cheese slices and return to oven to melt cheese. Serve plain or with grilled tomato slices. Makes six servings.

Lida Berger, Ronald Knipp Repeat Marriage Vows At Hilltop Lutheran

The altar of Hilltop Lutheran Church was decorated with sunburst arrangements of white carnations against a background of frosted jade foliage and the aisle was lighted with single-branched candelabra, accented with beautyberry and white satin, for the wedding of Miss Lida Linanne Berger and Mr. Ronald Burval Knipp, Feb. 23.

Rev. John Hydinger read the marriage service at 7:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Ellen Berger of 333 S. Eureka-av, and the late Mr. William F. Berger. Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Knipp of 1599 S. James-rd are parents of the bridegroom.

Mr. Everett Foltz escorted his niece to the altar. She chose a gown of bridal satin designed with crescent neckline outlined with Alencon lace and seed pearls, long, tapered sleeves and a princess silhouette skirt, accented with lace and pearls and continuing into a wide chapel train.

A queen's coronet of pearls and brilliant stones held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a full sheath of white Belmont gardenias with beautyberry and natural polished foliages.

Mrs. Donald Dover served as matron of honor, and Miss Jean Ann Berger, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. Mrs. Ronald Coulter, also a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gary McClish were bridesmatrons.

Mr. Roger Hankle served as best man, and guests were seated by Mr. Rolland Halley, Mr. Charles Gierhart and Mr. Ricky Berger, brother of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

The new Mrs. Knipp was graduated from South High School and is employed at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Mr. Knipp was graduated from West High School, attended Ohio State University and is now enrolled at Franklin University. He is a bailiff of the Court of Common Pleas, Franklin County.

Following an extended motor trip, the couple will be at home at 2848 Proctor-dr after Mar. 9.

Men Without Skills Get Second Chance

Facing the business world without a high school diploma or a skill often proves as frustrating as facing the enemy with a pop gun.

The 18 young men who graduated Friday from the first class for filling station attendants had learned this the hard way.

Composed largely of high school drop-outs, these men were given another chance under the provisions of the Manpower Development Training Act.

For the past six weeks they have reported to class at Walnut Ridge Junior-Senior High School from 4 to 9:30 p.m., five days a week.

When they received their certificates of training last Friday, they had received not only 90 hours instruction in auto mechanics, but 60 hours of sales indoctrination applicable to any retail operation.

Clinton Tatsch, co-ordinator of the MDT Act for the Columbus Public Schools stated that the group completing the course bore little resemblence to the men who registered.

They entered as men without a skill, without employment, and consequently too often they were men without hope.

They are leaving with know-how, a job and a new lease on life.

All but one of the men are head of households and have been in the labor market for at least three years. This made them eligible for $41 subsistence allowance while training. The other young man being single and between 18 and 21, was originally slated to draw half this amount. However, while training, he immediately found a part-time job, which eliminated his need for financial aid.

Tatsch pointed out that only two men who started the course failed to finish, and each of these for just cause. (One required medical attention, and the other located out-of-city employment).

This particular training began when the Ohio State Employment Service, under the direction of Preston Hoggard, certified a local need for filling station attendants after making a skill survey.

Tatsch co-ordinated the efforts of the OES and the public schools to set up a curriculum that would fulfill the need and to provide classroom facilities.

As the training neared completion the Employment Service again stepped in and took over the job of placement.

The sales training that occupied the first two hours of each session was conducted by John Mulherin, Clinton Junior High history teacher. Through the Distributive Education Division of the State, Mulherin is certified as a vocational sales instructor.

Neil Johnson taught the 90-hour basic mechanics course which included carburation, ignition, lubrication and brake techniques. The training is not intended to qualify a man to handle major overhauls but to give him competence in tune-ups and other service station jobs.

Johnson, who handled the automotive classes at Walnut Ridge, is certified for vocational instruction by Ohio's Trade and Industrial Education division.

Conventional letter grades were not given to compensate for the varying reading skills of the students', however, each had to maintain a "satisfactory" rating before being certified.

Tatsch emphasized to the men that their certificates obligates a governmental employment agency anywhere in the United States to place them if an opening for their skill exists.

It was difficult to remember when looking at the class, well-dressed, eagerly taking their final exam and ready to go to work Monday morning, that only six weeks ago some had been on welfare and relief.

March 18 will mark the opening date of a combination welding course which will include electric, acetylene and heliarc training.

Basic math, blueprint reading and mechanical drawing will be taught. Selection for admittance to the course will be made after interviews and aptitude tests by the Ohio Employment Service, Tatsch explained.

Application has been made for state and federal approval of a course in operation of bookkeeping machines. A survey of the needs for electronic technicians and draftsmen is underway.

THREE NEW JOBS awaited these men when they received certificates of training last Friday after completing 150 hours in vocational sales and basic auto mechanics. They were among the 18 men graduating from the filling station attendants course offered under the federal Manpower Development Training Act. From the left they are Jack Downer, 28 Avondale-av; Richard F. Guinsler, 821 Wedgewood-dr, Apt. 1 and Glen Crowell, 270 Belvidere-av.

Will Receive Scout Award

On Girl Scout Sunday, Mar. 10, at the 10 a.m. worship service, Kathy Lynn Washburn, a Senior Girl Scout of Troop 580, will be presented with the God and Community Award.

Kathy has worked on this award with the guidance of Rev. Irvin H. Lare, pastor of Burgess Avenue Evangelistic United Brethren Church, for the past two years.

Kathy is president of her Sunday School class and Youth Fellowship and sings in the Youth Choir. This past summer she represented Burgess EUB Youth at the National EUB Convocation at Estes Park, Colo.

Kathy, working on her 10th year in scouting, has earned the highest rank, the curved bar. She has given service for senior aid bars, done a lot of camping and served for a year as secretary of the senior planning board.

Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that are ordained of God.—Romans 13-13.

Thief Escapes With Meter Cash

Columbus police continue to search for an unidentified man who reportedly broke into parking meters near Central High School Sunday.

A school custodian alerted police when he saw the man breaking into the meters, but police were unable to apprehend the suspect. Reports indicated the thief made off with the money in about 30 meters but loss has been undetermined.

Officers recovered some of the broken coin boxes but were unsuccessful in attempts to retrieve the hammer the thief threw into the nearby Scioto River as he escaped.

Civil Defense Offers Course

A three-hour Home Preparedness Course will be conducted on Tuesday, Mar. 12, from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. This course in survival techniques will be given in the Civil Defense auditorium at 1045 S. High-st.

The class will be limited to the first 40 persons to place reservations by calling HI. 3-9444.

Starling To See Science Program

General Motors "Previews of Progress," a dramatic, educational stage demonstration depicting science in action has been scheduled for Starling Junior High School Tuesday, Mar. 12, at 1:30 and 2 p.m.

The purpose of this non-commercial program is to encourage youth to pursue studies in science and engineering and to point out some of the many opportunities available in these fields.

One of the highlights of the program will be the demonstration of the "Sunmobile" that converts the sun's power to electric energy. Other demonstrations include a jet engine, an illustration of gyroscopic principles, and a small vehicle that skims over land and water on a cushion of air.

Patrolman To Face Hearing

Deputy Inspector Wayne Miller said Friday disciplinary action probably will be taken against a city policeman whose cruiser struck a schoolgirl on Midland-av Feb. 26 after she had alighted from a school bus.

The officer, James P. Morgan, 1134 Bellflower-av, seems to have been negligent, Miller reported.

West High Senior Named Lieut. Governor For Day

BUFORD UPPERMAN

Ohio will have two lieutenant governors Thursday, Mar. 7—Lt. Gov. John Brown and a West High School senior, 18-year-old Buford B. Upperman.

Upperman, named lieutenent governor for a day, will spend Thursday with Lt. Gov. Brown, observing first-hand workings of the office, and will be introducted to the Ohio Senate.

The student will represent the Ohio Valley Association of International Relations Clubs program, designed to promote interest in government.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris McKean, 363 Midland-av.

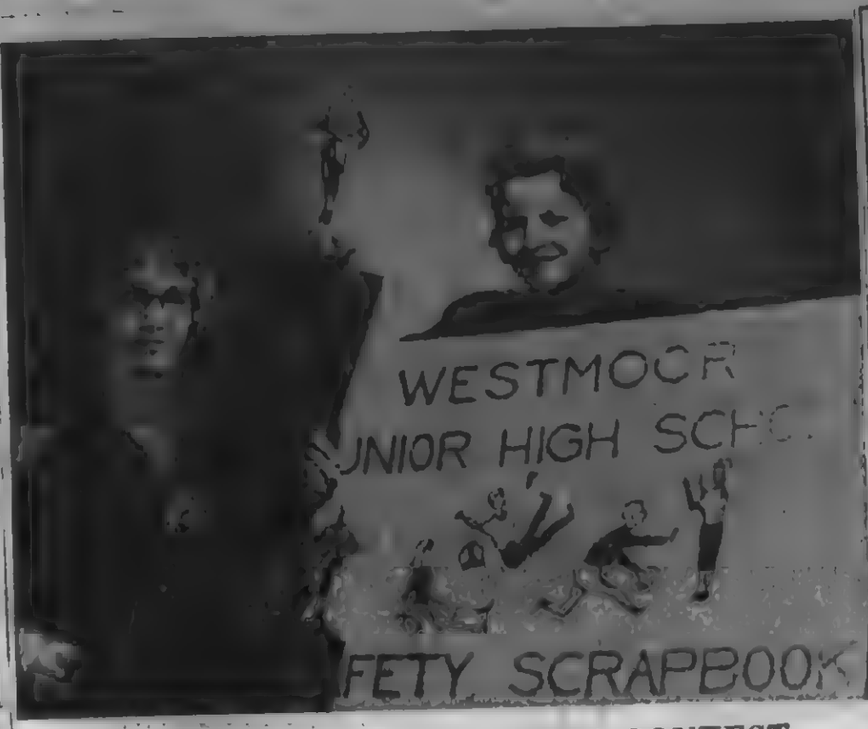
Euchre Dated

A progressive euchre party will be held Mar. 14 at the City National Bank, 3100 W. Broad-st, starting at 8 p.m. It is sponsored by the Columbus Drum and Baton Corps. Advance tickets are available by calling BR. 4-5071.

Will Present Graduating Piano Recital

Charles Edward Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl West of 194 Midland-av, senior piano student at Ohio State University School of Music, will appear in a graduating recital at 8 p.m. Sunday, Mar. 10 in Hughes Hall Auditorium.

He is enrolled in a double curriculum of bachelor of science in music education, and bachelor of music degree with a major in piano.



He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia National Music Fraternity and Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

Included on the program will be compositions by Beethoven, Brahms and Prokofieff. Walker is a student of George Haddad, professor of piano.

On 'Union'

Frederick L. Hafer, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fornce Hafer, 1437 Richter-rd, is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Union, part of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, which celebrates its 21st anniversary this month.

Colorado is the only state in the Union bounded by four straight lines.

WESTMOOR WINS SAFETY CONTEST

FIRST WINNER in the new junior high safety program, co-sponsored by Columbus Public Schools, Columbus AAA and the Police Department, is Westmoor Junior High School. Donna Jenks, co-ordinator of Westmoor Junior High Safety Corps, compiled the winning scrapbook, containing pictures and posters of the school's safety-emphasis projects. Mrs. Jeanne Bray, at right, represented the Police Department in the program, and the rotating trophy, to be presented to the winning junior high each year, was provided by the AAA. The program is the first on the junior high level. Safety education is provided in elementaries with the Safety Patrol, and in senior highs with driving instruction.

'Be Realistic,' Juvenile Officer Urges

By FRANK J. RYAN

(Editor's Note: Juvenile delinquency is a topic of serious national concern. Federal Bureau of Investigation Director J. Edgar Hoover Reports: "As a group, persons under 18 years old represented (during 1960) 43 per cent of all arrests for the more serious crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft." In succeeding articles we will view the area of juvenile problems from the local level.)

Juvenile delinquency will always be with us. It can NOT be eradicated. Experience — from the day of Cain and Able to today's headlines of youthful savagery — tells us clearly that crime and lawlessness are here to stay.

This, in essence, is the unvarnished truth as seen by a man who has dealt with troubled and troublesome youth for the past 18 years. He is Captain Phil Momburg, chief of the juvenile bureau of the Columbus Police Department, and a veteran of 24 years as a police officer.

Momburg's observation is certainly not negative when viewed in its full context. He says, for example: "Let's be realistic, and think in terms of control and reduction."

While stressing the fact that there is no "cure-all" answer, the veteran police officer believes that much can be done in dealing with the problem before it becomes a police or a court matter.

Momburg is in agreement with the generally accepted belief that delinquency is not confined to any specific group, location, or environment. Nor can it be attributed solely to the presence of slums or lack of adequate recreational facilities.

Both the "soft" and the "hard" schools of approach to the problem have their good points, he believes, but neither represents the total answer.

"There is no single approach that is totally effective," Momburg said. "We must continually look for new approaches."

Momburg cited the recent Sabin on Sunday program in illustrating the difficulty of effectively reaching all people in a public education campaign.

Even though all agencies concerned with the polio prevention program joined forces in complete unity and harmony, the response still fell short of 100 per cent, he said. And this despite the promise of absolute immunity from the dread disease.

There will always be those, he said, who, for one reason or another will not be reached. This is why he thinks in terms of reduction and control, rather than eradication of the problem of juvenile delinquency.

Not all juveniles who come to the attention of police are delinquents, Momburg pointed out. The first contact is usually with a uniformed patrolman at the neighborhood level. It might represent a neighbor's complaint of too much noise, or a minor traffic code violation.

Momburg's views on youth in general are anything but negative. He is quick to remind that the problem youth who come to his attention represent only three to five per cent of the local juvenile population.

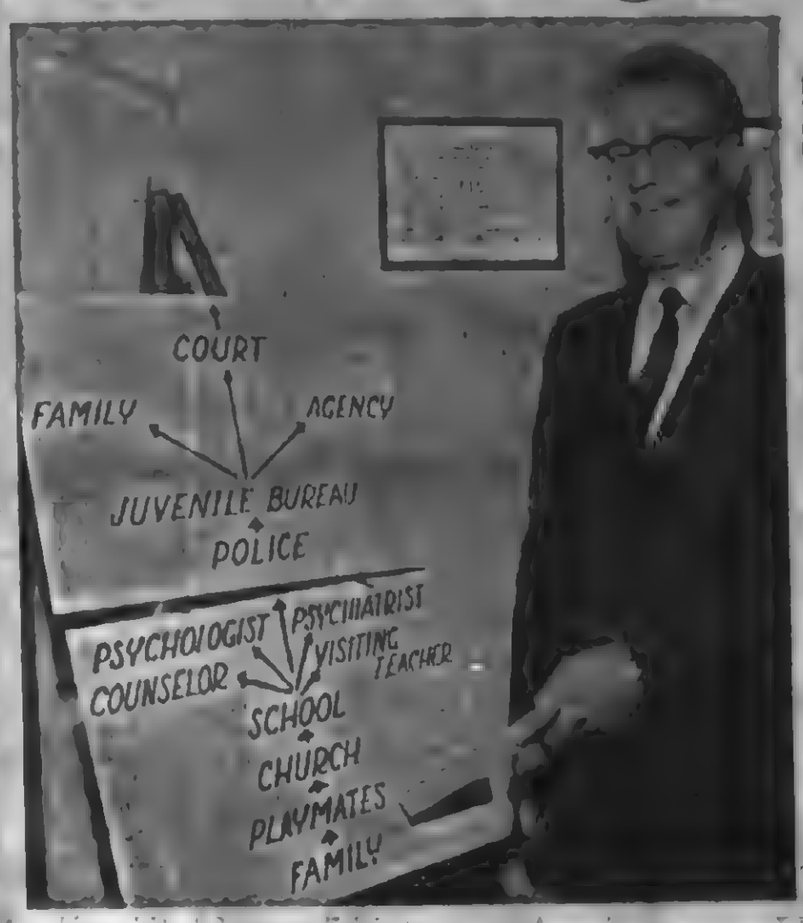
Momburg gives the impression of a man "with a mission" when he discusses, for purposes of public education, the subject of youth problems. He has done extensive public speaking before civic and service groups both in and outside the local area.

Using a set of "flash cards" in detailing the broad base of youth problems, Momburg elaborates on such areas as family, playmates, church, school and police. "Family," he explains, is listed at the base of the chart because the family is the greatest single influence on a child for future behavior.

In discussing the influence of "family," Momburg stresses the importance of the first six years or formative stage of a child's life. This area of direct parental responsibility can mean the difference, in later years, between adjustment to society and juvenile delinquency, he says.

The initial selection of playmates or companions is another area that should concern all parents, Momburg points out, reminding that children are judged and can be influenced by the company they keep.

In pointing out the need for a greater emphasis on church, Momburg says that all too many of the juveniles who come to the attention of his bureau will say they do not go to church; that they quit going to church; or that they were sent (rather than taken) to church.



Schools deal with the various problems of juveniles, he says, through visiting teacher programs, as well as employment of staff psychologists and psychiatrists. However, too many parents feel that their responsibility ends once their child has entered school.

In presenting his talks, Capt. Momburg deals at length with the part played by the police juvenile bureau in the total picture of youth problems. This is by design, and not intended to minimize the part played by other agencies.

Momburg believes that progress in control and reduction of juvenile delinquency calls for a coordinated effort, with each of the related agencies working diligently within its own sphere, and cooperating with all other agencies.

The police attitude is becoming more professionalized, Momburg said, with the emphasis on rehabilitation rather than retribution.

The next article in this series will deal with the operation of the juvenile bureau — its objectives and its relationship to other agencies concerned with juvenile delinquency and youth problems.

NOTED OHIOANS

We of Ohio have a right to be proud of her sons and daughters who have done many things in many fields. They have done much to remind others that here in the heartland of this nation we breed a race able to stand with the best. Here are a few of many:

First, we have produced six Presidents of the United States. U. S. Grant had been a great soldier, having had much to do with the destinies of the nation, before going to the White House. Rutherford B. Hayes and James Abram Garfield were good Presidents, the latter falling at the hands of an assassin.

William McKinley, born in Niles, had been an officer in the War Between the States. He, too, suffered a violent death while in office.

William Howard Taft became Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court after having served as President. His two sons, Charles and the late Robert, both born in Cincinnati, have been active in public affairs.

Warren G. Harding unfortunately was a victim of too much trust in too many he thought true and loyal friends.

Eddie Rickenbacker, born in Columbus, came up the hard way and is now known, after brilliant military service, for his expressed and practiced religious beliefs and for his deep belief in the greatness of this good land.

He Makes Difference When Trouble Comes

All people have their troubles. No person can escape them. "Man that is born of woman is of few days, and full of trouble" (Job 14:1). The same writer wrote: "Man is born unto trouble as the sparks fly upward" (Job 5:7).

Rev. Langlois

The best of people will get sick and have sorrows and disappointments, but a person should be able to see a difference in the attitude of a Christian and of an unsaved person when trouble comes.

The followers of Jesus were troubled because of His forthcoming death. Jesus' word to them was: "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me. . . I go to prepare a place for you" (John 14:1-2).

What should our attitude be when trouble comes to us? We should not deny the facts, neither should our attitude be that of stoicism, epicureanism, or cynicism.

When we get sick, we should be willing to say with Job: "though he slay me, yet will I trust in Him" (Job 13:15).

When we are passing through great sorrow and disappointment, we should be willing to say: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" (Rom. 8:28.).

When we lose our loved ones, we should be willing to say: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord" (Job 1:21). And when the Christian dies, he can say with the Apostle Paul: "I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand" (2 Tim. 4:6).

Christ makes the difference when trouble comes. In fact, it's good to have Him with us at all times.

Rev. Raymond Langlois
Westgate Baptist Church

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Bearded Ones Are Not Always Nuts

I have a newspaper friend who wears a big mustache and likes to inflate and burst paper lunch bags.

Or rather, he was my friend. Now he is having second thoughts. In the meantime at every chance he explodes paper bags near my ears, an act that never fails to orbit me momentarily about three feet above my seat.

Normally my questionable friend curbs any sadistic tendencies he may harbor. But several weeks ago I wrote a column unfavorable to esoteric art, poetry and opera. In it I used the term "bearded nuts."

McPeek

In the past my mustached, questionable friend also sported brush on his chin. At the time he labored on an American newspaper in Europe, the editor of which abhored hirsute adornment of any style.

In the editor's efforts to have his recalcitrant staff member bare his true face, a great struggle of wills evolved (although neither of them is named Will). As the brush war dragged on, my friend wearied of battle and returned to the United States — sans beard, but with a bristling sensitivity to "non-beard buffs." (Aren't all buffs bare?)

My bag-bursting, questionable friend does not dispute my contention that an "artist who slaps a canvas with the end of a hemp rope dipped in Kemtone" and wears a beard, is, in all probability, a "bearded nut."

His umbrage stems from the possibility that the term may be interpreted to imply that all who wear beards are nuts.

He demanded that this matter be corrected. If this was not done, he hinted he would send to the House Un-American Activities Committee poison-pen notes implying that my loyalty may not measure up to DAR standards. Coupled with the fact that there always is a great supply of rumpled lunch bags cluttering up the newsroom, I will heed his threat herewith:

IT IS NOT NECESSARILY TRUE THAT ALL BEARDS CONCEAL NUTS!

Sensing my cowardice, he repeated his threat, hissing through his waxed hedge that it might be wise if I also tossed in a few toutful words about his latest magazine story, "A Runner In The Mist," which is in the current Atlantic Monthly (March).

When I inquired if the story was about a London track meet, he hissed even more violently, tempting me to run in the mist.

Calming somewhat, he took me on his knee and in a paternal manner explained that it was a "tender, sensitive, heart-rending story about loneliness that everyone should read if they would like to have a "fuller, deeper appreciation of the beauty in life." (Such redundancy should reap him a fortune if he is paid by the word.)

Choking back my tears, I rushed to the typewriter. This is the result.

And I might as well go all the way. His name is James McCormick.

Spring—Does It Seem Close Or Far Away?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROD COCHRAN

It has been said that there is no "off-season" for the outdoors, and this, of course, is true. But with the weather we've been having, this is the nearest thing to an off-season.

Ice fishing has tapered off, fox hunters are pretty well hunted out, and the longest open hunting season, for ruffed grouse, has closed. Most of us will simply hang on for the next month or six weeks until a warm April day calls to us like the Pied Piper's flute.

Actually, the spring activity has started. Birds are moving around, and the crows and robins that wintered in Southern Ohio hollows have been seen for several weeks. Cowbirds are back. Song sparrows and some others sing infrequently and rather hopefully it seems. Ducks are seen trading up and down the valleys more frequently and in ever-increasing numbers.

Here is an important lesson—temperature does not govern bird migration and activity. Most people believe that the migrators stay South until it warms up. It is the sun that pulls the invisible strings. As the days get longer, the birds start their northward flights. Perhaps the birds should wait for warmer weather, for each year there are tragedies. Birds are lost in late winter storms and perish. The insect-eaters are most susceptible. Martins, for instance, come back and find cool weather and no hatching insects. When this happens, they starve. But for untold generations, birds have been tied to the lengthening and shortening of days, and it will ever be so.

While we're waiting for spring and watching the birds, it is a good time to reflect on the past season. There was a short deer season, although the deep snow and cold weather probably kept some hunters home. Those who hunted, though, saw deer or deer sign and most everyone considered it a successful season.

Rabbit hunting was very good in some localities, and so-so in others. Pheasant hunting generally seemed to be about the same as the year before, and nothing to brag about. Quail hunting was exceptionally good in quite a few areas in Southern Ohio. Duck hunting was poor as predicted, but early hunters who got a chance at locally-reared ducks did not do too badly. Those who tackled the real trophies of the waterfowl clan, Canada geese, found them available if they wanted to work at it.

Going back a little further, to a season that will whet your appetite for some early spring fishing, last year's fishing was unquestionably superior. Five state fish records were set during 1962, according to the Outdoor Writers of Ohio which keep such books. None of the state records are held by anglers in this area, but the challenge is there just the same. The writers claim that a year when five records are set is unheard of, but it happened just the same

It's like the old Florida joke — a northerner watches a huge stringer of whopping bass unloaded from a boat onto the dock. "The man who caught those fish is a liar," he exclaimed. Everyone knows that outdoor writers never lie, so we must accept the records. The new ones were set in these categories: largemouth bass, nine pounds, two ounces; channel catfish, 14 pounds, three ounces; flathead catfish, 65 pounds; black crappie, three pounds, and muskellunge, 31 pounds.

Does this make spring seem closer, or farther away?

Urges Second Look At Record Of U.N.

To The Editor:

The League of Women Voters urges us to support the United Nations Organization, which amounts to supporting our own downfall. I urge any of the members of that body of dedicated women to look at the record of UN actions involved in keeping the peace.

The Korean conflict provides all the information needed to forever silence any literate person, who cares to acquaint himself with the facts, regardless of his opinion of the purported claims of the internationalists and their UN supporters.

The Communists circulated a 'white paper' (in 1945) totally disavowing any belief in the principles of the UN charter and have used the machinery of that organization only as an instrument by which the internal affairs of other nations might be manipulated or subverted, without the use of force in the military sense.

In our American Bill of Rights we find a clear expression of each of the basic tenets necessary to the protection of the individual. The same may not be said concerning the vague and contradictory 'jargon' used by the authors of the UN charter.

We have now reached an impasse in this hemisphere which calls for a decision inviting the efforts of Americans dedicated to the principles set forth in our Constitution, and heretofore ably expressed by Americans in high places. The discussions of our present situation by Mr. U. Thant and Mr. Castro, are typical of the whole pattern of "peace-keeping" on the part of the UN.

Self-preservation requires that we pay closer attention to the facts involving our survival, nationally and individually. A course of action based upon fact would automatically rule out American participation in the intrigues of the United Nations Organization and would relieve us of the presence of a highly dangerous group of intelligence agents now freely circulating in and about the UN headquarters, New York.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

One of the most gratifying developments of the last 10 years is the long overdue "housecleaning" in elementary and secondary education. More trash had sneaked into the "long hair" jargon of theorists than most parents realized. Then a loud protest was heard all over the country as people discovered with shock that "Johnny and Mary" couldn't read.

Just plain, old-fashioned teachers, who had large and dependable quotients of common sense, moved into the "modern mess" fast, and some correct things began to happen all over the country. Kids were again taught their letters, then taught to spell and read one syllable words.

Those of us who grew up on the McGuffey Readers, and had used them as teachers in the little old-fashioned country school houses, got a new breath of hope from this uprising of parents who had made the discovery that basic education was "way off the beam."

Thousands of high school graduates have failed miserably in recent years to carry college level work because they couldn't read.

See Slums Coming

As a resident of the Hilltop of the best part o 70 years, I call to the attention of our community newspapers the slum conditions that are being permitted to grow like a cancer on the Hilltop. Conditions that have led to the condemnation of property in other parts of the city, but conditions that could be prevented if this city will enforce existing laws and pass others necessary to stop things that lead to slums. When we have asked the city officials to clean up these conditions, we are told that they have no authority, as none of the present city laws cover the situation.

Persons who were evicted by slum clearance in other parts of the city, have moved into all parts of our city and are continuing to make slum conditions, just as they did before.

Those of us who reside here are too old to start all over again with another mortgage at age 70 and are helpless to stop this spread of slums. We need the aid of every right-thinking citizen to stop it before it is too late.

How about that?

Jimmy Crum of WLW-C told an interesting story in a local meeting this past week.

It seems a father was being pestered by his young son to go out and play baseball. Father wanted to read the newspaper, and so he clipped out a map of the world from the paper and proceeded to tell the small boy, "When you finish putting the world together I will go out and play baseball."

In a few minutes the boy returned with the map clearly put together and the father was amazed. But the boy explained that it was a simple task because on the back of the map of the world was a picture of a little boy. "I knew if I could put the boy together I would be able to put the world together," he said.

Crum is doing a nice job in this area in paying the proper tribute to our famed Buckeyes and Fred Taylor not only for their part in producing good basketball entertainment but for the good influence they are having on the young people in this area.

The U.S. Census Bureau estimated that one in five couples lives to celebrate its 50th wedding anniversary.

the GOOD NEWS!
An excited aliveness! . . . That describes a man getting good news over the telephone. Then, there is the gospel, which means "The Good News" which gives life when it comes to a man. It generates life anew. This Good News is proclaimed weekly and oftentimes daily, through God's messenger in His Church. Jesus announced the Good News when He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Matthew 10:10. Listen to the proclamation of the Good News in the church of your choice on Sunday.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS REMEMBER MENTALLY ILL

GIFT BOOKS, RECORDS, sewing material, and cosmetics by the thousands were delivered during the Camp Fire Girls' second Friendship Walk at the Columbus State Hospital, Feb. 23. About 200 girls and their leaders, representing a membership of more than 6000 in Franklin County, made the visit.

Commodores Top Knights In Glenwood Cage Playoff

At the end of the first half, the Knights held a 10 point margin over the Commodores (36-26), but at the end of the third period the Commodores were up by two points.

THE KNIGHTS were never able to take the lead at the end of the third period or to control the outside shooting of Mike Uldricks.

Uldricks took scoring honors with a career high of 25 points and teammate Mike Sheel hit for 22. Norman Caune did a fine rebounding job for the winners and his assists were a leading factor in the team's win. Ralph (Emil) Karn hit 22 for the Knights.

The Commodores also knocked the Untouchables out of the tournament, 55-54. Norman Caune led in the rebounding department and took game scoring honors with a big 24 points. Bill Wells tallied 20 for the Untouchables.

Knights stop Cavaliers—The Knights, down by three points with one minute to play, rallied and went on to win 45-40. Bill Karn stole the ball with less than a minute showing on the clock and raced in for a layup and was fouled. This three point play tied up the game and the victory went to the Knights. Carl Ruzicka led the winners with 12 points but honors went to Bob Fredendall of the Cavaliers with 17.

Cavaliers 49—Satins 40—The Cavaliers won this one with the excellent shooting of Bob Fredendall and Steve Conrad. Fredendall and Conrad hit for 16 and 15 points, respectively. Phil Tucker had 18 points for the Satins.

West Profs Top Hi-Y Upstarts In Cage Battle

By BOB LYNCH

The "old men" (the Faculty) of West turned the tables on the upstart Hi-Y hopefuls as they blasted the Hi-Y boys into submission with unerring accuracy and some unbelievable rebounding, romping to a 47-26 victory.

Led by "rookie" sensation Jim Dally, who poured in 14 faculty points, the "old men" shocked the 700-plus students and teachers in attendance as they displayed a "sizzling" offensive attack and some spectacular rebounding.

All nine members of the faculty roster got into the scoring act, although Larry Gray was the only other double-figure scorer for the pre-game underdogs, netting 10 points.

THE FACULTY opened the game on a scoring spree as they blasted from the opening whistle into a 12-5 first quarter lead, and their margin was never even threatened.

Although it was obvious to everyone that the Hi-Y was not up to its physical and mental best (it was rumored that all Hi-Y players were given final exams the day of the game), there are no alibis for the defeat.

The only consolation for the Hi-Y boys is that they will have a chance to avenge their defeat next year, and the Hi-Y undoubtedly made financial profit from the event.

For the Hi-Y, Mike Hobbs led the scoring by netting 10 points, Mike Uldricks (6), Larry Cline (4), and Tim Weisert, Rick Finke, and Steve Takos each chipped in two points. Accident Claims Greenfield Man

The victim was identified as Lowell Byron Gilpin, who died about two hours after the accident occurred on W. Broad-st, between Stevens and Schultz-av. Coroner Dr. Robert Evans said Gilpin died as a result of multiple body fractures and internal injuries suffered in the mishap.

A witness told police investigators the accident victim seemed to stumble into the path of the oncoming car driven by 28-year-old Donald Edmonds of 1414 Mooberry-st.

Witnesses said Gilpin was standing in the middle of the street waiting for traffic to pass when he apparently decided to return to the side from which he had come and turned around into the path of Edmonds' car.

The driver of the auto was cited by police for no driver's license but not held for the accident.

Recently, everybody loved a fat man if he had long whiskers and a hearty laugh.

WHEELCHAIR FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Flood Control Needs Full Speed Ahead

And the rains came . . . on top of frozen ground and heavy snow!

The result is known to all in this area, and we can be thankful the heavens overhead closed as soon as they did.

The flood of this past week serves to remind us again of the urgency of real concern over some kind of flood control program. This is not a simple thing. It calls for a gigantic and costly development of dams and construction.

The old Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District went along some 17 years without any activity. Now a new and much smaller district serves the area and it appears that they are taking steps that will lead to some early action for flood control.

This project deserves full speed ahead and the people of this area should sneak up and demand that this program be given its rightful place . . . first consideration.

We have seen how close we can come to real disaster. We will never know from one spring to the next when a death taking toll will fall. Postponements may end in great destruction.

On Growing Up

Firms that stay in business today have to grow and the day when a man can start in business by the seat of his pants is gone. These were the words of advice of Virgil Martin, president of Carson, Pirie Scott and Co., when he addressed the national conference of the Suburban Press Foundation in Chicago last week.

Mr. Martin lauded the suburban press. "Suburban papers have made great strides in the editorial product, and as retailers we respect that editorial product."

He suggested the suburban press join in a cooperative effort with major retail interests to explore the suburban market, its media and the common interests of both media and retailer.

Just as growth of communities has caused the large department stores to go out to the suburbs, this same growth is causing the suburban press to expand its services. We accept the challenge.

Senior Citizens Begin Move To New $.3 Million Center

It's a red letter week for Franklin County's shuffleboard set.

The Senior Citizens Recreation Center is being moved from the basement of Old Memorial Hall to a spanking new $330,000 building at McDowell and Sullivant-avs.

Final inspection on the unique facility was to start at 10 a.m. Wednesday by representatives of the Columbus Recreation Department, the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority, contractors and architects. And barring any unforeseen hitches, the big move is to start immediately.

No dedication ceremony will be held yet, but at least 1100 perky citizens, ages 60 and over, have their regular weekly forum all set for presentation in the new auditorium this Friday. At least 300 are expected to be on hand when the doors open at 1 p.m.

The new recreation center is one of two buildings occupying a 3.71 acre garden-type complex just north of Sunshine Park, valued at $2,257,000. An 11-floor apartment building west of the recreation center will open in May, boasting 118 units of low-rental housing for the elderly. It was built with matching funds from the city and federal governments. The recreation center will not be restricted to residents of the high-rise apartment, but will be open to all of the county's older population—just as the present downtown center is.

The two-building complex is believed to be the only one of its type in the country. The recreation center is one of the largest. Encompassing 25,000 square feet on two floors, it includes an auditorium seating 450 and stage, a kitchen dining room, lobby, three craft rooms, music room, office, first aid and meeting rooms, and a paneled lounge with five-foot fireplace.

The ground floor includes rooms for cards, billiards, woodcraft and photography. Outside are patios, two grills and a shuffleboard court.

Melvin Dodge, city recreation supervisor, said the present Senior Citizens Center staff of 10 full and part-time workers will be upped about one-third in the next two weeks. A full-time coordinator of volunteer committees

Mrs. Melvin Dies Tuesday At 80 Years

Funeral service for Mrs. Carrie Melvin, 80, 107 S. Warren-av, will be held Thursday, 1:30 p.m. at Schoedinger Hilltop Chapel. She died at Mt. Carmel Hospital Tuesday.

Surviving are her husband, E. O. Melvin, retired owner of Melvin Hardware at 2405 W. Broad-st and a former member of the City Traffic Commission, and one son, George, of 2091 Yorkshire-rd.

The Melvins, married 57 years, have been Hilltop residents since 1905 when they built their first home on Harris-av.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Wednesday, and until time of service Thursday. Burial will be at Sunset Cemetery.

Chas. Cruea, Ex-Hilltopper Buried Today

Charles Cruea, of Dayton, died Monday. He was well known on the Hilltop, where he operated the Hilltop Swimming Pool for many years. He celebrated his 72nd birthday last Saturday.

He is survived by daughters, Mrs. Frances Ely, Mrs. Martha Routsong, Mrs. Barbara Colp, and five grandchildren.

Service was set for 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Routsong Funeral Home in Dayton.

Cruea came to Columbus in 1922 on a visit and liked the Hilltop so well that he moved here and took a job as a mechanic at the Pennsylvania Railroad shops. Two and a half years later he started selling real estate and purchased the property at the southeast corner of Hague and Steele-avs where he established a grocery store now known as Bob Nowell's Market.

In 1930 Bender Swimming Pool, at the corner of Hague-av and Valleyview-dr, then one year old, was up for sale and Cruea purchased it. In order to get attention for enterprise, he transported several hundred pounds of fish from Lake Erie alive which were put into the pool. The public was then invited to catch what they wanted. People came from all sections to fish at 25 cents per pound which included the price of cleaning the fish.

Free Easter Hams For Our Readers

Free ham, again this year! !

Yes, Hartley Newspapers and the business people of your area are again making plans to provide free hams for the Easter table of many of our readers. Last year nearly 200 families received the free hams.

Everyone over 16 years of age is eligible to win, and you don't have to buy a thing.

Beginning next week your paper will contain a page of special coupons provided by merchants in your area. Just fill in your name, address and phone number, clip out the coupon and deposit it in a special container in the appropriate store. Free coupons are also provided by the sponsoring merchants or at the main office of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st.

A drawing will be held at each participating store to determine the winners of the Swift's premium hams.

Be sure and watch for complete contest details in next week's edition of your paper.

Board Of Trade Meeting Tonight

March meeting of the West Side Board of Trade will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 7 at Sunshine Recreation Center.

Following dinner, movies from the Columbus Auto Club will be shown. Wives and guests of WSBT members are invited.

News Carriers Welcome Your Cooperation

Your Hartley Newspaper carrier soon will call on you for his March collections.

Please try to have the correct change ready for him when he calls. It makes his job much easier.

Prompt payment on your part will help him to meet his bill payment deadline. Thank you.

'Revitalize West Side,' Sensenbrenner Says

Approximately 75 persons attended the meeting at Gladden Community House.

Sensenbrenner will face Republican incumbent W. Ralston Westlake in the November elections as he attempts to win back the office he lost to Westlake in 1959.

Prime needs for the West Side, the former mayor said, include housing, sewer expansion, business zoning and extension of Grandview-av, to Broad-st.

While praising those who attended the meeting as people who thought enough of their community to take an active interest in its affairs, Sensenbrenner expressed disappointment at the lack of representation of the total West Side Community.

Sensenbrenner listed major accomplishments of his six years as mayor of Columbus in the areas of annexation, recreation, slum clearance, and capital and civic improvements. He told his audience that the work of his administration, and of committees he had appointed, resulted in bringing Columbus an All-American City award. "We got it for progress," he said.

In speaking of problems facing Columbus, Sensenbrenner said:

"We have got to save downtown Columbus . . . (and) also have to save the lower West Side.

"If the West Side is to meet its destiny, there has to be a new sewer out here . . . We must attract diversified industry . . . You can't build a city on relief cases."

Sensenbrenner advocated

FRIENDLY SONS, SHAMROCK CLUB HONOR ST. PAT

Many centuries after St. Patrick died 1500 years ago, Queen Marie Antoinette's milliner wrote the following lament:

"Oh Paddy dear an' did ye hear, the news that's goin' round?
The Shamrock is by Law forbid to grow on Irish ground.
No more St. Patrick's Day we'll keep, his colour can't be seen,
For there's a cruel law agin the wearin' of the Green."

The French revolutionist need not have worried.

The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick meet this Saturday for their annual banquet at the Deshler, and the Shamrock Club will form at Sixth and State for the yearly procession Sunday morning.

And as shurra as ye are a Paddywacker, there'll be "wearin' of the green," whether it is a shamrock, a derby or painted shillelagh.

Jerry O'Shaughnessy, secretary of the Friendly Sons, and Bill Downey, president of the Shamrock Club, made public the plans of the groups.

James F. Kelleher, special assistant to the postmaster-general and Rev. Edward J. Keifer, O.P., of the Aquinas faculty, will speak at the Sons' Stag dinner, which will begin at 6:30 p.m.

This is the 68th banquet of the Columbus chapter of the organization that was started by George Washington and his soldiers during the Revolutionary War.

It is a non-sectarian club with no membership restrictions except to be an admirer of St. Patrick, and no aim except to enjoy the one meeting held each year—on St. Patrick'sDay, of course.

O'Shaughnessy stated that tickets are $6 and and can be obtained from him at 405 E. Town-st, or by calling CA. 1-2311.

The Shamrock Procession will march through the Columbus streets to St. Patrick's Church, where Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann will celebrate Low Mass. Monsignor William C. O'Brien, pastor of St. Mary's at Delaware, will give the sermon.

After Communion is held the procession will reform to go to the Neil House for the traditional breakfast, where more than 900 are expected.

R. Patrick West as toastmaster will introduce the principal speaker, Bernard Suttler, assistant to J. Edgar Hoover in Washington.

The Shamrock Glee Club will sing, and Irish dances will be given by teenaged children of the members under the direction of Miss Kay Lehman.

This group, composed exclusively of members of the Catholic Church who are of Irish descent, was formed after World War II, and holds no ties with any other organization.

In April a meeting is called for the election of officers, and in the summer the members hold a picnic at Murphy's Barn (where else?). The men also work with St. Vincent's Orphanage during its annual Homecoming.

But, as for the Sons of Ireland, Downey explained, St. Patrick's Day is the BIG DAY.

Cowboys Make Semi-Finals; Play Grove City Tomorrow

The area's representation in the Central District AA tournament was reduced to a single entry after last evening's quarter-finals at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

West's Cowboys (13-7), the "dark horse" candidate for tourney honors, advance to the semi-finals tomorrow evening by merit of the Broncos' 65-55 conquest of Aquinas. West will play Grove City (20-2) at 8:30 p.m.

CENTRAL WAS eliminated from the tourney trail as Watterson nipped the Pirates' late rally bid to score a 56-53 decision.

After a tight first half, West gradually pulled away in the third period to down the Irish. Ron McDaniel's goal early in that stanza put the Cowboys in the lead to stay as West outscored the Terriers, 17-9, in the deciding period.

Charlie Castle's 20 markers set the scoring pace for the winners as teammates Steve

HIGHWAY CHIEF NOT WORRIED

Believes 'Raiders' Won't Tempt Many Engineers

By FRANK RYAN

The universal shortage of qualified highway engineers was highlighted this week by the "friendly" raid of West Virginia and Indiana highway officials on the Ohio Department of Highways.

Ohio's neighbor states seem primarily interested in luring away any qualified engineering help they can recruit. But there is an added incentive that brings them to the Buckeye State — to return native sons who strayed over the border in the past few years.

"A number of West Virginia people have taken jobs here (in Ohio) over the years," K. L. Bergstrath, personnel representative for the West Virginia State Highway Commission, told Hartley Newspapers. "These people have family ties in West Virginia, and we want to see if we can get them to come back home."

Similar sentiments were expressed by W. N. Rose, personnel representative for the Indiana State Highway Commission. Rose said Tuesday:

"Ohio has had the reputation for the past several years of having a fast-moving highway program."

Both agreed that Ohio's construction program gave the Buckeye State first choice of the qualified engineers available.

Bergstrath said that West Virginia has instituted similar recruiting drives in Pennsylvania and Michigan. He said that about 36 contacts have been established in both Ohio and Pennsylvania, while the response in Michigan has been "much less."

Interviews for prospective applicants were conducted in a downtown Columbus hotel. The visits were announced through advertisements in local newspapers.

Rose said Indiana will recruit in all neighboring states. He said the one-day Ohio stop resulted in more than 30 contacts.

Many of the potential engineering candidates were interviewed for both West Virginia and Indiana vacancies, the personnel men said.

There was no apparent connection between the recruiting visits and the current austerity program in state government.

"Frankly, I didn't know about the governor's austerity program," Rose said.

Both agreed that the jobs affected by the austerity program "are not the type we're trying to fill."

"Engineers Affected Little"

Ohio Highway Director Pearl Masheter did not hold out much hope to his competition for finding a "happy hunting ground" in Ohio.

"Our layoffs have not affected engineers," he said, "except for appointive jobs such as director and field division deputy directors.

"I don't suppose we have separated half a dozen engineers (outside appointive posts), and those for cause."

Masheter expressed the belief that the recruiting visits from the neighboring states was a tribute to the caliber of engineering personnel within the Ohio Highway Department. "We've got a lot of good people," he said.

The highway director did not seem concerned that he would lose any appreciable number of employes.

"I don't believe they can offer anything that we can't," he said.

Bandit May Have Used Toy Pistol

An estimated $1,400 in cash was taken from the Reliance Finance Co., 587 Wedgewood-dr, Monday by a masked bandit believed to have been armed with a toy gun, according to police reports.

Police stated the masked man walked into the Westgate Shopping Center finance office, went directly to the desk of Assistant Manager James Billiar, 27, of 1412 Virginia-av, and said "this is a stick-up."

The gun wielding, masked bandit then forced all six company employes and a customer into a small room and told a clerk, 20-year-old Margaret Higgins, 7475 Musketwy, to give him the money in the cash drawer.

After receiving the cash the bandit fled out the door toward Westgate Manor Apartments and disappeared.

Columbus City Police report they are continuing to investigate the robbery.

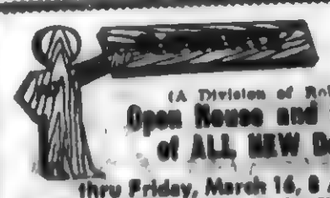
Barnard (16) and Jerry Carter (15) starred in supporting roles.

Pat Mentel and Mike Welling topped Irish scoring with 16 and 14 points respectively. The loss closed out the Aquinas season at 11-10.



WATTERSON zoomed off to a 17-3 first-period advantage on Central and the Pirates spent the rest of the evening trying to pull even. Central did almost turn the trick, melting the Eagles' "deep freeze" and knotting the score in the final 90 seconds on two quick goals by George Broadnax.

But Dave Colonel, who shared Watterson scoring honors with Larry Greer, dropped in five successive points to undermine the Pirate comeback.

Steady Tom Fullove paced Central's attack with 23 markers while teammate Dave Roberts contributed 11 additional points to the losers' total. The loss wrapped up the Pirate season at 14-5.

Watterson (18-3) plays East (19-1) at 7 p.m. to complete tomorrow evening's semi-final card.

Hope For Library Branch

Dodge said it is quite likely that the Columbus Public Library board will establish a branch at the new center. He said Chief Librarian Edward B. McDaniels indicated he is interested in placing about 1600 volumes in a room provided. McDaniels hopes to allot 200 volumes to persons specializing in geriatrics. He is also interested in supplying magazines and newspapers for the lounge. The library board is expected to firm up its plans some time this week.

Dodge said the new center will observe its present hours, until the need for extended hours is seen. Doors will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays. On Wednesdays and Fridays the hours are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Bus Stops Announced

Persons using City Transit buses to reach the center should get off the Mound-st line at McDowell and Richsts, a half block from their destination. The Sullivant-av buses stop at Town and McDowell, a block and a half from the center.

Friday's Program

Following is the program for 2:30 p.m. Friday, Mar. 15, the first planned in the new auditorium:

Piano duets — Mrs. Robert Draper and Mrs. A. L. Greenspun.

"America The Beautiful," sung by the Senior Citizens Chorus, led by Mrs. F. Minturn. The chorus is composed of center members and two representatives from each of the city's Golden Age clubs—about 45 in all.

Prayer.

"Bless This House," by the chorus.

Address by Rabbi Nathan Zeltzer, chairman of the SCRC Advisory Council.

changes in present policies covering relief payments.

"I believe that able bodied relief recipients should work. And those relief checks should be sent to a good, honest groceryman, Sensenbrenner said.

He also advocated a plan whereby rent payments would be sent to the landlord, rather than being given to the relief client.

The former mayor called said: "This is a job for the newspapers. The newspapers must keep the public informed."

He challenged all citizens to become active in the political affairs of the community. Party labels, he said, are less important than the quality of the candidates. "Vote for the person you think is going to do the best," he said.

During an abbreviated business meeting preceding Sensenbrenner's talk, the group went on record as endorsing construction of a city swimming pool at Sunshine park.

Loss Of Pet Dog Worries Family

For longer than two weeks now our four children have been asking over and over again, "Where can Snuffy be?" He disappeared from the yard Feb. 25, and we have exhausted every means available including the want ads, in an effort to locate him.

We have all been so worried because he is not accustomed to being out in the severe weather.

He is a very friendly, small brown dog with short, stocky legs and is black under his chin. He had on, when lost, a collar with license and identification tag attached.

We feel somebody, somewhere knows where he is. If they will just contact us, no questions will be asked and a reward given.

Three new street paving projects in the West area are part of a $36 million construction program for 1963 announced by City Engineer Robert R. Werner this week.

They include: widening and repaving Valleyview-dr from Hague to Brinker-avs; Clarendon-av from W. Mound-st to the first alley south of Mound, and the alley north of Town-st from Davis-av to Green-al.

The $600,000 Wilson-rd extension project is advancing through the engineering stages, Werner said, and is not included in the above figures.

City National Celebrates Banking's Centennial

City National Bank's office in 1917, the year of the photo, was at the southeast corner of Gay and High streets. The bank moved to 20 E. Broad-st in 1925, before the consolidation which created its modern-day company structure.

CNB Lines Traced To 1868

Banks, like pioneer families, boast proud ancestral lines which summarize large chunks of a community's history.

Today's City National Bank & Trust Co., 20 E. Broad St., is no exception. It traces its lineage to 1868, within five years of the Civil War legislation that created the national bank system.

CITY NATIONAL represents the consolidation over the years of a number of Columbus bank firms. These mergers proceeded along three main streams.

The oldest line begins with Sessions & Co., which opened for business in 1868 at Long and High streets. It became the Commercial Bank in 1869 and was incorporated in 1881 as Commercial National Bank. F. C. Sessions was its first president.

IN 1923, after 54 years at Long and High, it moved into a new office at 9 E. Long St., then one of the most attractive in the country. Today, the building is still a prime downtown facility of City National. Extensive remodeling is planned this year.

Second in the line of ancestral development was the City Deposit Bank Co., organized in 1898 at Fifth Ave. and N. High-st, as a neighborhood banking office.

IN 1900, the bank moved to Gay and High streets and in 1905 received a national charter, becoming the City National Bank of Columbus with the change.

Consistent growth—a trait which continues to distinguish its descendant—promoted another move, in 1925, to 20 E. Broad-st, main office today of City National.

THIRD AND youngest of the bank's ancestors was the Bank of Commerce Co., organized in 1900. It became the National Bank of Commerce in 1905.

The trend which brought consolidation of these three main lines was at full force in 1928-29.

IN 1929, the National Bank of Commerce and City National Bank consolidated into a firm known as City National Bank of Commerce.

Then in 1929, the loop reaching back to 1868, was closed when this institution and Commercial National Bank joined forces to become the City National Bank & Trust Co. of today.

THE BANK has shown consistent growth in developing services to match what President John G. McCoy and Chairman of the Board Everett D. Reese term "the promise of a boundless future" in Columbus and surrounding areas.

Six more banking offices have been added to the two downtown facilities as the metropolitan area continued to grow. Most recent of these is the new Worthington Community Banking Center.

AN OPERATIONS Center geared to the electronics age has been placed in use to centralize and speed certain functions and approval is being awaited from the Comptroller of the Currency for acquisition of the Reynoldsburg bank.

City National resources mirror the bank's growth — $39 million in 1940, $95 million in 1949, $197 million in 1962.

They reflect the bank's success in fulfilling its heritage and reflect its readiness through service to make its own place in the economic history yet to be written.

Act Of 1863 Gave Banks Solid Basis For Growth

The year was 1863. Armies of the Union and the Confederacy were locked in civil strife that was to reach bloody and decisive heights that year at Gettysburg and Vicksburg.

It is no more coincidence that 1963, centennial year of those great battles, also marks the 100th anniversary of another event, significant and enduring in its own way on the course of the Republic: the founding of the dual banking system.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN signed the National Currency Act Feb. 25, 1863, to bring order out of monetary chaos and thus to solve a pressing Union problem — the financing of the war effort.

That piece of legislation owed more than is generally known to a statesmanlike Ohioan of the day — Columbus' Alfred Kelley. It gave modern banking a firm foundation.

CHAOS IS an understatement for the condition of the nation's currency in 1861-62.

Some 1600 state-chartered banks were in operation, printing and circulating their own bank notes, often in excess of redemption backing. Historians Charles and Mary Beard commented:

"LOCAL BANKS, either managed or chartered by the states possessed the field, having in circulation 7000 kinds of paper notes to say nothing of more than 5000 varieties of counterfeit and fraudulent issues."

Two states were exceptions. Ohio and New York had exemplary bank laws and it was to these forerunners that Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the Treasury and an easy-money foe, turned when he pressed Congress for reforms.

THE NATIONAL Act borrowed liberally from provisions of the Ohio law, authored by Kelley. This enlightened legislation had given birth to the State Bank of Ohio in 1845, an honorable and successful institution.

The Federal legislation of 1863 fathered the national bank system, helped stabilize the dizzying currency, created the office of Comptroller of the Currency, set up cash reserve and lending standards, and outlined the requirements of national chartering.

WITH MORE changes in 1864, it prompted the creation of 600 nationally-chartered banks within a year. By 1870, five years after Congress taxed state currencies virtually out of existence, it had provided the basis for 1600 national bank charters. These banks then represented 75 per cent of the nation's bank resources.

Two later changes significantly strengthened the bank system.

ONE WAS the 1913 legislation which created the Federal Reserve System of "banks for the banks."

The other was the Banking Act of 1933, a depression-born law which enforced rigorous new regulation of banks and created the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which today guarantees bank depositors against loss to $10,000.

City National's E. Broad-st office has undergone many improvements since this photo was made in 1927 but it retained its place in the heart of an active, growing Columbus.

City National Plans To Remodel Offices

Remodeling has already begun at the main office, 20 E. Broad St., and is expected to be completed by mid-April.

At 9 E. Long-st, extensive work will get started in April. Completion is scheduled for September.

The Broad-st office improvements include replacing of teller cage metalwork with glass, repainting of walls in golden hues, and woodwork in white, installation of new light fixtures and new draperies.

At the Long-st office, a new elevator is being installed, the entrance-way will be remodeled, and extensive modernizing is planned on interiors, including open teller counters to replace present teller spaces.

A CENTURY OF COMMERCIAL BANKING

Operations Center Clearing Mounts Of Accounting Work

City National Bank's carefully chartered move into the future is being kept on schedule in an unusual building at 800 Michigan-av. It is a structure most people will have no occasion to enter.

This is the Operations Center, opened last year in the Goodale Redevelopment Area. It is one of the few such banking centers in the country and the only one of its kind in Ohio. There are spaces in it for uses still in the future.

THE CENTER'S principal function is to modernize, in the most efficient way, the myriad bookkeeping and operating details behind the scenes of the complex banking business.

It centralizes the growing bulk of paper work of a business geared to providing better, faster service to people and other institutions.

TO ACCOMPLISH this, the Center is putting to work some of the most modern devices of a space-minded age. Eventually, a complete electronic data processing system will be in use.

By 1964, with installation of a 315 National Cash Register computer, the bank will be able to process mountains of paper work.

THIS YEAR alone, the Center will process 20 million bookkeeping items — quickly and accurately. In five years, it will be handling twice that many.

The Center is housed in a 20,000 sq. ft. structure. Machines are only a part of the story . . . City National has 140 employes working there.

STAR OF the devices already in use is the Center's sorter-reader, which can process checks at blurring speeds. Currently, nearly 80 of every 100 City National checking account users carry checks bearing the futuristic magnetic ink code deciphered by the sorter-reader.

Data processing takes another big step forward this month when the bank begins sending each of its 39,000 checking account customers an electronic identification card which is expected to improve service.

More equipment moves into the Center this year and City National specialists are now preparing programs for it which will bring more improvements in service to customers.

Accounts Speeded

Offices like these in the City National Bank Operations Center process customer accounts quickly and accurately, help improve banking service.

Worthington Center In Old-Style Opening

Good Neighbor Banking moves into the Worthington area this week in fitting style . . . with an old-fashioned open house that hopes to show that modern banking, with all its staid traditions, can also be traditionally friendly.

The setting: Worthington Community Banking Center, 5445 N. High St., newest addition to City National Bank's growing pattern of offices.

The house will be open to all on Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week. The Center opens for business next Monday, March 18.

Among the highlights of the busy three days of open house are commemorative gifts to visitors — City National's private label home made bread and old-fashioned apple butter.

City National's staff members will add their own historical note to the occasion. They'll dress in clothes of the Colonial era to greet open house visitors.

1863 1963 A CENTURY OF COMMERCIAL BANKING

ITS GOOD NEIGHBOR CENTENNIAL DAY

TOMORROW at City National.

We're joining other progressive banks throughout the country in celebrating the 100th Anniversary of Commercial Banking. This year marks the anniversary of the signing of the National Currency Act by President Lincoln. This act provided for the system of banking that has helped produce the greatest economic growth in the history of all countries.

TO MARK THE CELEBRATION—

you'll be surprised when you step in a City National office. First, you'll be greeted by a staff member dressed in the clothes of 100 years ago. There will be a cup of coffee and old fashioned sugar cookies for you and even a special commemorative gift for everyone. So, be sure to stop in any City National office during regular bank hours and join in the celebration. You'll enjoy the "Old Fashioned Friendliness in a modern day bank." It's what we call "Good Neighbor Banking."

Daily Parade Of Troubles Hits Juvenile Bureau

(Second of a series — By FRANK RYAN)

Come along with me on a tour of duty with officers of the juvenile bureau of the Columbus Police Department. It is a good way to learn the bureau's objectives, and its position in the area of juvenile problems and delinquency.

It's about 5 p.m., and officers are questioning a 16-year-old youth. He is suspected of check forgery, an offense usually thought of as an adult crime.

The boy has no previous record of any serious offense. Oh, yes, a little difficulty due to playing hookey from school and some problems with accepting authority both at school and at home. But nothing serious enough to warrant police or court action.

The boy knows nothing about the stolen checks that were cashed. The questioning continues. It's a surprising sort of interview for one accustomed to gaining knowledge of such matters from the family "idiot box."

There is no shouting, no threatening and no bluffing. Each of the two officers who interview the youth have essentially the same approach. Basically it is this:

"A market owner has identified you as having given him one of the stolen checks . . . This is your first big trouble, but it is serious trouble. Now is when you've got to make up your mind if you want to continue to have trouble, or do something about it . . . Do you want to become a con?"

"No," the boy says, and he draws the word out for emphasis.

Now I'm not going to kid you, son," the officer continues, "you're going to be locked up tonight; not in jail, but you'll be kept at the detention home at least for tonight."

The scene was more like a father talking to a neighbor's son, than a police officer to a law violator. The boy responded.

"Really, I don't know why," he started, as he told of taking a book of blank checks from a car. "They were sitting there, and looked so tempting.

"I thought it was a big deal. I thought I could get away with it."

The youth admitted to cashing four of the checks; total amount, about $16.

He told a story all too familiar to officers; of having built a reputation in his neighborhood. "They (the other kids) think I'm a big deal."

"I don't go to church," the boy said in answer to a question, "but I'd like to." He also expressed a desire to see a psychiatrist.

Feigning or sincere, the youth obviously was confused, in need of help, and dangerously close to the point of no return. His immediate future will rest with the decision of the juvenile division of the Franklin County Domestic Relations Court.

Now it's time to witness other facets of the bureau operation. We are delivering an "informal summons," notifying parents that one of them is to appear with their son for a traffic violation hearing. In another case it's a notice for a parent to appear with a juvenile to discuss a complaint that has come to the attention of the juvenile bureau.

It's shortly after 6 p.m., and we are on our way to talk to a youth whose stepfather has requested help in bringing his stepson into line. When we get there, we learn that the boy's mother has sent him to a relative's house to spare him the interview.

After refusing to become a referee for the domestic squabble between the husband and wife, the officer left the following words of advice: "When you two find each other, then you'll find room for the boy."

It's 7 p.m., and the cold, damp weather gives promise of a light duty tour. The promise holds good until 8 p.m. when a cruiser is dispatched to investigate a report of four juveniles loitering in an alley. We're in the vicinity, so we meet the cruiser.

The officer tells us that four boys were reportedly "wrestling around" near a garage, but have apparently left the scene.

We continue our lonely vigil along side streets and main thoroughfares. A settlement house is closing for the night, and we note that a police cruiser glides slowly by the building; a gentle reminder to the homeward-bound youth to behave. (Our car is unmarked, so we go unnoticed).

Back to the main street we go to check places where groups of teenagers are known to congregate. All is quiet.

It's about 10 p.m. now, and most of the kids apparently are where they belong — at home.

Another police radio call dealing with a juvenile is heard. The emergency squad is taking an unconscious youth to Children's Hospital. Again we are in the vicinity, and follow the Fire Department unit to the hospital.

The boy is 16 years old. The cause of his state is unknown. He was brought home, unconscious, by two companions who told his parents they had found him in the street.

The boy bore bruised and cut knees, but no other signs of injury. Among the possible causes are poisoning, internal injury or acute intoxication. There is no odor of alcohol.

This boy is the center of much attention and grave concern. Officers from the juvenile bureau begin to fit scattered bits of information together.

They learn from the boy's father that he had had a fight the day before with another boy. They learn from the boy's younger brother the names of two of his companions of the evening. The youth's address is close to the area where the four juveniles were seen earlier in the evening.

'It's No More Trouble To Stay Out'a Trouble!'

The full story was learned through some quick police investigation. The youth and his three companions were those who had been seen earlier in the evening. They had stolen and consumed an undetermined amount of vodka, hence the lack of strong alcohol odor that otherwise would have been apparent.

The youth responds to treatment, and is to be released from the hospital. His mother is instructed to accompany him to the juvenile bureau "hangover and all" at 9 o'clock the next morning. The whole experience is one the teenager will not forget for quite some time, according to both the juvenile officers and the parents.

Back at the juvenile bureau we discuss activities with Sgt. Pat Montenaro, senior night officer.

He tells us of a 15-year-old who visited the bureau to request that he be sent to the detention home. "I hear they treat you pretty good over there," he says.

It developed, Montenaro said, that the boy had committed some property damage at home. The youngster thought he would fare better under custody of juvenile authorities than with his father. Montenaro thought correction, in this matter, could better be done at home.

Montenaro is a firm believer that a healthy degree of home discipline is the surest safeguard against the necessity for eventual court discipline.

He is an outspoken advocate of a generally tougher policy in dealing with errant youth. He does not believe in continued probation for a youthful offender who has violated a current probation. "If you tell them (the teenagers) you're going to do something, you had better do it," he says.

Montenaro believes that parents must be made to assume more responsibility; that they should supply the initial "crackdown" to avoid future and more serious trouble.

Generally speaking, Montenaro belongs to the "hard" school of thought concerning juvenile delinquency. But this fact would be hard to discern in listening to him deal personally with the youth who come to his attention.

Montenaro stressed that delinquent behavior is a factor with only about five per cent of all teenagers. He said he feels that three per cent of this group could be reached with the right type of program.

There was one element that occurred to this reporter in looking back on the many hours he had spent with several of the juvenile bureau officers; not once did any of them use the word "punk" in talking about the troubled and troublesome youth.

The next article in this series will deal with the operation and attitudes of the juvenile court.

16-Year-Old Drivers Hazard; Can Ride Bus

To The Editor:

I frequently drive down Norton-rd between 7:30 and 8 a.m.

For several months I had considered calling the superintendent of the South-Western City School District or the principal of Pleasant View High School to report some of the teenage "speedsters" I have seen.

There has been an increase in the number of cars, carrying full loads of teenagers and being driven recklessly and at a high rate of speed on this road.

Many school buses travel Norton-rd every school day and a worse accident could occur at any time, than the one last Thursday.

I was in the car behind that of the teenager who hit the school bus in the rear.

The bus, going south on Norton-rd, stopped for a stop sign then carefully and slowly turned onto Alkire-rd.

The youth's car did not stop for the sign, and plowed into the rear of the bus.

The car had "zoomed" past me and went headlong into the intersection.

I was about 10 car lengths behind.

I waited, some distance back, until the Highway Patrolman motioned for the cars to move on.

As I passed the car, the teenage driver had a "smart aleck" grin on his face as though he had done something "cute."

If the tax payers provide money for school buses, these kids do not need cars to drive to school and show off to their friends.

Fortunately, no one was injured, but with the many buses on Norton-rd every day, more serious accidents may occur, unless parents and teachers control more adequately, teenage driving.

Surely, with the recent death of four Hilliard area youths, it is time for parents to be more firm and school authorities more realistic about the hazards of 16-year-olds driving.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROOS — U.S.A.

The Socialists and "parlor-pinks" never quit their nonsense. Year after year these benighted "divider uppers" carry on a constant attack on our American Way Of Life. Most of them are educated "so far beyond their native intelligence," as the immortal Mark Twain said.

Right this moment, we see the consummate folly of a tax cut without any honest attempt by the present administration to cut crazy spending for lots of "guff and goo" that contributes nothing to the real common good. All this insane extravagance is to inflate the growing army of parasitical "minders of other people's business."

Medicare is again in the forefront of their determination to socialize medicine and surgery and make the oldest and most honest profession into a political football. Not one single added service of genuine dedication could possibly come out of complete nationalization of our most vitally important public service profession.

The moment we allow this error to become intrenched in our body-politic, all of the incompetents who lack both skill and proper basic training, would move in and God help any unimportant private citizen who tried to clear the air about lack of attention to the individual patient.

Another area where the "dividers" are striving to hog-tie our safety and common need services is our public utilities. Gas, electricity, transportation, telephones — all operate under constant threat of terrific trouble. Floods, breakdowns, tornados, fires; all these hazards are always with us and if the Socialists ever succeed in taking command of these again God help this country.

Mr. JFK is in deeper trouble only half way through his first term than he realizes, perhaps. The real disease is the fact he is surrounded by a menagerie of longhairs who are publicly, (or secretly) determined to destroy all profit making enterprise.

Ernest Ball was born in Cleveland. He wrote "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling".

Tell Taylor was born in Findlay. His "Down by the Old Mill Stream" will live as long as there are barbershop quartets.

In entertainment the list is long. Annie Oakley, born Phoebe Moses, was a spectacular circus entertainer long ago.

Beloved James Thurber was born in Columbus.

Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, husband and wife, will not soon be forgotten at Ohio State.

The Gishes, Dorothy and Lillian, were born in Springfield. They began their work back in the silent movie days.

Bob Hope was born in England, but was raised in Cleveland.

Joe E. Brown was born in Holgate.

Roy Rogers was born in Duck Run, Scioto County. His real name is Leonard Slygh.

Think Again About Insecticide Effects

There always are a few persons out in front of the pack.

Such a one is my friend and former neighbor, Charles Barnett, veteran house builder who lives at 859 Chestershire-rd on the Hilltop.

Years ago in summer evening porch talks, Barnett, concerned for man's indifference to his own health, would expound in great detail about the dangers posed in the reckless use of chemicals in agriculture and in prepared foods.

McPeek

Articulate and well read on the subject, Barnett's concern was about the long-range ill effects that may result in man after years of consuming foodstuffs grown with the aid of insecticides and pesticides and then packaged or canned with the aid of chemical preservations.

Did I listen to him? Sure, but more in curiosity than in alarm. Like many nincompoops, I believed that man has the physiological strength to absorb these chemicals and develop an immunity to any danger that may be inherent in them, as did some mosquitos to DDT. (Disregarded in my ignorance was the fact that it took the mosquitos many generations to develop immunity to DDT.)

Even after reading the recently published "Silent Spring," by Rachel Carson, a controversial book devoted to the reckless use of chemical poisons, I didn't become unduly alarmed. It was only after the uproar it created in the chemical industry that I began to have second thoughts, even third thoughts.

Each time I read a piece of propaganda released by a spokesman for the chemical industry I realized that Miss Carson's book deserved much more attention than I had given it.

Not only is most of the chemical makers' propaganda feeble and distorted, but a great deal of it is downright dishonest. Anyone with the slightest intelligence should be able to see through it.

In an effort to counteract any threat to their profitable enterprise, they have accused Miss Carson of being an alarmist, an extremist, a radical, and some have gone so far as to imply she is more than naive, she is stupid.

But not once in all of the material I read did I find a single fact or contention that should make anyone disregard Miss Carson's concern.

Let me cite a typical example of the chemical industry's propaganda. It is part of an article that appeared Jan. 21 in a large metropolitan newspaper which ran a series condensed from "Silent Spring." The article, co-authored by two chemists representing one of the nation's largest chemical makers, was printed by the newspaper as a gesture to permit both sides to present their views. The following is quoted from the article:

". . . 'Silent Spring' may do more harm than good. The general reader may not immediately recognize those faults. For instance, Miss Carson refers to residues resulting from use of some insecticides and pesticides. She cites findings of harmful results of some residues. She reports on illnesses, and even death, linked to uses of such chemicals."

The article then skips to another generalization unrelated to the foregoing remarks. I reread the article, once, twice, three times. What did it say? Where were the denials? Where were the refutations? What about the "for instances?"

There certainly were none in the article. I even went to the trouble of getting a copy of the article as released from the chemical company, in the chance that part of it inadvertently had been omitted when printed by the newspaper. But it was printed fully.

I have read other articles disputing Miss Carson's book, and frankly not one of them contained a single fact or contention that merits serious attention.

So it is quite obvious that Miss Carson, a biologist who spent four and one-half years compiling her book, must know of what she has written. And it seems to me that it behooves all of us, for our own safety and welfare, to do something about the menace of these poison chemicals.

If nothing else, we should all write to our congressmen and demand that stricter legislation be enacted to prevent reckless, if not criminal, use of poison chemicals.

Lent Is Time To Renew Things Of The Heart

Here we are in the middle of Lent. We are in the midst of a real opportunity to grow more fully in the way of Jesus Christ. Yet I hear many people ask—"What is Lent?"

Lent is a season preceding the great and wonderful festival of Easter. It is a time of self-evaluation, a time for spiritual housecleaning.

Rev. Clark

In the olden days the early church set aside 40 hours for this renewal, then the period was lengthened to 40 days (six weeks). But it wasn't long before the spirituality of the church was weakened. With time Lent became nothing more than a lifeless formalism. It became like a shell without its kernel. There has been a tendency to let ritual take the place of the real deepening and renewing of one's faith.

Yet, I sometimes wonder if many people err in the opposite direction. It is possible for us to throw out the tangible reminders of ritual so that we forget Lent altogether. In this time of spring, which is truly a time of renewal, we ought to pause in our daily activity and take time for finding God.

If you want to renew your life, why not promise to take on one or two disciplines of ritual in your church? For example, why not plan to be in your pew every Sunday from now on through the Easter season? That's not asking much of you, but it takes effort on your part. Or, why not set aside a time of quiet each day for you and God alone? During this time try to get a better perspective on life. Then, too, you can decide to study one book in the Bible between now and Easter. These are some of the rituals that can deepen and renew your faith.

The deep meaning of Lent is in this opportunity to develop your spiritual discipline and devotion. Lent is not just giving up something; rather it is taking on something for your own spiritual growth. Such growth demands your discipline and exercise.

For your renewal today and in the coming weeks add this habit and ritual of the soul: One, do somebody a good turn and keep it a secret. Next, do two things each day that you don't want to — just for exercise. Finally, be unafraid, for even if you are hurt by someone, do not show it. Show instead your loving words, your kind acts and your joyful service. If you do, Lent will not become a mere series of prescribed rituals, but it will become a renewal of the heart.

Area Fives 'Advance To Quarter-Finals

West nosed its way into the quarter-finals of the Central District Class AA Tournament competition Saturday night, dumping seventh-seeded Mt. Vernon, 63-47.

Charlie Castel led the Cowboy offensive assault, although it took both teams several minutes to get on the scoring track. Castle also copped game scoring honors with 18 points as he upped West's overall record to 12-7, including three tournamnt wins.

THE GAME started out slowly, but never turned into an offensive carnival, as neither team could hit a hot streak—West with 31% and Mt. Vernon hitting 29%.

The first quarter found the Cowboys leading by a one-point, 11-10, margin; and the halftime score again found the Cowboys on top by one, 22-21.

But then Castle took over the scoring punch from Jim Hughes, who carried the brunt of the offensive for the first half with 11 points, and led the Broncos to a 12-point, 43-31, margin midway through the third period.

ALTHOUGH CASTLE LED all scoring, two other Cowboys hit double figures: Jim Hughes with 16 and Jerry Carter with 13.

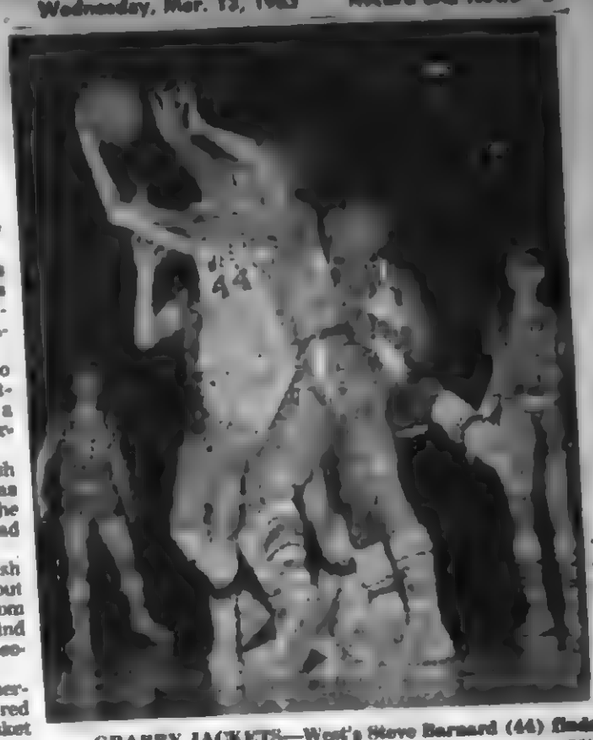
CENTRAL AND Aquinas joined the Cowboys in the quarter-final bracket with tourney wins over the weekend. The Pirates came from behind to down Delaware, 35-29, Friday while the Terriers polished off Hilliard, 60-44, in Saturday's final at the Coliseum.

Delaware tried a "slow motion" policy against Central. The snail system worked successfully in the first half as they left the court at halftime sporting a 17-16 advantage.

The Pirates turned the tables in the third period, however, outscoring Delaware, 12-6, to move into a lead they never relinquished.

Tom Fullove's 12 points keyed the Central offense as the Pirates notched their fifteenth win this season as compared to four setbacks.

AQUINAS STARTED to roll in the third period, outscoring Hilliard, 20-8, after a nip-and-tuck first half Saturday evening.



Mike Welling put the Irish ahead to stay by two points as the first half closed and the Wildcats never saw the lead again.

Pat Mendel paced the Irish attack with 16 points but teammates Welling and Tom Hartmann were close behind with 13 and 15 points respectively.

In regards to shooting percentages, the Terriers fired five more shots at the basket than did Hilliard (61-56), connecting on an equal number more baskets than the Wildcats.

SHOVE OFF, STEVE—appears to be the advice Mt. Vernon's Toni Jamboski has for West's Steve Barnard (44) as the Jacket cager plays a little game of keep-away with the Cowboy defender. Jamboski has just nabbed a rebound following an errant West field goal attempt. The Cowboys managed to make more fielders than the Jackets during the rest of the game, however, advancing to the AA quarter-finals with a 63-47 verdict over Mt. Vernon in Saturday evening's tourney play.

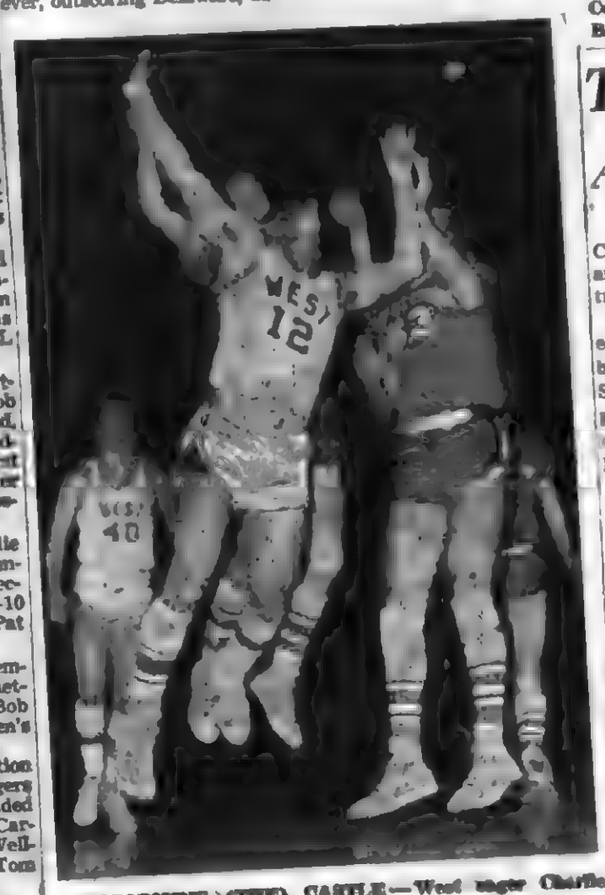
Fullove Nabs All-City Spot

Central's Tom Fullove was the only area cager selected to the All-City basketball first team announced early this week by loop coaches.



Fullove, the Pirates' 5-11 senior guard, was the mentors' only unanimous pick on a seven-man team which was heavily dominated by CL champ East.

THE TIGERS entire starting five — Ed Waller, Bob Calloway, Mike Hammond, Ken Fowlkes and Avery Godfrey — was named to the first team. Linden's Nelson Hunter rounded out the top seven selections.

West's 5-8 senior Charlie Castle and Central's 6-2 senior Jim Roberts collected second team berths as did 5-10 Aquinas senior guard Pat Mentel.

Other second team members were: Tom Isaly, Whetstone; Woody Fox and Bob Kanuth, North, and Linden's Bob Baker.

In the honorable mention department, five area cagers were picked. They included Ron McDaniel and Jerry Carter from West and Mike Welling, Tom Woodward and Tom Hartmann from Aquinas.

STORMING (THE) CASTLE—West cager Charlie Castle (12) finds the traffic a bit heavy under the Cowboy basket as he converts a field goal attempt Saturday evening in AA tournament play against Mt. Vernon. The Jackets' Tom Woodward (53) and another Mt. Vernon defender ride Castle all the way to the basket, attempting to corral the Cowboy cager.

Maple Heights Nabs Mat Title; East Takes 13th

Only one area matman — East's Clarence Gossett—advanced past the quarter-final cutoff mark over the weekend as Maple Heights snared its second state wrestling title in as many years, topping runner-up Toledo St. Francis 40-34.

Gossett was decisioned in the heavyweight class by Solon's Dennis Meggysey in the semi-finals Saturday at St. Johns Arena but his progress helped to accumulate a total of 10 points for the Tigers who placed in a three-way tie for thirteenth place in the team standings—highest finish among area schools.

WEST AND Franklin Heights gathered two points apiece while Pleasant View garnered one point. Three area grapplers won in opening round competition but lost out in the quarter finals. They were John Holloway of P-V, Roger Young of East and Franklin Heights' John Rigga.

112 — Jan Maynard (Cleveland South) dec. Clarence Mingo (Canton McKinley) 4-0.
120 — Stan Berlin (Cleveland Heights) dec. Bill Stewart (Toledo St. Francis) 4-0.
127 — Roger Andrews (Bartlake North) dec. Jim Skelly (Mayfield Heights) 5-1.
133 — Joe Pettiford (Maple Heights) dec. Tom Grizzy (Kent State) 4-2.
138 — Phil Burke (Toledo St. Francis) dec. Mike Sailer (Toledo Macomber) 3-1.
146 — Robert Haagen (Will. S.) pinned Bill Founds (Stebbins), 3:28.
155 — Walt Keith (Elyria) dec. Carl Frey (Cl. Lincoln) 5-1.
165 — Ed Cummings (Cl. Rush) dec. Jim Sherrard (Canton Tus.), 7-4.
175 — Mike Orazen (Euclid) dec. Bill Dilley (Cl. Rush), 2-0.
Heavyweight — Dennis Meggysey (Solon) dec. Gary Barylski (Valley F.), 3-0.

Final match of the indoor shooting season will be held Sunday, Mar. 31 at Olentangy Rifle Range.

All-Independent Includes Ready, Family Cagers

Two Bishop Ready cagers and one from Holy Family were named to the All-Independent basketball squad early this week as selected by coaches of the area's four non-league schools.

Sophomores Jay Kubin and Hank Martensen were selected from the Silver Knight quintet while Dave Lee was picked from the Raider five.

Other All-Independent selections included Paul Whitehead of Brookhaven and Ohio Deaf's John Bradley and Henry Evans.

Glenwood Advances In Tourney

The Senior Boys All-Stars from Glenwood Recreation Center advanced to the semi-finals of the City Inter-Center Basketball Tournament held at the Linden Recreation Center.

IN THE FIRST game, the Glenwood Stars defeated Whetstone Recreation Center, 59-49. Glenwood lacked Whetstone's height but made up for it in mobility.

Glenwood was down by four points with four minutes to play but in that final four minutes Glenwood stole the ball several times and scored 14 straight points while holding their opponents scoreless. Phil Tucker led in scoring with 19 while teammate Mike Scheel had 14.

IN THE SECOND game, Glenwood stopped Thompson Recreation Center, 73-59. The fast-breaks and fine team playing was just too much for the boys from Thompson who were eliminated from tournament play.

At halftime, Glenwood was leading by seven points but at the end of the third period the lead was 20. Glenwood had four players hitting in double figures. Mike Scheel and Bill Wells were tops with 13 each, followed by Lawrence Stewart and Bill Karn with 12 each.

Hilltop Leaguers To Visit Hilliard

Hilltop Intermediate and Senior Luther Leagues will be guests of Resurrection Luther League in Hilliard Sunday, Mar. 17.

Speaker will be Maryka Laserte, who formerly lived in the Netherlands, and is now a senior at Hilliard High School.

All Hilltop Leaguers are to meet at the church at 2:15, and from there be transported to Resurrection Lutheran.

Track Finals Here Another City First

The National A.A.U. Women's Indoor Track and Field Championships, to be held at French Fieldhouse Mar. 22 and 23, will mark the first time a Pan-American Games final tryout has been held in Columbus, in any event.

The first two Americans in each event at this meet will be eligible for the United States team which will compete at the fourth Pan-American Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil, Apr. 27 - May 4.

JIM LORIMER, President of the sponsoring Ohio Track Club, expects as many as 20 teams and possibly 200 individuals to enter the two-day competition for national honors.

However, Lorimer points out, the meet also has much local interest, with members of the strong Ohio Track Club girls team figuring prominently in several events.

In the 440, Sue Knott will defend the championship she won at Louisville last year. The Ohio State freshman holds the U. S. indoor record in this event and is also the outdoor titlist. Estelle Baskerville will also be defending a title won at Louisville in the high jump. Among her closest competitors should be teammate Chris Miller.

FOR THE PAST two years the Ohio Track Club has won the 880 medley relay and will field another strong contender in the event this year. Other local girls to be watched are Sandy Fears in the dashes and Karen Davis in the 880.

Also entered in the latter event will be Sue Knott's sister, Sandy, now living in Cleveland, who was runner-up in both the indoor and outdoor meets in 1962.

Other entries have been received from as far as Hawaii, Louisiana, Texas, California, Canada, and even Brazil. Tennessee State University will bring their usual strong contingent to defend the team title.

Also present for the meet will be Wilma Rudolph, 1960 Olympic triple-gold-medal winner. However, her competitive status is uncertain, due to a recent appendicitis operation.

Because the meet is a Pan-American tryout, the discus and javelin have been added to the usual schedule of events, making a total of 14 events. Preliminaries will be conducted on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, with finals beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained from the Athletic Ticket Office at St. John's Arena.

Senior Citizens' Shuffleboard Tourney Slated

The third annual county-wide Senior Citizens' Shuffleboard Tournament will be held Tuesday, Mar. 26, 9 a.m. at the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center, 275 McDowell-st. The tournament is open to anyone 60 years of age or over. Beginners are welcome.

Entry blanks for the tournament are at the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center or Columbus Recreation Department, Room 124, City Hall. Telephone entries can be accepted up until 5 p.m. Wednesday, Mar. 20. Telephone CA. 1-6090.

Sports Smorgasbord From Soup To Nuts

Just as a number of people feared, the proposed point-system plan for selecting the state's top high school football champ, via post season playoff games, is in hot soup with a hatful of stumbling blocks to overcome.

Arlington coach Marv Morehead, a member of the committee working on the plan, reported Friday that "we've made some progress, but in a nutshell, there's a lot more involved here than we thought. I guess you could say we're still confused—but at a higher level."

THE SAME INITIAL problems have been magnified after meetings with the state commissioner with no ready-made solutions present on the horizon.

Biggest roadblocks still standing are (1) What type of point system should be used? (2) What kind of a differential should be used for teams scheduling a different number of games or playing too many games out of their competition? (3) Who will do the recording of the point system? (4) Would the defending state champ occupy any position in the succeeding year's playoffs? (5) In case of a tie, how would the rating be figured?

"THE LENGTH OF the season would take us past Thanksgiving. Then you have the weather to consider," Morehead said. "Since the point system would not only involve the top team but also the teams it had played, we might need an IBM setup to keep track of every football game played in the state.

"We're still hopeful that solutions to these problems can be found," Morehead concluded. The committee will bring its findings to a state board meeting during the Mar. 29-30 weekend.

Hardwood Robbery . . .

ANYONE CONSIDERED writing the Justice Department about the "Coach of the Year" selection this season? Admittedly we weren't much of a Fred Taylor man when Jerry Lucas and Co. were dropping 'em in for the Bucks.

"Who couldn't win three Big Ten titles with players like that?" was the general consensus. So what happens when "Frantic Fred" whips up a basketball filet mignon out of what most pre-season scribes labeled "leftovers"?

'It Would Kill Me' . . .

TOMMY HENRICH on the new enlarged strike zone: "Johnny Edwards (Cincinnati catcher) told me recently that the strike zone in the National League had dropped almost to the waist. The real reason this new zone was set up is to raise the area of the strike back to its proper position. Of course, the whole matter rests with the individual umpire. He still calls the balls and strikes.

If the new zone is taken literally, I think you'll see a lot of players developing a new stance of batting and switching quickly from a crouched position. As a low ball hitter, I know one thing. The new zone would sure kill me."

Yankee Finish - 125 . . .

FOR THOSE WHO take stock in the future success or failure of a major league ball club in regard to the win-loss record of said club's farm system, here's some interesting statistics as we approach another opening day.

Most successful farm organization last season was the Detroit chain (432-337). Cleveland placed sixth in the 20-team lineup (420-395) while Cincinnati was seventh at 343-328.

Don't put too much faith in determining the pennant winner from the won-loss differences. San Francisco placed 18th (482-537) while the New York (ho-hum) Yankees pulled up solidly in last place with 385 wins and 510 losses for a W-L difference of 125.

Liston - Clay Debate . . .

ROUND AND ROUND it goes. Where it stops dept. — Sonny Liston suggested last week that Cassius Clay be arrested for impersonating a boxer. Clay retorted that he "would shut Liston's big mouth" when he took over the world's heavyweight title. Asked how long he thought he would retain the crown, Clay blandly remarked—"Oh, I'd say about 10 years. Then I'll turn it over to my younger brother, Something like the Kennedys."

Maybe—maybe not but if these two components of the spoken jab ever get around to meeting each other in the ring, the promotion boys might have to put seats in Arizona's Meteorite Hole to accommodate the crowd.

AUBLEGRAPH

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Entertainment Editor

'Vaud-Villities 1963' Is Coming; Need I Say More?

Vaud-Villities '63 publicity bounced into the office again this year with the soft-sell likened to a two-ton locomotive, and, after checking the press releases, this year's show seems to be the greatest thing for tired blood since "Nature's" spelled backward.

The show, this time entitled "Broadway Springtime!" will be offered Friday and Saturday, Mar. 29 and 30, in Vets Memorial. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

There's something about Vaud-Villities '63 publicity sheets. Simply calling them "news and information releases" falls short in description.

The pages seem to buzz with the excitement of footlights, the melodious hum of vaudevillian favorites like "By The Light Of The Silvery Moon," the smell of heavy make-up and the thrill of a circus overture.

Instantly you're hit with the phrase, "an achievement in magic with music." If that isn't enough to start you waving flags, they come back with lines like "melodic, beauty, color, fun for everyone" or "Come and be enchanted!"

One of the biggest selling points of the show, of course, is the fact that all the talent comes from Franklin County residents. The down-home flavor of this 21st anniversary show is heightened when you consider that 47 different churches are represented by cast members.

The 300-member cast has been in rehearsal since January at First Community Church for this presentation.

All profits will go to charity, church-sponsored charities and to show properties.

Actually, gang, you don't need the fancy press releases to sell Vaud-Villities '63. The public has demonstrated that to you in the past. Just let them know the date and curtain time — that's all. They'll do the rest.

Civic Ballet Readies Show

The Columbus Civic Ballet Company will appear Saturday, Mar. 23, 8:30 p.m. at the Hartman Theatre. A program of three ballets, "Hommage A-Glinka," "The Story Of Celeste" and "The Wedding Cake," will be presented.

Tickets for the performance are available at Summers and Son box office, 114 E. Broad-st. All seats are $2.

Eagles Plan For Dinner, Dance

The Drill and Ritual Team of Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, has announced plans to sponsor a chicken a la king and steak Italian dinner Sunday, Mar. 17, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The dinner is open to all Eagles and their families. Donations are $1 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age.

A St. Patrick's Day dance will follow the dinner from 7 to 10 p.m.

'How To Succeed In Business' Is Superb . . . Without Really 'Lying'

By JOHN AUBLE Jr.
Entertainment Editor

CINCINNATI, Ohio — The wacky world of carbon paper and steno pools came alive here last week during a press preview showing of "How To Suceed In Business Without Really Trying" prior to its one-week stand in Columbus beginning Monday, Mar. 18.

The musical comedy should prove the greatest thing for Vets Memorial since "My Fair Lady" — if not the greatest thing for Columbus since its sesquicentennial.

It doesn't take much effort to realize that most of the credit for this Pulitzer prize winner goes to its author, Abe Burrougha, who has delightfully managed to grab slices from everyone's office life — without much exaggeration at all.

"Play It the Company Way" is not only the scheme of how to get ahead but also one of the featured melodies. Don't misunderstand, it's not the type of musical you come away from whistling show tunes. The music is too cleverly woven into the plot for that.

Not only is the music well-woven, but the cast is such a tightly-knit group that it resembles the finest knit 1, purl 2 work of grandma.

When it comes to big stars, the show boasts Willard Waterman, whose most popular characterization was that of the Great Gildersleeve. But likable Dick Kallman, who plays the lead, is no pill either.

Nor is comely Maureen Arthur or Dyan Cannon, who carry the female roles of Hedy LaRue and Kallman's gal friend — in that order.

The twinkle and shine cast members are part of the National Company of the show, the Broadway cast of which [redacted] the New York Drama Critics award and played to more than 574,600 theatergoers.

A comparison between this touring company and the home-towners is almost impossible after viewing the finesse and talent of this road group.

If anything, the company enroute to Columbus offers a fresher, livelier approach to the show, since, as with most long-run Broadway productions, the boredom of routine takes its toll.

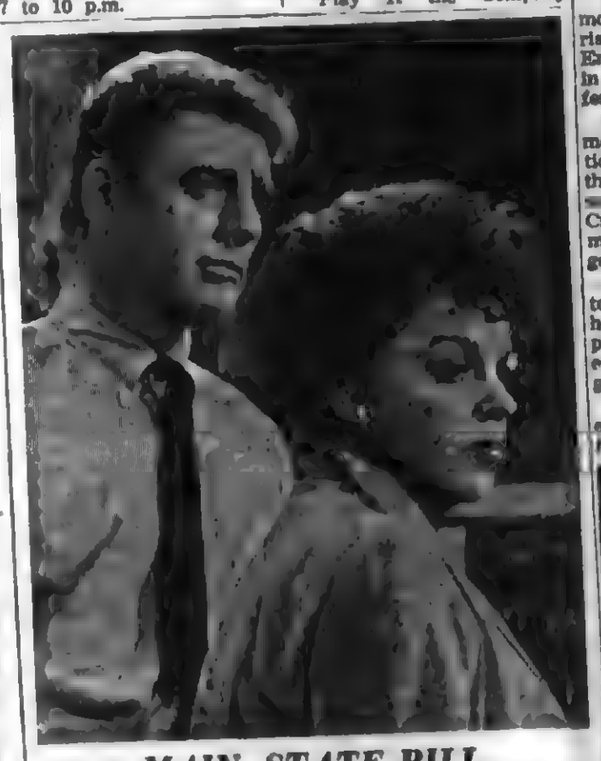
As far as any "moral lessons" in this presentation, you're safer if you don't look for any. It falls under the bright, bold heading of "entertainment" with a capital "E".



It's a satirical look at the American social system and so up-to-date that Burroughs even slipped in the "Greasy Kid Stuff" line during a scene in the executive's washroom.

A slap at television quiz shows was included with World Wide Wickets company presenting a give-away, which leads up to the funniest line in the show.

Shapely Miss LaRue is billed as the "Treasure Chest Girl" and, before she gives clues to where the loot is hidden, she's asked to take an oath on the Good Book. "Is this a real Bible?" she asks to assure authenticity.

Performances at Vets will be Monday through Saturday at 8:15 p.m. with matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Central Ticket Office Mail orders should be ac- (Richman's), 37 N. High-st. Mail orders should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SPRING SERIES SET AT HILLTOP YWCA FOR DO-IT-YOURSELFERS

One of the most exciting classes of the spring term at the Hilltop YWCA Center, 2879 Valleyview-dr, is the series on interior decorating with accent on accessories.

Emphasis will be placed on the do-it-yourself approach with advice on picture groupings, making ready - made draperies appear custom made, and turning white elephants into conversation pieces.

This will be a six weeks' course, meeting on Thursday mornings, beginning Mar. 21, taught by Perry Davis.

Due to the enthusiastic response to the class in crewel embroidery now in progress, a new class will start on Mar. 21.

The eight-week course will be under the instruction of Mrs. Lester N. Pepper. On the same day, Mrs. Ernest Ocher will conduct a knitting and crochet workshop. The class will continue for four weeks and will be directed to those who have knitting and crocheting problems, and those who are interested in learning new stitches.

Other classes will be given in advanced cake decorating under Mrs. William Lutz, and a beginners' class in self-improvement under Mrs. Howard Wilson, emphasizing visual poise, hair styling and make-up, speech and social graces.

Another innovation will be a six weeks' course in furniture finishes, including refinishing, decorating, and antiquing furniture, under the instruction of Mrs. R. Jerry Rogers, Mrs. Ivan Christmas, and Mrs. Marvon Crosten.

For teenagers, a new course will be offered in baby-sitting safety, with first aid, personal safety, and baby-sitting etiquette, and will be taught by Lt. William Hennosy of the fire department, and Jeanne Bray of the police department.

An eight-week course in personal charm, poise and wardrobe selection will be repeated under Mrs. Robert Dean.

Registrations are now being taken for all classes and can be made by calling CA. 4-9121. Child care will be available if requested.

GIRLS ARRANGE BIRTHDAY PROGRAM

CAMP FIRE GIRLS' 51st birthday (week of Mar. 17 to 24) will be marked at a big Southwest District celebration at Grove City High School at 2 p.m. Sunday, Mar. 24. Representing the four age groups who will interpret the eight points of the Camp Fire Law in song or skit are, from left, Cynthia Monette, 354 Weymouth-la (Camp Fire, fourth through sixth graders); Debbie Gordon, 837 Demorest-rd (Junior High); Carolyn Beranek, 244 S. Roys-av (Horizon Club for high school girls); and Karen Davis, 3361 Stephen-dr (Bluebird, second and third graders). The organization has 117 active groups in the Southwest District.

IN HONOR of National Girl Scout Week, Mar. 10 to 17, the members of Troop 334 (West Broad Street Presbyterian Church) presented two books to Franklinton Branch Library, 340 Sullivant-av. One, entitled "Lady From Savannah," is a biography of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in America. The other is "Just Imagine," a basic third grade reader. Mrs. Samuel McGavran, librarian, accepts the gifts from (left to right) Peggy Hixson, 301 Avondale-av; Evelyn Durbin, 107 Jesse-av; and Sandy Hixson, 301 Avondale. Their leader, Mrs. Tom Gregory (who is also neighborhood chairman), said the troop will have a bird merit badge display in the library window during Girl Scout Week.

Glen Valley Neighborhood

Parents and Girl Scouts of the Glen Valley Neighborhood are invited to a meeting for all the troops in this neighborhood, District VIII, which will be held at the West Broad Street Presbyterian Church at Dakota-av and West Broad-st, Wednesday, March 6 at 3:30 p.m. Two films on camping will be shown. Neighborhood Camping Representative Mrs. V. H. Coleman will be present.

Troop 77

A special mother-daughter meeting was held at the Chicago Avenue School in an endeavor to find an assistant leader for Mrs. Edward Bell of this troop. Neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Tom Gregory, gave a short talk on the purposes of Girl Scouting. Mothers in attendance were: Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Lois Tilley, Mrs. Loretta Rhodes, Mrs. Ruth Cornelow, Grace Walker, Mrs. Donna Tolliver, Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall, Mrs. Marie Meadows, Mrs. Betty Waller and Mrs. Betty Jane Twiggs.

Special training classes will be held at Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Briggs-rd, Monday, Mar. 25 and Wednesday, Mar. 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Evening classes will be held at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Vida-pl, Thursday, Mar. 28, Tuesday, April 2 and Thursday, April 4, from 7 to 10 p.m.

Hilltop Neighborhood

Troop 669, Troop 537

These two troops attended Camp Ken-Jockety Jan. 18 to 20. This was the first camping experience for Troop 537. A skating party was held as well as camp capers, fire-building, wood gathering, hiking and exploring. In the evenings there were original skits, paper bag dramatics and games.

Attending were: Theresa Dannahar, Lisa Richter, Nancy Herringer, Terrie Ryan, Kathy Schmitzer, Linda Karnes, Ann Stoffel, Karen Jones, Joan Devaney, Marjorie Redmond, Mary K. Duncan, Margaret Knipfer, Barbara Fowler, Janice Logan, Cheryl Porter, Judy Reynolds and Deborah Sines. Leaders are Mrs. Don Stoffel, Mrs. Robert Duncan, Mrs. John Sines and Mrs. John Ryan.

Brownie Troop 128

Investiture was held for this new Brownie troop Jan. 19 at the home of troop leader, Mrs. Harry Koppenhover, 717 Wilson-rd. A play, "The Brownies," written by Kathy Gatten, was presented. The following girls were invested: Deborah Barry, Rene Forshey, Kathy Gatten, Paula Grubb, Toni Holcomb, Pamela Koppenhover, Sheila Manasco, Maureen Morgan, Leslie Pack, Sally Richardson, Karen Snyder and Patricia Wolford. Leader is Mrs. Harry Koppenhover; assistant, Mrs. John Morgan; transportation chairman, Mrs. E. Forshey; camping representative, Mrs. Paula Grubb; committee chairman, Mrs. Earl Holcomb, and finance chairman, Mrs. William Pack.

Persons desiring to attend the two training classes should contact Mrs. William Schultz, neighborhood troop organizer, at BR. 9-1790.

Awards Given At Cub Dinner

Pack 182, sponsored by the Hilltop Church of God, held their Blue and Gold Banquet Thursday, Mar. 7, with about 160 persons attending.

Three new dens have been added to the pack since September, which according to Harold Arnold, neighborhood commissioner, is the fastest growth of any pack, he has witnessed, in the past 16 years.

Those receiving Denner Bars were Bobby Rowe, Jimmy Wright and Tommy Wilson. Assistant Denner Bars were presented to Steve Pfaffenberger, Freddie Rice, Ronnie Kimberling and Gary Herndon.

A Wolf badge was presented to Joseph Sarvino, a Bear badge to Jimmy Locy and a Lion badge to Bobby Pope.

Those receiving year pins were Jimmy Locy, Jerry Ebert, Tommy Shue, Gary Herndon, Danny Cline and Jimmy Cline. Mrs. Millie Smeck, den mother, also received a year pin.

Following the banquet and presentation of awards, elimination races were run for the Pinewood Derby. Winners were Jimmy Locy, first; Joseph Sarvino, second, and Bobby Rowe, third. They will be eligible to compete in the district run-off.

Special guests for the banquet were Rev. and Mrs. R. Ruthven Neff and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arnold, Boy Scout Troop 182 and the Boy Scout Committee. Rev. Neff is pastor of the Hilltop Church of God. Robert Locy is the Scoutmaster.

Lane Completes Winter Training

Army Pfc. Charles G. Lane, son of Mrs. Georgia Wooten, 460 W. Town-st, took part in winter training maneuvers with the Fourth Armored Division in Grafenwohr, Germany recently.

Lane entered the Army in May, 1960, completed his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived overseas in Aug., 1962.

The 19-year-old soldier is assigned to the 2nd Howitzer Battalion's Battery C of the Division's 78th Artillery, in Germany, as a cannoneer.

650 Troops Serve Columbus State School With Projects

A year ago, at the 50th anniversary celebration of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America, the Ohio Trefoil Council pledged intensified service to the Columbus State School. This was a golden birthday gift to unfortunate children of the community as a part of a nationwide Youth Serves Youth project.

Director of volunteer services at the school, Mrs. Marty Dye, and Mrs. Hugh Steele, Girl Scout service projects coordinator, report that 650 of the 870 troops have helped the 1,500 young people residing at the school.

Brownies, Intermediates and Seniors from Delaware, Fayette, Franklin, Pickaway and Union counties have made favors, scrapbooks, stuffed toys, bean bags, aprons; hemmed towels and diapers; helped with parties, the Fourth of July Carnival, the camp program, and have given gifts at every holiday throughout the year.

Eleven Senior Girl Scouts from four troops, who have had special Girl Scout training as occupational therapy aides, performed 375 hours of service in the psychology department as well as in recreation. Mrs. Maxine Furlough and Larry Johnson of the school staff have particular praise for these girls, their leaders and trainers.

Dr. Roger Gove, superintendent of the Columbus State School, states that "It is felt the Girl Scouts are providing lasting and valuable services to our residents and for this we are truly grateful to them."

According to the Trefoil Council, projects at the State School will continue to play an important role in troop program as the council moves into the four age level program change in the fall and as it joins Fairfield, Hocking, Highland and Ross County Girl Scouts to charter the new Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council in October.

Jan. 7, 1939, California's Governor Olson pardoned Tom Maloney, who had been imprisoned for the Los Angeles Preparedness Day bombing during World War I.

It will be shown Sunday, Mar. 17, at 8 p.m. No admission will be charged, but free will offering will be taken. Public invited.

Central Y-Teens Hold Style Show

Y-Teen members served as models.

Modeling sportswear were Linda Cotton, Mary McNally and Mary Winters; separates, Stella Kalliantas, Jean Kelso and Nancy VanCleaf; casual dresses, Rose Vaughn, Susan Beach and Mary Jane Lee, and date dresses, Karen Bell, Linda Wilson and Saundra Hawkins.

Honor your father and mother, and you shall love your neighbor as yourself.—Matthew 19:19.

Lenten Rites Under Way At Bethlehem

At each of the special Lenten services at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, a person of the Passion Story makes his appearance.

On the two past Wednesdays, Judas told of his betrayal, and Simon of Cyrene told of the cross he helped to carry.

During the next weeks of Lent, Simon Peter, Pontius Pilate, Caiaphas the high priest, the Centurion, and the penitent thief will be portrayed by Rev. Fred Kopfer, in full make up and dress of that time. Eric Marlow is assisting with make up and costume.

Time of services are 6:30 and 7:15 p.m. each Wednesday to Holy Week, and on Maundy Thursday and Good Friday during Holy Week.

TB Society To Give Free Tuberculin Test To Students

Six hundred twenty-three first, seventh and 11th graders in Hilltop and West Side parochial schools will be offered free Christmas Seal tuberculin tests Mar. 19, the Tuberculosis Society announced.

Hilltop and West Side area schools to be tested are St. Agnes, St. Aloysius, Holy Family, St. Cecilia and St. Mary Magdalene.

The tests offered school children are the Mantoux, needle-type tests, according to C. Edward Harrison, case-detection director for the society.

Given by qualified medical personnel, the tests signal positive reactors who have TB germs in their bodies.

"A positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean the student has active tuberculosis," Harrison explained. "It does mean that he has been near someone who did have TB that is catching and that TB germs have entered his body."

Tests are only given to children whose parents return signed forms requesting the free test.

"We don't want to miss anyone in this life-saving and TB prevention program. We hope every parent will request the test."

MOWAC Class Sells Tickets

MOWAC Sunday School class of West Park Methodist Church is selling tickets for the next edition of NOWAC Minstrels.

The productions will be given at the church at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, Apr. 25 and 26. Admission is 25 cents.

PAINT . . . Protects wood and metal
GOD'S WORD . . . Protects the soul

As paint protects wood and metal from decay, rust, and corrosion, so the promises found in God's word protect the soul from the evils of sin, anxiety and despair. Hear God's wonderful promises proclaimed from the pulpit in the church of your choice this Sunday. These promises so heard will accomplish wonderful things in your soul and heart, for God says of His Word, "It shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." Isaiah 55:11.

Vern's Auto Electric Offers Many Types Of Services

Specializing in complete electrical service for all makes of automobiles, Vern's Auto Electric has found it necessary to expand into new and larger facilities at 196 S. Glenwood-av. The company was formerly located at 139 S. Skidmore-st.

Manager Vern Rich stated the success of alternator systems in automobiles, which his company specializes in, has created the need for the larger space. Vern's not only repairs alternator electrical systems but will convert any car from the conventional generator to the new type system.

Rich said, "many people, especially police and emergency vehicles, are converting to alternators because of the need for constant charging of the battery and the large amount of power needed to operate sirens, radios and other electrical equipment.

"We do, however, find that many private owners are switching to this type of system because of its low cost in upkeep and its dependability," he added.

Besides alternator conversion, Vern's Auto Electric also specializes in rewiring, generator repair, starter repair, battery sales and service and a complete road service, including light towing.

A newly-added specialty at Vern's is a complete welding service utilizing either a gas or electric welding torch.

Future plans call for the addition of a wrecker and facilities for installing the new transistorized ignition system in automobiles.

Since much of the company's work is done on emergency vehicles, repairmen are on 24 hour call and can be reached at any time by dialing the emergency number in the phone book during non-business hours.

A spring auto tune-up special will be offered beginning April 1. Eight cylinder cars will be completely checked, spark plugs replaced, points renlaced, condenser replaced, voltage regulator and generator checked and road tested for $16.95. The same service for a six cylinder car will be priced at $14.95.

Rich also stated his organization does light mechanical repairs and carburetor cleaning and tune-up.

ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT

Awards Presented In Hilltop 'Y' Mint Sale

Members of the Hilltop YMCA have just completed their annual sale of mints for World Service. One hundred twenty-five boys and girls took part in the campaign in which over 4,000 boxes were sold.

Proceeds will be used toward meeting the branch World Service goal for 1963. This missionary work of the "Y" enables less fortunate countries throughout the world to be reached by the helping arm of this most important endeavor.

Topping this year's salesmen was Philip Walker, 577 S. Harris-av, who sold 432 boxes and was awarded a new bicycle. Runner-up was Chuck Martin who sold 240 boxes and decided to take his prize to help pay his way to Camp Alfred L. Willson this summer.

The following boys sold 72 boxes: Dave Armstrong, Robert Gantz, Joe Martin, Marc Moriva and James Pennington.

The next step in the awards included these salesmen selling from 48-72 boxes. They were Charles Ash, Steve Andrews, Roger Caldwell, Jimmy Damoupoulos, Floyd Graves, Tom Hamacher, Vic Piani, David Smith, Allen Taynor, Jack Thrush and David Weeks.

Some boys will continue to sell candy for the next two weeks to work toward raising more money for attending Camp Willson.

Alterations And Remodeling Featured By Stonecraft Co.

The Stonecraft Company, established eight years ago to promote the use and sale of stone products in construction, doesn't do stone work anymore.

Instead, according to company manager O. J. Marcus, "We now specialize in all types of home remodeling, including room additions, roofing, siding and altering."

Marcus added that the company just seemed to outgrow the stone business, expanded to home remodeling of all types and has confined its activities to this particular field.

Samples of past work and ideas for future construction are available to the public at the Stonecraft Co. offices at 979 E. Main-st.

The business employs eight persons on its staff to facilitate speedy remodeling and repair work. Free estimates are available by calling Stonecraft at 258-8920.

Jan. 11, 1569, St. Paul's Cathedral in London was the scene of England's first lottery, held under the patronage of Queen Elizabeth I.

Good Food Is To Be Found At Shamrock

A good eating "shopping center" has been developed by Clifford and Betty Pickerel at the Shamrock Restaurant and Bakery, 16 Bridge-st, Dublin, since they took the establishment over last August.

The restaurant and bakery, besides offering top quality food on the premises, also specializes in preparing banquets and dinners for weddings and meetings or in providing tasty pastries for special events.

Clifford operates the bakery portion of the business and provides a complete line of baked goods, including home made bread, pies, rolls and doughnuts for his many customers. He likes to specialize in all types of doughnuts and pastries.

Betty handles the restaurant side of the business and takes pride in the special dinners featured every day. Another special of the house is the hot roast beef sandwich, with all the trimmings. The home made chili is prepared right on the premises from the Pickerel's own recipe.

Betty and Clifford, who live above the bakery, have had extensive experience in the bakery and restaurant business. They have either owned or been employed by similar enterprises for a large part of their lives.

Clifford says he likes to welcome visitors and browsers to the food "shopping center" and takes a lot of pride in showing them around the premises. "Anyone who would like to stop by and just visit is certainly welcome here," he said.

Closer Traffic Check Ordered In Hilltop Area

As a result of the latest two-week traffic accident report, Police Chief George Scholer has ordered increased enforcement on stop sign and speed violators on Broad-st from Demorest-rd to Hague-av. Most accidents occur between 4 and 9 p.m. the report reveals.

Great Western Stores Go Crazy With Specials

Glicks Holding Annual 19% Bonus Event To Offer Bargains To Local Consumers

Glick's original, 37th annual 19 per cent Bonus Event began Monday, Mar. 4, according to an announcement by Robert A. Glick, president of the Glick Furniture Company.

The annual event offers Glick customers a bonus of 19 per cent of their purchases to be applied to the cost of any additional home furnishings from the Glick store according to the company president.

He added, "Any family in the market for home furnishings in the next three months will find it profitable to make their selections now during the 19 per cent Bonus Event."

The savings are being offered by all five of the Glick stores including downtown Columbus, 65 E. Long-st, and in the Great Western, Town and Country and Northern Lights Shopping centers. The same program is also being offered in the Chillicothe Store.

Glick's Stores feature free delivery anywhere in Ohio and credit terms. Free storage, for future delivery and interior decorating services, are also available without charge.

GLICK'S Furniture Store Executives make plans and preparations for the annual 19 per cent Bonus Event now in progress at the Glick Stores in the Columbus area and Chillicothe. Shown, from left, are William Glick, executive vice-president of the Glick Furniture Co.; Donald Dittman, manager of Glick's Great Western Store, and Robert A. Glick, company president.

New Camp Trailer Flexible, Economical

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Well, somebody had to do it and it was a long time in coming. But in a week or so you'll be able to examine the first camping trailer with an unfinished interior. Called the "Scotsman," it is manufactured by the J. S. MacLean Co., 470 S. Front-st.

Why would anyone want to buy a camper that is not finished, a so-called shell? "For two main reasons," says Hayden MacLean, president of the firm that specializes in architectural millwork, bank and office fixtures. "The first is economy. By doing the interior finish work campers can save themselves quite a lot of money. Secondly, campers can devise their own floor plans, including what they want and leaving out what they don't want."

This makes sense to me. Campers, for the most part, are notorious do-it-yourselfers or they wouldn't go camping in the first place. The chance to save money by installing cabinets, bunks, closet, refrigerator, sink, table, heater and the like should appeal to th[illegible].

But perhaps more important, campers show a lot of individuality and no sooner do they buy something than they begin to modify it. With the "Scotsman" they can have a field day — a camper that is self-designed to each family's particular needs.

For those who need some help in getting started, there are six basic floor plans suggsted. Also, you do not need to begin with only a hammer and saw in your hands. There are kits available, and plenty of them. Two models of the camper are offered — one standard and one cabover (a shelf-like extension that extends out in front over the trailer hitch). You can get four different sleeping area kits, although you would not be interested in the cabover bunk if you had a standard camper.

There are two combination dining, game and sleeping area kits. These and the above come with or without foam cushions.

Five kits are available for the food preparation and storage area, and you can get two kinds of clothing closets. The list continues: illumination, windows, ventilation, heating, refrigeration (an ice box or three kinds of electrical units), ranges, and a chemical toilet if you want it.

By talking to several experienced campers and outdoor writers, I substantiated my opinion that this is a real "first" and a breakthrough in the camping field. Hence the enthusiasm. The "Scotsman" stands close inspection, and by getting down on your hands and knees you can see heavy steel crossmembers in the frame, heavier than you will find on most other campers. You can see one at the MacLean Co. —they will sell retail—or at Joe Pastorek's, 921 Stelzer-rd.

The question always arises, is this really camping? For those people who own campers it is. If you like the outdoors in its most convenient form, you might like a camper.

Middle-Age Can Do More Than 'Donate'

To the Editor:

As throughways are built and urban areas change, older people, too, are being displaced.

It is often heart-breaking to a middle aged couple to give up the home and neighborhood in which they have lived for 25 or 30 years.

At 50 or older they start over in a new community.

Since their children are grown, married and gone to their own homes, the middle-aged people are unknown to PTA's and in large measure to the churches, whose programs are geared to children and youth.

These middle-aged people are unknown and unwanted.

If they dare to ask children to keep off the grass or stay out of the yard, mothers protest, "You don't like children."

We do like children who are well trained, we feel sorry for those whose parents never correct them or teach them that other people have rights also.

The "Rail Splitter" of Lincoln Village, for December, 1962, arrogantly derided "a mean old woman and a queer old man," and took the position that Lincoln Village belongs to couples under 40 years of age with two or more children.

The "mean old woman and the queer old gentleman" had to erect fences to keep children from running wild over their premises. For this they were vilified.

An article in the January, 1963, American Home states that 25 per cent of the population of the U.S. is over 50 years of age.

Our society rushes pell mell to do things for children and for the elderly, but what about the people between 45 and 65 years of age?

Their children are grown, have married and moved away. These people continue to pay taxes to support schools, they contribute to drives, buy Camp Fire Girls candy and Girl Scout cookies.

They now have time for civic activities, to care for their yards and gardens.

They have skills that might contribute to community development.

But they and their skills are not wanted. In Lincoln Village they are spurned, called names, and labelled "queer."

Since 25 per cent of our population is between 45 and 65 years of age, isn't it time to quit ignoring them — except when contributions are wanted.

One of the 25 Per Cent

Crazy Days Features Items For Everyone

Did those crazy people . . . Out at Great Western Shopping Center this weekend the merchants are going all out to come up with something that should serve as a real spring tonic.

It has been a hard cold winter and Great Western merchants want to get into the spirit of spring and so they have set up their annual Crazy Days as a time to do just that.

This means that every blasted one of them has gone off his rocker and made special buys for the event.

It doesn't meant that the merchandise they are selling is crazy but the prices they are selling it at is just plain loco.

A lot of the stores are offering some real special closeouts of winter merchandise and others are going overboard into spring with pretty things to delight every member of the family.

It isn't easy to do justice to such a crazy event and we won't try in this space. But see for yourself. Turn to each of the following pages in your Hilltop Record and West Rural-Urban News and see what is going on at Great Western this weekend and then traipse right out and stock up. Don't forget to take your pocketbook!

Prairie-Norton Science Fair Only One In County

Crime Crackdown Needed, But Won't Come

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A startling increase in major crimes in Columbus calls for a law enforcement crackdown—a crackdown that can't be made by the Columbus Police Department.

This was the sad but inevitable conclusion drawn this week by Police Chief George Scholer who went so far as to say that the increased crime rate has him "worried to death."

Actually, the progressive increase in some crimes has worried Scholer ever since his appointment to chief nine years ago. It doesn't take much imagination to picture the [illegible] as a chess player who can, at present, merely move his men around the city rather than concentrate on any particular area.

"All I can do is analyze the various areas of the city and, if I find a high crime rate, shift more men into the area. This, however, leaves another section without adequate enforcement."

"In other words," he continued, "a major crackdown on crimes cannot be made with our current staff."

In comparison, murder has increased 60.9 per cent, rape 10 per cent and burglariy 6.2 per cent.

The alarming increase in murders doesn't really concern Scholer as much as burglariy and auto theft increases. The chief pointed out that "Columbus, over the years, has experienced a low homicide rate. An upsurge in one year doesn't concern me — this will drop. But, we can't overlook the fact that burglary has been going up continuously and auto thefts have increased 180 per cent in the last 10 years."

Why? What factors have caused an upsurge in crime? The men close to the problem have part of the answers.

For example, Lt. Wayne Morgan of the homicide and robbery squad points out the reason is "population explosion." He added: "It's simple enough . . . the more people in a city, the more homicides you'll experience."

Lt. James Woods of the burglariy and larceny squads feels the same way. "We've been annexing territory for some time. Things previously handled by the county are being done by us, now." Besides population, Lt. Woods attributes part of the increase to his theory that Columbus is "a dumping ground for state parolees."

"Sure, population is a factor," said Scholer. "But let's not forget that the population has been increasing right along and yet we've never had an upsurge as great as we experienced last year."

The chief said that, speaking proportionately, the crime rate has increased faster than the population rate in all crimes in the city during the last 10 years.

As far as the dumping ground theory, Scholer says it "may be true," but added he'd rather not "make a wild statement."

There are other factors, too.

For instance, Scholer sees juvenile delinquency as the biggest contributor. He pointed out that 75 to 85 per cent of the auto thefts in this city are committed by persons under 18 years of age.

Perhaps the darkest cloud in the gloomy crime picture is Scholer's statement that "from indications now, the upper trend in crime is going to continue in this city."

One of the big answers, of course, is manpower. City Council has given approval to 24 new policemen but this still falls short of the national average.

"I've stressed this situation continuously to city fathers, the news media, radio and TV," said Scholer. "People say it's a 'sad situation' but that's the end of it. No one assists us in getting more money or more manpower. Maybe some day my plea will reach the right source."

Columbus is now second in population in the state. Comparing the Capital City with Cincinnati, Scholer showed that the city has 300 more policemen than does Columbus.

"Regardless of statistics," Scholer said, "Columbus is the cleanest city I know of for its size and compared even with smaller cities. It's a healthy atmosphere to live in. Despite what the statistics show."

Perhaps. But figures don't usually lie. And they do, in fact, frighten.

Proposed 'Blue Law' Bill Before House

BY FRANK RYAN

The Lawson Milk Company lost the battle, but may yet win the war to legalize its Sunday operation. Such will be the case if a "Blue Law" bill recommended by the Ohio House Judiciary Committee is enacted into law.

Items exempted by the proposed bill would include ice cream, ices, confectioneries, beverages, milk and milk products, eggs, fresh fruit and vegetables, processed meats and bakery products. Exemption of these items would assure Lawson stores of a continued Sunday operation.

In all, the recommended bill lists 12 classes of items that may be sold on Sunday. Sale of items in two of the classes are permitted only "under emergency conditions." They include:

Repair or replacement parts or equipment necessary for the safe operation of motor-operated vehicles, boats and aircraft, and repair or replacement parts for plumbing, heating, cooling, or electrical systems or appliances.

The proposed bill would exempt from Sunday closing regulations "persons who conscientiously observe the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath, and abstain theron from doing things prohibited . . . on Sunday."

It would also exempt "casual and isolated sales of tangile personal property by a person not engaged in the business of selling tangible personal property."

If passed in its present form, the bill would require all stores doing Sunday business to post a sign setting forth in full the sections of law governing what items may be sold.

The proposed law also includes stiffer penalties for violations. Conviction on a first offense would result in a fine of $50 to $200, while subsequent violation convictions would result in a fine of $200 to $500 and a five to 30-day jail term.

The Sunady closing question is expected to engender a great deal of controversy in both the House of Representatives and in the Senate. One area expected to stir heated floor debate is the deletion of the presently existing prohibition against common labor on Sunday.

Permissible Sales

Following is an itemized listing of products permissible for sale on Sunday under terms of a bill recommended for passage by the Judiciary Committee of the Ohio House of Representatives:

(1) Prescription, patent, and proprietary drugs and medicines, items purchased on the written prescription of a practitioner licensed to prescribe drugs in the course of his professional practice, surgical and sickroom supplies and appliances, personal hygienic supplies and aids, baby supplies, cosmetics and toiletries;

(2) Food for consumption on the premises where sold, food sold and served by a caterer, food prepared on the premises and sold by a food-service operator licensed under Chapter 3732 of the Revised Code, ice cream, ices, confectioneries, beverages, milk and milk products, eggs, fresh fruit and vegetables, processed meats and bakery products;

Meatless Meal May Star Tuna Lasagne

Their secret is cheese—soft ones mild in flavor, some semi-soft ones and richly flavored, some firm and nippy. In a country with a long seacoast they also have a wide choice of fish and shellfish which frequently enrich their pasta sauces.

We take a cue then from them for this quite different version of lasagne for tuna instead of meat studded with chunky shiny black olives. Two real Italian cheeses add the essential flavors and nutriments.

So hearty a dish as this needs little in the way of accompaniment. Some Italian green beans, perhaps, and a crisp salad with Italian dressing. Crusty rolls or bread with plenty of fresh, sweet butter.

TUNA LASAGNE

½ lb. lasagne noodles (or any wide noodles)
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
2 6½-ounce cans tuna, drained and flaked
1 4-ounce can pimiento, drained and diced
¼ cup chopped parsley
¾ cup pitted ripe olives, chopped
1 lb. sliced Mozzarella cheese
Grated Parmesan cheese, for topping

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender; drain and set aside. Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour and salt; gradually add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in tuna, pimiento, parsley and olives.

Arrange alternate layers of noodles, tuna mixture and cheese slices in buttered pan, beginning and ending layers with noodles. (At this stage, dish may be covered and stored in refrigerator until ¾ hour before serving time.)

When ready to bake, sprinkle top generously with Parmesan cheese. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 minutes, or until top is bubbly and browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Fish, Fish Products Are More Plentiful

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Grapefruit (mediums), apples, winter pears.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cabbage, green onions, lettuce.

How's fishing? Cold is the only word, but there's a warmer situation at the seafood display of your favorite market. Inventories of fishery products generally are higher than last year. These include frozen fish and shellfish, and canned fish — particularly tuna, pink salmon and Maine sardines.

Mrs. Franks

Of the popular fish products, frozen halibut is in largest supply, up 141 per cent over last year. Supplies of fish sticks are also up 37 per cent, shrimp 37 per cent, and canned tuna five per cent above a year ago. In lesser supply are haddock, oysters and breaded shrimp.

For fresh fish, meaning unfrozen fish, dealers say you'll have to wait later than usual this year —probably until late March or April. The Great Lakes are still frozen over, and the ice is deep. Fish experts say the prospects for the popular varieties of lake fish are good, when the ice begins to break.

The large supply of frozen fish products makes fish an economical protein choice, whether or not you're observing meatless menus. Also, fish ranks high—right along with red meat, since an average serving of fish contains the same amount of protein as an average serving of meat.

For those on low-calorie diets the lean fish are particularly valuable. The white fishes such as cod, haddock, flounder, and sole are almost fat free.

To get the best in frozen fish, be sure it is solidly frozen when purchased with no discoloration or browning of the flesh. Good quality frozen fish also has little or no odor. These guides to quality can be used when the fish is not wrapped or is in a transparent wrapper. For packaged fish not permitting visual inspection, rely upon label information including grade and inspection stamps. Brand familiarity and display conditions are also helpful.

Official grade standards have been set for a limited number of important fishery products. These include fried fish sticks, fillets of cod, haddock and ocean perch, halibut steaks and raw breaded shrimp. The three official grades are U.S. Grade A (top quality), U.S. Grade B and Substandard. Grading is optional at the present time so you may not find the grade stamp on all brands.

Inspection is also optional, but fishery products can be packed under continuous inspection of the Department of Interior. Such products are so labeled, indicating the product was examined for wholesomeness and that the processing and packing was done under approved conditions.

Remember that for breaded products the net weight given on the label includes the weight of the breading material. And the proportions of fish and breading may vary a great deal. Your past experience with a particular brand is probably the best buying guide.

'Not Poisoning Cats' Says Woman

Mrs. Kathleen Brunson, 921 Miriam-dr, has a "catty" problem.

She is a member of the Cat Welfare Association, a group dedicated to giving homes to stray cats.

Two weeks ago, the Rural-Urban News published a story on the activities of the organization and how it hopes to get stray cats caught, so as to give them a good place to live and proper care.

One of the methods used for catching the cats was to give them a "tranquilizer," according to Mrs. Brunson, so they could be handled.

She said that many of the ning loose so long, that men from the Humane Society, equipped with special gloves, wouldn't even try to catch them.

This is the reason for using the tranquilizers, says the lady.

However, since the article was published, Mrs. Brunson and others in the group have been deluged with "nasty" calls, accusing them of poisoning and killing cats.

Mrs. Brunson said she has received calls "in the middle of the night", from people who make accusations or "snide remarks" and then hang up.

"We aren't poisoning cats" she said, "we are trying to help them. All we are doing is giving them a drug, recommended by a veterinarian, to make them drowsy so we can handle them."

Hope Hydrangia Blooms At Easter

The hydranga is among the plants being forced for the Easter Show at Franklin Park Conservatory, according to Parks and Forestry Superintendent J. Richard Lawwill.

There are over 85 species in the hydrangia family and most of these come from Asia.

The conservatory and greenhouse are open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS

Falcon Footnotes

By Gail and Lynn Bradford

Science Fair Scheduled At FHHS Next Monday

Franklin Heights will host a Science Fair on Monday, Mar. 18, from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Students from the South-Western City Schools have been invited to enter projects, which will be judged by area teachers and industry representatives.

Entries will be in general science, chemistry, physics, biology and earth science.

Commercial displays are also being accepted.

Student Fee Card

F-H Advisory Council and Student Council are studying a student fee card system, similar to that used at some universities, which would entitle students who purchase a fee card to attend all scheduled school activities during the year.

These activities include sports events, plays and dances.

Such a card would cost the student about $10 and greatly reduce the cost of attending school functions.

Skating Party

The Sophomore Parents Association is sponsoring a skating party for all area high school students Thursday, Mar. 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grove City Roller Rink.

Tickets may be purchased from any sophomore at F-H, or at the door, for 60 cents each.

Twist and limbo contests will be held during the evening and prizes awarded.

Class Play

Tryouts for the junior class play, "You Can't Take It With You," have been posted.

Mrs. Juanita Smith is director of the production, which will be staged Apr. 8 and 9.

CALENDAR

Thursday, Mar. 14 ..... Grade Cards
Friday, Mar. 15 ..... No School
Saturday, Mar. 16 ..... Honor Society Dance
Friday, Mar. 22 ..... Senior Class Talent Show

Those attending were Tom Ray, Ron Nighbert, Tom Jenny, Mike Broome, Delbert Smith, Jr., Jim McVay, Delbert Smith, Sr. and David Wright.

'Richard' Didn't Get That Door Opened In Time

One broken glass door, 16 stitches and two red faces were the result of "a little horseplay" by two young employes at Mogol's Men's Wear Store, Great Western Shopping Center, last Thursday night.

Jack Keller, of Grove City, came out second best in a collision with the store's front door, while being chased by another employe as the store was closing.

Keller was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital and released after emergency treatment and stitches on his head.

Store manager, Hoffman Mitchell, said the store had insurance to cover Keller and the door, and theorized that the incident might curb "horseplay," and "for some time to come."

Keller returned to work Friday.

SHOW OF FUTURE TO VISIT SCHOOLS

THERE GOES THE SUNMOBILE, the amazing little car that runs on sunshine. The picture is a time exposure showing the fast take-off of the little auto. The button-like photovoltaic cells on the hood of the car turn light energy into electrical energy to furnish power for the engine. In this case a 300-watt lamp simulates the sun. The Sunmobile is one of the demonstrations in the General Motors science show, "Previews of Progress." The 40-minute, admission-free, stage show dramatizes the wonders of science before two million American students and adults each year. Schools that will see the program in this area include Central High School, Mar. 21; Dublin High School, Mar. 22; Aquinas High School, Mar. 28; Franklin Heights High School, Apr. 3; Grove City High School, Apr. 3; Pleasant View High School, Apr. 3; St. Joseph Academy, Apr. 9; West High School, Apr. 24; West Jefferson High School, Apr. 25; Jonathan Alder High School, Plain City, Apr. 25, and Madison South High School, London, Apr. 26.

The Ghost With The Red Band Is Lurking

Pilot Dogs, Inc., 625 W. Town-st, a non-profit, nonsectarian foundation, announced that one of the most persistent ghosts in the history of work for the blind wears a red band around its middle—one of the red strips from cigarette packages.

For almost a life-time now this ghost has been spooking around the country, making life miserable for the many agencies working with and for the blind. It has brought heartache to many well-meaning people — and disappointment to many blind folks.

All over the nation friendly Americans who want to do something for their blind friends collect the useless little red strips that go around cigarette packages, in the mistaken hope that if they collect enough they can trade them in for a guide dog for a blind friend.

The American Foundation for the Blind, which often acts as a clearing house for problems pertaining to blindness, has for two decades tried to convince people that there was no truth to this rumor.

Pilot Dog policy states "no blind person who is otherwise eligible, is ever denied a Pilot Dog for lack of funds." In reality the blind person, his family or friends are required to pay nothing. The trained dog, room and board, and all transportation is paid for by this non-profit organization.

Meanwhile, the ghost with red cellophane strips fluttering from its shrouds is still stalking the lanes of our nation.

According to Pilot Dogs, Inc., there is a project through which organizations can help the blind own trained dogs. Vets dog food wrappers are redeemable, and by contributing these coupons to Pilot Dogs Foundation, funds can be raised to give guide dogs to the blind absolutely free.

The Foundation presents these Vets' coupons to the Perk Foods Company for redemption and is paid one dollar for every 100 coupons it has received from pet owners.

In addition to the guide dog, the blind person receives free transportation to and from the training center, and four weeks board and lodging while being trained to use the dog.

David Folk Receives Braille Wrist Watch

David Folk

David Folk, 1011 Wagner-rd, was presented with a braille wrist watch donated by Ways and Means for the Blind, a nonprofit organization of Augusta, Ga. The presentation was made through the efforts of Stanley Doran, 619 W. Town-st, director of training at Pilot Dogs, Inc., 625 W. Town-st, Columbus.

But David's real hopes are that someday he will be able to put the watch on the shelf.

David, now 25 years old, was blinded nine months ago when cleaning water was accidentally splashed in his face. Because of the chemicals in the water, he lost his sight.

David, whose father died in 1955, lives with his mother on a small farm where they own about 40 head of sheep. Breeding and selling wool and lambs is their only income at present. David carries the water and does the heavy work around the farm, while his mother, acting as his eyes, leads him about.

David is presently living on the hope that a series of operations can restore his sight. David said that doctors have told him that it would take at least two operations, but his main concern is that he has no funds and has had no income since June.

He has applied to the Division of Service for the Blind, a program of the State Department of Public Welfare, for their rehabilitation schooling, which teaches trades for the blind to be self-supporting. However, he has not heard the results of a series of tests he has taken. David said that he has also applied for social security, but has heard nothing from that source either.

Mrs. Virginia Davis, Gahanna, a representative of the Division of Service for the Blind, said that David's physical examination had just been returned and that he would be receiving a doctor's appointment within a month.

She added that David's application for the rehabilitation program is dependent upon the outcome of his operations. David's tests had indicated he had an aptitude for both the mechanics and the farming instruction programs.

Mrs. Davis explained that applicants can learn to read braille and receive their aptitude instruction through a home teacher, a free service of the division. The mobile instructors go out into the home and teach the subjects that include personal and home adjustment instructions.

Stanley Doran explained that he had known David's mother for many years, that Mrs. Folk had called him regarding David. He directed her to the state services for the blind and had applied for the watch, which can add greatly to David's feeling of independence.

Doran explained that the wristwatch presented to David looks like a regular watch at first glance, but by pressing a catch on the side, the crystal springs open. A series of dots on the face indicate the location of the numbers so that by feeling one can determine the time of day.

Doran also said that the Ways and Means for the Blind organization make collections on a nationwide basis. Through their collections, they have grants for watches, braille writers, typewriters and radios.

They also provide a large tape library composed of taped recording of reading from good books and even textbooks of specialized material for studying purposes. Any worthy applicant can use the services of this organization.

David said that although he can not read braille as yet, he has caught on rapidly in using the watch and "appreciates it very much."

CITIZENS BAND OPERATORS AIR HEART FUND

CENTRAL OHIO Citizens Band members played an important role in the success of Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, in the Columbus area. By coming to the assistance of the Central Ohio Heart Association, the group aided in the collection of more than $1500 in contributions from the Whitehall area and later was responsible for transporting nearly $50,000 in collected funds from Heart Fund chairmen to the City National Bank. Jim Riggs, 76 N. Wayne-av, coordinated the Whitehall collections, during which COCBA members were dispatched to take high school students to designated areas. Vena Woodyard, 370½ Richardson-av, dispatched members to pick up completed collections from area chairmen for bank delivery. Shown from the left in the picture are Herb Hall, 4007 Rickenbacker; Bob Hagerman, 150 Lenox-av, New Rome; Vena Woodyard, dispatcher; Jim Riggs, coordinator; Bill Manack, 566 Robinwood-av; Dennis Nichols, 3807 Elbern-st; Vern Wedlund, 2117 Grasmere-av; and Bob Dumfee, 2027 Woodland-av. Others who took part in the project but are not pictured include: Wilbur Towns, 1424 Mulford-rd; Gary Davis, 88 Hoffman-av; and George Martin, 3829 Ontario-st.

Are Settlement Houses Slipping?

BY JOHN AUBLE JR.

A noted social worker warned that settlement houses in this city will "slip away" if workers fail to make a more vigorous effort to concern themselves with community problems.

Richard M. Kelly, executive director of both the Catholic Youth Service Bureau and the Catholic Child Guidance Clinic in Cleveland, brought his plea to the annual meeting of St. Stephen's Community House in the far South Side Tuesday night.

He cited a belief that both community and settlement houses had once found a "niche" in the community that eventually turned into a "groove" and that is now becoming a "rut".

The 44-year-old native Bostonian urged volunteer social workers to "engage in the task of having a stronger effect on community life."

According to Kelly, settlement houses are faced with a "great challenge" to work on the basic and clear community projects. "If the problems aren't clear, it's the settlement's job to clarify them," he added.

Kelly also mentioned:

"The pace of human need continues to gather momentum. The 1960's are a period of challenges unequaled in the history of social endeavor. The pace of social change is gathering momentum. It's also confusing and conflicting.

"We've lived through depression and war and can count the physical, mental and moral casualties. Things have changed now and we've become eminently successful. But, although the 'profits' are up, the 'incomes' have decreased".

"We now have a feeling of success that's more apparent than real. It's hard to realize that we're faced with the problems of the 1930's."

"An article in the 'New Yorker' pointed out that there are 50 million Americans in poverty or serious trouble. The poor have slipped out of our experience and consciousness. The middle class never did like poverty, so, to the people living in the suburbs, those 50 million are invisible.

"In reality, we have an economic depression that curls our hair. But, it's hidden and concealed. We have to adjust our eyes, intelligence, emotions and wallets. It's because most of us never had it so good, and we feel good about it."

Three of these "hidden and concealed" problems Kelly talked about are (1) family education, (2) youth counseling and (3) a program for slow learners. In all three areas, as Kelly sees it, community houses can serve a real need.

The Boston College graduate took a slight slap at Gov. Rhodes' firing of state workers, specifically in the field of mental health.

"Some 3000 mental health workers were fired in this state," he exclaimed. "Actually, we should be hiring 3000 more and this now makes 6000 jobs that need to be filled in this field."

Kelly talked a bit about finances and likened them, now, to a bikini that "covers only the barest essentials."

As Kelly points out, "what is important is that we cannot leave the problem to the people who reject the need and are unwilling to pay the bill for it."

Robert W. Mills, Rt. 4, Circleville, a compositor for the Hartley Newspapers, has been elected Typographical Union No. 5 delegate to the Ohio Conference to be held Apr. 5, 6 and 7 in Cleveland.

Mills

An employe of the Hartley Newspapers for five years, Mills has been chapel chairman at the company, past apprenticeship chairman for Local No. 5 (Columbus area), and is now vice-president of the local and delegate to the AFL-CIO local labor body.

At the conference he will represent about 500 employes in the Columbus area.

If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches, and poor men's cottages princes' palaces. — Shakespeare.

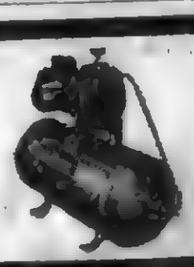
Scholer Warns—'Get Rid Of Old License Plates'

Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer stated this week that during the 30-day period, from Mar. 1 through Mar. 31, when both 1962 and 1963 license plates may be used, there is always a strong possibility that discarded plates could be found by irresponsible persons who might use them illegally or in the commission of a serious crime to avoid detection.

Should this occur, the chief pointed out, the owners of the discarded plates would probably be subjected to questions from the police.



This can be avoided by following a couple simple suggestions the chief said:

1. After removing the license plates, the owners can deface the numerals by hammering and bending.

2. After defacing, the plates may be deposited in containers which will be located in the various shopping centers throughout the city, beginning Saturday, Mar. 9.

The collection containers are being furnished by local Cancer Ray groups who will donate the proceeds, from the sale of junked plates, to the Columbus Cancer Clinic for aid to outpatients of the Franklin County area.

Name Lincoln Villager Semi-Finalist In State Mrs. America Contest

Lincoln Village's newest claim to fame is a vivacious young lady by the name of Joan Schott, or, more properly, Mrs. Robert Schott of 4938 BeaconHill-rd.

Mrs. Schott is now a semi-finalist in the state Mrs. America contest, after being entered as a candidate by the Lincoln Village Women's Club, of which she is a member.

She was selected for the contest about a month ago, filled out a questionnaire, enclosed with it a picture of herself and sent it to the state judges in Cleveland.

If selected as Ohio's candidate, Mrs. Schott would go to Florida for the finals, competing against entries from the other 49 states and the District of Columbia.

Prizes for being named Mrs. America total nearly $10,000, according to the contest committee.

The 28-year-old mother of four boys, besides being a member of the LVWC, is vice-president of the Tumbleweed CCL, St. Cecelia's Church, does volunteer work and is a member of a bowling league.

Her hobbies include bridge and especially sewing. She makes many of her own clothes, and her sewing prowess has won her several prizes locally.

With four boys, and her outside interests, Mrs. Schott doesn't have much spare time, but claims she enjoys keeping busy.

The boys are, Steven, three; Mark, five; Johnny, seven and Bobby, nine-years-old.

Mrs. Schott comes from the family of a Cincinnati baker and has four brothers and six sisters.

She says she is pleased at being selected as a semi-finalist and very honored, "because nothing like this has ever happened to me before."

The final results of the state contest will be known shortly, she said, since the national contest is Apr. 22 through 29.

One thing is certain; she has plenty of support in the community, especially right at home, in the contest.

THE WANT AD STORY

A Salute To The Little Ads That Make Up The Classified Section of This Newspaper

BY RON BARLOW
BUSINESS EDITOR

For Sale: a wedding dress that was never worn.

For Sale: a $100,000 home.

Wanted: a 1936 Ford engine.

Life's passing parade can be seen weekly in the want ad section of your newspaper. Scanning the little black boxes of type can be one of the most rewarding and profitable experiences of an otherwise dull day.

There is a story that former Vice-President Richard Nixon began his political career when he answered an ad placed in the classified section of a paper by the California State Republican Committee.

As an important part of any newspaper, the want ads are being saluted in this edition as part of National Want Ad Week.

What is a want ad and what is its potential? How can it best be used to the advantage of the advertiser?

An advertisement can do little more than tell a potential customer about a product and why that product is the best buy for the amount of money involved. Any type of advertisement, regardless of its size or where it appears, is the advertiser's showcase . . . his front window facing the public.

Undoubtedly a want ad is the most economical window an advertiser can buy. In fact, it is so economical that many large advertisers will purchase small classifed ads to accompany their large display advertisements in the same newspaper.

Where else can you get a potential 200,000 buyers to look into your show case, for such a small cost, than with a Hartley Newspapers Want Ad? Where else can you buy, sell or trade anything from antiques to zithers?

THE FIRST STEP for a want ad is the order, being taken in this picture by a member of the Hartley classified advertising staff. After the order-taker has aided the customer in wording the want ad, a copy will be sent to the printer. He will set the ad in type and place it in proper classification on the want ad page. It will then become one of an average 550 such ads that go into nearly 75,000 Columbus homes via Hartley Newspapers. Many of the ads are placed in the paper by telephone.

In today's edition the cost of placing a want ad has been reduced to half price, making the usual bargain of buying this type of advertising twice as big for non-contract advertisers.

Once an ad is purchased from the Hartley Newspapers it will appear as one of an average 550 such ads, under the correct classification, in the paper. This section of a Hartley Newspaper is larger than the same type section found in some daily papers in the Columbus area.

A want ad is purchased to run consecutively in all seven Hartley papers and will be included in deliveries to nearly 75,000 subscribers in the Columbus and Central Ohio area within easy reach of more than 200,000 readers.

Many persons turn almost immediately to the classified portion of their newspaper before reading any other section, especially if they are in need of a certain item.

Over a year a single Hartley Newspaper will carry more than 28,000 want ads selling just about everything imaginable.

Some purchasers are contacted to determine if their ad produced results, others write a letter telling of the success of placing an advertisement in the classified section of the paper.

Hazel Medors, 214 Cassidy, said she had received between 20 and 30 calls after placing an ad to sell a home; Mrs. Blanche VanGorder, 647 E. Whittier-st, sold a car on the second call after placing a want ad; Joseph H. Palmer, 2795 Wellesley-rd, sold a movie projector the same day his ad was published; Mrs. Robert Knight, 513 Hanford-st, received more than 15 calls from persons interested in a maple dresser even before all the Hartley Newspapers had been delivered; and the Cat Welfare Society found an immediate home for a kitten with a want ad.

To place an ad in the newspaper a staff of experienced personnel is utilized to obtain accurate and economical service for the readers. From the ad-taker, who helps write the ad, to the printer, to the copy reader the newly placed advertisement passes along a smooth production line until it reaches your front door ready to be read.

That, generally, is the story of the little classified ads appearing in each edition of your newspaper. The little ads — probably the best investment you can make in either time or money.

TO CONSTRUCT GARAGE

Walter Bradt, 4621 Henley-av, has received a building permit to construct a two car frame garage at his home in Prairie Township.

Scouts Appoint Gallaher Greenhills Camp Director

John Gallaher, Capital District Scout executive, Central Ohio Council, has been selected as camp director for the "pioneer year" at Greenhills Scout Reservation.

Greenhills Scout Reservation is the Central Ohio Council's new 1,200-acre camp near Logan. The reservation will be operated on a troop camping basis. Programs will include swimming, hiking, archery, rifle, camping and pioneering, canoeing, boating, scout skills, nature and hurro packing.

Greenhills Reservation will open June 23 and close July 20. Reservations are now being accepted.

Gallaher is a graduate of Marshall University and the 1959 National Training School for professional scouters and the National Camping School. He started his professional career in Charleston, W. Va., where he directed the Charleston area camp for two years. Gallaher came to Columbus in 1958 to serve the new Capital (downtown Columbus) District.

During the past five years the Capital District has grown from 850 scouts to 1,465 in December of 1962 and from 48 to 72 units. Gallaher resides at 2523 Atwood Terrace, is married and has four children.

John Gallaher

The opening of the first section, Camp B at Greenhills Scout Reservation, is the result of the nine-county Camp Capital Development Campaign conducted last year.

Already 20 units with over 300 boys have registered for the first season.

NCVO Endorses Council Action

The Nationally Chartered Veterans Organization of Franklin County, composed of delegates from the Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Veterans of World War I, and the Military Order of Purple Heart, unanimously endorsed action taken by Columbus City Council regarding sale of Communist manufactured goods in this country.

"There can be no substitute for American free enterprise and productivity tolerated in the United State, especially in the form of Communist product imports. The sale and purchase of such merchandise is added encouragement to the advancement of Communism, which seriously threatens our way of life," avows these war veterans.

Process Liquor Permit

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced it is processing an application for a D-5 permit for Western Lanes, Inc., 500 Georgesville-rd, Prairie Township. The permit is for the sale of beer, wine or spiritous liquor by the-glass till 2:30 a.m. for a night club.

Easter Seal Society Asks For Paraders

"Won't you volunteer to fight crippling?"

This is the plea of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children as they seek vounteers for their Easter Seal Parade on Sunday, Mar. 31, 1 to 4 p.m.

Paraders are urgently needed in all sections of the city and county to deliver Easter Seals to friends and neighbors and accept contributions for the direct service program of the society.

Interested persons and groups who could spare an hour Mar. 31 are urged to contact the Easter Seal Parade office at 228-4669 immediately. The 1963 campaign began on Mar. 7, and will continue until Easter Sunday, Apr. 14.

Modified Pie

Sing a song of sixpence,
A pocket full of rye
Four and twenty blackbirds
Baked in a pie.

If the blackbird pie appears on the menu think nothing of it. . . Saturday about 5 p.m. enough blackbirds flew over our place to make enough pies to feed all Central Ohio.

For nearly five minutes the skies were black with birds headed east and north.

Surely — Had the maid been in the garden
Hanging out the clothes
Along would have come a blackbird
And nipped off her nose.

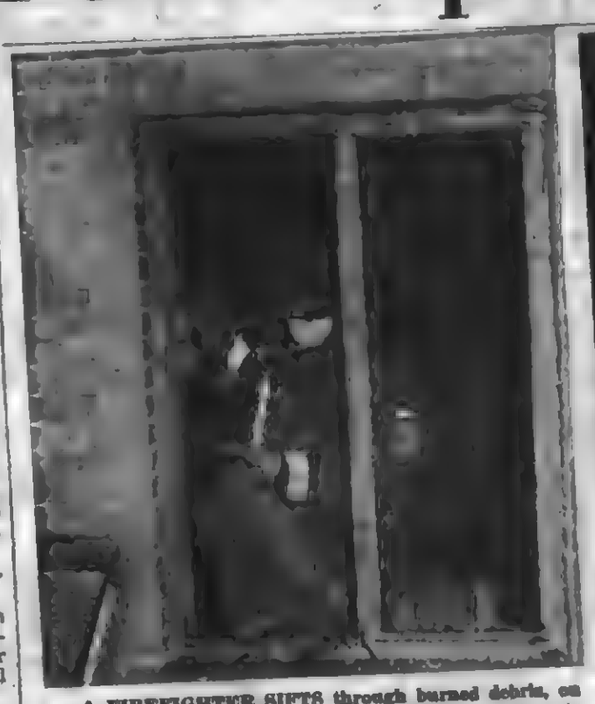
Today's Riddle

Bennett Cerf has a little book called "More Riddles" and the first subject shown is an elephant sitting on a rug. Below is printed, "What is the best way to get something out from under an elephant?"



The answer is: "Wait for the elephant to go away."

Today every American finds himself being "sit" upon by an elephant — our huge federal, state and local tax extortion.

Right now a lot of foolish people are being encouraged by the New Frontiersman that the elephant can be moved—that a tax cut can be brought into being.

Let's not forget what the elephant really is. He can't move until he gets smaller and he just won't get smaller so long as we feed him more while he sits on us.

Police Nip Teen Crime Spree On Hilltop

A FIREFIGHTER SIFTS through burned debris, on left, at the scene of a fire at Westgate Manor Apartments Friday night. The blaze, which kept firefighters busy for nearly five hours, started in a storage area of a basement. Eleven families were forced to evacuate their apartments, but the flames did not spread into the living quarters. The picture on the right shows two of the building's occupants, Mrs. Emma Jean Newberry, left, and Miss Stevie Averdich, who were forced to leave the building because of smoke and heat. Mrs. Newberry had expressed concern over Miss Averdich because of her habit of returning home and sleeping at about the same time the fire broke out. A neighbor, however, roused the sleeping woman, and she escaped to safety wearing a raincoat over her robe and tennis shoes.

Arson Investigators Find No Definite Cause For $6000 Westgate Manor Apartment Fire

Fire department arson investigators, led by Lt. Tom Sides, continue to look into possible causes of a blaze that kept firemen working for nearly five hours Friday night at Westgate Manor Apartments, 791 Wedgewood-dr.

Lt. Sides said Tuesday afternoon he still had no evidence pointing to the actual cause of the fire, which originated in a basement storage area of the building. The fire department investigator said it would be nearly impossible to determine if the blaze had been actually set or occurred accidentally.

He added that the situation caused by such a storage area, usually containing items, such as cast-off articles, rags, paint and broken furniture, makes it difficult to determine just how such a fire might have started. Speaking as an investigator, he also said he had no reason, at this time, to suspect arson as the cause of the blaze.

Eleven families living in the apartment building were forced to evacuate their living quarters after the fire broke out at about 7 p.m. Many of the families were unable to return to their homes until the next day due to heavy smoke and lack of heat and power.

At one time the heat became so intense that water pipes and metal fixtures were melted. Battalion Chief Robert Lynch estimated the damage to the building at nearly $6,000.

One of the building's occupants, Mrs. Emma Jean Newberry, was returning home from work just as firemen were arriving and expressed fear that her roommate, Miss Stevie Averdich, a practical nurse at Mt. Carmel Hospital, was asleep inside the burning building.

However, a neighbor had aroused the sleeping woman and she rushed into the street wearing a raincoat over her robe and tennis shoes. Both women reported the loss of valuable paintings and portraits in the fire.

At 11 p.m. fire officials decided the blaze had been nearly extinguished and part of the firemen returned to their station houses. A short time later burning embers blazed forth for a second time and the fire equipment had to return to the scene until once again the blaze had been brought under control.

Reports stated one firefighter, Robert Robinson, 59, of 131 Martin-av, received numerous cuts on his arm from a falling sheet of glass. He was treated and released a short time later at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Toddlers Have Own Egg Hunt

Three to six-year-olds will have an easier time of it at this year's Hilltop community Easter egg hunts.

Co-sponsors of the events, the Hilltop Community Council and the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, have decided to provide special roped-off areas at Westgate and Glenwood parks where the toddlers can hunt by themselves. Girl Scouts will assist the children, and parents will not be permitted to help them hunt.

The hunts, to be held Saturday, Apr. 13 will both begin at 9 a.m. There will also be age divisions for the seven and eight-year-olds, and for children who are nine.

Co-chairmen, Charles E. Moore and Terry Ogden, said 1,800 colored hard-boiled eggs and 150 candy eggs will be hidden at each site. Finders of two specially marked eggs at each park will win a stuffed animal or a large chocolate egg.

Both recreation centers will arrange group games and singing for early arrivals. The Girl Scouts will assist. PTA groups will serve coffee and donuts to the adult volunteers.

Delinquency Investigation Involves Adult, Nine Youths

Investigation by Columbus Juvenile Bureau officers into the activities of a 16-year-old boy suspected of check theft and forgery has resulted in a chain reaction involving nine Hilltop juveniles.

The teenagers, six boys and three girls ranging in age from 15 to 17, have been released to the custody of their parents by Juvenile Court pending court investigation of delinquency charges. The youths reside in the Holly Hills and Georgian Heights sections.

Facts unfolded through police investigation told a story of:

Unchaperoned parties at a W. Broad-st motel and at the home of one of the boys, during which beer was served; theft of seven automobiles, two of which were stripped of parts; theft and forgery of checks to raise money for the beer-drinking parties; larceny of $40 from a Georgesville-rd service station, and illicit relations between a 15-year-old girl and an attendant at the service station.

Juvenile authorities identified the service station attendant as James Owen Wickline, 25, 254 S. Terrace-av. He has been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

According to the report of Juvenile Bureau officers, the delinquent activity of the group apparently began last November when two of the boys began stealing automobiles.

One of the 16-year-old boys admitted to stealing six automobiles and a book of blank checks from a parked auto. He admitted forging and cashing four or five checks for a total of about $80. He was accompanied by two of the other boys on some of his check-cashing trips, police said.

Two of the boys rented a room at the motel late in January. Beer was purchased by one of the boys, and several of the nine juveniles attended the party.

A subsequent party was held at the home of one of the boys on Feb. 22. According to investigators, the boy's mother had left the city to visit relatives in Pennsylvania, and his father was absent from the house while the party was in progress. As with the motel gathering, beer

Local Council Plans To Inspect Whetstone Plant

Hilltoppers will have an opportunity to see what a modern new recreation center can offer them on Thursday, Apr. 4.

The Hilltop Community Council has been invited to visit Whetstone Center, 3923 N. High-st, during its open house. Westgate Recreation Center, now under construction here, is modeled closely after Whetstone.

Council will tour the building after a brief meeting at 8 p.m.

Dog (Better Be) Gone, If Warden Comes Around

Once again county health officials have ordered strict enforcement of the dog quarantine, after learning that three rabid skunks were killed in the past week.

Two of the skunks were killed on Hayden Run-rd and the third in Groveport.

The polecat problem gave way to another, however, as the feud over picking up of licensed dogs was renewed.

Franklin County Prosecutor Earl Allison has asked for an opinion from State Attorney General William Saxbe on picking up licensed dogs, and expects a reply before the end of the week.

Thomas Justice, manager of the Humane Society, said dog owners will be fined if their pets are picked up by dog wardens, although the dogs will not be impounded if they are licensed.

Hall Ridge Club Arranges Dance

Hall Ridge Club will hold a round and square dance at 9 p.m. Saturday, Mar. 23, at the K of C Hall, Burgess-av and W. Broad-st.

Tom Howells, chairman, said the dance is free to club members; guests will be admitted for $1.

Free Easter Day Hams Available To Readers Of This Newspaper

It's Easter ham time again! That's right . . . Hartley Newspapers and the merchants and business people in this area are again cooperating to give away dozens of Swift Premium Hams in time for your Easter dinner.

Everyone reading this newspaper, over 16 years of age, is eligible to win one of the free Swift's hams merely by filling out a coupon. There's nothing to buy and there is no cost for the coupon.

Today you will find a page of coupons in this newspaper. Just fill in your name, address and phone number and clip out the coupons. Then deposit them in the special box provided in the place of business of the merchant whose name appears on the coupon.

A drawing will be held Monday, Apr. 8, at each store participating. At that time they will present one of these hams to the name drawn. You do not have to be present to win. The list of all winners will appear in that week's issue of this newspaper.

Merchants have additional coupons in the event you have a friend or neighbor that would like an Easter ham and wants to join the fun.

Turn now to the Ham promotion page in this newspaper and read the full details. Then start clipping today's coupons. Visit every store and deposit your coupons in order to get as many chances to win your ham as possible. Be sure and drop the proper coupon in the correct store.

Timlin IGA Store, 2976 W. Broad-st; Garber's TV Store, 3307 Sullivant-av; Edwards Rexall Drugs, 3036 Sullivant-av; Westgate Drive-In Restaurant, 2828 Sullivant-av; Rairs' Carpet Co., 2504 W. Broad-st; Ray Sapp's Market, 984 W. Broad-st.

Child Welfare Board Appeals For Homes

A new appeal for foster homes for children under the care of the Franklin County Child Welfare Board has been issued by Charles L. Caton, executive secretary of the board.

"There is a critical need for 100 foster homes for children under agency care," Caton said.

The past year has seen a steadily increasing need for homes to care for children of all ages, Caton reported. Since Jan. 1, children have been referred to the Child Welfare Board at the rate of three a day.

Agency officials report that lack of available foster home resources has resulted in a backlog of youngsters awaiting placement.

"Once again," Caton said, "the Child Welfare Board is making an appeal to the Franklin County community for assistance in locating persons interested in giving a child a home. Previous appeals have shown that many people desire to have children to board if given a clear picture of what boarding entails and the tremendous need for such a service."

Caton explained that any couple between the ages of 26 and 50, in good health and having living space for an extra person or persons, and of average financial stability, is eligible to become foster parents.

Interested persons may secure further information by phoning BR. 6-3541, Ext. 256 or 295, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

S-W Council To Tap New Officers

The South-Western City Council will meet at Grove City High School Tuesday, Mar. 26 at 8 p.m. to elect officers.

The program will feature a debate on "To Kill A Truth."

The debate council will consist of Lee McMurrin, assistant superintendent of the South-Western City School District, and Rev. Paul H. Buchholtz, pastor of Our Saviour Lutheran Church.

Support Commissioners In Denying Tonti Zoning

Franklin County Zoning Board of Appeals has sustained the action of the Franklin County Commissioners in denying a rezoning request of Hilltop developer Ed Tonti.

Tonti had sought a change in zoning from residential to an apartment and twin-single dwelling classification for a 10-acre tract across from the Wee Bonnie Golf Course on Demorest-rd.

The appeals board said its decision was based on the belief that rezoning at this time would be premature. They cited lack of water and sewer facilities.

In another action, the appeals board granted a variance in zoning classification on application of the W. L. Johnson Co. for a special permit on three new gravel pits north of Harrisburg. Although zoning of the area will not be affected, the company will be permitted to excavate the pits.

Largest land tract involved is 75 acres bounded on the north by the Sam Miller farm, on the south by Interstate Rt. 71, on the west by Big Darby Creek, and on the east by Lambert-rd.

Excavating will also be permitted for 15 acres of land north of 71 on Zuber-rd and 10 acres on Young-rd, adjacent to 71 on the north.

VARIETY SHOW SLATED NEXT WEEKEND

"WEST HIGH SCENE," annual West High School variety show, will be presented by the school band and orchestra Friday and Saturday, Mar. 29 and 30, 8 p.m. Directed by James Hill and sponsored by the Band and Orchestra Parents Club, the show includes band and orchestra numbers, acts, music, dancing, vocals, comedy, chorus and numbers by the school dance band. Proceeds of the show will be used to help pay for new uniforms purchased last year. All seats are reserved and tickets, at $1 each, are available from members of the band, orchestra and Wenkets, and at the school. Among band participants are seniors, from left, Carol Hood, Leland Wines, Joan Frey, John Frank, Dottie Clark and Brad Brown.

Schaaf Requests Before Zoners

Three hearings are scheduled for Thursday, Mar. 21, by the Franklin County Zoning Commission. Included will be the postponed hearing on a request of George W. Schaaf, Hilltop real estate developer, for rezoning of a 58-acre site on the northeast corner of Clime and Demorest-rds.

Schaaf had requested a delay of the hearing, originally scheduled for Feb. 25, to allow him time to meet recommendations of the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission.

The planning commission has suggested that Schaaf seek a higher classification of residential zoning and cut back from the original area sought for commercial zoning. Schaaf's modified plans were approved by the planning commission.

Schaaf's original request called for 34.5 acres of area for apartments, six acres for twin-single dwellings, and 11 acres for commercial buildings. His modified plan reduced the apartment area to 23 acres, increased twin-single unit area to 20 acres and reduced the local commercial area to 9.3 acres.

Schaaf also agreed to a planning commission suggestion to a change of apartment zoning district classification calling for an increase in lot size and reduction of number of units.

No large stores would be permitted in the shopping center, it was reported, and the twin-single dwellings would act as a "buffer zone" between the shopping center and present residential areas going north toward Franklin Heights High School on Demorest-rd.

Plans show twin-single units along Clime-rd, separating present homes from the apartments that will be constructed behind the shopping center and facing Clime-rd.

The Rural Zoning Commission public hearing Thursday on Schaaf's request will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Franklin Twp. fire house, 4100 Sullivant-av.

The Zoning Commission will also conduct a public hearing on Thursday, Mar. 21, to hear a request from the Pure Oil Co., 5085 Sinclair-rd, for a change of zoning.

Involved is an 11-acre tract at the southwest corner of the intersection of Interstate Rt. 71 and Stringtown-rd. The request is for a zoning change from residential and agricultural to local commercial.

Hearing will begin at 9 p.m. in the Grove City Fire House, 4090 S. Broadway, Grove City.

The third Thursday hearing the commission will deal with the request of Ray and Edith Miller, 1610 Pemberton-dr, for a change in zoning from residential and agricultural to local commercial and light manufacturing.

Involved is a 78-acre tract of land on the north side of Trabue-rd, approximately one-quarter mile west of Wilson-rd.

Dies For Murder Of Local Grocer

Donald L. Reinbolt, 28, who murdered Edgar Weaver, West Side resident who operated a grocery on Hague-av near Trabue-rd, died in the Ohio Penitentiary electric chair Friday, Mar. 15.

Reinbolt killed Weaver Aug. 26, 1961. His execution was carried out one day after Gov. James Rhodes refused to intervene.

Mayor's Council Examines State Legislation

Legislative activity of the 105th Ohio General Assembly will highlight the April meeting agenda of the Franklin County Mayors' Council, John Gotherman, Ohio Municipal League representative, will return for the April meeting to continue his presentation of bills the OML considers of import to the mayors.

Gotherman batted 1000 in his opening presentation of league positions on some of the bills he covered. The mayors backed the OML position on the six occasions where a league preference was stated. Gotherman reviewed 20 bills.

The mayors opposed two bills reviewed by Gotherman, and upon which the OML has not as yet taken a stand. They were:

House Bill 234: A bill permitting local school districts to [illegible] up to one per cent income tax levies for support of schools.

House Bill 440: To remove separate health districts in cities of less than 25,000 population, with duties absorbed by the county health department.

Mayors' Council support was added to the OML recommendations in support of three bills. The mayors' group opposed five pieces of legislation reviewed, three of which were also opposed by the league.

Legislation supported by both groups included:

House Bill 135: Legislation authorizing purchases by municipalites up to $1,500 without advertising for bids. Present limit is $1,000. This bill would also broaden emergency purchasing authority—authorized by local council action — to include all departments. At present only utility departments can exceed purchasing limitations upon passage of emergency council legislation by a two-thirds vote.

House Bill 296: Liquor permit transfer approval would require presentation of a certificate by the clerk of council attesting to meeting of local zoning regulations.

House Bill 97: Allow local mayor's court to handle cases of first offense for issuing checks with insufficient funds, if the amount is less than $100, by making the first offense a misdemeanor. (A similar bill covering first offense on carrying of concealed weapons was also endorsed.)

Bills opposed by both the OML and the Mayors' Council included:

Senate Bill 212: Calling for voiding of city's jurisdiction, in counties of five or more cities, over planning and development within a three-mile radius, as presently allowed, and place such power with county officials.

House Bill 128: Allows sliding scale for personal property tax on businesses from 70 to 50 per cent of value over a five year period. This would not apply to goods used in manufacturing processes, which are currently taxed at 50 per cent of value.

Senate Bill 130: Known as the "hot wires" bill, it would allow utilities to appeal city regulations to the Public Utilities Commission in "hardship" cases.

The talk by Gotherman was preceded by a short business meeting, during which John Price, Columbus auditor, was elected to a council trustee post to replace former city attorney Russell Leach.

Florida Fish Stories Stir Tired Blood Here

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

The first preview of spring and a visit by Moyne Morgan, 3930 Woodbridge-rd, occurred at about the same time, and my winterlogged spirits were revived considerably. Male cardinals were chirping their love songs and Moyne was chirping about the fabulous fishing around Naples, Fla. He was just back and was suntanned to prove it.

The mention of Naples was enough to whet my appetite and make me yearn for fishing weather. It brought up memories of snook, redfish, shark, snappers and jack cravelle, for I spent a week there last spring. I may never be the same.

Moyne did not fish so much right out of Naples, but took the Tamiami Trail eastward for a few miles to a fishing camp he discovered. The guide there took him fishing in the Everglades, and very possibly he will never be the same. He lost the biggest snook that was hooked, but not before the fish put on a memorable show.

"He grabbed my lure and then lay on the bottom," said Morgan. "Then the snook began twitching his head from side to side, and with each jerk the spinning reel drag let out line. The guide warned me to get ready for an explosion and to keep plenty of bend in the rod.

"All at once the snook was on the surface, raising all kinds of commotion in under the mangroves. He jumped and twisted and turned. I relaxed the pressure on him for just an instant, and he was gone. The guide estimated the fish to weigh between 12 and 15 pounds."

In my limited Florida fishing I have not witnessed the fracas that ensues when you tangle with a large snook. But I can well imagine the excitement though, for we caught some little ones last year. They acted like supercharged smallmouth bass, and the larger a snook is the more ill-tempered he gets. When you go into the mangroves after the big ones, the odds are apparently with the fish.

If small snook are the hopped-up smallmouths of that area, then jack cravelle are the monstrous bluegills. Moyne and I agreed that the native Floridians are missing a lot of fun by passing up these speedsters. Since the fish are not good to eat, they are disdained. But they hit hard, swim fast and have the knack of getting broadside to you for the best leverage. They are flat fish, and fight a lot like bluegills. But did you ever see an 18-inch bluegill? Do not overlook the jack on light tackle if you get the chance to fish in Florida.

Comparing notes is almost as good as going, so we continued. Tarpon, ladyfish (which are not ladylike) shark, bull reds (the large redfish or channel bass), and snappers (the panfish of saltwater) all came up for discussion. It was enough to make you want to go fishin'. So we did the next best thing

Plan To Accredit Nursing Homes

An accreditation program for nursing homes in Ohio, similar to that used by hospitals and schools, is ready to be launched, according to an announcement by Edwin R. Esslinger of West Chester, chairman of the Ohio Nursing Home Accreditation Board.

Esslinger also announced the appointment of Mrs. Eleanor Dawson, R.N., of Columbus, as the board's surveyor.

Eleven state health organizations are sponsoring the accreditation program, to help the public identify those nursing homes which meet high standards.

Mrs. Dawson, who will visit homes in Ohio which apply for accreditation, is a graduate of the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing and holds an AB degree from Ohio University.

League Reminds Voters Of Registration Requirements

Will you be 21 by Nov. 5? Are you a newcomer to Ohio? Have you recently moved to Franklin County? Did you change your name from Miss to Mrs.? Has it been two years since you last voted?

If so, the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus reminds you that you must be registered in order to vote in the May primary.

If you are not registered, in order to be eligible to vote in the May primary you must have a year's residence in the state of Ohio by primary election day, May 7, 30 days residence in Franklin County and 40 days in your voting precinct.

The Board of Elections office is open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Saturday mornings until noon.

The last day to register is Mar. 27.

Four Local Men Take 50-Mile Hike

Four area Marine Corps recruits were among nine men who completed a rain-soaked 50-mile hike Saturday, Mar. 16.

The four, all members of Company "L," Columbus' U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Unit, were L./Cpl. Thomas S. Foster, 106 Maplewood-av, L/Cpl. Samuel Webster, 713 Champion-av; Pfc. George R. Wolf, 1732 Rosemont-av, and L/Cpl. Albert R. Jester, 47 Oral-av.

Led by Capt. Richard S. Guy, the men began the 50-mile trek at 4:45 a.m. at a point four miles south of Chillicothe and ended the march at Broad and High-sts shortly after 7 p.m.

Hiking along U.S. 23 in a cold downpour, the men carried field packs, cartridge belts and rifles. The hike was completed in 12 hours and 51 minutes marching time with 14 hours and 31 minutes lapse time.

Students To Visit Research Center

High school participants in the Tuberculosis Society's spring science-report writing competition and their advisors will get an inside look at current research projects in tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases on a tour of research laboratories of Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital Saturday, Mar. 23.

Tour participants will see the works of doctors involved in research at the Tuberculosis Hospital on the Ohio State campus. The researchers will present brief summaries of their projects as a climax of Saturday's tour.

Eagles Schedule Benefit Dinner

Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, is sponsoring a roast beef dinner, with all the trimmings, Sunday, Mar. 24, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The dinner is for the benefit of the welfare fund and is open to all Eagles and their families only. Donations $1 for adults, 50 cents for children under 12 years.

Entertainment and dancing is scheduled for the good fellowship period from 7 to 10 p.m.

WILL ALTER BUILDING

The Pure Oil Company, 620 E. Broad-st, has received a building permit for the alteration of a frame building at HTR—Filler Lab 2807 Sullivant-av. The value of the alteration is set at $4000. A. L. Mayer is contractor.

Senior Citizens Move In!

IT WAS A DAY of smiles, Mar. 15, when Franklin County Senior Citizens gathered for the first time in their new $330,000 recreation center at 275 McDowell-st. This group paused at their game of cards in the auditorium long enough to accommodate cameraman Harley Groom.

AN EXCITED, OVERFLOW crowd of between 500 and 600 inspected every corner of the center and stayed until 10 p.m. An official dedication date has not been set.

AMONG THE HAPPIEST to begin using Senior Citizens Center are, from left, Mrs. Frances Fowler, director; Merton Berrie, 80, 603 Wedgewood-dr, president of the Senior Council; Mrs. J. L. Lamb, Advisory Council member and chairman of furnishings, and Miss Florence Palmer, 82, 351 15th-av, who helped found the Senior Citizens movement in Columbus.

SERVING COFFEE in a sparkling new kitchen is James S. Nichols, 81, of 26 E. Second-av.

Sgt. Colebeck In Hawaiian Islands

Hilltop Boy Scout Troop Sponsors Spring Car Wash

Boy Scouts of Troop 182, sponsored by the Hilltop Church of God, are hoping for a big turn-out for their car wash this Saturday, Mar. 23, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. It will be postponed, however, in the event of rain.

Bring your car to the Cities Service Station, corner of Brinker and Sullivant-ave, for a spring spruce-up. The owner has kindly donated his station and all materials for the car wash, therefore, all money collected will go to the troop's treasury.

This money will help to finance several activities planned for the boys this summer. These include a weekend camp-out in April, several hikes and tours of interesting places in Ohio.

All boys from the ages of 11 to 17 are welcome to visit the troop on the regular meeting night, which is Thursday at 7 p.m.

For further information please contact the scoutmaster of Troop 182, William Pfaffenberger at BR. 9-7766.

Act the way you'd like to be and soon you'll be the way you act.

Camp Fire Notes

By NANCY TRUELOVE

Camp Fire Girls' 53rd birthday is being celebrated the week of Mar. 17 to 24. Many of the girls are wearing their outfits to school and attending church with their own groups. Climax of birthday week will be the celebration Sunday, Mar. 24, at Grove City High School.

Names of two members of Te Wa Ka Camp Fire group were omitted from the story concerning their group ceremonial held Feb. 28. The girls were Dixie Triplet and Becky Roush, and group guardian is Mrs. Miriam Calkins.

West Leader's Association met at Hilltop YMCA on Mar. 12. Slides of last year's Day Camp activities were shown with commentary by Mrs. Wanda Peddow. Special songs for the birthday celebration were practiced. Mrs. Jeanne Sutherland discussed the plans for Camp Fire days at the Great Western Shopping Center this fall. There also were Easter Craft displays for both Bluebird and Camp Fire girls.

The O Kon Shu Ni Camp Fire group recently made a tour of the Donaldson Bakery. They visited the Ohio State Museum, primarily to study the Indian exhibits, and also attended the Lavern's birthday party at the Veterans Memorial. Members of this group are Sheryl O'Bryan, Donna Dominey, Charlene Campbell, Peggy Chamberlain, Connie Deason, Becky Hewson, Sherry Kozakovsky, Becky Miller, Jacky Reiser, Sandra Munch, Tina Rogers, Debbie Walhal and Christine Elgin. Guardians Mrs. Juanita Chamberlain, Mrs. Willard Miller, and Mrs. William Hewson accompanied the girls on their trips.

Peace Corps To Test Applicants

Placement tests for Peace Corps Volunteers have been scheduled for room 204 of the Todd Building, 34 N. High-st, Saturday, Mar. 24. The tests will be given only at 8:30 a.m.

Questionnaires are available at post offices, and should be completed and forwarded to the Peace Corps before the test if possible. All applicants must be U.S. Citizens who are at least 18 years old. There is no upper age limit. Married couples, without dependent children, may qualify.

WLW-C TV Follows Cincy NCAA Progress

WLW-C TV will continue its coverage of the Cincinnati Bearcats' progress in the NCAA tournament when the defending champions face Oregon State University Friday evening in the tourney semi-finals.

Channel Four will telecast the game which gets underway at 9:30 p.m.

Regardless of the outcome of the game, WLW-C will carry the NCAA finals the following evening at 9:30 p.m., preceded by a 9 p.m. preview by TV Four sportscaster Phil Samp.

CACE Dates Baby Film

The Columbus Association for Childbirth Education has scheduled the film, "Relax, Here's Your Baby," for public viewing Friday, Mar. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Health and Safety Building (181 Washington-blvd, across the river from the Lazarus parking garage).

A "starter layette" from a local store will be given away.

Hilltop Boy Scout Troop Sponsors Spring Car Wash

Boy Scouts of Troop 182, sponsored by the Hilltop Church of God, are hoping for a big turn-out for their car wash this Saturday, Mar. 23, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. It will be postponed, however, in the event of rain.

Bring your car to the Cities Service Station, corner of Brinker and Sullivant-avs, for a spring spruce-up. The owner has kindly donated his station and all materials for the car wash, therefore, all money collected will go to the troop's treasury.

This money will help to finance several activities planned for the boys this summer. These include a weekend camp-out in April, several hikes and tours of interesting places in Ohio.

All boys from the ages of 11 to 17 are welcome to visit the troop on the regular meeting night, which is Thursday at 7 p.m.

For further information please contact the scoutmaster of Troop 182, William Pfaffenberger at BR. 9-7766.

ADULT HOMEMAKER CLASSES SLATED

There's Always An Easier Way To Tackle An Old Job

By Jane Robinson

No one expects a young woman to jump into an automobile and take off without having received some instruction on how to drive.

But thousands of wives are put in the driver's seat of their homes without even rudimentary training.

Believing that it takes more than a magic wand to help today's wife meet multiple roles thrust at her, three state and city boards have invited local women to an open house Friday, Mar. 22, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

The sponsoring organizations have set up a homemaking exhibit in the family living center of Lincoln Park Homes, 1700 S. Twentieth-st. The Home and Family Living Program, in which free classes will begin next Monday and Tuesday, will be introduced.

The Columbus Board of Education has employd Mrs. Lois Olive Sigler to coordinate the program, and the Columbus Metropolitan Housing authorities have equipped the former nursery building to the needs of the project.

The Vocational Home Economics department of the Ohio State Board of Education is financing the instruction program.

Two classes are being introduced to initiate the pilot program. A series of 25 sessions will be held twice weekly through June.

Mrs. Sigler and Mrs. Lavon McCullough, both of whom hold master's degrees, will conduct the class entitled "Stretching the Dollar."

"Our instruction will be flexible," the coordinator stressed.

She mentioned that personal tastes, family income and size of the family unit must be considered rather than hidebound rules that might be wonderful for the Joneses but impractical for their neighbors.

Mrs. Alice P. Johnson, former clothing teacher at Ohio State, will hold the sewing classes, which will show how not only to make and remake clothing, but will explain its use.

Fabric values will be discussed and other skills, such as slip covering and drapery making, will be included.

Earl Ross, management assistant at the Metropolitan Housing Board, emphasized that it is the job of the organizations to create interest in this program that is being pioneered in Ohio.

"A similar plan has proved enormously successful in Dallas, Tex.," he mentioned.

Though the administrators expect to draw enrollment from Lincoln Park, they pointed out that it is open to anyone who wishes to take advantage of it.

Suggestion sheets have been circulated asking homemakers to indicate the problems of the home with which they need help.

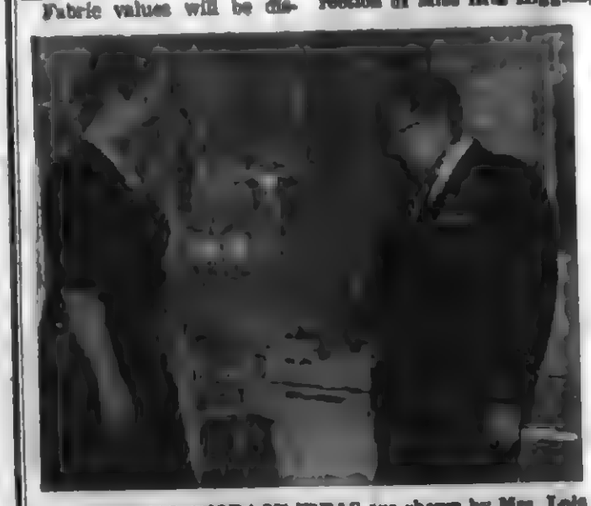
Making our money last through the month.

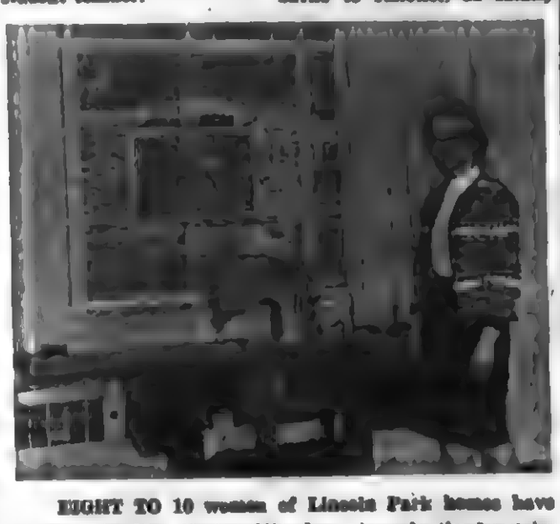
Getting my housework done without being worn out.

Getting my children to eat foods good for them.



Getting my family to help with the home chores.

Making friends with neighbors.



If the answers to these and other facets of homemaking are found, certainly the homes of Columbus will become better homes with fewer mothers exhausted by their battle to function as family bookkeeper, cleaning woman, laundress, chief cook and bottle washer, nurse, kindergarten teacher, civic leader, purchasing agent, interior decorator, gardener, chauffeur and amateur psychologist.

IMAGINATION, NOT COSTLINESS is the guide to these homemade toys made by members of the sophomore Home Economics class at Canal Winchester High School, which will be exhibited at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center open house this Friday. Shown on the left is Agnes Bigerton with Lani Day. The girls worked under the direction of Miss Rita Higgins, student teacher.

UNUSUAL STORAGE IDEAS are shown by Mrs. Lois Olive Sigler to Earl Ross at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center. Mrs. Sigler will coordinate the Adult Education program being pioneered Monday. Ross represents the Columbus Metropolitan Housing board, which has equipped the former nursery building.

EIGHT TO 10 women of Lincoln Park homes have worked with Mrs. Evelyn Gill, above, to make the draperies for the windows of the newly decorated Family Living Center on S. Twentieth-st. Mrs. Gill is president of Lincoln Park Community Council as well as of the PTA.

WOSU To Air School Problem

Minds and money — plenty of the first and not nearly enough of the latter — are the problems scheduled for discussion on Suburban Viewpoint Thursday, Mar. 21, at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 34, WOSU-TV.

Students and the facilities needed for their education in Groveport and Canal Winchester will be studied by James Brandau, Canal Winchester superintendent of schools, and Paul Williams, executive head of the Madison Local School District, with Winston W. Hill, producer-host of the program.

Facts Available On Air Reserve

Information on Naval Air Reserve participation is available to interested ex-servicemen with Group 9 ratings and 17-year-old high school students in their junior or senior year.

For details contact Chief Paul Sherman, ADRC, or David Webb, ADR 1, at Port Columbus, 653 N. Hamilton-rd, BE. 7-6218.

Easter Seals will be mailed on Mar. 8. Watch for your seals in the mailbox. Then use them.

Ask Hilltop Van & Storage

When I move, how much will it cost to have all my packing done?

Free booklet answers questions about moving

Probably less than you think! Our packing charges are based on the number of containers times a specified rate per container. And don't forget, this charge includes not only the packing, but also the use of special containers and packing materials, and all the unpacking. Call today . . . let us give you a FREE packing estimate. Ask, too, for a free booklet, "How to Buy a Move," that gives the facts about moving services and charges.

Of interest to Women by Betty Daft

Food, Dance Featured Tuesday At Y

Day-long program for "Tuesday At The Y," Mar. 26, at the Hilltop YWCA Center, 2879 Valleyview-dr, will include an informative program on various cheeses in the morning, the usual gourmet luncheon at noon, and a dance demonstration in the afternoon.

"Cheese — How to Use It and When," will be presented by Robert Chapman, manager of the Food Shop, F. and R. Lazarus and Co. He will bring a variety of cheeses with him, for sampling by guests.

Michael Savely of Arthur Murray Dance Studio will demonstrate the popular Bossanova, and will instruct anyone interested in learning the dance.

Free baby-sitting service will be provided. Mothers are asked to bring a sack lunch for their child. Milk will be provided.

For reservations or further information call the YWCA, CA. 4-9131.

Open House Planned For 50th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. BENJAMIN STINSON

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Stinson of Rt. 1, Granville, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house reception at the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stinson, 4391 Kendale-ct, from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Mar. 24.

The Stinsons are former residents of the Amlin and Hilliard areas, and of the Hilltop.

The couple was married Mar. 20, 1913.

They are the parents of sons, Paul of Granville, Benjamin of California, Robert of Granville, Harold of Columbus, and one daughter, Mrs. Dorothea Harrison of Columbus.

They also have seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Clarks Mark Half-Century Of Marriage This Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Homer W. Clark, 573 Chestershire-rd, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Saturday, Mar. 23, with a family gathering.

The couple was married 50 years ago by Rev. Chappelear, minister of West Park Methodist Church, in a ceremony held at the home of the bride's parents on N. Fourth-st.

Mr. Clark was associated with Lowe Bros. Paints before his retirement. They lived in Indiana for 30 years, where Mr. Clark was manager for Lowe Brothers.

He is a past president of the Lions Club in Marion, Ind., and a life member of F&AM. Mrs. Clark is a member of Robert Morris Chapter, OES.

They are parents of two daughters — Miss Dorothy Clark at home, and Mrs. Alice Virnston of Springfield, Va., and two grandchildren, Betsy and Tommy.

The Clarks are members of Westgate Methodist Church.

CHAMPAGNE, CHAPEAUS TO USHER IN SPRING

Annual spring spectacular sponsored by the Soroptimist Club, the Champagne-Chapeau Luncheon, will be held Saturday, Mar. 23, 12:30 p.m. at the Columbus Athletic Club.

The ways and means project helps support an $800 scholarship, awarded each year to a Franklin County woman to any accredited college of her choice.

Chapeau creations for the show are by Mrs. Dorothy Hutton, member of the Soroptimist Club. Nita Hutch Bethel will commentate.

A magnum of champagne will be awarded to the guest wearing the most fashionable chapeau, and six runners-up will also be presented with gifts. Judges will be Mrs. June Wells Dill, Mrs. Betty Daft, Mrs. Jane Fittings, Mrs. Mary Selleck, Miss Marjorie Utley and Mrs. Eleanor Addison.

Reservations for the affair may be made with Mrs. Lester Coate, AM. 2-3927.

Hanging baskets of daffodils, ferns and garlands of wisteria will decorate the windows for the event, and the chandeliers will be hung with baskets of dogwood.

Planter boxes of spring flowers will outline the ramps and pots of tulips, azaleas and hyacinths will be used on the tables.

Mrs. George O. Petrie, 2760 Edington-rd, is general chairman of the luncheon, and committee chairmen include, in Hartley Newspapers' area, Miss June Day of Pataskala, invitations; Mrs. John Jusek, 2856 Eastminster-rd, gifts, and tickets, Mrs. Lester Coate and Mrs. Frank L. Packard, 31 S. Yearling-rd.

Goodwill Auxiliary Plans March Program

Women's Auxiliary of Columbus Goodwill Industries will meet Tuesday, Mar. 26, 12:30 p.m. at 1331 Edgehill-rd. Those attending will bring their favorite dish and the recipe.

A white elephant silent auction, business meeting, social hour and tour of the building are planned.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS CONFERENCE . . .

Social Morals To Be Topic Of Teenage Session At YW

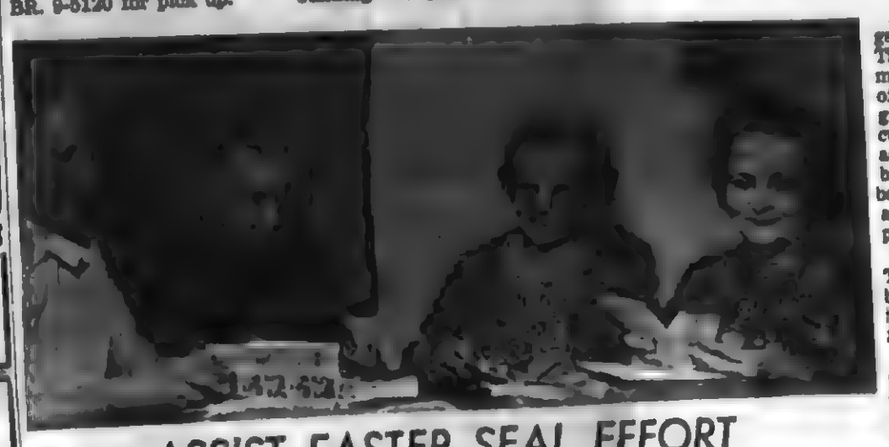
"Should I?" is the theme for the public affairs conference sponsored by the Senior High Y-Teens Saturday, Mar. 23, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st.

The conference is open to all senior high school girls, who must register through the Y-Teen Club in their school or by calling the YWCA. Registration fee of $1 includes a buffet lunch.

Drinking, sexual relations, cheating and social morals of teenagers will be topics of discussions.

A film, "Of Roses, Nightingales and Other Lovely Things," a story of unwed mothers, will be the "kick-off" of the conference. The girls will meet in small discussion groups, with no adult present, talking "just between us girls," later to be joined by well-qualified adults representing many professional fields.

The topic, "Mother Didn't Tell Me," will be presented by Miss Bonnie Hammock, a teacher in Columbus Public Schools.



Mrs. Rosalind Bandman, director of social services at Children's Hospital, will moderate a panel discussion on social morals.

The conference will close with an address by Dr. Herbert Manton, psychiatrist, Columbus Receiving Hospital.

Miss Audrey Norman, an East High School Y-Teen member, is general chairman of the conference with Vicki Howe, Bexley, and Meg Schultz, Worthington, as committee members. Mrs. John Gingerich, YWCA staff member, and Mrs. Bandman have worked with the girls.

At the beginning of the year the Y-Teen Public Affairs Committee was asked to draw maps, local, national and international, indicating major problems of each area.

On all maps, youth and behavior was shown as a problem, and the girls spent a meeting exploring this subject and how it affected their lives, and as a result chose the topic for the conference.

ASSIST EASTER SEAL EFFORT

AMONG PARTICIPANTS of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children's "Seal Days," Mar. 4 and 5, were these volunteer workers from the Hilltop, who helped assemble 70,000 Easter Seal envelopes with seals and letters. They are, from left, Mrs. Karl Ausenheimer, 2684 Regina-av, Brice 2; Mr. Ausenheimer; Mrs. Marie Seeds, 134 N. Eureka-av, and Mrs. Lucille Smith, 134 N. Eureka-av, both of Brice 7.

Styles Stress Femininity

The "look" in spring fashions is feminine, says Mrs. Orena Haynes, extension clothing specialist, Ohio State University. The fashion mood calls for softness and fluid lines.

Softness appears as blouseed dresses and jackets, bias-cut fabrics and soft fullness in skirts. Fabrics are soft and textured with crepes and chiffons particularly popular.

Colors have taken the fashion cue and gone soft. Pastels have gained year-around importance and there's new interest in neutrals, Mrs. Haynes notes.

The new soft look is revealed in all clothing items from coats to lingerie. Coats will have more fluid silhouettes. The slim coat will be good but a newer look is controlled "easy" fullness achieved through draping, seaming and bias cutting.

Several fashion ideas are emphasized in dresses — the little column dress with easy, comfortable lines, the classic "natural" dress with perhaps a raised waistline, and two-piece sweater dresses.

In sportswear, the feminine mood creates more interest in skirts. Tennis dresses and short sport skirts will replace shorts and tight pants.

COLUMBUS HURRICANES DRUM AND BATON CORPS

Drum, Twirling Contest To Be Staged At School

Prairie Norton School at 117 Norton-rd, New Rome, will be the setting of the First Annual Christopher Columbus Baton Twirling Competition under the sponsorship of the Columbus Hurricanes Drum and Baton Corps.

Tom Bertman, 137 Nashoba-av is director of the 38-member high-stepping Hurricanes who will host the event Saturday, Apr. 6. Invitations have been sent out to more than 1200 prospective contestants, aged 20 and under.

Bertman said there will be an official closed Columbus area contest at 10 a.m. when some boy or girl will be named grand champion NBTA twirler of the Columbus area. This will be followed by an official NBTA Class "A" open national contest with drum and baton corps competing in the evening. Junior and senior corps will compete within their age brackets in eight to 10-minute periods of marching maneuvering and twirling, Bertman said. Three out-of-state judges will look over the corps while performing and also for a standing inspection.

There will be 200 awards in trophies, medallions and Christopher Columbus statuettes, the director said. The public will be admitted upon donation of 75 cents per person. Individuals interested in competing may call Bertman at BR. 4-2682.

A group from the Hurricanes is to appear on "Teen Dance-o-Rama," a color telecast on Channel 4 at 2 p.m., Saturday, Mar. 16.

FIRST AID TAUGHT AT HOLY FAMILY

FIFTY STUDENTS of Holy Family High School are enrolled in a first aid course at the school, taught by Mrs. Frank Pulsinelli, RN, alumnus of Holy Family. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

South-Western Bus Incident Stirs Readers' Replies

To The Editor:

In regard to a letter which was sent to you by "an interested citizen," (who obviously isn't brave enough to sign his name), I wish to print the teenager's side of the story.

Our "interested citizen friend" stated that a Pleasant View High School youth ran through a stop sign and hit the rear of a bus.

The truth of the matter is that when the boy in question tried to stop, his car slipped on ice and when he "plowed" into the rear of the bus he made a dent that a strong boy could make with his fist in the door.

Even the driver of the bus which was hit said he tried to miss the bus but that he couldn't make the car turn on the ice.

Our friend stated, "As I passed the car, the teenage driver had a 'smart aleck' grin on his face as though he had done something cute."

In my opinion the "interested citizen" is a traffic hazard because he should have been watching the road instead of the boy's face.

One who isn't afraid to sign his name,

Tom Burke

* * *

To The Editor:

Concerning the letter to the editor Mar. 13-14, I also drive down Norton-rd between 7:30 and 8 a.m.

I do agree that there happens to be several teenage drivers (not solely Pleasant View students) who abuse driving privileges on this particular road.

If "An Interested Citizen" was so interested in doing justice, something would have been accomplished long before now.

Many school buses do travel Norton-rd every school day but face a greater hazard in crossing poorly marked railroad tracks in inclement weather. Citizens could take a deeper interest in this area alone.

I, also, was driving a car behind that of the teenager who committed the "serious felony."

Fallacies:

1. The bus, going south on Norton-rd stopped for stop sign and hadn't begun to make the turn as mentioned.
2. The youth never reached the stop sign, obviously.
3. The car did not "zoom" due to the icy road conditions.
4. The "irate citizen" couldn't possibly have seen the action up front since there was a school bus immediately behind the student's car.
5. As I passed the car, the teenager in question was by no means being "smart aleck" or "cute." He has a very pleasant disposition and is well-mannered both in and out of the classroom.

Many students in question need the autos they drive as transportation to work after school or to go home after athletic practices, sinces buses are not furnished for these purposes (and shouldn't be used in this manner).

The student made a desperate effort to avoid a collision by trying to head his car into the ditch. His brakes "locked" and he struck the bus at an angle which did place a dent in the bus about the size of a headlight rim.

If anyone would have been injured in this accident it would have been the occupants of the car, who, by the way, were wearing safety belts.

Parents and teachers should control teenage driving but also must not look past their own performances. Remember also, many more adults have met a tragic result than teenagers this year in Franklin County. Percentage wise they "hold their own."

Larry Rood

P.S. We have gone to the highway patrol and county engineers and requested a 45 mph speed limit but due to the fact that a few Norton residents objected, the speed limit required by the state, 60 mph, remains.

The previous article was good, I am not against editorials, but please do not jeopardize certain parties, through lack of information on said incidents.

* * *

To The Editor:

In your last week's edition my attention was directed to a letter sent in to your paper regarding the auto-bus accident that took place several weeks ago involving a teenage boy.

While the article was well pointed and gave some very good suggestions, I would like to set the record straight regarding this particular accident.

I strongly feel the writer did a grave injustice to the boy concerned in this situation. I happen to know the boy and his family. The young man in question is a serious minded young man and a college student that works at several jobs to pay his way through school. This boy is regular in his attendance at church as is his family. There is nothing of the smart alec, reckless driver type individual in this young man's make up—in fact his character is such that it might set an example to many other youths.

It is unfortunate that this accident took place and I am certain that the young man will have learned a lesson from this misfortune and will not follow too closely behind any vehicle in the future. Most of us have had an accident in our experience that while being personally at fault, was just one of those things that happen every so often. Usually we take extra precaution as a result of such an experience.

What I am concerned with here is that we do not put a mark of condemnation on a boy that will serve to brand him a reckless smirking teenager who gives no thought to anyone besides himself. This type of accusation in this particular case is not warranted and is in fact very unjust. We are talking about a young man who has faced some very tough situations in his growing up and has to date handled himself with considerable merit.

I should be grateful if you would set the record straight in your fine paper and help undo a terrible injustice to this boy that undoubtedly is causing him great pain at this very moment.

Juvenile Court Emphasis On Rehabilitation

(Third of a series by FRANK RYAN)

"This is a case of a boy who needed correcting some time ago," said Juvenile Court Judge Clayton W. Rose. He was talking about a 17-year-old admitted burglar.

The youth is in serious trouble. He had participated in two burglaries of a home with two companions. Articles taken were valued at more than $3,000.

The court must choose among several alternatives in attempting to balance the scales between protection of society and rehabilitation of the offender. He can be bound over to the Franklin County Grand Jury and treated as an adult. The court may also choose to treat him as a juvenile.

Judge Clayton Rose

As a juvenile offender, the teenager could be committed to the Boys Industrial School, referred to an agency such as the Juvenile Diagnostic Center or the Training Institute of Central Ohio, or he could be placed on probation.

Commitment would not be a new experience for the boy. He spent several months in a West Virginia training school as the result of a previous offense in that state. He responded well to training in woodwork and machine operation.

Review of a case history on the boy does not provide a clear-cut course of action. He is the product of a broken home; his parents were divorced when he was five years old, and he has moved back and forth between them.

His formal schooling ended after the eighth grade. While there appeared to be no friction between the boy and either of his parents, there was an equally disturbing element — parental indifference.

The boy shows no remorse for the crime he has committed. He told of a previous "experience" with the victim of the burglary. If the experience as he states it is true, it may constitute a mitigating circumstance — at least for the lack of remorse.

If the report on the boy ended here, the hope for rehabilitation would not appear bright. But the background is not complete at this point. In fact, it takes a more hopeful turn in one brief passage, that says the youth is intelligent, communicative and capable of making friends.

What method should be applied — punishment, custodial care, or rehabilitation?

"The simplest thing for a judge to do," says Judge Rose, "is to pronounce commitment. Rehabilitation efforts are more difficult."

In general, Judge Rose favors employment of every reasonable means of effecting rehabilitation. Commitment to a state institution, Judge Rose feels, should be viewed as a means of training and rehabilitation, rather than punishment and exile from society.

What is the court's attitude concerning an apparent rise in public sentiment for more commitments and less probation? Judge Rose says:

"When I get to the point that I send a child to BIS because of pressure, or when a child is returned to the home time after time for the same reason, I am not being honest with myself.

"If we had better training facilities," Judge Rose continued, "we would, perhaps, take advantage of these facilities. We grant probation at times when, if we had proper training facilities, we would prefer training."

Providing of proper facilities and adequate staffs to assure a workable program of youth training and rehabilitation is a state responsibility, and "they are not providing adequate facilities," Judge Rose said. "It is the duty of the state to administer, and of the legislature to appropriate money," he asserted.

Judge Rose believes that a strong state program in the field of juvenile correction should include appointment of a director of juvenile correction who would have cabinet-level status, and who would be responsible directly to the governor.

While chiding the state for its shortcomings in the field of juvenile correction, Judge Rose did not absolve parents of the prime responsibility for prevention of juvenile delinquency.

"We are expected to step in and do the job that parents are supposed to do," he said. "Many of us, as parents, are giving too much time to civic responsibility and not enough to home."

The court is considering various methods of requiring family activity as a requirement of probation. A probation proviso might require a parent to enroll his son or daughter in a church or school-related activity. The parent would be responsible for transporting the child to and from the activity.

"It taks a lot of patience to be a good parent," Judge Rose said, "and it takes a lot of patience to be a good judge."

At the beginning of the interview, Judge Rose cited a specific case with the words: "This is a case of a boy who needed correcting some time ago."

He might well have made the same comment in discussing almost any case that comes to his attention.

Make The Crown Of Immortal Life Your Goal

From babyhood to old age we are constantly confronted by goals.

These goals are varied—varied in the effort which is necessary to achieve them; varied in the length of time necessary to meet them.

Pastor O'Fill

The child, after having achieved his goals of crawling, walking and talking, begins to look forward to going to school.

The young man or woman sets his or her goal on a high school diploma, then the prospects of college, of choosing a life's work, of marriage and of parenthood.

Then, through the years, there is the important goal of succeeding and prospering in business, fulfilling the injunction, "whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might" (Ecclesiastes 9:10), and the also very important goal of raising children to be good citizens and well prepared to take their places as tomorrow's leaders.

The Apostle Paul, as his life was drawing to a close, wrote, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith" (II Timothy (4:7).

His life had been filled with many hardships, beatings, stonings, imprisonment and rejection.

Yet Paul was able to write that he had finished his course. Why? Because the goal that was his all-consuming desire was to obtain a crown of righteousness which God the righteous Judge would give him.

This was the goal that was ever before him. And failures in other areas were unable to cloud that goal.

In I Corinthians 9:24 (last part) we are admonished, "So run that ye may obtain." The goal implied here to be obtained does not refer to any earthly prize, for we are realistically aware that many goals in this life are left unattained.

But set before each one is the goal of eternal life, purchased at Calvary by the Son of God that "whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

Yet this life is full of trials and hardships for "your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour" (II Peter 5:8).

Temptations surround us, allurements of the world beckon us. Yet we know that Christ, Who was victorious over the devil and Who now intercedes for us, is "able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24).

Paul compares the Christian race of faith to the ancient Roman games in which young men raced one another to win an olive-branch crown. The young Romans trained diligently.

They denied themselves luxuries that might make them lose fitness; they denied themselves pleasures.

While others were banqueting and enjoying frivolous times, they were practicing for the race which was coming — the goal was before them.

Jesus is coming soon to "reward every man according to his works" (Matthew 16:27). May God grant that our day by day, moment by moment goal will be Christ-likeness.

And then when He comes we shall receive not a crown of olive branches that withers away but the crown of immortal life to which the Apostle Paul looked forward.

The Coming of Spring

Variety . . .

by I. F. Howell

Each spring over earth millions of Christians observe Lent and Easter. From the beginning, the Cross has been the symbol of Christianity. It is made and pictured in various forms. In addition, several other objects are used as symbols of Eastertide.

The bursting pomgranate: The Resurrection, the bursting forth from the Tomb.

The phoenix: A legendary bird that is burned, then rises again always.

The butterfly: Its three stages represent the three stages in the life of a Christian; the larva, man's condition unredeemed; the chrysalis, man in the grave; and the pupa, bursting forth from its shell, the Resurrection again.

The Greek Cross with the monogram IC, the first and last letters of the name Jesus.

XC: the first and last letters of the Greek word for Christ.

NIKA: The Greek word for conquerer, Christ overcoming death.

The Cross in Glory: The rays represent the rising sun behind the Cross on Easter morning.

The quatrefoil: Its four leaves are symbolic of the Four Evangels.

It says here . . . . . .
Facts are for the mind. Symbols are for mind and spirit.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Beef, Pork Prices At Low Point For The Year

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas, pineapple.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cooking greens, green onions, celery.

When is the best time to buy meat for the home freezer or locker storage?

Now through mid-May, according to meat marketing specialists. They say prices on both beef and pork will be at their lowest level of the year during this period.

As part of this year's record production beef supplies are at a high level. Marketings of fed cattle during the March-May period are expected to show a six to eight per cent increase over last year. Also, the average market weights of the animals are running heavy.

Mrs. Franks

Live cattle prices are down. On choice steers prices have been dropping since early January and are now lower than anytime in several years. Wholesale prices on both hindquarters and forequarters have dropped five to six cents a pound since the first of the year, and are now three to four cents below a year ago.

Also in your favor now is the high quality of the beef. The finest cattle of the year are coming to market; it's grain fed. And, the lowering of beef prices has been mostly on the top grades, since the supply of cow beef and other lower grades of beef are not plentiful at this season.

You can also take advantage of the present seasonal low demand for steaks and rib roasts and store away extra packages of these cuts while prices are low and quality is high. Prices on all short-cooking cuts are sure to go higher when outdoor barbecuing starts.

As for pork, recent production has been about seven per cent above last year and will continue that way through early spring. The current wholesale market is below last year on all cuts. Pork loins are about three cents below early January and the lowest since last December.

So from now until early June is a good time to purchase a half or whole hog, if you have freezer space and can use that much within a period of six months or less. Or you may want to purchase whole loins and have them cut to suit your family's preferences.

At retail, expect good buys on loin roasts and chops, Boston butts, bacon and cured picnics. A few packages of spareribs purchased at 39 cents a pound will taste fine from the barbecue when prices go much higher next summer. Cured hams are in good supply but will receive less emphasis from now until Easter week when they will be featured at low prices.

Poultry And Eggs

Broiler supplies through late March and early April will be almost at the same level as a year ago. Current wholesale prices at 26½ to 29 cents per pound are two to three cents lower than a year ago. Lower prices and more frequent specialing can be expected as the supply increases.

Egg prices at both farm and wholesale levels have dropped four to five cents per dozen in the past three weeks. Some further decline is likely through spring as production increases. The current price spread between large and medium size eggs is very narrow — only two to three cents per dozen, making the large size the most economical on a weight basis.

Are You Really Doing A Dad's Duty?

Rather than to seek someone to blame for the juvenile problems of this community, why not look for a remedy — or starting place for curing it?

"Dad" might be just the person needed to help a troubled boy and keep him from going astray.

Churchill

Who else can so easily win the respect of a young boy and have such a great influence on that child's behavior?

But, maybe Dad is letting himself become too involved in less important matters, outside the family.

Maybe, because of that special club or that extra tough assignment at work Dad is "just too tired and too busy," and takes for granted one of his most important missions — being a father.

From experience, I know how pleasing it is to have a father share the joys of accomplishment and lend a hand with a project that may be a little too big.

Don't overlook this duty, Dad, and don't pass up the opportunity to experience some of the most heart-warming moments of your life.

Fatherless families have special problems that need to be solved. Some devoted individuals and groups such as the Big Brothers and Optimists are doing a great work for people in this situation.

Take that boy of yours out in the yard and play catch or shoot a few baskets with him. Take him along for an afternoon of golf, or fishing.

Teach him to be a sport. Give him moral support when he is glum, and share his joy when he's happy.

Encourage his desire to learn how to work; take him to church.

Be a "Dad"—you won't regret it — and your son may "do you proud" because of it.

'Don't Phone Me . . .'

To The Editor:

I wish to commend the businessmen who solicit new customers through ads in your fine paper, rather than harassing them by telephone.

I speak for the mothers whose pre-school children must nap in the early afternoon. Seldom does a day pass without a telephone solicitation during the nap period, waking the children and ruining any chance a tired mother might have of that rare luxury — an undisturbed hour of work or rest.

Never will I patronize businesses that solicit by telephone! I'd love to ask the name and phone number of the solicitor (plus maybe those of her employer!) and some time when they logically might be resting I'd return their calls.

Again, thanks to your advertisers who don't call me. They're the ones who'll get my business.

Miss Cannon Is Loud And Clear In 'How To Succeed'

Attention local offices of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith:

One of your alumni is in Columbus.

She's Dyan Cannon, and worked in your Phoenix, Ariz., office for six months. She's not, however, in Columbus to manipulate the stock quotation boards.

Instead, she's manipulating audiences at Veterans Memorial in the delightful "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," which opened there last week and will run until a Saturday matinee.

"This is the first time I've ever been in Columbus," she smiled, tugged at a long string of pearls around her neck and lit a cigarette (not necessarily in that order).

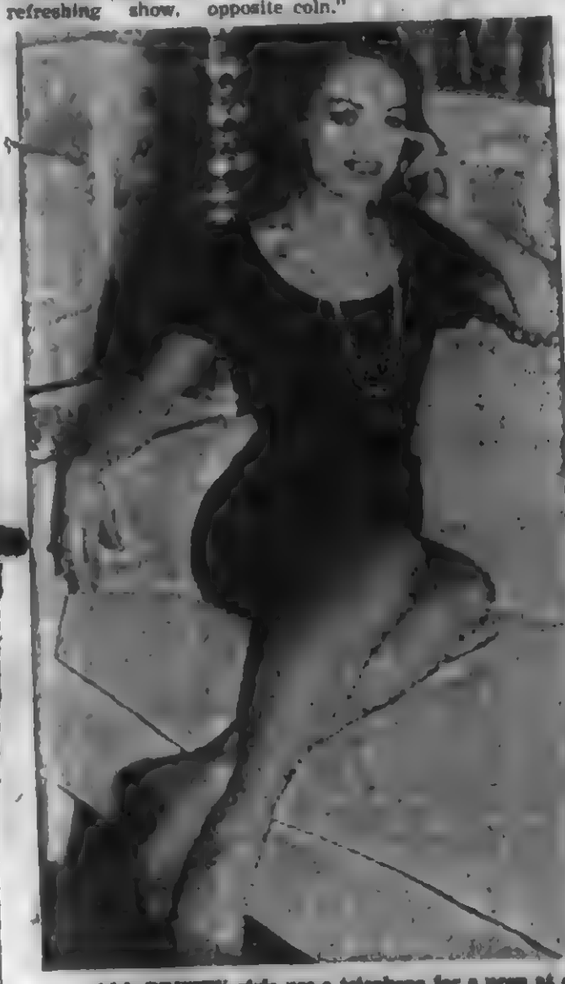
Actually, with the long list of shows (over 300 TV spots) packed into her mere 22 years, you'd think Miss Cannon would become rather blase about just another show like "How to Succeed."

"Oh, but this is not just another show," she said. "This is one of the best musical comedies in the country. No wonder I'm excited about it."

Damsel Dyan plays the female lead (Rosemary) in the refreshing show, opposite young up-and-comer Dick Kaufman and Willard Waterman of Great Gildersleeve fame.

In an opening number, "Happy to Keep His Dinner Warm," Dyan shows her vocal chord prowess. It's easy to take.

The Late Great On TV Tuesday



"The Tall American—Gary Cooper" will be a tribute to the late movie giant, on Tuesday, Mar. 26, in an hour-long "Project 20" program on WLW-C, TV 4.

Cooper

He will be portrayed as representing "something peculiarly American" in the show which will draw upon many sources, including archive news film, home movies made available by Mrs. Cooper and footage from some of the late star's best-known motion pictures.

Perhaps Audrey Hepburn summed up "Coop" best when she said about him, "He's got such an American face—like a cowboy, or Abraham Lincoln."

ALL PRETTY girls use a telephone for a prop at one time or another, but few have put Alexander Graham's brainchild to better use than pixie-ish Dyan Cannon who has the female lead in "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying."

NOT EASY AT 9 A.M.

Jack Denton Tries Hard To Please

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

Smiling (outwardly), pleasant (abundantly) and funny (professionally), John William Deindorfer (that's German for Jack Denton) works hard at pleasing Columbus audiences (ingressively).

That's no easy task when you consider that most of Denton's 9 to 10:25 a.m. audience tunes him in on WLW-C, TV-4's "Jack Denton Show," in the midst of clearing the breakfast dishes.

"Sure, it's hard to be funny — even pleasant — on some mornings at 9 a.m.," he said during a talk in the station's darkened Studio B on the Olentangy River-rd. "Sometimes, strangely enough, it's even harder to keep from being overly syrupy."

If nothing else, Denton tries hard to please. It got so bad at one point in his life that it took a psychiatrist to tell him that it's really not important that everybody likes him — advice he's taken wisely.

In his efforts to please Columbus audiences, the 38-year-old veteran showman changed his style. Constant viewers of the Denton show have probably noticed this: the emphasis on comedy has been de-emphasized with finese unattainable by Ohio State football opponents.

Anyone who's known Denton for any length of time —before he came to WLW-C on Oct. 23, 1961, can spot the change at first glance.

When Denton was on the road, seeking bookings coast-to-coast, he had hand-out sheets, as most performers do which gave a brief summary of his talents. His slogan on this sheet sums up the change best — "The Screams of the Crop" it reads.

That was the old Denton. That was the Wow-Eee-Wow, knock 'em dead, stand-up comic in the best tradition of Milton Berle, for it was Uncle Miltv that Denton aspired to —even going as far at age 16 as to steal material from the granddaddy of all joke stealers.

"I was a hero-worshipper then — still am, I suppose. Every performer starting out imitates to a certain degree. Milton Berle is the greatest comedian in the world in person and I wanted to be like him," Denton remembered.

The deep-toned entertainer got started in comedy in 1943 when he went on an amateur show using Berle's jokes. Milton was playing the same theater, caught Denton's act and, two years later, hired him as a writer.

The Denton web was beginning to weave itself.

It spun in and out of countless night club appearances, with Denton an accomplished drummer, too. It expanded to comedy writing for Red Skelton and "My Friend Irma" radio show and later to doing Parr Show appearances, "Naked city," and a Mort Sahl TV special, among others.

He's come a long way from Aurora (song cue) and working under agent's orders to audition for two-bit night clubs. Even those days, however, were fun days for Denton.

"I remember one time when our trio had something like 17 auditions in one week," he related. "We got to like going from club to club and one day, in our hotel room, a club owner called us on a job offer.

"'Can't make it,' the bass player told the caller. 'We've got four more auditions this week,' he said, and hung up."

Now it's Jack Denton today, Mar. 21, 1963 — a new Jack Denton, this time more sophisticated, quicker with the ad-lib and distilled with a pleasantness that would make a Sunday stroll through Franklin Park as unpleasant as an air raid attack, in comparison.

But, it's not a particularly satisfied Jack Denton. Oh, he's fond of Columbus, all right, and enjoys the freedom of his seven and one-half hours a week before the cameras. The lure of bigger things, as always, shines brightly, though.

He came closer than many people realize to being the Paar Show replacement when Jack took his first walk. "Maybe this is what I'm shooting for," he commented. "I do know that this is something that I'd really like to do."

There are those who feel he'd do well at it, too.

FLIGHT . . . of Faith

The faith of a boy that a slender string shall hold high his kite—that when he extends a little more string his kite will go a little higher—shows that this flight is a flight of faith.

As the boy has faith in the string so must we have faith in our Lord, and the more faith we extend, the higher and more abundant our lives will be. It is written in Romans 1:17, "The just shall live by faith." Attend Church this Sunday and receive inspiration from those who share your faith, that you may, as the Apostle Paul said, "be comforted together by the mutual faith of you both."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long prosper and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

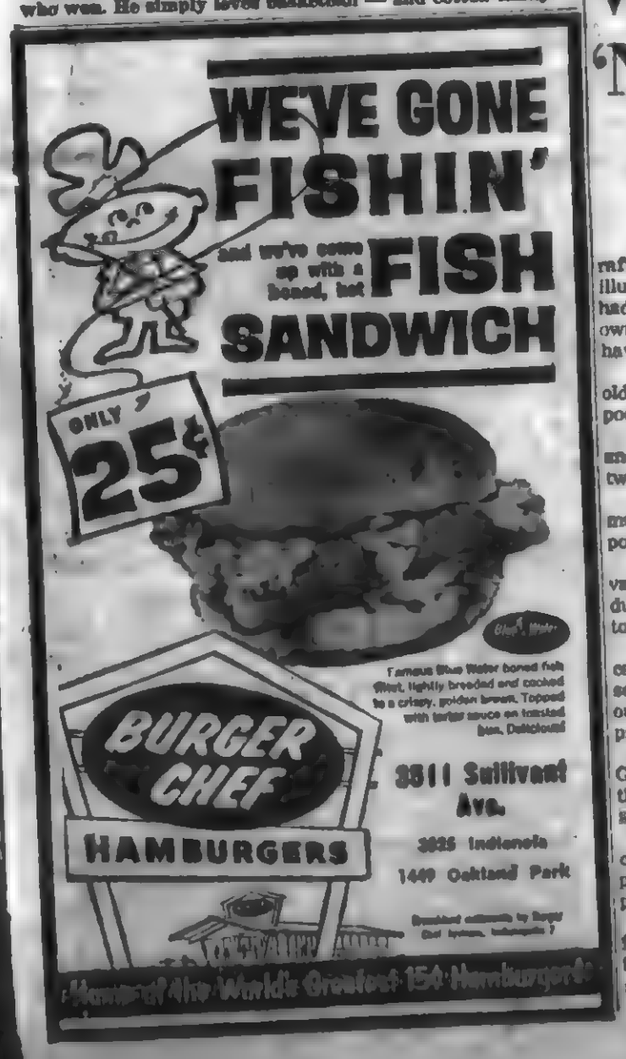
ACTION FAST AS COWBOY CAGERS BATTLE EAST IN AA TOURNEY FINALS

ACTION WAS anything but 'he-haw' Saturday evening at the Fairgrounds Coliseum as West's hopped-up Cowboys battled favored East right into the final quarter before dropping a 54-42 decision in the AA district tourney finals. At the left, Bronco cager Charlie Castle (center) hugs the basketball after collaring an errant Tiger field goal attempt in third period play. Steve Barnard (41) offers help on the right and East's Ed Waller (55) has something else in mind as he moves in on the left. Center photo displays the kind of team work that almost spelled West to a major upset. Jim Hughes (33) finds his path to the basket blocked effectively by East's Ken Fowlkes (44) so he passes off to Barnard (moving in toward basket at right). Sophomore Steve canned the ensuing attempt to pull the Cowboys two points closer in second period play. Fowlkes finds Bronco Ron McDaniel (with ball) hard to corral as the West cager drives around the Tiger defender for a field goal attempt in picture at right.

CBS Officials Ready Track For Midgets

Jack Humphrey continued his track success last Sunday at the CBS Speedway, racing to three more victories to top local entries in the Go-Kart competition.

Repair work is progressing rapidly at the track and the high - banked quarter - mile track will be ready for the T.Q. midgets this Sunday.



THE CBS Speedway is located four miles north of Lancaster on Route 33. Racing is scheduled every Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. with pits opening at noon.

Other area winners Sunday were: Stanley Riggs, Rusty Thomas, James Erwin Jr., Tom Dutton, Walter Boehm and Richard Hamilton of Columbus and Donald Blank of Canal Winchester.

JOE FAN JR. AND FRIEND

WHEN YOU'RE 12 years old, basketball games aren't all cheers or a pounding heart as young Kenny Weimer of RR 2, London, displays as he intently watches the action in Saturday evening's AA district tourney finals from his special private box at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. When questioned about his allegiance during the fray, Kenny calmly remarked that he didn't particularly care who won. He simply loves basketball — and cotton candy.

NEWMAN BIGGEST 'NEWS'

Seven Records Fall As Cards Win Meet

High school track fans around the area got a "sneak preview" of things to come this spring at the Greater Columbus Indoor Meet Saturday afternoon at OSU's French Field House.

Worthington's fleet - footed Cardinals topped the 26-team field with a total of 31 points, nailing down their second straight preview title.

SEVEN OLD MARKS were shattered during the course of the meet which saw approximately 350 schoolboy runners competing for honors.

Biggest news of the meet was the high jump mark set by 6-5, 190-pound Bill Newman of Hilliard. The Wildcat senior, who turned in his basketball togs for track shoes just one week before, sailed through space for six feet, six inches to eclipse the old record by three inches.

Most amazing factor in Newman's performance was the fact that he engaged in only one practice session before the meet and then bettered the state mark in the event by a split inch.

STANDARD BEARER Worthington was responsible for four of the other records as the Cardinals smashed the old mark in the distance medley event and sent three individuals through the ribbon in top times.

Gary Hazlett cracked the 440 record; Jeff Echert set the pace in the mile event and Russ Cellars outdistanced the field in the 880 event to complete the Worthington string.

South's Willie Thompson picked up the remaining two records, streaking to victory in both the low and high hurdles events.

ANOTHER FINE individual performance was turned in by East's Fred Lundy who piled up the most points at the meet by taking blue ribbon honors in both the broad jump and 60-yard dash before anchoring the Tiger's winning 880-yard relay quintet.

East and Whitehall provided Worthington with most of its competition as the two East Side schools deadlocked in the runnerup position with 23 points apiece.

Other team scores were: Central, 19; Gahanna, 15; Hilliard, 14; Eastmoor, 10; South, 13; North, 11; Linden, 10; Arlington, 9; Westerville, 7; Whetstone, 6; Brookhaven, 4; West, Groveport and Ready, 3.

Bexley, Hartley, Dublin, Grove City, Mifflin, Fl[illegible] View, St. Charles, University and Walnut Ridge also participated in the meet but failed to score.

Here are the individual results:

Summaries

SP—1, Short (Whitehall); 2, Shaffer (Gahanna); 3, Gran (Groveport); 4, Hamilton (Linden); 5, Hoke (Central). D—50 feet, 5⅛-inches.

EAST WINS, 54-42

Clock Strikes Twelve For West 'Cinderella'

By BOB LYNCH

Unheralded West surprised everyone by advancing to the finals of the Central District AA Tournament last Saturday but the Cowboys couldn't continue their five-game win streak against East's Tigers, losing, 54-42.

Top-seeded East, sweeping easily through their first four tourney contests, found themselves up against some surprisingly tough ocompetition in this final contest for most of the first half.

HOWEVER, THE Cowboys were plagued by some poor shooting throughout the game, as they hit only 27.9 per cent from the field.

The tenacious Tiger defense must be given most of the credit for the lack of Cowboy shooting accuracy, as they forced the Broncos to hurry most of their shots.

The shots the Cowboys were able to get off had to come from the outside, as the Tiger front line kept 6-5 Steve Barnard from penetrating anywhere near the basket, limiting him to only three points.

THE CONTEST started out slowly as neither team could find the range or overcome ballhandling errors. East's Ed Waller contributed the first points of the affair as he sank a free throw with six minutes remaining in the first period, and seconds later hit a field goal to put East out in front 3-0.

But the Cowboys hit for the next three. East then increased their bulge to 6-3, but again the Cowboys tied the score at 6-6. But that was as close as the Cowboys were destined to come for the remainder of the game.

East led by two at the quarter, 8-6, and stretched the margin to 25-19 at the halfway mark as Bob Calloway hit a 40-foot jumper two seconds before the gun sounded.

KARL SMITH came off the bench in the third quarter to try and add some rebounding strength to the Cowboys' attack, and he cut East's margin midway through the quarter to 36-31.

As the fourth period began, he backhanded a rebound recovery to cut the lead to three, 36-33. But the Tigers were not to be denied, and they jumped their lead up to 10, where it remained for most of the game.

The Tigers led the contest in almost every department—rebounds, 42-36; fewest turnovers, and shooting percentage, 47 per cent to 27.9 per cent.

THE LATTER statistic tells the story, as the Cowboys were much colder than Thursday night's encounter with Grove City, when they hit 54 per cent in running up a 24-point margin at one point.

In the East contest, Ed Waller led all scorers with 22 points. For the Broncos, Ron McDaniel and Jerry Carter totaled 15, while Charlie Castle and Barnard were limited to five and three, respectively.

The Cowboys ended their season with a 14-8 record while East advances to Canton for the regional tournaments riding on a 22-1 mark.

South Gra-Y Quintets Nab Festival Honors

The 10th Annual Hilltop YMCA Basketball Festival was an outstanding success this year. The Gra-Y South "B" All-Stars beat the North All-Stars, 22-14. High point man for the South All-Stars was Dwight Reinstetle with eight points, and Herb Carney was high with six for the North.

Other boys on the South team were Jack Thrush, John Pickens, Steve Miller, Tom and Ned Skipper, Roger Frank, Jerry Morgan, Mike Merz, Mike Miller, Dale Wiseman and Dan Dearth.

NORTH TEAM players were Gary Giehl, Rick McCann, Jamie Mueller, Jeff Benson, Harold Walker, Tom Johnson, Woody Coffey, Paul Pullins, Chad Brown, Dave Armstrong and Wayne Rittenhouse.

The second game of the evening resulted in the South Gra-Y "A" All-Stars winning the decision over the North by an 11-10 score. High for the South team was Mike Stumpf with six, and Paul Mayes was the leader for the North with four.

Other South players were Steve Howard, Rick Jackson, Steve Ulrey, Dale Coldren, Norman Lucas, Lucas Johnson, Bill Burchett, Gary Wiseman, Terry Travis and Steve Smith.

NORTH PLAYERS were Steve Davis, Bill Ackerman, Jeff Postle, Tom Jenkins, Lonnie Lee, Terry Dillahunty, Larry Pruitt and Charles Bergman.

Awards were presented to the Gra-Y teams for the season's accomplishments. The West Mound "A" team won the "A" League championship, and Georgian Heights captured the "B" League championship honors. Both teams had 6-0 records. The "B" League sportsmanship trophy was won by Westgate and the "A" League sportsmanship was won by North Franklin.

The third game of the evening featured the Junior League All-Stars. Two teams were selected and matched as evenly as possible. The two teams represented the All-Stars of the Junior League.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE championship for 1962-'63 went to Hillcrest Baptist with a 13-1 record. Their coach, Roger Street, received the best manager award. The Junior League sportsmanship trophy was given to Burgess EUB.

The Intermediate League champions, Glenwood Methodist, had a 10-2 record for the season. The West Senior Hi-Y squad won the sportsmanship award. The best manager award for the Intermediate League went to Don Furry, coach of the Burgess EUB team.

The last game of the evening matched the Coaches vs. the Intermediate All-Stars. The Coaches won, 60-56. The leading scorer for the All-Stars was Jim Wemyss with 15. Jim Dunaway led the Coaches with 18.

Will Regress Spoil 'New' Cassius Clay?

When ballads and folk songs sing of that day,
They'll speak of the decline of a pretender called Clay.
It was billed to be violent and over in four,
Now Cassius is silent 'cause it lasted six more.

By the time the last catcall had been absorbed into the rafters of Madison Square Garden last week, a very disillusioned young pugilist named Cassius Marcellus Clay had discovered (apparently to no one's surprise but his own) that except for a handful of loyal supporters, he didn't have a friend in the world.

IT MUST HAVE come as a bitter blow to the 21-year-old showman who might have figured that his boosting poetic quips had endeared him to the sporting world.

But the ex-Olympic champ with the Roman handle and the Castro-style cockiness apparently had overlooked two prime elements.

One, American sports fans take to the underdog like mustard to the hot dog. Clay has done everything in his power to blur that kind of personal image.

SECONDLY, PEOPLE silently endure the mouthy bravados of the aspiring contender only as long as he can produce. Cassius didn't produce last week and he didn't have to go beyond the fourth round to be reminded of the fact.

Probably the soundest observation Clay ever uttered came in his bitter post-fight comment that "they came to see me whipped." That, young gladiator, they did. Even our boss, who isn't the blood-thirsty type, expressed his pre-fight desire to see Clay humbled.

THE CLAY PEDESTAL took a severe shaking in the Garden last week. The fight boys have even begun to write the result off as a modern requiem for a heavyweight contender.

Maybe the humble pie that was forced into the Clay cavity was a blessing in disguise. Cassius has sworn off the predictions and apparently is satisfied with re-opening the poetry field for Carl Sandberg.

Maybe we're wrong, but we think we'll be hearing more from a reformed Mr. Clay — and we don't mean on a boosting basis. Could be the whole bit is a clever psychological smoke screen.

If it isn't, at least Clay's "whooping mouth" seems to be communicable. Sonny Liston is talking about "manslaughter" charges in references to Cassius and guess who's making predictions now? Sonny says, "It's over and done. Clay in one."

SOUR GRAPES DEPT. — One of our most pro-Ohio State friends, still unable to swallow the Indiana loss after two and a half weeks, suggested the other day that the nation's sportswriters honor Hoosier fans with their third consecutive "sportsmanship trophy."

JET STREAMS — Just a reminder that the ninth annual Columbus Jet Book Ticket Drive is now in progress. Ticket chairman, Bob Gruesser, has indicated the importance of the drive by pointing out that advance sales provide the local club with half of its pre-season income.

No increase in price, incidentally — still just $10 for 10 general admission tickets—a $2.50 savings. Book tickets may be purchased at the Jet Stadium Office on W. Mound st from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. up until opening night (Apr. 18).

Remember — the annual Book Ticket Drive is the major medium through which individuals in the Central Ohio area can insure the continued success of their community-owned, non-profit Jets baseball club and Youth Foundation.

RUNWAY TEE OFF?—And you think you got problems? Consider one of the difficulties involved with the city's plan to add a second municipal golf course to the local landscape.

The city owns 135 acres of land under the approach to Port Columbus directly east of Hamilton-rd. The problem, in part, involves patronage. Will Pop tee off number six with flight 808 bearing down overhead? That's the $200,000 question.

If the other problem (possibility of federal government use of the land) is solved, this item is apparently the only stumbling block.

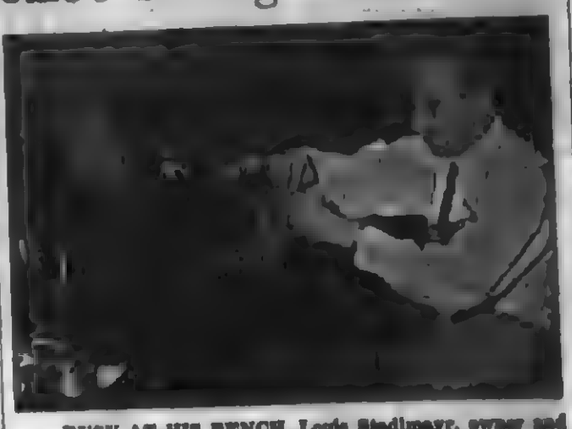
CITY RECREATION Director Nick Barack is hoping that the "public support" question can be answered by feeling out a number of local golfers and professional swingers.

"A lot of golfers demand complete silence," Barack said. "If this site isn't suitable, we'll have to start looking elsewhere. This would involve the purchase of additional land and that's an expensive item."

Barack knows of a similar situation where a city recreation department constructed a golf course in close proximity to an airport. "I plan to write them and find out what their experience has been," Barack said. "We've got to be sure before we go ahead. This has to be a self-sustaining operation."

Nick's right, of course, but his problem set us to thinking. After four years of dodging hooks and slices, we wonder who would be irritated more—the golfers or the approaching aircraft?

BUSINESS REVIEW



A Complete Line Of Sewing Machines Featured At Louie's Sewing Center

"We offer no specials, as such, because our everyday prices are specials. They're as low as you'll find any where in the city." Those were the words of Louis Stadlmayr, owner and manager of Louie's Sewing Center at 928 Sullivant-av.

"We've been here since 1947 and sewing machines are a full time business with us, not just a side line," said the Austrian-born sewing machine specialist.

Stadlmayr learned his trade as a sewing machine repairman in the "old country" before coming to America many years ago. "But," he explained, "I couldn't speak English properly then and had no money, so I went to work in a foundry." Then 15 years ago he opened his sewing center on Sullivant-av and has been busy ever since.

The main feature at Louie's Sewing Center is the Viking sewing machine, although the shop also carries other makes, both foreign and domestic, and handles used, reconditioned machines, along with repairs and conversion of foot-operated machines to electric power.

BUSY AT HIS BENCH, Louis Stadlmayr, owner and operator of Louie's Sewing Center, 928 Sullivant-av, spends many hours repairing and adjusting sewing machines. Besides the repair and sales of new and used machines, the shop specializes in converting the foot-operated machines to electric power. All work is guaranteed by the shop, which was established at its present location in 1947.

As the only authorized dealer for the Viking sewing machine in the Columbus area, Stadlmayr recommends the Swedish-made machine highly and added, "I've never had one back for repairs, yet. It's impossible to jam a Viking."

Each new machine sold by the sewing center is demonstrated in the home by the shop owner and comes with a warranty.

Obviously enjoying the repair work involved in his business, Stadlmayr spends many hours at his workshop bench keeping sewing machines in good working order for his customers.

All work is guaranteed by the shop and free pick-up and delivery is available during working hours. The shop is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays. Phone CA. 4-1547.

Stadlmayr and his wife, Josephine (Jodie), live above the shop and on many occasions Mrs. Stadlmayr helps out by clerking in the store or by making clothing alterations, also a feature of the sewing center.

Stadlmayr also enjoys demonstrating his sewing equipment and explaining the many features employed by the different manufacturers to offer convenience and versatility. And as Louie says, "We don't need to advertise the specials because our everyday prices are specials."

Spring Horse Show Coming Next Month

Seven years ago the Spring Horse Show, presented by the Ohio Spotted Horse Association, held its first meet on a high school football field. Reports state, "the show had few entries and probably fewer spectators."

This year the show will play four days, Thursday, Mar. 21, through Sunday, Mar. 24, at the Ohio Exposition Center. More than 2000 entries in 145 classes will show to an expected crowd of over 10,000 spectators.

The program is presented for the benefit of the Kidney Disease Foundation of Central Ohio. The foundation's members, along with those of the Ohio Spotted Horse Association, have volunteered both time and labor for the past several months in preparation for the event.

Feature attractions of this year's show include a pair of talented Border Collies, to perform tricks along with the horses, and a fast stepping exhibition of teamwork and skill by the Victor Comptometer Corporation Six-Pony Hitch, made-up of six matched Shetland ponies.

Tickets may be purchased at the gate on the days of the performance.

Hart Attending Bowling School

Robert Hart, manager of Hillcrest Lanes, 3440 W. Broad-st, is in Chicago attending the Brunswick Bowling Management School. The school has been conducted for the last five years by Brunswick Corp. to present the fundamentals of bowling management to owners and operators of bowling establishments.

Named Goodwill Worker Of Year

Sherrie Tope, 1350 Elmore-av, was presented with the Goodwill "Oscar" for 1962 from Morris D. Gareck, outgoing president at the Goodwill Industries' banquet Mar. 14.

According to the award, Sherrie was shy, withdrawn and lacked self-confidence when she first came to Goodwill and lacked the endurance for working an eight-hour day. Going to work was a painful experience for the young lady, since she suffered from an arthritic condition.

By the time she was placed in competitive employment, said the award, she had gained poise and confidence to work as a switchboard operator and receptionist, following office training and employment at Goodwill Industries.

Sherrie's future plans call for taking a Civil Service exam for state employment this fall and enrolling in bookkeeping courses at a Columbus business college.

Power Co. Head Sees Good Year

"Prospects in 1963 are for continued progress in the company's growth and earnings," Harry M. Miller, president, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, told his shareholders in the annual report.

Miller also pointed out that "Good gains were experienced in both sales and revenues during 1962, but higher depreciation rates and increases in other costs of operations resulted in expenses which more than offset the revenue gains."

According to the report, residential sale of electricity was up 11.6 per cent, and sales to commercial and industrial customers increased 10.9 per cent over the previous year.

Net earnings for 1962 were equal to $3.54 per share on the 2,800,000 common shares outstanding.

NAMED TO PANEL

John Edgerly of Big Bear Stores will be one of eight panelists at Ohio's fifth annual Agricultural Marketing Conference Thursday, Mar. 28, at Ohio State University. Representing the meat marketing industry, he will give his opinions on livestock marketing trends.

ALTERS BUILDING

The Mary Bea Corporation, 3035 W. Broad-st, has been issued a construction permit to alter a stone building at 2364 W. Broad-st. Construction valued at $2000. Contractor is Al Tonti.

TO MAKE ADDITION

Mrs. Adena Goodsell, 2121 Arlington-av, has received a permit to make an addition to a concrete block building at 1510 W. Broad-st. Construction is valued at $10,000. Contractor is Corwin Knolls.

WINS OSU BASKETBALL

County Campers Top State Park Visitors In Ohio

There is apparently no way to predict where Ohio campers will go camping, except that we know the Class A campgrounds (those most highly developed) attract the most people. This was V. W. Flickinger's comment as he released a compilation of a camping study made over the past three years. Flickinger is chief of the Ohio Division of Parks.

Counties supplying the most campers to Ohio parks are these, in order: Franklin, Montgomery, Cuyahoga, Summit and Hamilton. This order was the same all three years.

"It is no surprise that population centers have the most campers, but the ranking is interesting," said Flickinger. "Apparently because of their proximity to other states, Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties are below Franklin and Montgomery.

"Another factor may be that Franklin Countians can pick up the phone and call park headquarters about where to go camping and about where certain facilities are located. We handle hundreds of such calls each season."

FATHER-SON TEAMS like this one—Stuart Sauber and James, 8, of 1683 Chestershire-rd—will root for their favorite cars at the Pinewood Jet Car Derby, Saturday afternoon at Westinghouse auditorium.

Cub Scout Jet Cars Compete Saturday At Westinghouse

Westinghouse auditorium on Georgesville-rd will be the scene of sizzling action this Saturday (Mar. 23) afternoon.

Cub Scouts of the Southwest District plan to hold the finals of their first Jet Car Pinewood Derby. The event will be open to parents, friends and the general public. Post time is 1:30.

For weeks local Cubs and their dads have been building tiny wooden model racing cars from kits. Each car is powered by carbon dioxide "sparkler" cartridges. The little machines are guided four abreast along wire lines over a 100-foot track. They sometimes reach speeds of 40 to 50 miles an hour.

Each pack has been invited to hold derby runoffs and send six entrants to the Westinghouse event. Three of the boys will compete for prizes; the other three will vie for honorable mentions.

Four starting gates will be in use at the finals, said Everett Bacon, district executive.

Much of the enthusiasm for the derby has been generated by Cub Pack 586 of St. John Lutheran Church. Cubmaster Tom Sharp and his assistant, Stuart Sauber, built a starting gate and have rented it out to other packs.

Lions Plan District Meet

The convention schedule calls for a social evening of music and fellowship Saturday night, registration of delegates at 10 a.m., Sunday, business session and reports at 2 p.m., Sunday.

The Linden Lions Auxiliary will host the ladies for a Sunday afternoon program and a banquet will conclude the program on Sunday night.

Banquet speaker will be past director of Lions International, W. R. (Dick) Bryan of Doylestown, O.

Engineers To Meet Tuesday

The Franklin County Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers will hold a March (social type) meeting Tuesday, Mar. 26, at 8 p.m. in the Beechwold Restaurant.

Fr. Richard J. Connelly, chaplain for the Cleveland Browns pro football team and the Boys' Industrial School, will be guest speaker. For reservations, phone Ted Wallace, 237-6363 or TU. 5-1307.

Cap Alumni Club To Meet

The Franklin County Alumni Club of Capital University will hold its annual meeting Sunday, Mar. 24, at 6 p.m. in Troutman Hall on campus.

Following a smorgasbord dinner, the alumni will elect new officers and hear talks by Capital vice-presidents Dr. Frank Bretz and Edward Larson.

TO BUILD GARAGE

Emery S. Kaiser, 811 Miriam-rd West, has been issued a building permit to construct a two car concrete block garage. Construction is valued at $1400. Contractor is City and County Builders.

OHIO WILL GUARANTEE LOANS

There's Help From State For Collegians

BY JANE ROBINSON

Next fall will see a lot of students in college who until recently had no alternative except to quit school to try to get a job.

They won't be students who wanted to stop learning — just those who didn't have the money to go on.

Some will be freshmen, others upperclassmen, and even graduate students.

But they will have one thing in common — the benefit of loans that are 80 per cent guaranteed by the State of Ohio, under new legislation.

Col. William Ong, vice-president of the Canal Winchester Bank, will soon "hit the road" to explain the program to teachers and students in the Southeast schools.

Ordinarily a young man or woman wanting to borrow money without a co-signer would have a tough time. But the Ohio Education Assistance Commission has opened doors previously closed to the young students who need financial aid.

Ong is taking the initiative in explaining the program to those it will benefit as part of the Centennial Aniversary of the Currency Act of Abraham Lincoln, which is being observed by banks throughout the country.

Before this act, each bank or group of banks, issue its own paper money with chaotic conditions prevailing. The new law put the government in the business of making money, and the banks were delegated only to receive it from depositors and lending to borrowers.

Though many banks have demonstrated their interests in the youth of the nation, few were able to offer financial aid to young students who were without credit, income or assets.

The new Ohio law is not designed to provide a pleasant vacation to the boy or girl who is not seriously interested in obtaining a higher education.

Nor is the student who has done inferior work in high school or shown himself to be lacking in character going to be given aid.

Each applicant must be recommended by appropiate faculty members of his school, by character references and by the sponsoring bank.

Furthermore, once given aid, he must maintain acceptable academic standing to be eligible for further aid.

With a ceiling of $5,000 as the total any one borrower may receive, the amount a student may receive during any one school year varies.

As a freshman $500 is the maximum aid allowed. During the sophomore and junior year the allowance is increased to $750. The senior or graduate student may draw up to $1000 a year.

While in school, a moratorium is declared on the debt, Ong explained. Repayment begins four months after the student either obtains a degree or six months after dropping out of school.

At that time all the notes that he may have signed while in school are consolidated into a single loan, extending over a maximum period of six years, depending upon the face of the note.

A simple interest rate of 5½ per cent is charged plus one-eleventh of that interest which is a guaranty to the commission.

The commission believes that the potential earning power of the student and the favorable history of similar loans makes the co-signing of these notes unnecessary. However, it does ask a corroborating letter from the applicant's parent, guardian or sponsor concerning the accuracy of the borrower's application.

One school executive interested in the law commented o.. the GI Bill of Rights, which enabled many veterans to further their education.

"I am sure that the government has made money on these men through the taxes on the increased income, that college enables a man to earn."

Another commented that an educated population can do more for its country than one whose abilities are limited through lack of training.

Few can deny that the State of Ohio is presenting a valuable opportunity to its young citizens.

Hartley Newspapers To Make "Confederate" Cash Good As Gold With Weekly Awards

Many Local Merchants To Redeem Rebel Money Starting This Week

Shades of Jefferson Davis! Who said Confederate money isn't worth a "Continental"? That "Confederate" cash you can receive by carefully reading your Hartley Newspaper is as good as gold . . . It's like having a rich father-in-law.

Sound a Confederate war whoop and dust off the old gray and gold uniform that granddaddy wore, because starting this week you can earn many "Confederate" dollars by simply reading the ads in your Hartley Newspaper.

Beginning today some of the papers will contain ads with either of two insignia shown, always printed in a color other than black.

You can bet your brass buttons that if one of the insignia turns up in your paper it is worth "Confederate" cash to you.

Here's how it works:

Bring or mail entire newspaper, containing ad and insignia to the Hartley Newspaper Office, 2465 W. Broad-st, anytime prior to noon, Monday following publication.

If you have the insignia containing a "dog" it's worth one "Confederate" dollar.

If you have an insignia containing a "five" it is worth five "Confederate" dollars unless, and get this, you are a paid subscriber of a Hartley Newspaper. In that case you also get the "Jackpot". During the first week the jackpot is worth 25 "Confederate" dollars. If it's not claimed, it and all other "Confederate" money not claimed will be added together for the next week's "Jackpot".

There is a good possibility that the "Jackpot" could contain more "Confederate" bills than grandpa used to paper the house in the spring of '75, because each week the big money that isn't claimed will add to the following week's pot.

So you don't have a house to paper! In that case you can spend your "Confederate" cash at any business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper the week you want to spend it.

Any Hartley advertiser will be happy to take your "Confederate" money and in turn give you full value in merchandise or service.

Each Reader Should Watch For 'Confederate' Money Sign Weekly

So shine up your reading glasses and start checking your Hartley Newspaper this week. Nothing to buy, nothing to write, no contest to enter.

How can you lose? Beside the usual good buys you always find in the ads, you could also find some "Confederate" money insignia . . . and that's good cash, too . . . Hartley Newspaper "Confederate" cash, that is.

All Hartley Newspapers "Confederate" money turned in to merchants for redemption will be accepted by Hartley Newspapers for good old American cash. The money will be redeemed by Hartley Newspapers only if the merchant is an advertiser in one of the Hartley Newspapers the week in which he accepts "Confederate" money.

Important: Jackpot or $5.00 winner must bring his full newspaper into office with proper identification.

Sawdust Sandwiches

We have long contended that if Johnny didn't learn to read it was because we changed our teaching methods.

Now comes our good friend Jenkin Lloyd Jones with an article in the March 25 issue of U.S. News and World Report entitled "Time to Get New Schoolbooks," in which he berates our modern schoolbooks in a way that is long overdue.

He contends that it is time to give our children something other than "sawdust sandwiches." Amen!

How's Your Figure?

A South Dakota newspaper dating back to 1917 carries this interesting column of advice to gals who would do something for their figures and their complexions. Any takers today, girls?

"You can have a beautiful complexion by steaming your face over a washtub. Wringing out the clothes makes the arms plump, and hanging the clothes on a line increases the bust measurement.. stooping to pick up the clothes makes the waistline smaller, and carrying the clothes out into the yard makes the legs firm and shapely.

"So throw out the washer and dryer, girls, and take to the washboard if you want. I'll stay plump with flabby arms, thick waistline and non-shapely legs. How about you?"

Schaaf's Zone Bid Approved

Two applications for a change in zoning, one for sizeable construction at the edge of the city, were approved by the Franklin County Zoning Commission this week following public hearings.

According to Mrs. Thelma Hardy, commission clerk, George W. Schaaf, Hilltop real estate developer, was given the green light for development of 58 acres on the northeast corner of Clime and Demorest-rds. Public hearing was held Thursday at the Franklin Township Firehouse.

The development will include twin-single dwellings, apartment buildings and a shopping center, according to the petition.

Schaaf's request had gained approval of the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission after he submitted modified plans which incorporated suggestions offered by the commission.

The zoning commission also approved an application for a zoning change submitted by the Pure Oil Co., 5085 Sinclair-rd, following a public hearing in the Grove City Firehouse. The company had asked for a zoning change from residential and agricultural to local commercial for an 11-acre tract at the southwest corner of the intersection of Interstate Rt. 71 and Stringtown-rd.

Airport Issue Deferred

A third hearing called by the zoning commission was continued until Apr. 25 when the petitioner was unable to attend the meeting. The hearing was called on request of Ray and Edith Miller, 1610 Pemberton-dr.

The Millers had asked a zoning change from residential and agricultural to local commercial (airport) for 78 acres on the north side of Trabue-rd, approximately one-quarter mile west of Wilson-rd.

Testimony was heard from a delegation of about 75 resi-

Boys' Club Plans Big Week

National Boys' Clubs Week will be observed locally Apr. 1 through 6 by the Boys' Clubs of Columbus—the Milo Grogan unit located at 1012 Cleveland-av and the West Side unit located at 115 S. Gift-st.

West Side unit, under the direction of Ralph Oberleitner, will start its celebration with a 6 p.m. dinner at the Deshler Hilton Hotel Monday, Apr. 1.

Highlight of the evening will be the Boy of the Year Award presented by Dr. James R. Hull, master of ceremonies, to the boy most outstanding in club participation, conduct, and grades at school. More than 30 other awards will be given for intramural sports championships and for special achievements in craft work.

The dinner is a project of the Mothers' Auxiliary and each member will be given a T-shirt through the courtesy of the Glen Echo Child Welfare League.

Tuesday, Apr. 2 — movies, 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Apr. 3 — basketball tournaments and open house, 7 p.m.; Thursday, Apr. 4 — basketball tournaments and craft exhibits, 7 p.m.; Friday, Apr. 5 — intramural basketball championships, 7 p.m.; Saturday, Apr. 6 — junior all-star basketball and open house, 7 p.m.

Among the regular activities offered by the local Boys' Club unit are various sports, wood craft, auto mechanics, a fully stocked lending library, and instruction in homework. One of the most popular events sponsored by the club is summer camp. Last year the West Side unit sent 128 boys to the United Community Camp at New Plymouth, O.

Although the local unit has more than 500 members, staff workers are working to recruit more. The dues are 50 cents a year, and no additional charges are made.

Mayor Appoints Ferguson To Urban Renewal Board

Appointment of William E. "Ed" Ferguson, to the Columbus Urban Renewal Commission by Mayor Ralston Westlake was confirmed by City Council, Monday night.

Ferguson, who lived on the Hilltop for 46 years before moving to Bexley two years ago, was named to succeed Richard Elsrit, a Columbus architect who resigned from the commission a few weeks ago.

Ferguson retired four years ago as a director and vice-president in charge of production and underground storage of Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and also as a director of Preston Oil Company. He is 69 years old.

Ferguson spent 41 years with Ohio Fuel. He attended Ohio State University and is a registered professional engineer. He also is secretary of the Hartley Printing and Publishing Co.

The new appointee is an honorary life member of the board of trustees of the Co-

Wilson-rd Land Purchases Begin

Rezoning for new Hilltop apartments and acquisition of land for Wilson-rd extension were two important local items reaching Columbus City Council Monday night.

City fathers declared the necessity and intention of appropriating 19 parcels of land needed to complete the city's portion of the 4,000 foot extension of Wilson-rd south to Sullivant-av. This will open the way for the city's legal department to make the needed purchases of right-of-way for the southern half of the extension.

Action remains yet to be taken by Franklin County on its share extending from W. Broad-st, south to Fremont-av extended.

A 30-day ordinance was introduced for the consideration of the zoning committee seeking the rezoning of a 1.5 acre tract on the east side of N. Sylvan-av, north of the first alley north of W. Broad-st, from commercial to apartment residential.

The request was submitted by the J. G. J. Realty Co., 57 N. Sylvan-av. A clerk at the city zoning commission said preliminary sketches show a possible 37 units planned for two buildings.

The City Planning Commission recommended council approval of the proposal, believing that the project would

Hilltonia Minister To Leave Hilltop For Zanesville Post

Rev. Gerald Koster

Rev. Gerald Koster, minister of Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethren Church since August, 1955, will soon conclude seven years of active participation in the community's church, civic, youth and scouting affairs.

He has accepted the pastorate of First EUB Church in Zanesville, will preach there on Palm Sunday, and move to the new post the middle of April.

Rev. Koster will have completed 12 months of pastoral clinical training at University and Columbus State Hospital, and the Juvenile Diagnostic Center by the time he leaves Columbus.

He has served as Protestant chaplain of the Training Institution of Central Ohio, school for older delinquent boys on W. Broad-st, since last July, and has been chaplain for Southwest District Boy Scouts for the past several years.

He is also past chairman, Protestant Committees on Scouting, Central Ohio Council, and served as chairman of the Support of Churches Committee, 10-W Division, Ohio District Kiwanis.

Rev. Koster is vice-chairman of the advisory committee, Glenwood Recreation Center; a member of Luther B. Turner Lodge, F&AM, and a four-year member of Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

A past president of Hilltop Ministerial Association, he has served in all offices of the organization.

His wife, Marjorie Echo, has worked with him in his ministry in Columbus, and has also worked as a fashion model. The couple has one daughter, four-years-old Candy LaMorr.

Son of the late Rev. Fred Koster and Rev. Beulah Koster of Springfield, he received a BA Degree from Otterbein College, an OBD Degree from United Theological Seminary, Dayton, and was ordained in August, 1954. He also completed some summer graduate study at Ohio State University.

Rev. Godorhazy Is Named New Hilltonia Pastor

Rev. George Godorhazy has been assigned to replace Rev. Koster as pastor of Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethen Church. He will assume his duties there May 1.

Rev. Godorhazy is a former member of Westgate EUB Church. He was graduated from Asbury College in Kentucky in 1957 and completed his ministerial training at United Seminary in Dayton in 1960.

He spent two years in the Newark charge, and for the past year has been serving a church in Monroe, Mich.

Rev. Godorhazy and his wife Joyce are expecting their first child.

Lutheran Expansion Proposed

Hilltop Lutheran Church, 2475 W. Broad-st at Terrace-av, will expand its present facilities in a $350,000 building enlargement program, with construction scheduled for next fall.

A fund-raising drive, conducted by Harold E. Conover of Toledo, will be launched soon, tentatively planned for the weeks following Easter, ending on Apr. 24.

Conover, fund-raising director for the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship, Lutheran Church in America, is making a preliminary study of the parish this week.

FATHER-SON TEAMS like this one—Stuart Sauber and James, 8, of 1063 Chestershire-rd—will root for their favorite cars at the Pinewood Jet Car Derby, Saturday afternoon at Westinghouse auditorium.

Cub Scout Jet Cars Compete Saturday At Westinghouse

Westinghouse auditorium on Georgesville-rd will be the scene of sizzling action this Saturday (Mar. 23) afternoon.

Cub Scouts of the Southwest District plan to hold the finals of their first Jet Car Pinewood Derby. The event will be open to parents, friends and the general public. Post time is 1:30.

For weeks local Cubs and their dads have been building tiny wooden model racing cars from kits. Each car is powered by carbon dioxide "sparkler" cartridges. The little machines are guided four abreast along wire lines over a 100-foot track. They sometimes reach speeds of 40 to 50 miles an hour.

Each pack has been invited to hold derby runoffs and send six entrants to the Westinghouse event. Three of the boys will compete for prizes; the other three will vie for honorable mentions.

Four starting gates will be in use at the finals, said Everett Bacon, district executive.

Much of the enthusiasm for the derby has been generated by Cub Pack 586 of St. John Lutheran Church. Cubmaster Tom Sharp and his assistant, Stuart Sauber, built a starting gate and have rented it out to other packs.

Lions Plan District Meet

Robert Bastl, New Holland, governor of Ohio Lions District 13-B, announced the dates of Saturday, Mar. 23, and Sunday, Mar. 24, for the annual District Lions Club Convention at the Southern Hotel.

The convention schedule calls for a social evening of music and fellowship Saturday night, registration of delegates at 10 a.m., Sunday, business session and reports at 2 p.m., Sunday.

The Linden Lions Auxiliary will host the ladies for a Sunday afternoon program and a banquet will conclude the program on Sunday night.

Banquet speaker will be past director of Lions International, W. R. (Dick) Bryan of Doylestown, O.

Engineers To Meet Tuesday

The Franklin County Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers will hold a March (social type) meeting Tuesday, Mar. 26, at 8 p.m. in the Beechwold Restaurant.

Fr. Richard J. Connelly, chaplain for the Cleveland Browns pro football team and the Boys' Industrial School, will be guest speaker. For reservations, phone Ted Wallace, 237-6363 or TU. 5-1307.

Cap Alumni Club To Meet

The Franklin County Alumni Club of Capital University will hold its annual meeting Sunday, Mar. 24, at 6 p.m. in Troutman Hall on campus.

Following a smorgasbord dinner, the alumni will elect new officers and hear talks by Capital vice-presidents Dr. Frank Bretz and Edward Larson.

TO BUILD GARAGE

Emery S. Kaiser, 811 Miriam-rd West, has been issued a building permit to construct a two-car concrete block garage. Construction is valued at $1400. Contractor is City and County Builders.

OHIO WILL GUARANTEE LOANS

There's Help From State For Collegians

BY JANE ROBINSON

Next fall will see a lot of students in college who until recently had no alternative except to quit school to try to get a job.

They won't be students who wanted to stop learning — just those who didn't have the money to go on.

Some will be freshmen, others upperclassmen, and even graduate students.

But they will have one thing in common — the benefit of loans that are 80 per cent guaranteed by the State of Ohio, under new legislation.

Col. William Ong, vice-president of the Canal Winchester Bank, will soon "hit the road" to explain the program to teachers and students in the Southeast schools.

Ordinarily a young man or woman wanting to borrow money without a co-signer would have a tough time. But the Ohio Education Assistance Commission has opened doors previously closed to the young students who need financial aid.

Ong is taking the initiative in explaining the program to those it will benefit as part of the Centennial Aniversary of the Currency Act of Abraham Lincoln, which is being observed by banks throughout the country.

Before this act, each bank or group of banks, issue its own paper money with chaotic conditions prevailing. The new law put the government in the business of making money, and the banks were delegated only to receive it from depositors and lending to borrowers.

Though many banks have demonstrated their interests in the youth of the nation, few were able to offer financial aid to young students who were without credit, income or assets.

The new Ohio law is not designed to provide a pleasant vacation to the boy or girl who is not seriously interested in obtaining a higher education.

Nor is the student who has done inferior work in high school or shown himself to be lacking in character going to be given aid.

Each applicant must be recommended by appropiate faculty members of his school, by character references and by the sponsoring bank.

Furthermore, once given aid, he must maintain acceptable academic standing to be eligible for further aid.

With a ceiling of $5,000 as the total any one borrower may receive, the amount a student may receive during any one school year varies.

As a freshman $500 is the maximum aid allowed. During the sophomore and junior year the allowance is increased to $750. The senior or graduate student may draw up to $1000 a year.

While in school, a moratorium is declared on the debt, Ong explained. Repayment begins four months after the student either obtains a degree or six months after dropping out of school.

At that time all the notes that he may have signed while in school are consolidated into a single loan, extending over a maximum period of six years, depending upon the face of the note.

A simple interest rate of 5½ per cent is charged plus one-eleventh of that interest which is a guaranty to the commission.

The commission believes that the potential earning power of the student and the favorable history of similar loans makes the co-signing of these notes unnecessary. However, it does ask a corroborating letter from the applicant's parent, guardian or sponsor concerning the accuracy of the borrower's application.

One school executive interested in the law commented o.. the GI Bill of Rights, which enabled many veterans to further their education.

"I am sure that the government has made money on these men through the taxes on the increased income, that college enables a man to earn."

Another commented that an educated population can do more for its country than one whose abilities are limited through lack of training.

Few can deny that the State of Ohio is presenting a valuable opportunity to its young citizens.

Hartley Newspapers To Make "Confederate" Cash Good As Gold With Weekly Awards

Many Local Merchants To Redeem Rebel Money Starting This Week

Shades of Jefferson Davis! Who said Confederate money isn't worth a "Continental"? That "Confederate" cash you can receive by carefully reading your Hartley Newspaper is as good as gold . . . It's like having a rich father-in-law.

Sound a Confederate war whoop and dust off the old gray and gold uniform that granddaddy wore, because starting this week you can earn many "Confederate" dollars by simply reading the ads in your Hartley Newspaper.

Beginning today some of the papers will contain ads with either of two insignia shown, always printed in a color other than black.

You can bet your brass buttons that if one of the insignia turns up in your paper it is worth "Confederate" cash to you.

Here's how it works:

1 Bring or mail entire newspaper, containing ad and insignia to the Hartley Newspaper Office, 2465 W. Broad-st, anytime prior to noon, Monday following publication.

If you have the insignia containing a "one" it's worth one "Confederate" dollar.

If you have an insignia containing a "five" it is worth five "Confederate" dollars unless, and get this, you are a paid subscriber of a Hartley Newspaper. In that case you also get the "Jackpot". During the first week the jackpot is worth 25 "Confederate" dollars. If it's not claimed, it and all other "Confederate" money not claimed will be added together for the next week's "Jackpot".

There is a good possibility that the "Jackpot" could contain more "Confederate" bills than grandpa used to paper the house in the spring of '75, because each week the big money that isn't claimed will add to the following week's pot.

5 So you don't have a house to paper! In that case you can spend your "Confederate" cash at any business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper the week you want to spend it.

Any Hartley advertiser will be happy to take your "Confederate" money and in turn give you full value in merchandise or services.

Each Reader Should Watch For 'Confederate' Money Sign Weekly

So shine up your reading glasses and start checking your Hartley Newspaper this week. Nothing to buy, nothing to write, no contest to enter.

How can you lose? Beside the usual good buys you always find in the ads, you could also find some "Confederate" money insignia . . . and that's good cash, son . . . . Hartley Newspaper "Confederate" cash, that is.

All Hartley Newspapers "Confederate" money turned in to merchants for redemption will be accepted by Hartley Newspapers for good old American cash. The money will be redeemed by Hartley Newspapers only if the merchant is an advertiser in one of the Hartley Newspapers the week in which he accepts "Confederate" money.

Important: Jackpot or $5.00 winner must bring his full newspaper into office with proper identification.

Sawdust Sandwiches

We have long contended that if Johnny didn't learn to read it was because we changed our teaching methods.

Now comes our good friend Jenkin Lloyd Jones with an article in the March 25 issue of U.S. News and World Report entitled "Time to Get New Schoolbooks," in which he berates our modern schoolbooks in a way that is long overdue.

He contends that it is time to give our children something other than "sawdust sandwiches." Amen!

How's Your Figure?

A South Dakota newspaper dating back to 1917 carries this interesting column of advice to gals who would do something for their figures and their complexions. Any takers today, girls?

"You can have a beautiful complexion by steaming your face over a washtub. Wringing out the clothes makes the arms plump, and hanging the clothes on a line increases the bust measurement.. stooping to pick up the clothes makes the waistline smaller, and carrying the clothes out into the yard makes the legs firm and shapely.

"So throw out the washer and dryer, girls, and take to the washboard if you want. I'll stay plump with flabby arms, thick waistline and non-shapely legs. How about you?"

Schaaf's Zone Bid Approved

Two applications for a change in zoning, one for sizeable construction at the edge of the city, were approved by the Franklin County Zoning Commission this week following public hearings.

According to Mrs. Thelma Hardy, commission clerk, George W. Schaaf, Hilltop real estate developer, was given the green light for development of 58 acres on the northeast corner of Clime and Demorest-rds. Public hearing was held Thursday at the Franklin Township [illegible]

The development will include twin-single dwellings, apartment buildings and a shopping center, according to the petition.

Schaaf's request had gained approval of the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission after he submitted modified plans which incorporated suggestions offered by the commission.

The zoning commission also approved an application for a zoning change submitted by the Pure Oil Co, 5085 Sinclair-rd, following a public hearing in the Grove City Firehouse. The company had asked for a zoning change from residential and agricultural to local commercial for an 11-acre tract at the southwest corner of the intersection of Interstate Rt. 71 and Stringtown-rd.

Airport Issue Deferred

A third hearing called by the zoning commission was continued until Apr. 25 when the petitioner was unable to attend the meeting. The hearing was called on request of Ray and Edith Miller, 1610 Pemberton-dr.

The Millers had asked a zoning change from residential and agricultural to local commercial (airport) for 78 acres on the north side of Trabue-rd, approximately one-quarter mile west of Wilson-rd.

Testimony was heard from a delegation of about 75 resi-

Boys' Club Plans Big Week

National Boys' Clubs Week will be observed locally Apr. 1 through 6 by the Boys' Clubs of Columbus—the Milo Grogan unit located at 1012 Cleveland-av and the West Side unit located at 115 S. Gift-st.

West Side unit, under the direction of Ralph Oberleitner, will start its celebration with a 6 p.m. dinner at the Deshler Hilton Hotel Monday, Apr. 1.

Highlight of the evening will be the Boy of the Year Award presented by Dr. James R. Hull, master of ceremonies, to the boy most outstanding in club participation, conduct, and grades at school. More than 30 other awards will be given for intramural sports championships and for special achievements in craft work.

The dinner is a project of the Mothers' Auxiliary and each member will be given a T-shirt through the courtesy of the Glen Echo Child Welfare League.

Tuesday, Apr. 2 — movies, 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Apr. 3 — basketball tournaments and open house, 7 p.m.; Thursday, Apr. 4 — basketball tournaments and craft exhibits, 7 p.m.; Friday, Apr. 5 — intramural basketball championships, 7 p.m.; Saturday, Apr. 6 — junior all-star basketball and open house, 7 p.m.

Among the regular activities offered by the local Boys' Club unit are various sports, wood craft, auto mechanics, a fully stocked lending library, and instruction in homework. One of the most popular events sponsored by the club is summer camp. Last year the West Side unit sent 128 boys to the United Community Camp at New Plymouth, O.

Although the local unit has more than 500 members, staff workers are working to recruit more. The dues are 50 cents a year, and no additional charges are made.

Wilson-rd Land Purchases Begin

Rezoning for new Hilltop apartments and acquisition of land for Wilson-rd extension were two important local items reaching Columbus City Council Monday night.

City fathers declared the necessity and intention of appropriating 19 parcels of land needed to complete the city's portion of the 4,000 foot extension of Wilson-rd south to Sullivant-av. This will open the way for the city's legal department to make the needed purchases of right-of-way for the southern half of the extension.

Action remains yet to be taken by Franklin County for its share extending from W. Broad-st, south to Fr[illegible] av extended.

A 30-day ordinance was introduced for the consideration of the zoning committee seeking the rezoning of a 1.5 acre tract on the east side of N. Sylvan-av, north of the first alley north of W. Broad-st, from commercial to apartment residential.

The request was submitted by the J. G. J. Realty Co., 57 N. Sylvan-av. A clerk at the city zoning commission said preliminary sketches show a possible 37 units planned for two buildings.

The City Planning Commission recommended council approval of the proposal, believing that the project would

Rev. Godorhazy Is Named New Hilltonia Pastor

Rev. George Godorhazy has been assigned to replace Rev. Koster as pastor of Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethen Church. He will assume his duties there May 1.

Rev. Godorhazy is a former member of Westgate EUB Church. He was graduated from Asbury College in Kentucky in 1957 and completed his ministerial training at United Seminary in Dayton in 1960.

He spent two years in the Newark charge, and for the past year has been serving a church in Monroe, Mich.

Rev. Godorhazy and his wife Joyce are expecting their first child.

Lutheran Expansion Proposed

Hilltop Lutheran Church, 2475 W. Broad-st at Terrace-av, will expand its present facilities in a $350,000 building enlargement program, with construction scheduled for next fall.

A fund-raising drive, conducted by Harold E. Conover of Toledo, will be launched soon, tentatively planned for the weeks following Easter, ending on Apr. 24.

Conover, fund-raising director for the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship, Lutheran Church in America, is making a pre-campaign study of the parish this week.

Executive building committee of the congregation includes Herbert L. Pfaltzgraff, chairman; Herbert M. Williams, Chester A. Bauer, Earl P. Miller, Neil J. McMillen, Leonard Echols, Richard H. Geshwiln, Mrs. Hulda Carey and Rev. John E. Hydinger, pastor.

County To Start 10 Road Projects In This Area

Ten county road improvements in this area are scheduled for completion, presumably by next fall, by Franklin County Engineer, Guy Elbin.

Largest of the projects is in the resurfacing and widening (to 24 feet) of Hilliard-Cemetery-rd, from Dublin-rd, to Norwich-st, in Hilliard.

Work has already been started and the bridge widening a half-mile west of Dublin-rd is nearly completed.

The [illegible] road will be a feeder to and from the Columbus Outerbelt.

Total cost of the job is estimated at $375,000, for the 2.75-mile stretch.

Second largest undertaking (money-wise) will be widening Georgesville-rd, from W. Broad-st to Sullivant-av extension, to 48 feet.

Estimated cost of the widening is $100,000.

Of the $400,000 resurfacing projects to be done by the county, those in this area include:

- Kropp-rd, from Alkire-rd to Norton-rd.
- McKinley-av, from Fisher-rd to Trabue-rd.
- Sullivant-av between Norton and Georgesville-rds.
- Hayden Run-rd, from Avery-rd to Rt. 33.
- Avery-rd from Hilliard to Rt. 33.
- Frank-rd, between Rt. [illegible] and South Freeway.
- Greenlawn-av, from one-half mile west to Rt. 104.
- Stimmel-rd, between Brown-rd and Rt. 104.

Dec. 7, 1941, Japan attacked the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor and also struck at the Philippines, Guam, Hong Kong and Malaya.

City Asked To Vacate Areas, Approve Parking

Three West area items were to be up for discussion at a meeting of the City Planning Commission this morning (Wednesday).

Saeger Buick Co. petitioned for rezoning of a lot at 31 Hayden-av for customer parking. The lot, now zoned residential, is on the west side of Hayden-av, adjacent and north of the first alley north of Broad-st.

The city was also asked to vacate 10-foot easements across three lots of Holly Hill No. 5 subdivision, and a portion of Wharton-av and connecting alleys remaining east of the Mound-Sandusky Ex[illegible]way.

Burglars Raid Wolfe Electric

Burglars "jimmied" the back door of Wolfe Electric Co., 2427 W. Broad-st, Monday night and walked away with an estimated $500 worth of television sets.

Gene Wolfe, proprietor of the store, said he found the back door open when he came to work Tuesday. He said three new Zenith portable sets and three used sets were taken and a curved glass showcase was smashed.

Police are investigating reports that lights in the back lot had been "blacked out" as early as 10 p.m. Monday.

Council Delays Water Rate Action

Columbus City Council action on the water rate formula proposed in the Sawvel report will probably await completion by the consultant of a sewer study included in the report.

Columbus Mayor W. Ralston Westlake said he does not know when the sewer report findings will be submitted to the city. He said that he will withhold specific recommendations to the council until the report is completed.

A review of the Sawvel report by the Dvelopment Committee for Greater Columbus resulted in a committee recommendation that the water rate formula be repected by the city.

The Development Committee urged an across-the-board water rate increase to meet immediate needs. The committee evaluation of the Sawvel report further recommended a cost-of-service study to determine the most equitable application of permanent rates.

Columbus Finance Director C. Wayne Freeman said he could not agree with Development Committee views on water rate [illegible].

"The (real estate) developers to whom I have talked," he said, "want to apply the cost-of-service plan to minimum charges, but not to themselves. The city, for years, has not received its full cost for new water lines," Freeman said.

Freeman also said he felt it was unfortunate that politics has been "interjected" into the Sawvel report controversy.

The water rate formula advocated by the Sawvel firm would boost Water Division revenues by about $1.5 million annually, with approximately $1,275,000 being derived from Columbus accounts.

City Council President Golda May Edmonson said that council members have not as yet determined if public hearings will be conducted prior to council action.

"This (the Sawvel report) has been hanging fire for quite some time now, and I would like to get it off the docket," she said.

Traffic Commission Okays Light at Wilson and Fisher

A request from Paul Martin, head of security at the Westinghouse Plant on W. Broad-st, for a traffic light at the intersection of Wilson-rd and Fisher-rd was approved by the Columbus Traffic Commission which met Mar. 19.

Martin had complained to Police Chief George Scholer that a serious traffic hazard existed at that intersection. The recommendation, which was passed and sent to the City Engineer, also provided for additional turning lanes at the intersection to be constructed at the time the light is installed.

The commission also recommended the up-grading to 40 miles per hour of a stretch of Wilson-rd from the Great Western Shopping Center, north to the city limits north of Fisher-rd.

An 11-page petition requesting a traffic light at the intersection of W. Broad-st and either Rogers-av, Avondale-av or Dakota-av, for the purpose of pedestrian safety, was submitted to the commission by William G. Shepherd, 1015½ W. Broad-st.

Chief Traffic Engineer Gallagher explained recent changes in traffic signals in that area and recommended the petition be denied. The commission concurred and the request was turned down.

In other traffic business affecting the West Side, the commission:

- Denied a request from Mrs. Helen Long, 1789 Sullivant-av, for a traffic signal, west of Central-av, on Sullivant-av, near the Columbus State School.
- Approved a recommendation to remove parking from the south side of Shepherd-st, from Gribb-st to Skidmore-st. This street is used by eastbound W. Broad-st traffic turning north on the freeway.
- Passed a proposal to replace a "Yield" sign at the intersection of Skidmore-st and Shepherd-st with a "Stop" sign. This will require traffic moving on Shepherd-st to stop at Skidmore-st.

PUBLIC INVITED

Friday Event At Hilltop 'Y' To Answer Cancer Questions

Can cancer be cured? Is smoking a cause of lung cancer? How could I tell if I had cancer?

These anxious questions and many more are being asked every day by people concerned about the disease that causes more than 600 deaths a day in the United States.

Cancer Crew 15, founded in memory of the late Jane Leigninger, has arranged an opportunity for interested people to find the answers to these troubling questions, at Cancer Education Night, Friday, Mar. 29, 7:30 p.m. at the Hilltop YMCA, 2870 Valleyview-dr.

Three films from the American Cancer Society will be shown, and a physician will be on hand. He will speak briefly following the film, and then the floor will be open for a question and answer period.

Everyone is invited.

Films to be shown are, "The Other City" and a cartoon, "Sappy Homiens," both in color, and a kinescope dealing with lung cancer, produced for use on educational television by the society's Franklin County Unit and featuring Dr. Charles Meckstroth.

No admission will be charged for the program. A free will offering will be taken and will be donated to the American Cancer Society in the name of Jane Leighninger, for use in cancer research.

Crew 15, newest group of volunteer women dedicated to aiding the society's program of cancer research and education, is composed of classmates of the late Jane Leighninger.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Slighted Dog Is Worry To Resident

To The Editor:

I would like to tell about a dog that is rapidly assuming a wraith-like existence in our neighborhood. Five days ago I saw him sleeping on our neighbor's stoop. He was at first wary of my son and I, but after we had cautiously made overtures of friendliness he permitted us to give him a gentle pat or two.

You know the old saying . . "feed them and they'll stay around", so we ignored him, until we read the evening paper where the symptoms of rabies were described. Then our apprehension was aroused that this quiet animal might have the "dumb" rabies. We discussed it with the neighbors and the neighbors began discouraging the dog with threats, arm-waving, etc. The dog disappeared when a police officer arrived. The Humane Society responded to a neighbor's call only to see the dog scramble away into the darkness.

Pity for the dog prompts me to write this letter. Now he takes refuge mostly in the park where he can watch for any intruder from four sides. Food is put out by soft-hearted mothers of small boys and the food is consumed when humans retreat into the house.

What is to become of this old, proud and handsome German Shepherd dog? He wears no collar but seems to have been well cared for prior to this time. Is he lost or abandoned? What must be his bewilderment to have no safe shelter or a friend he can trust? Perhaps his owner would like to reclaim him. Could Humane Society capture him without hurting him or will he flee to another community to try to fend for himself?

Maybe I should just write the Humane Society, but I'm suspicious they aren't "humane" enough.

ALTHOUGH IN this country only a matter of months, these Israel immigrants are making quite a name for themselves putting on folk dance exhibitions from their native land. Standing, from left, are Uri Katz and Yaacov Davidovitch. Seated is Uri's recent bride, Nili, who designs and makes the costumes.

Trio Working Way Through Ohio State With Israeli Dance

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Entertainment Editor

A trio of Ohio State University students — recent immigrants from Israel — highlighted a recent dance and music festival sponsored by Hadassah at the Jewish Center.

The unique thing about this group, known as the Sabra Trio, is that they're attempting to work their way through school by staging dances of their native land.

Included in the trio is Yaacov Davidovich, 1034 Neil-av, who came to this country six months ago. The dance team was actually formed by Uri and Nili Katz, 107 Chittenden-av, who immigrated a mere three months ago.

Both Uri and Yaacov are in mechanical engineering, while pretty, blond Nili is studying interior decorating. With the group, Nili contributes by designing and making all of the seven costumes used by the two talented lads.

Also featured on the bill were Rikdu Eetanu, Hadassah's own contribution to Israeli dance in Columbus and Rakdanim, the teen-age dance group which recently affiliated with the Jewish Center.

Both Rikdu Eetanu and Rakdanim are directed by Mrs. Jack Zeff, a pioneer in the Jewish folk dance movement in the greater Columbus area. In fact, she brought the first folk dance classes to the Jewish Center.

She pointed out the uniqueness of the Sabra Trio, citing them as "practically alone in their field" in the United States.

And they have impressive credentials.

Uri has been dancing since his early teens. In 1957 he was part of an Israeli student dance group which performed in Moscow as part of a Zionist delegation.

The group won first prize for their performance of "Debka Rafiach," which was one of a series of Debkas presented by the trio at the Jewish Center.

In 1960, Uri toured with a student folk dance group through Europe for three months, participating and winning prizes in festivals in France, Italy, England and Belgium.

Davidovich has appeared before Columbus residents several times in the few months he's been in this country. He teaches Israeli dance at Hillel and has directed the Hillel dancers in many performances this fall—including a TV shot.

Both he and Katz participated in the 1959 Dahlia Festival, the National Dance Arts Festival in Israel.

Their program for Hadassah had the finesse of dancers much older. Both Davidovich and Katz work well together as a team and do equally well solo.

If there is a market for Israeli dancing in this city, things should be bright for this talented threesome.

Conference Set For Speech And Hearing Association

The Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Association will host the annual conference of the Ohio Speech and Hearing Association to be held this Friday and Saturday, Mar. 29 and 30, at Nationwide Inn. Approximately 200 persons working in the area of speech and hearing and its allied professions are expected.

The section meetings are open to the public. Registrations for non-members will be $1. Friday meetings will cover current Ohio area research, adult aphasia, rehabilitation, parent programs and in-service training programs for teachers.

[illegible] speaker for the association's annual banquet for members Friday evening will be Crayton Walker, executive director of the American Hearing Society. A former resident of Bexley, Walker has been president of the American Hearing Society since 1955. He is chairman of the Commission on Speech and Hearing Problems of the International Society for the Rehabilitation of the Disabled, will speak on the group's international convention in Copenhagen in June, 1963.

There will also be a musical interlude at the banquet featuring selections by the Symphonic Choir of Pleasant View High School.

Two physicians will discuss the problems of the rehabilitation of persons with cleft palate and organic voice pathology.

There will also be a meeting on hearing, including a discussion of the latest research in binaural hearing plus a description of the Ohio Department of Health's Pediatric-Otological-Diagnostic clinics.

Members of the Central Ohio Speech and Hearing Association assisting with arrangements for the two-day event are George D. Davis, director of the Hearing and Speech Center, Columbus; Robert Stimpert, clinic supervisor of the Hearing and Speech Center; Dr. Harold Edmondson, associate professor of speech, Capital University; Mrs. Rohe F. Heim, speech therapist, Franklin County Society for Crippled Children, Inc.; Miss Gertrude Bernstein, hearing and vision consultant, Ohio Dept. of Health; and Mrs. Walter Steur, speech therapist, South-Western City Schools.

WRFD To Hold Fine Music Quiz

Beginning Monday, Apr. 1, Bill Collins, host of WRFD-FM's "Music of the Hourglass" program, will feature a "Fine Music" contest.

Collins will spin a short musical passage which listeners will be asked to identify, along with the composer of the tune. All selections will be familiar.

From all of the correct entries, three will be selected, at random, out of a hopper. Each of the three winners will be presented with two season books for the 1963-64 season of the Symphony Club of Central Ohio.

"Music of the Hourglass" is heard starting at 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and starting at 11 p.m. Sundays until sign off at 12:30 a.m.

Y's Men Elect New Officers, Plan Projects For Hilltop

New officers were elected Monday, Mar. 18, to serve for the coming year in the Hilltop Y's Men's Club. Named to head the cabinet this term are John Scott, president; Roger Chrisman, vice-president; Don Ehman, secretary; Don Dodson, treasurer; and George Hughes, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Newly elected board members, who will serve for a two-year term are Dan Gregory, Bud Morrison and Bob Walker.

Officers will officially be installed at the Installation Night program, scheduled Saturday Apr. 6, at Lincoln Lodge.

Members of the Board who remain active for their second year are Harry Miller, Ralph Murphey and John Clay.

The Hilltop Y's Men's Club is the service organization of the Hilltop YMCA. This group conducts various projects during the year to raise funds for the furthering of local "Y" programs.

The two largest annual projects are the Christmas Tree Sale and Strawberry Festival. Proceeds from these projects have been used to dev.lop two ball diamonds on "Y" property, tile the ceiling and floor in the Youth Center, and sponsor various youth programs throughout the year.

Among the outstanding activities promoted during the past year have been the Gra-Y Relays, Gra-Y Talent Show, Indian Guide Match Box Derby, Bunny Hunt, Gra-Y "Club-of-the-year" award, and Hilltop "Y" "Boy - of - the - Month."

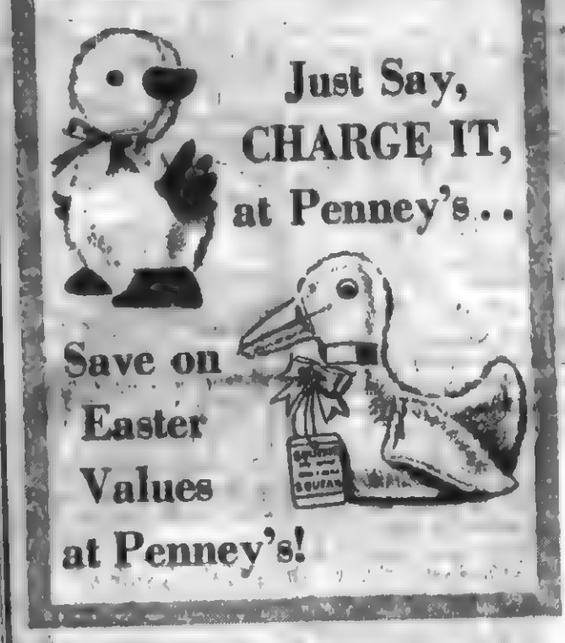
Members of this group also assist to supervise Friday teenage dances, serve as marshalls at Gra-Y Inductions and Installation of Officers, and spend two weekends at Camp Wilson helping with the opening of camp in spring and closing in fall.

The annual Hilltop Y's Men's Bunny Hunt will be held Saturday, Apr. 6 at 9 a.m. at the Hilltop YMCA. This activity is open to all members of the "Y" through the age of nine.

Different areas will be set aside for the four age groups participating in this hunt. All hunters will be issued a license after 8:30 a.m., the starting time for registration.

Each boy and girl participating will be guaranteed at least one egg. Three special eggs will be hidden in each area for top prizes. This activity will be supervised by club members under the direction of Harry Miller.

Channel 4 Carries State Tourney Finals



Area basketball fans will have a front row seat this weekend for the AA high school state cage finals, thanks to WLW-C TV's coverage of the semi-finals Friday evening and the finals Saturday evening.

TV 4 will carry the Columbus East-Cleveland East Tech match at 7:30 p.m. Friday and the following Urbana-Marion-Harding tilt at 9:30. The finals the following evening will be telecast at 8 p.m. Jimmy Crum will provide the play-by-play account both nights.

CARS, TRUCKS, BUSES and children keep this intersection at Richardson and Regina-avs busy and dangerous. Bill Hakes, 1646 Rosemont-av, (photo, right) stands by his car which slammed into a house at 939 Richardson-

Area residents are seeking traffic control at the corner-av when he reportedly failed to yield the right of way.

Brookshire Residents Request Safety Signs At Intersection

To The Editor:

This letter regards the existing traffic problem involving the Brookshire Park addition which is located from Eakin-rd south to Briggs-rd, Richardson-av west to Racine-av.

At present Richardson-av is the most common route used to enter Brookshire Parks No. 1 and No. 2.

To enter Brookshire Park No. 1, leaving Mound-st heading south on Richardson-av (at a traffic light), you travel one block to a stop sign at Eakin-rd, where several business establishments are located. During the daytime trucks load or unload at this intersection causing a problem whereby it is necessary to pull halfway out into the middle of Eakin-rd to see approaching vehicles which have the right-of-way. Due to vehicles parked at the curb this also creates the same problem. A trip traffic signal would be of great value and convenience at this intersection.

After crossing Eakin-rd, the next intersection is at Regina-av, which is a school crossing for grade school children. There aren't any traffic signs except a school crossing sign at this intersection. There is a definite need for a stop sign at this intersection.

On Mar. 20 there was an auto accident at this intersection. One auto ran into a house causing considerable damage. Last fall another automobile ran into the house on the opposite corner causing a great amount of damage to this house also.

The next intersection is at Richardson (St. Joseph-av) at Browyn-av leading to Brookshire Park No. 2. This is a "T" intersection, whereby a yield right-of-way sign should be installed.

This route is the most common route now being used to enter Brookshire Park No. 2. Also located at Browyn-av and Briggs-rd is a Super Duper Store, which creates even more traffic.

South of Briggs-rd another large development of homes is being built. In the very near future this will cause more traffic on this route.

Last summer the city made a traffic survey on the streets in this location, but I do not know what became of this count or decisions made.

Anything you can do to help make a safer area for ourselves and the children, especially at Regina and Richardson-avs, would be greatly appreciated.

In the Senior Patrol, five point pins were awarded to Frances Fravel, Toni Brandt, Cheryll McGlaughlin, Katie Myers, Randie Morgan, Patti Shurtz, Sheryl Wiley, Mary Kimball and Karen Stokes. Child Care Aid bars were received by Cheryll McGlaughlin, Sheryl Wiley, Patti Shurtz, Randie Morgan, Mary Kimball and Katie Myers. First Class pins were awarded to Toni Brandt and Karen Stokes.

Recipients of five-year pins were Mrs. Herbert Hallman, Mrs. Lucille Bryan and Carole Collins. Receiving year membership stars were Connie Young, Jo Ann Eblin, Karin Berthold, Vicki Gatwood, Donna Jones, Linda Castle, and Sheryl Wiley.

Others present for the celebration were Mrs. Kenneth Adams, neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Stanley Young, troop committee member and Miss Molly Myers.

Troop 941

This Brownie troop celebrated its second birthday on Feb. 27, at John Burroughs School. After the girls entertained their parents with songs and a dance, second-year pins were awarded to: Pam Rupp, Kay Donaldson, Patty Thompson, Linda Vaughn, Colleen Ward, Jodie Jenkins, Carolyn Redmond, Diane Hunter, and Carol [illegible].

The following received first year pins: Lizzie Haines, Kay Syx, Mary Anne Peake, Diane Reiter, Terri Rucker, Sharon Barker, Patty Pollard, Danielle Hibel, Christine Mossgrove, Loretta Maynard and Debbie Stiffler. The party concluded with refreshments served by the leaders, Mrs. William Haines, Mrs. Thomas Rupp, Mrs. Allison Syx and Mrs. Floyde Peake.

On March 12, the following Ashgrove Neighborhood troops conducted the PTA meeting at the Georgian Heights Elementary school: Troop 756, with Mrs. William Courtney, leader; troop 19, with Mrs. Fred Blake, and Troop 972 with Mrs. William Fletcher, leader.

The theme, "Looking in on Our Girl Scouts," was in keeping with Girl Scout Week. Troop 19 presented the colors, Troop 756 entertained with folk dancing; and Troop 972 gave a skit. "Operation Litterbug." A Friendship Circle and Girl Scout songs concluded the program.

All 15 troops of Ashgrove Neighborhood attended the Lazarus Girl Scout party at Veterans Memorial, Mar. 9. At the 2:30 party, the following girls of Intermediate Troop 494 participated in the flag ceremony: Cheryl Fee, Susan Stone, and Linda Strough. Also at the Lazarus party Toni Youngman, a member of Senior Troop 580 received her Curved Bar award, which she earned while with Troop 441, of Grove City.

On Mar. 10, Girl Scout Sunday, Troop 44 attended the Hilltop Church of God; Troop 756 attended Westgate Friends Church; Troops 355 and 160 were represented at Bethlehem Lutheran Church. Troops 972 and 600 attended Westgate Methodist Church with bulletins for the service presented by Troop 600.

Burgess Avenue E. U. B. Church had the following troops attending: 517, 742 and 580. At this service Kathy Washburn, a member of Senior Troop 580 received the "God and Community" Award. Her mother, Mrs. Carl Washburn, one of the leaders of Troop 580, made the presentation. Also attending Burgess Avenue service was Betty Hollenbaugh, advisor for District No. 8.

Intermediate Troop 972 and Senior Troop 517 attended the senior mixer at Ohio State Fairgrounds Youth Center Mar. 13. The girls received information on the program change due in September.

The Ashgrove Neighborhood met at John Burroughs school Mar. 18, with Mrs. Kenneth Adams, chairman, presiding. Memo: Cookies are now being delivered and sold by the girls, continuing until Mar. 25. Also remember—Program change: training classes (daytime). Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Dernorest at Briggs-rd, on Monday, Mar. 27, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and evening classes at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Vida Place and Harris-av, Mar. 8, Apr. 2 and Apr. 4, from 7 to 10 p.m.

A man looks better, feels confident and at ease when he knows his shirt looks right! Yet very few shirts done at home ever have that finished, "professional" look.

On the other hand, our specialized equipment, trained workers and special products turn our shirts with a fresh, new look every time. One reason we do a better job is that we dress shirts with Velvet Rainbow Starch — a professional product not available to housewives. It gives them a smooth, wrinkle-free appearance, keeps them pliable, free from lumpiness or scratchiness. Try us — see and feel the difference that our skill and Velvet Rainbow make in your shirts!

Confederate Money Is Good Again!

Hartley Newspapers Confederate Money–That Is!

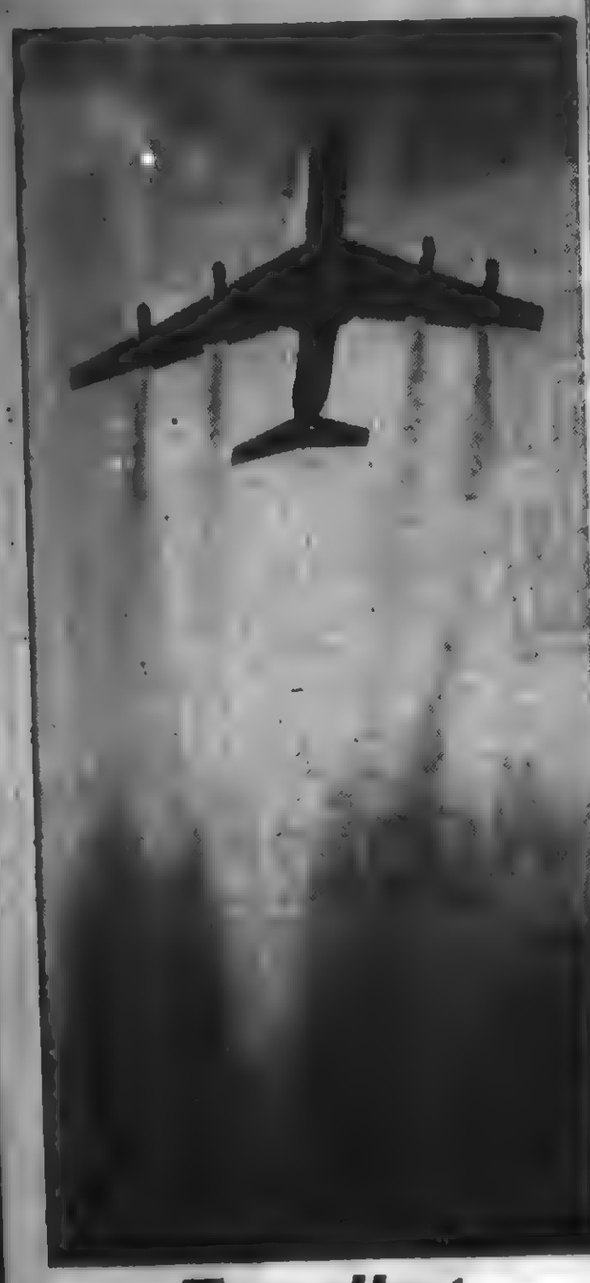
Here's How:

Yes, sir, Rebel currency is as good as any present day American money, that is if you are a reader of one of the Hartley Suburban Newspapers.

Starting with this week's issue a little insignia like the one shown at the left will be printed in 20 different copies of these papers. If you find one of them in your copy it is worth a Hartley Newspapers' Confederate Dollar.

Each week one insignia like the number 5 at the right will be printed in one ad in some copy of one of the Hartley Newspapers. If your copy is the one, you merely bring or mail it to the office of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 West Broad St. not later than noon Monday following publication and you will be given a Hartley Newspaper $5 Confederate Bill.

But, if your are a paid in advance subscriber or regularly pay your newsboy, you will receive the Jackpot. During the first week of the contest the Jackpot will be worth $25. All unclaimed Confederate money offered each week will be added to the Jackpot the following week. This means that in all probability the jackpot will continue to grow each week until some lucky Hartley Newspaper subscriber cashes it in.



But Confederate money isn't worth anything you say. Not so with Hartley Newspapers' Confederate Money. Just take it to any store advertising in this week's issue of a Hartley Newspaper and it can be spent just like any other currency. Hartley Newspapers in turn will redeem all such currency at full value when turned in by a Hartley Newspaper advertiser. Further details of the contest are explained on Page One of this week's Hartley Newspapers.

If you have been receiving a copy of any of the Hartley Newspapers each week from your carrier or by mail and have not paid your carrier or paid in advance for your mail subscription, you are not eligible to win the jackpot. So, call BR. 4-1155, ask for the Circulation Dept. and determine the status of your subscription right now.

To Be Sure You Don't Miss Your Chance To Cash In On This Big Event, Pay Your Carrier Every Month, Or Mail In Your Subscription Now!

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Many Protein Foods Offered At Lower Cost

By ESTELLE R. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, cooking greens, celery, peppers.

Shopping for the main dish should be easy this week with the abundance of beef, pork and fish offered at the lowest prices for a long time. In addition, poultry meats, eggs and cheese are in good supply.

Mrs. Franks

For best values in beef, check the food ads carefully for cost and grade for almost all medium and high value cuts may be found at bargain prices. All cuts of pork — chops, roasts, steaks, bacon, sausage and even spareribs — are being featured at one time or another. Supplies continue to be heavy and the low price on beef has not helped to move pork.

Fish and eggs are other fine protein choices, whether you're observing meatless meals or not. Supplies of frozen fish fillets and fish sticks stay heavy in spite of the heavy Lenten demand; the cost-per-serving is low. If you are hungry for fresh fish — meaning as they come from the water — you'll find a few around, but prices are not cheap. Fishermen are cutting through the ice to get a few perch and yellow pike from Lake Huron and some herring from Lake Superior.

Fresh vegetables from Florida have been increasing since mid-March. Here are some tips worth noting as you shop the produce counter this week. Cooking greens show fine quality; salad items such as tomatoes, green onions and radishes are more plentiful; cabbage, broccoli and green bean prices are a little lower. Green peppers are large and cost less than in weeks, carrots and old crop potatoes continue to be bargains. California asparagus is now at peak of production and lots of sweet corn from Florida will be coming soon.

On the other hand, fresh fruits might be called at the low point for the year, although there are plenty of good apples, bananas, winter pears and hothouse rhubarb. Strawberry shipments from Florida and California will be more plentiful by Apr. 1, if the weather is favorable.

IT MAY BE some consolation to know that the problem of shortages and high prices on citrus fruits is not ours alone. Other countries also have problems with weather. In Spain the 1962-'63 orange crop was cut in half by cold weather in December and again in February. In Italy the season's supply of oranges, already short because of frost damage in the winter of 1962-'63, was further reduced by an estimated 10 per cent as a result of the recent cold weather. Orange products for the 1962-'63 season is now estimated at 18.6 million boxes as compared to 28.2 million boxes last year.

Whitehall To Host Baptist Meet

More than 300 women will gather at Whitehall Baptist Church Wednesday and Thursday, Mar. 28 and 29, for a 75th anniversary celebration of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The celebration is the annual convention of the Ohio Woman's Missionary Union, and covers a four-state area including Ohio, western New York, western Pennsylvania and West Virgina.

Speakers for the occasion include Dr. Courts Redford, executive secretary, Southern Baptist Convention Home Mission Board; Mrs. R. L. Mathis, president, Woman's Missionary Union, Southern Baptist Convention; C. Hoge Hockensmith, pastor, Tri-Village Baptist Church and past president, State Convention of Baptists in Ohio, and Mrs. Donald Heiss, missionary to Japan.

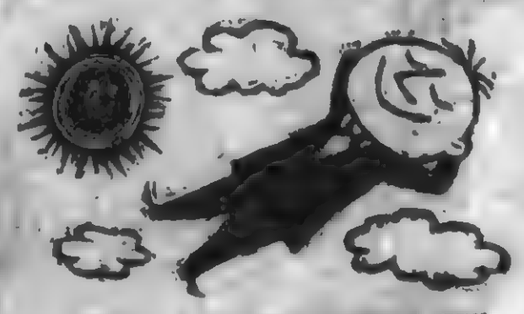
An anniversary banquet is scheduled the evening of Mar. 28 at Yearling High School. Those attending will wear costumes fashionable 75 years ago.

Another program highlight will be the coronation Thursday Mar. 29, when recognition will be given to members of the Girls' Auxiliary who have attained the rank of queen, queen-with-a-scepter or queen-regent in their Forward Steps program.

Heart Council Board To Form Units

The Women's Board of the Franklin County Heart Council will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, Mar. 28, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Russell Alban, 2749 Elliott-av.

The 46-member board has as its major project the organization of neighborhood groups, known as Heart Beats, and serves as advisors to these groups in their efforts on behalf of the fight against heart disease. Seven Heart Beats have been formed to date.



Anyone interested in starting a Heart Beat may contact Mrs. Thomas E. Clark, 6165 McVey-blvd, Worthington.

OES HOSPITAL CIRCLE TO MEET

OES Hospital Circle, District 17, will meet Monday, April 1, at Dorst Hall, YMCA, 40 W. Long-st, for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon and 1:30 business meeting.

Martha Heckman, worthy matron of Evans Chapter, will serve as chaplain and Marilyn Rowley, worthy matron of Grove City Chapter, will be in charge of music.

MISS DOROTHY LOU REESE

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. Creston M. Reese, 300 S. Brinker-av, announces the engagement of his daughter, Dorothy Lou, to Mr. James H. Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Willis, 694 Wiltshire-rd.

Miss Reese, daughter of the late Mrs. Reese, is a senior at Ohio State University and will be graduated in December. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and is an Ohio State cheerleader.

Mr. Willis is in the College of Engineering at Ohio State University, and was associated with Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity.

The wedding will take place Saturday, June 8 at Hope Memorial Presbyterian Church, at 3:30 p.m.

Styles Seen At Penney's

Penney's is making fashion news this week showing Mary Quant fashions in all seven Columbus stores.

Miss Anita Paul, fashion advisor for women's sportswear in Penney's New York office, is visiting the stores this week and modeling a few outfits from the Mary Quant collection.

Mary Quant, one of England's newest popular designers, is noted for freshness of style and distinction of line. The look of this latest spring assortment was inspired by the Chelsea section of England, an area similar to Greenwich Village in New York.

The collection includes several jumpers and blouses, as well as skirts, slacks, Bermudas and a vest.

These Mary Quant fashions have been designed especially for Penney's and are priced to fit the modern gal's budget. They will be featured at all seven Columbus and Penney stores for the next two weeks.

Dr. Maxfield To Speak Tuesday At Y

Dr. Maxfield was selected as outstanding young man of the city of Columbus and one of five for the state of Ohio for 1962 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. In addition to his duties as minister of one of America's largest churches, Dr. Maxfield teaches one semester a year at Oberlin Theological seminary and one semester at Payne Theological Seminary.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Council of Community Churches and of the board of trustees of World Neighbors, Inc. He is currently appearing on two television programs, "A House Divided" which he shares with Rabbi Jerome Folkman, and "Insight" which is his own program. Topic of his address "Tuesday at the Y" will be "The Creative Woman."

Morning session on Apr. 2 will be a workshop with guests experimenting with a "Magic Goop," a do-it-yourself process for creating ceramic art objects. The craft compound, in numerous colors, will be furnished.

The customary gourmet luncheon will be served at noon.

Cost of the day-long program, including luncheon, is one dollar.

Baby sitting, with supervised crafts, will be available at no extra charge. Mothers are requested to bring a sack lunch for their children. Milk will be furnished. For further details call CA. 4-9121.

CCL TO ELECT

Westmont CCL will elect officers Monday, Apr. 1, 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Loren Caborn, 6370 Tamarack-av. Speaker will be Mrs. Robert Lehman.

MRS. ROSS IMPROVED

Mrs. Zaida Ross, 92, 330 W. State-st, who was a patient at University Hospital for a week, came home last Thursday and is convalescing.

Beauty Know-How Offered

Books which give advice to women on hair care, make-up, clothes, posture and weight control are available at the Hilltop Branch Library, according to Mary E. Keyes, librarian.

"The Polly Bergen Book of Beauty, Fashion and Charm," "Individually Yours" and "Finishing Touches" all give advice on hair care, make-up, clothes, posture and weight control.

Hints about applying cosmetics are offered in "The Art of Make-up, Skin and Hair Care," "The Secret of Charm," "Mirror, Mirror on the Wall," "Guide to Glamour," "Lady Be Lovely," "Anita Colby's Beauty Books," "Look Younger and Live Longer," "Lilly Dache's Glamour Book," "The Harper's Bazaar Beauty Book" and "Reba and Bonnie's Guide to Glamour and Personality."

"The Tall Girl's Handbook" gives advice on the special problems of tall women, including clothes, make-up, social life and careers.

A number of books, such as "Debbie Drake's Easy Way to a Perfect Figure and Glowing Health" and "Bonnie Prudeen's Fitness Book," outline a varied program of exercises for beauty and poise.

Fitted to teenage girls are such books as "The Glamour Guide to Teens," "Here's to You, Miss Teen," "Guide to Charm," "McCall's Guide to Teenage Beauty and Glamour" and "Brooms, Buttons and Beaux."

Buffet Main Dish Features Shrimp And Dairy Foods

Shrimp are one of the most favored members of the seafood family. Their individual and delicate flavor is enhanced by well-seasoned cream sauces and the inimitable flavor of butter.

A tasty and easily prepared entree is Shrimp Rabbit, combination of shrimp and cheese sauce. A rabbit makes a buffet entree especially suitable for Lenten entertaining.

Shrimp Rabbit is a dairy-rich entree that will delight any hostess because of its ease in preparation as well as its nourishing goodness. Cheese and milk as well as the shrimp contribute essential high quality protein along with other essential minerals and vitamins.

Serving suggestions for variation include toast points, fluffy rice or crisp fried noodles. To complete the buffet menu, serve broiled peach halves, buttered green peas, minted pineapple chunks with watercress, milk and ice cream mints.

SHRIMP RABBIT

¼ cup butter (½ stick)
¼ cup flour
1¼ teaspoons salt
2 cups milk
½ cup sliced stuffed olives
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Few grains cayenne pepper
2 cups shredded American cheese (½ pound)
2 cups cooked shrimp
6 slices toast

Melt butter in sauce pan over low heat; add flour and salt. Add milk, stirring constantly, and cook until smooth and thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce, cayenne and cheese. Stir until cheese melts; add olives and shrimp and mix lightly until all ingredients are thoroughly blended and hot. Serve on toast points. Makes 6 servings.

West Show Mar. 29, 30

ORCHESTRA, concert and dance bands, comedy, vocals, dancing and numbers by the Weaketts will be combined in the West High Variety Show, planned at the school Friday and Saturday, Mar. 29 and 30, 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the school or from Mrs. D. T. Crawshaw, BR. 4-7458. Only three-year student veteran in this year's production is Linda Kudak, senior, above, who will present a rhythm tap dance. Dora Hatz, below, will present an accordion solo.

Your Youth

By Milltop YMCA Staff

The annual Gra-Y Tall Tale contest was held in the clubs last week. Each club will have a representative at the Gra-Y Council meeting in April to tell his Tall Tale. The winner will receive a gift.

Winners from the various clubs are Jeff Rennie, North Franklin; Marc Moriva, West Broad; Bruce Madden, Georgian Heights; Jeff Bryant, Valleyview; Chuck Trabus, Binns.

These schools will hold contests this week: Lindbergh, Westgate, West Mound, Prairie Lincoln, Highland, Eakin Road and John Burroughs.

Each boy has three minutes to tell the tallest tale he can think of.

The annual Gra-Y Relays will be held as soon as the weather permits. The boys really work hard for this event and it is hoped that parents and families will come out and watch the boys run.

Junior and senior high dances are still proving to be a great success. These dances are held each Friday night, 7:30 to 10:30, for all junior and senior high school students who are members of the Hilltop YMCA.

The dance for Friday, Mar. 29, has been cancelled because of a play being given at Westmoor Junior High School. The next dance will be Friday, Apr. 5, 7:30 p.m. at the Hilltop YMCA, Valleyview-dr. Come and see how many of your friends are there.

Some Hilltop YMCA members are still selling World Service mints. Plans call for the campaign to be completed by the end of this week.

The names of David Penn and Dan Scott were not included in a list of top salesmen published recently in this paper.

Several of the top salesmen, along with representatives of the Hilltop YMCA World Service Committee, will attend a special Metropolitan World Service luncheon at the Central YMCA Saturday, Mar. 30, at noon.

The Hilltop "Y" Indian Guide Longhouse will hold its annual Match Box Derby, Sunday, Apr. 21, at 2 p.m. in the Central YMCA.

Two classes will be used this year. One is a novice class, in which standard wheels and axles are used, and the other is an open class, for those fathers wishing to enter cars in which they run their own axle and wheel systems. Wheels for the novice class are now on sale at the Hilltop "Y."

The annual Jet Badge sale will begin Mar. 28. Members of different Hilltop "Y" groups will again participate in this venture. These badges sell for 50 cents each and entitle youth through the junior year in high school to attend over 50 games free, providing they are accompanied by an adult. All interested salesmen are urged to pick up their badges as soon as possible.

Stage Star Visits West High During Stay In Columbus

Bill Major, one of the highlights of the recent Vet's Auditorium success, "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," slapped the grease paint around in Mrs. Evelyn Hall's ninth period dramatics class last Friday, and then turned lecturer after school to explain the life of Broadway to the school's Visual Arts Club.

Brought to West by student Tom Baird, public relations for the VAC, Major demonstrated the techniques of makeup to the aspiring thespians, who are in the process of producing the senior class play, "Bells On Their Toes."

A native of Hastings, Neb., Major has just finished his 18th role in off-Broadway shows. He has been in the acting business since 1945 when he left a career as radio announcer for the alluring bright lights of the apron.

Major told the VAC'ers about the philosophy behind an actor and his life. "It isn't the money that's important, it is the excitement, the new person that you become each time you go on stage in a role.

"This is the biggest thing about 'Show Biz'," he said. "You have to love to act to be an actor. It is a hard life, but a life that has its rewards—sometimes unexpected rewards such as coming here this Friday to talk and work with you."

The company is slated to play Rochester, N. Y., after its Columbus stint, and then will play to Canadian audiences.

WESTMOOR JUNIOR HIGH PLAY SLATED

"PAINT THE TOWN PINK," a three-act comedy, will be given Thursday and Friday, Mar. 28 and 29, 8 p.m. in the Westmoor Junior High School Auditorium. Tickets are 50c and may be purchased at the school. The play depicts a turnabout school situation with students and teachers changing places. Principal characters of a 26-member cast are, from left, Dianne Miller, Mike Tripp, Ben Hauck and Linda Rittenhouse. The school orchestra and vocal ensemble will provide music between acts.

PLAY SLATED AT HILLTONIA

"THE LUCKY PENNY" will be presented by students of Hilltonia Junior High School Friday, Mar. 29, 8 p.m. Tickets for the three-act-comedy, written by Ann Coulter Martens, are 50 cents. Cast includes, from left, Tom O'Dell, playing the role of Greg; Greg Kouns, as Kerty; Cheryl Willett, as JoAnn, and seated, Gayle Hager, Penny.

West Seniors Date Class Play May 10

Eight seniors will share the lead in West High School's 1963 senior class play, "Bells On Their Toes."

The play, to be given May 10, is a comedy about a family of 12 children, stranded alone while mama trots off to Europe to take up the work of her dead husband.

The two elder children, played by Diane Ferguson and Tom Randle, take over with the help of the family handy man, Tom, played by Dave Hughart.

The older girls, played by Diane Ferguson, Karen King and Kendra Dickerson, made a pledge not to date, and the older boys of the family make sure that they don't.

Other leading roles are played by Connie Robinson, Judy Rusk and Ron Morgan.

Many people keep putting off their inner desire to do something about their estates and sometimes it comes too late.
Some like to give currently so as to personally enjoy the results of their giving. Others gain the satisfaction of making bequests to their favorite charity by outlining how the money shall be used.
But isn't it well to make your own decisions as to where your money will do the most good? Ask any successful business or professional man if he hasn't sometime during his life profited by the influence of the YMCA.
We will be glad to offer suggestions on how you can help the "man of tomorrow."

OBSERVING A 100TH ANNIVERSARY

OLD-FASHIONED FRIENDLINESS in a modern day bank was the theme used by the W. Broad-st office of the City National Bank during their recent celebration of the 100th anniversary of commercial banking. As part of the celebration, all customers visiting the bank received free coffee and old-fashioned sugar cookies. Hosts and hostesses, dressed in costumes of 100 years ago, had a commemorative jelly packet for each customer. Staff members standing in front of a covered wagon during the observance are, from the left, Jo Ann Jones, John Galvin, Bill Kuhn, Ron Sparks and Ginger Rose. The same theme was used at the City National 5445 N. High-st office during the celebration.

Dec. 3, 1844, Congress rescinded the Gad Rule which forbade presentation of the abolitionist petitions.

TRANSFER SOUGHT

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced it is processing an application for the transfer of C-1 and C-2 permits from Andrew W. Roberts to Harry E. Yank. The transfer is for the Manor Carry Out, 579 Wedgewood-dr. The permits are for carry out sale of 3.2 per cent and high-powered beer and wine.

The Short Tale Of A Long Snake

Some people have a night on the town and then see snakes. Others take their snakes with them. At least that's what happened early Monday morning when 42-year-old Harry V. Beller, 51 E. Eighth-av, showed up at his favorite restaurant with his favorite snake.

Beller, along with 37-year-old Robert P. Ault, 447½ Wilson-av, and a snake, (age, name and address not given) showed up at the Biltmore Restaurant, 2414 W. Broad-st, for a bite to eat.

Needless to say, the other customers weren't laughing at the amusing antics of the seven-foot boa constrictor.

Quickly the police were summoned and Ault, Beller and the snake were incarcerated on intoxication charges. Ault and Beller went to the city jail and the snake was hustled off to the animal shelter.

Later Beller forfeited $20 when he failed to appear in Municipal Court on intoxication charges. The snake didn't show up for court either.

Atlanta, Ga., and Robert L, are important for the scholarship, but the most important achievement in that we learn to work together," Bob said when asked how he felt about the West Side Club.

Although Bob was determined to attend college at almost any cost, the West Side club made his higher education much easier. This scholarship was earned by Bob's strong desire for college and his 3.3 grade average in high school. In September of 1963, Bob leaves for Newport, R.I. to attend Naval Officers Candidate School. "If I can make the grade," as he puts it, "I will be commissioned into the Navy."

Youths Admit Thefts

Four lower West Side Columbus youths were released to custody of their parents pending action by juvenile court authorities on charges that the group stole fishing equipment and Christmas cards valued at about $2,500.

Columbus juvenile officers reported that the four boys, three from N. Central-av, and who lives on Stevens-av, have admitted a series of breakins over the past four months.

Ranging in age from 13 to 16-years-old, the youths were apprehended following report of a N. Central-av resident that fishing tackle valued at $168 was taken from the basement of his home. Three of the youths came to police attention as they attempted to sell some of the loot at a N. Central-av tavern.

Questioning of the youths revealed that they had acted individually and in groups of two and three in additional thefts. One of the group admitted taking fishing equipment from a N. Central-av bait store.

The youths also admitted a series of thefts from trucks of the Continental Transportation Lines, Inc., 1111 Cable-av. Trucks were entered on three occasions, including one break-in resulting in the theft of Christmas cards valued at $2,500.

The youths said they sold some of the cards and gave some to friends. Juvenile officers reported that many boxes of cards were thrown away or left in the vicinity of the theft, and that the word was passed to neighborhood children to "help themselves" to the cards.

Juvenile officers said that three of the four youths had been questioned or charged with previous offenses a total of 16 times in the past, while the 16-year-old had been picked up on one previous occasion.

TO BUILD ADDITION

Butler Justice, 688 Hibbs-rd, has been issued a building permit to construct a one-room frame addition to his home. Construction is valued at $1,500. Contractor is City and County Builders.

Liquor Permit Request Denied

An application for a liquor permit, to sell low and high-powered beer and wine on the premises and for carry-out, has been denied to Dimitar Traikovich, 1188-1190 W. Broad-st, by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

The ruling by the liquor board stated that the proposed permit premises are located in an area already adequately served with existing permit locations. The Columbus Police Department also filed formal objections to the issuance of the permit with the State Liquor Department.

Strange Purple Birds Bring Fame To Sam Glines, Conservationist

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Last summer, Sam Glines, 607 S. Fifth-st, made ornithological history when he discovered a nesting pair of purple gallinules at Baumgartner's Pond, a lake owned by the Southeast Conservation Club. While this finding did not push Cuba off the front pages, it was widely reported in the press and caused a minor sensation among bird watchers. Now it will be official world-wide, for The Auk, a technical periodical that keeps birders informed as to what birds are doing, has accepted an article co-authored by Glines.

"It is the most fantastic thing that has happened in the 40 years I've been studying Ohio birds," exclaimed Dr. Milton B. Trautman, curator of vertebrate collections, Ohio State Museum. Trautman helped identify the birds and nest and wrote the article with Glines. Eugene Knoder, of the Ohio Division of Wildlife, was the other official witness.

Now, why all the fuss? How could a couple of marsh-dwelling birds that look something like a coot that got mixed up in some Easter egg dye cause such excitement? The purple gallinule is a strikingly beautiful bird that is quite rare in Ohio. It is purple, and that alone is something. But its normal range is the Gulf states and the southern East Coast. On those occasions when one has been seen in Ohio, it was thought to be lost, perhaps windblown far out of its usual territory.

The two romantic and enterprising gallinules at Baumgartner's Pond sort of blasted the "lost" theory. This definitely was the first authenticated nesting record for the state, and is hundreds of miles farther north than any other record. But the odds that a male and female would get blown off course, or became lost in a storm, would end their journey at a tiny pothole lake, find each other, build a nest, lay seven eggs, and hatch out seven young, are just too great for the bird students to swallow.

Sam Glines' discovery enlarged the sporadic range of the purple gallinule by several states. Many ornithologists would work a lifetime for such modest fame. Who says there is no adventure or no frontiers in the outdoors of today?

If you could predict such happenings, you might expect such a discovery from Sam Glines. He is a sportsman and conservationist who goes out to band wood ducks and to see if any he banded last year have returned. He spends spare hours in the cattails watching bitterns and bullfrogs, redwings and rails. The gallinules came along as a bonus.

He has trapped pheasants in the city and releases them on farms. He has conducted a rabbit trapping and tagging project for the Southeast Club for a number of years. Winter feeding stations are maintained at the clubground by Sam and others. He and Bob White, another active club member, have supervised the building and erecting of wood duck nesting boxes. Sam Glines has more outdoor adventure in Franklin County and adjacent areas than any other man I know.

Truly, the outdoors is at your doorstep. In your backyard are more miracles and mysteries than you can imagine. So it is not surprising when someone like Sam makes a discovery that shakes the ornithological world to the tips of its wings. He sees something new almost every day, which is a lot more than television watchers can claim. And who knows when he will see something new to everyone in the world?

The "big find" is not what calls Sam Glines outdoors, however. He began when he did not even know what a purple gallinule was. Sam goes out to band wood ducks and to see if any he banded last year have returned. He spends spare hours in the cattails watching bitterns and bullfrogs, redwings and rails. The gallinules came along as a bonus.

Exchange Club Sponsors Freedom Editorial Contest

High school students from of the Metropolitan Columbus area, including public and parochial schools, are asked to participate in the second annual Freedom Shrine Editorial Contest, according to Mit R. White, president of the Exchange Club of Columbus, local sponsors of the contest.

Interested high school students are asked to contact their journalism teachers and the editor of their high school newspaper or high school bulletin for details and contest rules.

Editorials must be published in the high school paper and have a publication date between Feb. 1 and Apr. 10, to be eligible for the contest.

The main theme of the contest, as sponsored by the Exchange Club of Columbus will be "Our Duties and Freedom as Citizens" based on the Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence.

Winning students will receive a plaque, inscribed with their name, for display in their high school. They will also be eligible for the national competition. As local winners their editorial may be used on a Columbus television station.

To the high school a Freedom Shrine Award consists of a 50-star flag and 28 plaques. These plaques are authentic reproductions of our national heritage documents in their original form.

The Exchange Club, both nationally and locally, according to Joseph A. Favret, 5977 Endicott-rd, chairman of the committee and a national district governor for Exchange Clubs, is endeavoring to present graphically the positive answer to Communism and any other un-American ideology that may threaten our free way of life.

Kiwanis Again Honored With Freedom Award

Kiwanis International received top recognition in the Americana, General, Division of the recent Freedoms Foundation Awards contest, local clubs have learned.

The award is the 13th that Kiwanis has received. It came for "Kiwanis' batter? of programs conducted at grass roots level, promoting better understanding of, and participation in, the fundamental freedoms upon which our free constitutional government is based." Special note was made of Kiwanis' four-year-old Citizenship Quotient Program, by means of which citizens are encouraged to rate themselves as citizens.

Red Cross Will Train Volunteer Motor Drivers

Red Cross needs volunteers to serve as motor service drivers. They will be trained to provide safe, efficient transportation for Red Cross and other community programs.

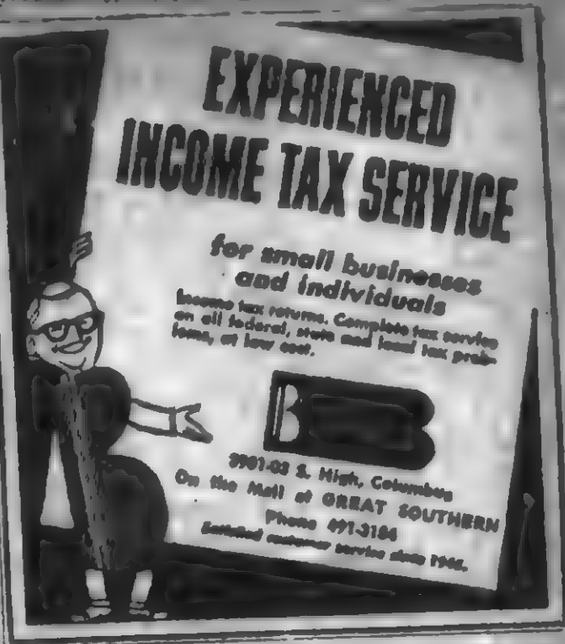
They serve principally in the blood program using chapter vehicles to deliver blood to hospitals in Franklin County and the other 22 counties served by the program.

Three shifts of drivers are needed for city runs Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. County runs are made Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with round trips averaging 140 to 220 miles. Qualifications are good health and a valid Ohio operator's license.

Anyone who can spare a few hours every week or two may call Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross at CL. 3-8511.

Pupils Finishing Science Report

The second phase of the Tuberculosis Society's TB-RD spring science report contest is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Mar. 30, at society headquarters when the high school participants will have a chance to "question the experts."



The following area high schools are already registered: Columbus School for Girls, Eastmoor High, Walnut Ridge, St. Mary's of the Springs Academy, St. Joseph Academy, Franklin Heights, Reynoldsburg, Bishop Ready and Bishop Hartley.

The TB Society will present token awards to individuals and certificates of merit to schools whose students place among the top 10 award winners.

School Board To Consider Land Sale

Columbus School Board will consider the controversial sale of a strip of Eakin Road School land to the adjoining Westview Swim Club, Inc., at its scheduled meeting Tuesday, Apr. 2.

The land, 25 feet wide by about 425 feet long, is at the rear of the Eakin-rd property and borders the swimming pool, now under construction by Westview.

Offered at auction, the club made the only bid of $4,000 for the strip.

At the Mar. 19 board meeting, three members objected to the sale since the land had been acquired along with the rest of the school site by condemnation process a few years ago.

Indian Guide Meeting Set For April 5 At 'Y'

The Hilltop YMCA Indian Guide Longhouse will hold an extension meeting for prospective Indian Guides Friday, Apr. 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the Hilltop "Y," 2879 Valleyview-dr. Extension Chairman Herman Truelove, said this meeting will be open to interested fathers who have sons in the five to eight year old group.

Indian Guide is a father-son program sponsored by the YMCA. Fathers and their sons are organized into tribes by ages and neighborhoods. Each Big and Little Brave selects an Indian name by which he is recognized at all tribal functions.

Tribes meet twice a month in the homes of the members. There are now 15 active tribes in the Kitchinodin Nation of the Hilltop Longhouse.

Officers in this year's Longhouse are chief, Mel Senerius; sub chief, Ray Pendell; tally keeper, George Reis, and wampum bearer, Frank Bowles. Serving on the advisory committee are past chief, Al Stephens; Herman Truelove, Jim Gabriel, Russ Crawford and Bob Kerr.

Prospective Indian Guides attending the orientation session scheduled for Apr. 5 will have the Indian Guide program explained to them by Herman Truelove, Dewey Parris and Bob Poole of the extension committee.

A local film of Longhouse activities made during the past year will also be shown. Further information may be obtained by calling the Hilltop YMCA at BR. 6-5306.

The annual Longhouse Match Box Derby will be held Sunday, Apr. 21, at 2 p.m. in the Central YMCA. This derby is for Big and Little Braves who make their own cars to race in either the novice or open class.

A 10 foot extension was added to the ramp this year to make the overall length 30 feet. Bob Kerr, Montie Writesel and Herman Truelove were responsible for the addition. Dick Bergmann completely revised the finish light system.

Former Resident Takes Own Life

Airman second class Frank Cole, 20, a former student at Central High School, was found lying at his guardpost Tuesday, Mar. 20, after he had shot himself with a 38 caliber pistol. He died Wednesday following surgery.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Alice Martin; brother, Kenneth; grandmother, Mrs. Allen Balling, 88 Dakota-av and grandfather, Frank E. Cole Sr.

Services were held Tuesday at the Wylie Shroyer Funeral Home. Burial followed at St. Joseph Cemetery.

Elementary Principal Holds Honorary Title

Pupils at West Franklin Elementary School may call Principal Claude Mills "mister," but the title changes to "colonel" when he goes home to Kentucky.

Mills is the only Kentucky colonel ever employed by the South-Western City School District.

How does a man get such a distinguished title as an honorary colonel of Kentucky? In Mills' case, believe it or not, he won it by leading the Inez High School basketball team to the Kentucky state championship in 1956.

Mills, a former Army private, never expected to make such a rise through the ranks.

CLAUDE MILLS
... South-Western's only Kentucky colonel.

A high school teacher, in addition to a coach at the time, Mills received a certificate signed by the lieutenant governor awarding him the title a few months after the state finals.

"Only benefit from the honorary rank, besides prestige, is an invitation to the Colonel's Ball and Kentucky Derby every year at Louisville, Ky.," said the principal.

Mills, who resides with his wife, Ruth, and two-year-old son, Kevin Martin, at 1086 Wiltshire-rd, has found one additional benefit for the title — he can claim to relatives that his military career has been the most outstanding in the family—after all, he did make colonel!

Sayre First, Sharp Second In Cub Scout Jet Car Derby

Out on top after 46 heats in the Southwest District Cub Scout Jet Car Derby was Cub Scout Garry Sayre, 637 S. Warren-av, a member of Pack 43 sponsored by the Burgess Avenue EUB Church.

Second place winner was John Sharp, 968 Chestershire-av, a member of Pack 586 sponsored by St. John's Lutheran Church. Third place was captured by Rolfe C. Harper, 245 Darbyhurst-rd. He is a member of Pack 426 sponsored by Lincoln Baptist Church.

Each first, second and third place winner received a plaque.

Honor award plaques for runners-up were given to Von Hill, Pack 426; Ronnie Baumgartner, 2185 Harrisburg-pk. Pack 600 sponsored by St. John's Lutheran Church of Grove City; and Michael Farnsworth, 3502 [redacted] also of Pack 600.

Final heats were held Saturday, Mar. 23, at the Westinghouse auditorium. Thirty-three father and son teams competed in the finals from 387 who began racing the midget jet cars early last December.

Chief judge for the event was Douglas Wearn, financial planning manager of Westinghouse, assisted by Jack Riddle, 539 Derrer-rd. Officiating at the starting gate were Stuart Sauter, 1088 Chestershire, and Don Reynolds, 2120 Stringtown-rd, Grove City.

Spectator attendance was estimated at 150.

Central Ohio Beauties Can Register Now

William Ferguson, president of the Grove City Jaycees, has announced the selection of Kenneth L. Huffman, 734 Kenny-ln, as general chairman for the 1963 Miss Central Ohio Pageant, which is to be held May 10 at Veterans Memorial.

Huffman said applications are now being accepted for this, the third annual contest, which will introduce the Ohio Jaycee State Convention and will be preceded by a 60-unit parade through downtown Columbus.

The entries committee, under the direction of William Rosenbleeth, chairman, is asking that residents of Franklin, Fayette, Madison and Pickaway counties nominate their selections for Miss Central Ohio. Selections should be made on a card to the Miss Central Ohio entries committee, P.O. Box 85, Grove City, and should list the name, address and age of the candidate. An official entry blank and rules of the pageant will be sent by mail.

Miss Central Ohio will advance to the Miss Ohio Pageant where the winner, in addition to a $1,000 scholarship, will gain the right to represent the Buckeye State in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City Sept. 4 to 7.

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS

By Gail and Lynn Bradford

Junior Class Play Is Planned For April 5, 6

The Franklin Heights Junior Class will present the annual junior class play on Apr. 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. The play, "You Can't Take It With You," is a three-act comedy that ran for two years on Broadway.

The play concerns the Vanderhof family and the hilarious results of individual interests.

The cast includes Bill Kilbourne, Karen DeWitt, Terry Hampton, Bill Smith, Lynn Brock, Rhea Green and Sherry Boehringer.

"You Can't Take It With You" is directed by Mrs. Juanita Smith. Admission is $1 for adults, 75 cents for students, and 50 cents for children.

F.H. boasts the only Future Homemakers of America Chapter in the Southwestern School district to receive a merit award at the FHA State Convention. The convention, held at Mershon Auditorium, Mar. 15 and 16, had representatives from 400 schools over Ohio.

Five girls, Mary Beth McCoy, Rita Wilson, Bev Seymour, Karen Miller and Sue Wood, attended and Mary Beth McCoy was selected to receive the Award of Merit. During the two-day convention, awards were given and '63-'64 officers elected.

The F.H. chapter of FHA is one of the most active service organizations in existence. FHA week has been slated for Apr. 1 to 7 to improve the image of home economics in the school and community.

FHA agenda includes serving as hostesses for the National Honor Society installation, a bake sale during FHA week and operating a concession stand at the Ohio Music Association's 1963 State Band and Chorus competition.

The FHA operates on the state and international levels. The Ohio FHA pays the yearly salary of a home economics teacher in Lebanon and on the state level contributes to state scholarships. The advisor of the F.H. chapter of FHA is Mrs. Robinette.

SCIENCE FAIR WINNERS

Three FH students have been chosen to attend the regional Science Fair at Otterbein on Mar. 22 and 23. They are: senior, Mike Davis; juniors, Dan Taylor and John Pallay.

The regional Science Fair is co-sponsored by Battelle and Otterbein and is affiliated with the National Science Fair International. The two top winners of the regionals will travel to Albuquerque, N.M., May 6 to 11.

FH also has three students going to the district Science Fair. They are Betty Bell, Eugene Norris and Helen Schmidt. This contest will be held on Apr. 6 at OSU's French Field House.

The district Science Fair is sponsored by the Ohio Academy of Science.

FH is very proud of its six outstanding science scholars.

Senior Wins Scholarship

Peggy Mann, a senior at FH, has been awarded a $500 scholarship from Timken to the college of her choice. Peggy, an outstanding student, is an active member of the student body. Congratulations are extended to her.

Let's Open Our Eyes To Juvenile Delinquency

Last week in one of our papers we carried a story of nine Hilltop juveniles involved in delinquent behavior. Offenses ranged from drinking parties, petty thievery and auto theft to check forgery, larceny and illicit relations.

It was not the type of story we would choose to print if we thought we really had a choice.

Certainly we are not unaware of the heartbreak, remorse and shame that are integral parts of such a story.

Our purpose in using the story can probably best be illustrated by relating an experience of a little four-year-old girl of our acquaintance. We shall call her Peggy.

She proved rather unresponsive, one day, to several admonitions from her mother about hopping out of bed while she was supposed to be taking her nap. Finally Mom decided that the situation called for something more than mere verbal instructions.

As Mother advanced into the bedroom, Miss Peggy dived under the covers and informed: "I close my eyes, Mommy, so you can't see me."

This simple, childish act solved the problem for Peggy. Mother was too much amused to administer justice.

Unfortunately, too many adults seem willing to use the same childish approach to a real and serious problem; unrestrained, unguided and delinquent youth.

We do not propose to solve the problem simply by reporting incidents and spotlighting areas of juvenile misdeeds. We do believe, however, that control of the problem calls for utilization of many tools from many sources.

We have tried (too long, perhaps) the technique of closing our eyes. Let's resolve, instead, to open our eyes — and our minds — in a continuing quest for answers.

What has been our attitude as a society? Basically, it has been this: The law enforcement people are too hard; the juvenile courts, too soft; the professional social workers, "do-gooders;" the parents, picked on; the troublesome youths, misunderstood; and the situation, hopeless.

To the above list we might add a more legitimate complaint; the newspapers, too silent.

We have been silent in the name of charity, in the name of patience and in the name of hope.

Now we are going to operate on the theory that "it is better to light a candle than curse the darkness."

We do not propose to do a complete about-face. We do propose to chart and nail an intermediate course. We will report, in as much detail as is necessary, specific incidents of juvenile crime. We will pinpoint areas. We will exercise our right to use names of both adults and juveniles when we feel that the situation warrants such action.

It may be that people in the quiet, home-owner, residential sections will be shocked to learn that juvenile delinquency is not confined to the blighted areas, the slums and the so-called underprivileged.

It may be that parents will give more serious thought to their personal responsibilities when they can no longer hide behind the cloak of anonymity offered in the name of protection of their offspring.

Many will agree with our position; probably, just as many will not. We may never know which group is right.

We will light our candle — and we will hope.

Another Survey . . . Costing $35,000 . . . And For What?

Completion of the Sawvel water report is proof again that the "short-cut-home" theory usually makes for a longer and more costly trip.

The all-solving rate formula — the very heart and purpose of the report — has justly received a "no confidence" vote from the Development Committee for Greater Columbus.

The committee evaluation of the report said in part:

"Since actual "cost-of-service" figures were not provided by this study, it is not possible for the Development Committee to endorse the revised rates proposed by Mr. Sawvel."

In other words, the Development Committee would like to see a rate schedule based on proven needs.

We must know the specifics on what service costs, by area and by classification. This must be balanced against sources and amounts of revenue, and administrative expenditures. Only when we know the specifics in all areas of water needs can we devise an equitable rate formula.

When the Sawvel report was authorized by an ordinance passed by Columbus City Council on Oct. 2, 1961, there was a clear understanding of the basic problem; revenues accruing to the Water Division were not sufficient to meet the then-present and anticipated future water needs of the Greater Columbus area.

Now, more than 16 months later, the report is ready for action by Columbus officials. The conclusion of the report? Revenues accruing to the Water Division are not sufficient to meet present and anticipated future needs of the Greater Columbus area.

For this the City of Columbus paid $35,000!

True, the report proposes a plan to secure the necessary revenues, and a rather "simple" plan at that. You simply determine your money "wants," and then jack up the price for industrial users and those individual users who live outside the Columbus corporation limits.

We dare say that this same formula could have been prepared for the City of Columbus by any small group of resident homeowners who had no business or industrial interests. And at considerably less cost than $35,000.

It seems that Columbus officials have taken a leaf from the federal policy of "managed news" by presenting to the people a "managed" consultant's report.

City officials supplied "instructions" rather than information to the Sawvel firm. This was not a case of the city seeking a consultant to advise on a specific problem. It was, rather, a case of using an intermediary to carry to the public a report to substantiate a pre-conceived conclusion.

Consequently, we are handed a carefully planned election issue. The emphasis has been shifted (as apparently planned) from seeking a realistic solution, to the building of a "champion" for the "low income bracket."

Columbus cannot win as a community if such a shortsighted approach to a long-range problem is allowed to persist. Columbus still remains the best hope of surrounding communities for establishment of an integrated water system that will provide the best service at the fairest cost. But we must have the cooperation of all communities affected — and cooperation is a two-way street.

Council Praised

(Copy of letter to Mrs. Golda Mae Edmonston, president of Columbus City Council).

This organization desires to commend you and the other members of City Council for your action several weeks ago in passing the ordinance requiring licensing of retailers selling goods produced or manufactured in Communist controlled countries.

We feel that this will be of material benefit to the local consumer in permitting him to identify such merchandise at the time of purchase and to make his choice according to his own conscience and beliefs.

The City of Columbus is indeed fortunate in having persons of your courage and ability serving and representing our people.

Farm Wife Writes

To The Editor:

(Copy of letter to Columnist John McPeek).

I am a farmer's wife who wishes to take issue with you on your Mar. 14 column about insecticides.

Since you stated that the articles you read disputing Miss Carson's book "Silent Spring" contained "no facts or contentions that merit serious attention" I am enclosing an article from a recent Ohio Farmer (Mar. 2, 1963), which I would like you to read. I think it is very sensible.

The author, Mr. Rings, is an etomologist, who I am sure has spent more than four and one-half years studying this problem as has Miss Carson. He should also be reasonably unbiased since he doesn't represent a chemical company, but a government agency devoted to finding out things to benefit all of us.

Of course, if Miss Carson is right, we had better hurriedly call back all of the Peace Corps members. They have been sent to places like India to teach the people new methods, and about insecticides to help them raise enough foods to feed their starving people.

Actually, I suppose there are cases where people might have been poisoned by insecticides, but how many children have died from an overdose of aspirin? And, yet, who would give up aspirin? Many people have died from "acute alcoholism" so why don't you try to prevent reckless, if not criminal use of alcohol? or tobacco? (Hopeless tasks?).

I never wrote a letter to the editor before in my life but I feel very strongly about this. I am not defending the reckless use of chemicals, but not to use them at all would be unreasonable.

At Last! A Plan To Abolish Pigeons

Until recently I was a neutral in the Great Pigeon Ruckus.

McPeek

Now I am anti-pigeon — almost violently so. But because of my chicken instincts, I cannot take an active combat role among the anti-pigeon forces.

However, I would like to offer a couple of suggestions that possibly could bring them a great coop d'tat and restore dignity to our statues.

Before doing so, perhaps I had best explain my sudden anti-bird partisanship. I was converted by a message from the sky, a fowl message that arrived in a most embarrassing manner — smack on my head at high noon on a downtown street.

Needless to say, anyone who has suffered such an indignity immediately regrets that Noah provided passage on his ark for such rude birds; and, if given the power, would order all of the vulgar creatures grounded for eternity.

As to my suggestions to rid the area of pigeons, the first plan, frankly calls for deceit. But, as in any war, deceit often is the greatest part of victory. And valor is for the birds, if you can win.

The core of the plan is imbedded in history. For centuries man (sporting variety) has used pigeons as racing birds. Even today pigeon racing is the national sport in Belgium, where it is said that the pigeon fanciers would choose their birds rather than their wives if the choice had to be made. (Come to think of it, that may not be as coo-coo as it first seems).

The first thing we must do is insult the city of Cincinnati. Inasmuch as most Cincinnatians are still smarting from former Governor DiSalle's tactless remarks two years ago when Ohio State played the University of Cincinnati for the NCAA basketball title, this shouldn't be difficult. By renewing some old snide aspersions against U. of C. athletic teams, supported with fresh insults against Ruth Lyons, (that should serve as a start), we should have them returning insults in jig time.

When the exchange reaches the proper degree of heat, we should then challenge them to a mass pigeon race. Because they also are plagued with a big problem, they undoubtedly will jump at the bait.

Then both cities must collect all of their pigeons. This we can easily do by setting giant traps baited with peanuts and popcorn on the statehouse lawn.

When the trapped pigeons have been transferred to starting points in the opposite cities, we then must hurriedly conceal all of Columbus' statues with surplus army camouflage materials. Naturally, when the birds come zooming home and are unable to recognize their old familiar vertical restrooms, they will become confused and probably sweep on until they hit Cleveland or Akron, where it is quite likely they would quit in disgust and take up new residence.

If by chance some of the birds should see through our ruse and straggle back, we could throw the second plan into operation.

It is possible we could even get federal aid on this plan because it involves urban renewal. Briefly, we should salvage all of the eaves from buildings demolished in urban renewal projects.

After these are collected we could select a site in a far corner of the county and erect them on discarded telephone poles. Because the eaves have for many years been home for the pigeons it is likely the birds, certainly most of the older ones, would follow. To add a homey touch we could erect a few cheap cement statues and install a battery of auto horns.

To make sure that the birds would stay there, we could advertise it nationwide as America's most exclusive bird sanctuary. This would attract bird-watchers and members of the Audubon Society from far and wide.

Knowing them, they eagerly would pay generous admission fees with which we could buy popcorn and peanuts to feed the birds, thus insuring that they would stay put.

(Upon rereading the foregoing, I am almost convinced that I have never been quite myself since suffering that pigeon-rendered blow on my head. I wonder — could I have grounds for a suit against the city?)

SOMETHING NEW

After more than six years at 280 E. Broad-st, (Old Memorial Hall), the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center moved the week of Mar. 11 to its new building at 275 McDowell-st. Mrs. James L. Fowler is its director and Merton Gerrie its president.

The new center is modern in every respect. The largest room is a 500-seat auditorium with a stage and movable, comfortable chairs. A kitchen and adjoining dining room serve daily needs. Other rooms are for music, cards, offices, supplies, and classes in poetry, ceramics, painting, music, dancing, leathercraft, and woodcarving. Good books are welcome for the library.

The Seniors have had 14 annual hobby shows and several selling marts, some of the latter at the Art Gallery. These have attracted a wide interest from the public.

Ward H. Lee edits the monthly Senior Center News with schedules of classes and events. Walter Green, assisted by other members of the Columbus Writers' Club, edits the center's quarterly magazine "Eventide." He will head the center's dedication and open house program May 11.

The center has 1123 members. It is one of several under the Columbus Recreation Department. Still others are sponsored in various places by business, churches, and community organizations. There are at least 81 in Franklin County.

Ten volunteers act as hostesses, all members, serving the needs of visitors and other members.

The center is near a new apartment building for Seniors where 188 low-cost units will be ready for occupancy in May.

Faith Provides Power Non-Believers Lack

". . . without faith it is impossible to please God: for he that cometh to God must believe that He is and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." Hebrews 11:6.

A man of faith is a victorious person. The soul does not know any defeats. The sainted S. A. Keene says, "The soul that is full of faith never becomes confounded by unconscious dependence upon apparent encouragement." Neither will discouragement dismay. Opposition, adversities, difficulties, do not enter into its calculation; it believes fully that all things are possible. The fact is that a soul full of faith cannot be discouraged, because it knows it shall not be disappointed. It shouts for what is to be done even when human appearance denotes that there is no hope of success.

Rev. Whipple

It says: "We are fully able to go up" even though the rabble of unbelief clamor. Faith has a sunlit pathway. You often hear people say, "I am in darkness, but I am walking by faith." True faith is not such, it is a cloudless way, a joyous way. The way that is cloudcast and doubt-strewn is the way of sight. The fulness of faith is a vision of the soul, where its eye sweeps the horizons of time and eternity."

Faith is an inward power by which we grasp an unseen possibility. It is the hand of the heart. It is the grasp of the soul upon a Divine person, upon truth that reaches out of darkness and in the unseen, and takes hold of things that do not yet appear.

Faith is also the power to see things. It is the eye of the heart. Faith has the power to discern things that unbelievers do not see. Faith sees through things. It sees through mountains and difficulties and discerns God, His Word, His promises, and eternal things that are out of sight. The man of faith has a magnifying glass in his soul and a telescope in his heart and sees farther and deeper down than any other man in the world.

Faith brings things to pass. It plans largely. It counts on a mighty God for great things. It laughs at impossibilities and cries "It shall be done." Real faith will do anything that is consistent with the will of God. It will detain an angel until he leaves a blessing. "All things," said Jesus, "are possible to him that believeth." What things? Finance, health, happiness, and everything that is needed for a well rounded Christian life.

Faith brings a sense of rest. A believing soul is a restful soul. Worry, fret, and doubt have no place in its life.

Lastly, if your faith is strong and sound, God will pull you through mountains of difficulties. Faith is like a cable. If you can stand the pull, God will bring you through the most trying situations of life.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Every conceivable trick has been tried for many years by venal politicians of both major parties, and by radical labor racketeers and monopoly-minded big business to repeal the law of "supply and demand." They have succeeded to the point that many of our vitally important day-by-day needs are under complete management of labor or big business.

The one thing that really works for the greatest good of the largest number is a genuinely free market competition in these United States. Very little real competition is left except in the areas of small neighborhood stores dealing mostly in day-by-day commodities, such as food and clothing.

Socialism is pretending to serve the common man and create for him a "tailor made heaven" by managing every aspect of his life from the cradle to the grave. That is the biggest fake on earth and more and more people are getting wised up to what collectivism is really doing to them.

More and more taxes are extracted a thousand ways from long-suffering Joe Doakes and he continues to vote for pie in the sky and something for free. Men get elected to office by exploiting this bunk and then fail utterly to do anything but pass more laws that bind all the tighter the common masses of the people.

The once-legitimate labor movement has become a vicious and monopolistic dues-collecting racket. All the time is about gone when free men can secure and find unregulated employment. This is a basic cause on our body-politic now and if it is played out to the bitter end by politicians who are solely interested in "getting elected" the time will come when the end result is "equalitarian destitution" as the late and great Grove Paterson named it.

One of the oldest and soundest laws of prime economics is the voluntary velocity of money by the individual who has judgment and good management. Millions are still doing that despite the growing army of public payroll subsisters. But, all of this present day management of everything by an army of theorists who never built or ran a successful business in their lives cuts the very heart out of the way of life that made this country great.

SUNSHINE'S GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMPS

WESTMOOR'S GOLDEN EAGLES '62-'63 CAGE SQUAD

MOVE OVER, INGO

HAMMERIN' HANS—This is the last thing you might see for a few minutes if you should happen to step into the ring with Hans Dorn, the heavyweight winner in the novice class for Sunshine Recreation Center in the recent Golden Gloves competition in Columbus. Hans, who also excels at soccer and skiing, won his division title in his first year of actual boxing competition.

Hans Dorn—Sunshine, 'Gloves' Success Tale

By Jack Wittenmeier

One of the biggest success stories of the recent Golden Gloves competition could be penned under the aspices of a 26-year-old Sunshine Recreation Center pugilist who won his weight division title in his first real taste of ring competition.

The boxer is Hans Dorn, who began to look at boxing as more than just a way to knock a fellow down after a bare ten weeks in this country.

Hans, a heavyweight, admitted that he had always been interested in boxing but never really took the sport seriously until he got interested in the Golden Gloves program at Sunshine.

"I boxed a few rounds in Germany but I never really fought against any real competition. I never worked with a trainer," Hans said.

Dorn found a trainer at Sunshine in the person of Al George, who sanded off the rough edges to make Dorn a GG contender. Sunshine Director Don McCann describes Hans as, "an intelligent boxer who catches on quickly."

"THE FACT that Hans is coming on so late is a disadvantage but his physical abilities might be enough to make up for it." At 6-2 and just slightly under 200 pounds, Hans presents a pretty sound argument for McCann's statement.

Sunshine's Everett Holbrook, who advanced to the Chicago arena this year as the 170-pound open winner here, backed up McCann's feelings about the German pugilist who bears a striking resemblance to Ingemar Johannson.

"Hans is fast and strong as an ox in the ring. What he needs most right now is experience," Holbrook said.

HANS, WHO DOESN'T limit his athletic interests to the ring entirely, competes in soccer and skiing. In fact, Dorn first became interested in the Center and its boxing program through the Columbus Germania Soccer Club, of which he is a playing member.

A native of Nuremburg, a German city situated in Bavaria, Hans is an avid skier and won a runnerup trophy this past winter in skiing competition at Bellefontaine.

Single and employed as a plumber in Columbus, Hans has a defined "vagabond" streak. His travels have taken him around the world six times. "That's the way Hans operates," McCann said. "If he gets the urge to move on, he just packs up and leaves."

AFTER DORN'S success in the ring this past winter, it goes without saying that McCann and George hope Hans doesn't decide to "pack up and leave" again soon.

There is a good chance that the pro ranks have their eyes on Dorn for a little advanced punching but when we asked Hans about the possibility of making boxing a career, he replied that he "had never really thought about it."

We considered pressing the matter further but considering that Hans is five inches taller and 40 pounds heavier than we are, we decided to let the matter rest.

Bryant-Butts Scandal—Grid's 'Blackest' Hour

The sporting world was forced to swallow something indigestable along with its usual breakfast diet of toast and coffee last week as that ugly sound of "fix" blasted out of the South like a triggered hydrogen bomb.

We thought we had heard the last of that kind of noise after the so-called pro-football scandal had been put to rest. But the Butts-Bryant-Burnett triangle has taken the respectability of the game out of the frying pan again and deposited it squarely in the flame this time.

IT ISN'T NECESSARY to go into details. Anyone who passes the "quiet hours" by losing himself in the sports pages knows the accusations, rebuttals and all the other sordid details involved in Butts' alleged "gift" of Georgia plays to Bryant.

What is necessary, perhaps, is an evaluation of the situation. How about the credibility of the Saturday Evening Post article, "The Story of a College Football Fix"?

Being familiar with what is involved in terms of libel, it's pretty safe to assume that the Post printed the article with more backstop material than Burnett's "hearsay." And to borrow from Mark Antony, (without the sarcasm) "The Post is an honorable slick."

HONORABLE OR NOT, you can bet that new set of golf clubs that no publication flirts with a line of law suits from here to Calcutta unless they've got a "sure thing" going for them.

The most stomach-turning aspect of the whole sickening debacle is that for the first time in our recollection, the scandal apparently cannot be foisted off on the evil greenback—the gambler's lure to prey on the weakness of the youthful athlete who, for one sad minute, might envision a rags-to-riches future by peddling his athletic prowess.

They're are grown and mature men involved here. Men who knew better. Men, as the Post article puts it, "who are employed to educate and to guide young men."

THE FIX ITSELF was disastrous enough, but the real tragedy must be borne in the instruments — the principals of the pact. We can harbor no remorse in their behalf if they are guilty.

Most puzzling to us is the point of motivation. WHY? For Butts, who was "retired" after 20 years as field director at Georgia, the answer could be one of a trampled ego.
